That "a powdered nose is no guarantee of a clean neck" forms the basis of this Aesop Fable. The scene is set at a country school. When the teacher asks one of her charges to present his composition, the fellow responds with a song-and-dance number. The other pupils follow suit, with the result that the vibrations cause the schoolhouse to collapse. Highly amusing filler.

Sid Saylor in  "French Leave"  Universal  Time, 21 mins.  Fair Comedy

Fairly entertaining comedy with a number of good gags. The story revolves around a pinch hitter who dates up two American doughboys for the same hour and the same place. Sparkle flies when the two rivals come together. When the husband of the matron discovers them in the village cafe with his wife they are forced to run for it. There is enough fun in this one to carry it over.

He Trumped Her Ace  Educational  Time, 21 mins.  A Sure Ace

Here is a pip of a comedy. Mack Sennett has teamed Marjorie Beebe and Johnny Burke in a laugh-getter that should gird a big number with exhibitors. In adopting as its theme the tale of the wife who sues for divorce because her husband trumped her ace when everything was at stake, this film falls under the classification of satirical comedy. Its central situation is a tremendously human one, considerably strengthened by expert handling and fine acting. This should be trumped as an ace of comedies.

PARAMOUNT STAGE SHOW PROVES A RIOT OF FUN

"Titan Type Revers," the stage show at the Paramount this week, has an innate quality that makes it a sure fun fest. It is almost all humor from beginning to end, and for the most part, humor of the fast, nonsensical type. Charlie Hill as master of ceremonies has some of the choicest humor of this type. He gets a barrel of fun out of his lines and actions without striving too strenuously for effect. He puts over an amusing and at the same time instructive number in which he demonstrates on the piano how the writer of popular tunes sometimes gets amusing verse songs. Scarcely less entertaining are the Lasitter Brothers, two boys who combine a considerable amount of acrobatics with their comedy. The Three White Flashes constitute some fine work on roller skates. They dance an old ballad songs with a steadiness that belies the fact they have wheels on their feet. Others on the stage are Lora Hoffman and the Book Troupe. This week's show marks the return of Dave Rubinoff to the Paramount following a tour of the Public houses. Besides contributing the orchestral, he plays a number of solos on the violin.

WESLEY EDDY HIGHLIGHTS OF CAPITOL STAGE SHOW

The stage show at the Capitol this week, Days O' Yore, is notable for two things. In the first place, it has sufficient diversity to make fine all-around entertainment. In the second place, and perhaps most important of all, is the presence of Wesley Eddy as master of ceremonies. This Eddy fellow is easily the highlight of the presentation. Not only because he reveals an ingratiating personality, but also because he proves himself a no mean entertainer. His singing pleases, to be sure, but it is because of several highly amusing impersonations that he proves so great a hit. Among them is one of Helen Kane. Another particularly bright spot is a dancing and singing chorus of ten beef-trust mam-mas—very much like that in the picture Applause. These same ladies are used also in a novel number in which they are wheeled onto the stage in bathtubs to the crooning of "Singing in the Bath Tub." Other entertainers on the program are the Lasitter Brothers, who do some tricky acrobatics, and King, King and King, a trio of fast and fancy tap dancers. Also on the program are Charlie Conrad, Thiel and Howard, and Nat Spiro. The revue opens on a southern setting.

*For the Roxy's third anniversary, S. L. Rothafel ("Roxy") just spread himself with unusual generosity in the way of a stage show. Every faculty of the big theater, from musical and mechanical to scenic and architectural, are employed in the program. Harold Van Duzee opens the bill with a revival of his "Laugh," because of the height of the art form and his over-all number, with Patricia Bowman and Leonide Massine as the high spots of the dancing items, while Beatrice Velina sings in an upper left box and Margaret "Mickey" McKee does her bird warbling from a similar spot on the right. Russell C. Markert's Roxyettes get a special hand in this act with a diverting rout of flowery stunts. As the high spot, there is a closing get-together called "An Anniversary Party," specially arranged for this occasion, with a rich line of merriment provided by Frank Moulton, Viola Piano, Patricia Bowman, Malinoff Octette, Wally Crisham, Marie Doranelli, The Chief Quartette, the Roxy Unit, and all the Roxy units. All in all, it is a truly eventful show.

Strand to Be Changed to State  Sioux City, Ia.—With the arrival here of Harry Kupper, new manager of the Strand, a remodeling program of $15,000 is planned. The name will be changed to State. Sound will be installed.

THOSE six-day bike riders have nothing on Jack Leo. From what we are told, the industrious vice president of Fox is about 199 hours behind on sleep as a result of extra duties incident to the present situation. Jack, we hear, did one stretch of 72 hours on the job without sleep. What an ideal pal he made for Insoxxia!

Fay Marble, with accent on the "e," since her foreign sojourn, visited the RKO studio and watched Pearl Eaton do her stuff. Pearl, who like Fay has deserted the Broadway footlights for the Hollywood kliegs, millions and moguls, was putting a big chorus through some nifty pieces.

"Pearl," said Fay admiringly, "Mr. Webster certainly was right when he described you as a gem." "Which Mr. Webster was that" asked Pearl.

"I don't know his first name," replied Fay, "but you can find his opinion of you in every dictionary.

"Write simply, accurately, concisely, and above all, truthfully. Do not embezzle your syntax with extravagant adjectives or polysyllabic euphemisms."

New Preservatone Process is Aid to Life of Film, Says Lyons

Preservatone Film Process, Inc., has been formed here, with John Lyons, president and offers a complete film renovating service, which is claimed to add additional life to films as well as making them scratch-proof.

The process is the invention of S. E. Hartman, German inventor. This new process, according to the company, increases the brilliancy of the picture, protects the sound tracks, eliminates the necessity of washing new prints and can be cleaned in any cleaning fluid without removing the process.

The processing operation, it is claimed, requires five and one-half minutes a reel and is reported to make the emulsion on the film 32 per cent harder without effecting the celluloid. The solution is non-inflammable and harmless and, it is claimed, will add a pastel additional life to prints. The process requires 21 months of research and experimenting and now is declared a finished product. Shortly the company will be in a position to handle 800 reels a day.

Campbell Engineering Co. Selling New Disc Machine

Kansas City — A new medium-priced disc equipment is being marketed here by the Campbell Engineering Co. E. W. Campbell, president of the company, claims the machine is built sturdy and entirely eliminates vibrations. In addition the company also distributes the Raco acoustic chambers. Seth E. Barnes, a former projectionist and Howell A. Parker, who has been doing installation work for Pacen and Biophone, are now associated with Campbell.

National Distribution on Pfeil Automatic Control

Johnstown, Pa.—John C. Pfeil, president of the Pfeil Automatic Safety Control, shortly expects to have product of his company distributed nationally, according to reports here. giving weight to the report that a get together is underway.

Meanwhile the Rambouillet-Blair Corp., which includes Lehman Bros. and Dillon, Read & Co., is making arrangements for the immediate offering of new securities of Fox Film to stockholders under their refinancing plan.

In July the New York Stock Exchange had decided that holders of Class A stock of Rambouillet-Blair Corp., common and to debenture bonds, will stock will carry a holding on trances beginning March 10 and will not sell rights till further notice.

In a report attached to copies of the Rambouillet-Blair Corp. letter, the exchange, its offer of the current portion of the Fox company in its first for the time, it shows, for the year ended December 31, 1929, $90,739,885 as the total asset liabilities, excluding inter-company items, against combined quick assets of $29,164,396. Together with bonds, obligations of the two special concerns aggregate $161,872,643.

Earnings of Fox Film, reported at 12.67, are on the combined Class A and B stock that will be offered under the company. Current liabilities of the Fox theaters, Corp., which have been increased, according to the company, amount to $65,125,029, including $4,751,904 owing to the New York Board of Rambouillet-Blair Corp. outstanding for $53,148,116 bonds and mortgages and $2,088,885 for an account with a common stockholder of $1,212,242. Current liabilities of Fox Film Corp. total $43,063,768 and bonds total $15,317,209.

Current assets of Fox Film Corp. are $28,261,884, including $2,736,570 cash, $2,518,910 in marketable securities, and $17,742,376 in inventories. Current assets of Fox Theaters Corp. total $5,312, including $1,339,700 cash. Combined quick assets are thus $29,164,396.

Since the plan approved provides approximately $60,000,000 in new money, it will pay off the debenture and stock issues with roughly $30,000,000 current payables and about $5,000,000 in cash between them. Of course this may be improved by current purchases of Fox Film Corp.

Banking group comprising Rambouillet-Blair Corp., Lehman Bros. and Dillon, Read & Co., is proceeding with plans for an immediate offering of new securities of Fox Film Corp. to stockholders under their plan of reorganization.

For the year ended December 28, 1929, new profit of Fox Film was $1,842,262 after depreciation, interest, federal taxes and other charges, equivalent to 12.87 a share on the combined $20,600,000 paid-in capital of Class A and B stock and 6.47 a share on the combined $18,600,000 paid-in capital of Class A stock. Fox Film Corp. also reported $18,600,000 in cash, $5,612,609 in assets and $5,612,609 in liabilities.

RKO's houses are closed here.

Roadway run at the George M. Cohan show.

The picture had been booked for the Cameo and negotiations were under way between the Polywood Pictures, local distributors, and the R-K-O offices for showings in other houses of this circuit. Meanwhile Captain Auten, manager of the Capitol, who was responsible for the showing of "White Cargo" in this country, stated today, that the feature could not be shown in the circuit's theaters because of the agreement American companies.

With "White Cargo," after its sensational stage career, was banned from screen after a long and arduous campaign, which finally resulted in agreement of American companies. The Hays organization formula, which has been in effect for several years, requires in cases where a play or book has been banned in its original form the story must be rewritten with the elimination of matter that is considered objectionable.

In view of this standing rule, the Hays office states that it was not necessary to close any house in order in the case of "White Cargo."

Captain Auten declares that, inasmuch as the picture was passed by the New York censor, he is taking legal steps to get around the Hays office ruling.

B. S. MOSS TO BUILD 40 TALKER HOUSES

First Publix Film Unit Goes In Work Today

Help Wanted
—in the story department
—By JACK ALICOATE

THE OLD CRY of lack of proper story material and seasoned, competent writers, is again being heard in the foothills of the San Bardoos mountains. That a new writing technique must be cut and tailored to suit the sound screen is universally recognized. As has been true of the amusement business since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, the values of story production material must be constantly on the up-grade. In the present situation the re-vamping of the old silents into talker comebacks will help for a while but it's simply taking the easiest way. Lifting material bodily from the legitimate stage and transplanting it on the talkative celluloid will do only in spots. Probably more than fifty per cent of stage material, both past and present, is utterly unfit for screen use. The problem then resolves itself into one of original material, written directly for the screen and with all of its many and complicated requirements taken into consideration. When this crop of screen writers has fully matured in the production garden and is ready for picking, the talkers will have then established themselves definitely as the world's outstanding and permanent amusement leader.

tion for his honesty and integrity in respect to any given situation. In these days of industry strife we were rather impressed with a wholly frank thought of his, recently given in an address before the Bureau of Personal Administration in New York City. We pass it on:

"It is not necessary that the ultimate purpose of a code should be wholly unselfish. Morality is no less commendable because prompted by self-interest. The ancient maxim that honesty is the best policy really smacks of commercialism. One encounters true disinterestedness only in those who have retired from business. The test, therefore, is whether the advantages to be gained by the industry are fairly balanced by the elevation of standards and benefits to the public. If there is an honest effort to arrive at a basis of right action, that effort is not to be condemned because it is made in the hope of reward."

The event takes place next Sunday..."Hold Everything," new Warner film, will inaugurate the opening of the company’s new Hollywood Theater here. When? That’s another story. Tiffany’s "Mambo" is on tap tonight at the Gaety, so if you’re pushed about the big street, that’s the reason.

TO that inquiry, Eric Von Stroheim has turned actor again and will appear in "Three Faces East." Why is it that Eddie Quillan’s family gets a bigger kick out of a screen activity than he does? Simple, it’s Eddie’s nature.....That RKO bunch burns the wires with the fact that "The Case of Sergeant Grischa" is doing a turnaround business at the Globe, raking in better business on its opening night than "Hit the Deck".

A Clearing House for Tabloid Exploitation Ideas

Stamped 20,000 Bags to Help Out Theater

H. S. ORR, of the Public-Saenger Theater, Winston-Salem, N. C., got 20,000 advertisements for "Show of Shows" stamped on paper bags used in local stores ahead of and during the run.

The stunt was a sort of co-operative, if you get what we mean. Mr. Orr supplied the stamps, the stores supplied the bags and the employees put in their spare time slapping the bags with the stamp, so it cost the house only the stamps. It is a good idea even where it is necessary to pay for printed bags. If you can get the bags and printing gratis, so much the better.

Red Extra Revived for "Dynamite" Showing

As one feature of the exploitation for the showing of "Dynamite" at Loew’s Valentine, Toledo, W. G. Bishop, exploiter, and J. H. Merriman, house manager, revived the old red extra, using the following copy:

SETS THE PACE!
F. N. Has Three in Work and Eight Ready to Start

Three pictures are in actual production and eight are being prepared for early shooting at the First National studios. Richard Barthelmess is working in "The Dawn Patrol," Bernice Claire and Walter Pidgeon are being featured in "Mile, Mo-diste," and "Under Western Skies," an all-Technicolor production with Sidney Blackmer and Lila Lee.\n
Radio Puts New Power Plant Into Operation

Radio has placed into service its new 3,000-kilowatt electric power plant. The plant supplies power to a capacity of 3,000,000 volt-amps,足够的容量 to light a city of 30,000 people, the company claims. Three huge transformers reduce the current from 30,000 volts to 22,000 volts. This voltage operates the motor-generator sets. Smaller transformers for incandescent stage lighting are also included in the new plant.

"Madame Satan" Starts

Actual production has begun on "Madam Satan," under direction of Cecil B. de Mille. The director has until now rehearsed several scenes in dummy sets on the M-G-M lot.

Forest Halsey Declares Hollywood Charming

Forest Halsey declares old Spanish spirit and hospitality are to be found in Los Angeles, Mexico. It is a most gorgeous, untouched country, he avers. In bidding farewell to the governor of Los Angeles, Halsey kissed his hand and the governor returned the kiss, much to the astonishment of American onlookers.

By the way, Halsey's hobby is reading palms and on his trip to Hollywood he met Gloria Swanson's leading member of the governor's staff. Halsey has read the palms of the King of Spain, the Prince of Wales, Gloria Swanson, and Cecile Sorel, famous French actress. Incidentally, Halsey is the only scenarist who has an office at the British Government.

FOR SALE
THE "WHITE CARGO" W. P. Films

George M. Cohan, New York

AMERICAN—Save for a very few est-il the action that divides the dialogue, and the division into acts and scenes is apparent. Atmospheric shots are obviously clipped from some antiquated reel, and studio back-drops detract from the product. This is a small at best. The photography leaves much to be desired.

DAILY NEWS—Photography is better than the average English films. The synchronization job isn't very well done. It seems much of the dialogue was spoken after the film was photographed. One can tell this by the fact the lip movement doesn't always keep time with verbal sounds. All in all, "White Cargo" has a fair amount of interest.

EVENING WORLD—The British producers have told their story in a restrained, unconventional manner, and sometimes, because of this, the picture appears slow and tame. Whenever the pace is heightened and the characters show above conversational tones, you can't understand them, for the reason that the RCA recording isn't of the best.

SUN—In any case, the film may probably be described as a fair transcription of the original. The production suffers from a lack of atmosphere and lack of visual variety.

TELEGRAM—* * * creates and sustains a definite mood and is in one of the few of the recent talking pictures in which any real drama has been projected. As the pictures is smoothly directed and splendidly performed, it becomes a puppet and moving tableau group of Englishmen cut off from a civilization on a rubber plantation in Africa.

TIMES—In its situation and in the work of most of the members of the cast the first two-reeler pictorial version of Lenox Gordon's play, "White Cargo," frequently repeats experience with the microphone. This production is virtually a photographic copy of the original, with little in the way of cinematic value.

WORLD—As a piece of convincing melodrama "White Cargo" is a splendid work. The slow degeneration of Englishmen who venture into the tropics as overseers of a rubber plantation is pictured and acted impressively. The present version follows the stage production carefully—almost too carefully, for most of the action is laid indoors and there is far too much dialogue.

Dietrich M. C. at Wisconsin

Milwaukee—Roy Dietrich, formerly with the National Playhouses in Chicago and tenor with the Grand Central Variety company for several seasons, is master of ceremonies at the Wisconsin replacing Max Bradfield.

MAJOR ALBERT WARNER, v.p. of Warner Bros., returned here after a brief vacation in Havana. J. V. Allen, southern and western sales manager, is expected at the Warner home office today from Seattle. R. C. Griffith, head man for Griffith Amusement Co., out Oklahoma City way, visited the Big City for a few days. Al Herman, said to be the greatest contortionist, is en route to the Coast for RKO's "Dixiana.

MR. AND MRS. HYMAN ROSENBERG, parents of Moe Rosenberg, Warner executive, will celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary on Mar. 16. The couple came from Russia more than 50 years ago. Lots of luck, Moe and Mr. and Mrs. James Montana, not from the state bearing his name, but still a hard man after 62 years with Pathe, now is head cashier of that company's New York Exchange. Some change.

ADOLPHE MENJOU and Cathrine Carver are expected in today on the S.S. Majestic. Lou Tellegen, for the fourth time, promises to love, honor and obey, as usual. This time Eve Casanova was the lucky one. Congratulations, folks. Gar O'Neill, big man of Pathe's ad and pub. dept., is back on the job. Bele Daniels plays crooked in "Smooth as Satin," of course, you know, a crook role.

ALMA RUBENS resumes her vaudeville activities here, when she opens at the RKO Coliseum today. Among those who have been invited to attend "Song O' My Heart" today at 44th St. are ex-governor Alfred E. Smith, mayor James J. Walker, Grover Whalen, Victor Ridder, Lucrezia Bori, James Curry and a gang of others. "The Great Gabbo" is scheduled at the Film Guild Cinema for Saturday.

EDDIE ("BANJO EYES") CANTOR, whose life is in your hands, leaves for the Coast next week, to appear in the film version of "Whoopee," which Sam Goldwyn will produce. Legit theaters in New York have reduced their prices. Jed Harris is said to be plotting a play in which Lillian Gish will star.

FIVE Irving Berlin numbers will be heard in Al Jolson's latest, "Mammy," for Warner Bros. They are, "Let Me Sing," "To My Mammy," "Looking At You," "Knights of the Road" and "Here We Are." Theatrical Press Representatives will hold their sixth annual benefit performance at the Erlanger, April 19.

Main Street
—is still Main Street—

By JACK ALICOATE

MOST PICTURE folk who are industry-wise in most of their views and whose business as well as artistic inspiration comes from metropolitan centers are too apt to confuse the standards of Broadway, the Loop and Hollywood with that of “Main Street,” in thousands of cities and towns scattered throughout the land. To a typical New Yorker it is hard to see beyond the Palisades, yet here lies that great ninety per cent, the backbone of this great country. We have recently gotten quite a kick out of making as many performances at small houses, far from the main stems, as we could. If any one were to ask us for a few nutshell observations on the small town house, and nobody has, we would opine:

—THAT regardless of the modern and universal trend of progressive thought what they’ll take in the valley of bright lights won’t always go in the small places.

—SOME gags that won’t go over the pit on Broadway are good for big laughs in the little towns and likewise certain sophisticated bits are entirely lost on small town minds.

—THAT the small town theater owner is usually well liked and active in community affairs but the small town chain theater manager is too puffed up with his importance to amount to much, either to the theater or chain he represents.

—THAT sound reproduction is the major problem in the small (Continued on Page 8)

Advance Payment Asked Due to Suspension of Arbitration

EXHIBITORS REACH TERMS WITH JANITORS’ UNION

Chicago — Closing of Chicago houses by a threatened walkout of operators and engineers in sympathy with janitors was averted yesterday when exhibitors and the janitors’ union arrived at terms which will form the basis of a new contract to replace the one which expired yesterday.

DETROIT FIRE MARSHAL ISSUES SCREEN WARNING

Detroit—A warning to the effect that there will be rigid enforcement of the fireproof screen requirements in accordance with the building code has been issued by Gabe Goldwater, local fire marshal. The edict against inflammable material also applies to other stage materials.

New Scale Permits Cameramen to Work More Than 16 Hours

Fox Visits Washington on Undisclosed Mission

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Los Angeles—Producers and officers of International Photographers’ Local 659 have made new arrangements regarding working hours whereby cameramen may work more than 10 hours at a stretch provided first cameramen are paid a flat rate (Continued on Page 12)

Contracts Valid

Detroit—Although the Thacher decree has made present contracts not enforceable through arbitration, they can be enforced through the courts, H. M. Richey, general manager of the M-P-T-O of Michigan, states in the current issue of “The Lowdown,” official bulletin of the organization. While Judge Thacher declared compulsory arbitration illegal, he did not deprive producers of the right to take contracts into court and sue on them, Richey says.

Harry Cohen Resigning From Columbia Pictures

Harry Cohen, foreign manager of Columbia, shortly leaves the company of his own volition. Cohen has long been an important figure in film activities abroad.

“Song O’My Heart”

Based on John McCormack’s box-office draw, this is sure a money picture. It has enough songs to qualify as a concert, which is what McCormack fans want, and in addition it has a fair story sprinkled with plenty of robust comedy, is pictorially beautiful, and is a superb job of recording. McCormack’s voice reproduces with forceful clearness, and his acting is satisfactory. This picture should make thousands of new talker fans.

house. On the big streets in the big cities it is perfect. In the little houses, in small places, where proper service is not handily it is causing plenty of grief.

THAT the owner of the small house is inclined to let it run down and become shabby. Paint is probably the cheapest thing we know of around a theater and a little goes a long way.

Pictures of the monk hermit who lives under a rock on Mount Athos were shown for the first time last night at the Princeton Club. Capt. Vladimir Perfiliiev spoke of him as the most ascetic of 2,400 ascetic monks on Greece who are buried to women for a thousand years. For 37 of his 80 years the monk has sheltered under the rock which is situated at an altitude of 3,000 feet.

Critic Regards Producers' Eager to Tabloid Films

I WOULD like to destroy right away any suspicion that I am trying to whitewash the screen magnates. They are, in the main, ignorant, mercenary and quite magnificent in the power of their weakness. But at least they are not smug. They are terribly filled with an inferiority complex; with the fear that they are too small for the medium they are exploiting and they pray that by doing something good they can justify themselves. Then, too, I cannot see how they are any more mercenary, any more concerned with the turning out of successful trade goods than are the publishers and the theatrical producers. They would really like to make good pictures, and they are so childlike that they can be led with incredible ease by any group with pretensions to culture that would take them by the hand and stroke their heads occasionally.

Holds Talkers Have Created A Greater Love for Music

The greatest achievement of the cinema is probably its universality of appeal. With a unique language it breaks down all barriers of nationality. The talkies are, unfortunately, against its realism has put up those barriers again. The talkie is comprehensible only where it is made, or with audiences who speak the same language. But it has other compensations than realism. These lie mainly in the field of music. It has introduced to foreign audiences the cream of other countries' musicians and orchestras. Melody is more enshrined today in popular taste than ever before.

MARCH 12

Tarkington Baker leaves Universal to form own organization.

National M. P. League in Albi to create demand for clean picture.

Arcturus Theater Corp. is formed in Indianapolis with capital of $200,000.
I don't often address you in print. But since my return from Europe I have seen and heard things which I believe you should know for the good of your box office.

I have personally screened 10 coming Paramount Pictures. I have received information by telephone or wire almost daily from Mr. Lasky, who is at our Hollywood studio. I have checked carefully every Paramount release. This is certain:

THE FINEST PRODUCTIONS IN PARAMOUNT'S CURRENT GROUP ARE COMING BETWEEN NOW AND AUGUST — AND COMING IN QUANTITY. For example:
"The Vagabond King." Showmen agree it's the finest piece of entertainment yet produced. Business in New York, Philadelphia and Palm Beach, where it has opened $2 runs, backs their judgement. The fact that 35 of America's ace theatres have voluntarily raised admission prices 33⅓% or more, for this attraction speaks for itself.

"Sarah and Son." With Ruth Chatterton rising above even her work in "Madame X" and "The Laughing Lady." One of the real big dramatic punches of 1930.

"Honey." Starring Nancy Carroll, with Lillian Roth, Skeets Gallagher, Harry Green, Stanley Smith and others. A musical comedy with everything "Sweetie" had, and more.

"Roadhouse Nights." Listed by Photoplay Magazine among the 6 best pictures of the month. With a tip to watch the new comedy sensation, Jimmy Durante. Motion Picture News calls him "the Charlie Chaplin of the talking screen."

"Young Eagles." Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Jean Arthur in a second edition of "Wings."

"Ladies Love Brutes." Starring George Bancroft, whom Variety's annual poll names the biggest drawing card on the screen today.

"The Light of Western Stars." With Richard Arlen, Mary Brian and Harry Green. By Zane Grey. Mr. Lasky wires me that this is an even better outdoors all-talker than "The Virginian."

"Paramount on Parade." With every big star on the Paramount payroll in it. A giant musical comedy different from anything this business has yet seen.
"THE BIG POND." Starring Maurice Chevalier in a modern American comedy romance, with songs and Claudette Colbert. This should top "The Love Parade."

"SAFETY IN NUMBERS." "Buddy" Rogers in a musical show with three beautiful girl heroines and six song hits.

"HIGH SOCIETY." Jack Oakie, the comedy craze of the hour.

"DANGEROUS NAN McGREW." Helen Kane and big Broadway cast in a singing comedy-melodrama. (Paramount gives you the new stars while they're hot.)

"THE TEXAN." With Gary Cooper. Companion picture to "The Virginian."

"TRUE TO THE NAVY." Clara Bow and a whale of a Bow title.

"THE RETURN OF DR. FU MANCHU." With Warner Oland and the fine cast that did so well in the first "Fu Manchu" hit.

"THE BORDER LEGION." Richard Arlen, Mary Brian, Jack Holt. By Zane Grey. The demand today is for big action-studded talkers like this one.

"THE DEVIL'S HOLIDAY." Nancy Carroll in a down-to-earth drama written and directed by Edmund Goulding, who made "The Trespasser."

"YOUNG MAN OF MANHATTAN." The best selling novel of 1930 from coast to coast. Claudette Colbert and Charles Ruggles heading the cast.

EXTRA ADDED ATTRACTION. The exclusive motion pictures taken WITH REAR ADimirAL BYRD AT THE SOUTH POLE, including the actual airplane flight over the Pole.
Between March 1st and August 1st you get 27 outstanding pictures, the cream of Paramount’s current season’s line-up. I say it to you frankly and honestly:

IF YOU HAVE PARAMOUNT BOOKED, YOU MUST PREPARE NOW TO HANDLE MORE BIG PICTURES IN THE NEXT 5 MONTHS THAN YOU’VE EVER HAD BEFORE IN AN ENTIRE SEASON.

If you haven’t Paramount booked, you should protect yourself by inspecting each one of these new pictures when a print arrives at your Paramount exchange. Your own judgment will tell you what to do next.

Hollywood Happenings

A Little from “Lots”

By RALPH WILK

Hollywood

JUGH HERBERT has signed a long-term contract with Radio Pictures by which he will both write and direct features. He has been with Radio Pictures for several months as a writer and dialogue specialist. He writes more than 100 one-act plays, all of which have been produced on the stage and are credited with the script of the first all-talking picture ever made.

Albert DeMond, Universal's newest associate producer, has handled scenarios, titles and dialogue on more than 100 Universal features during his three years with that organization. In addition to Universal, he has also been associated with Harold Lloyd and Pathé.

Next production to be directed by Bing Vidor will be a dramatization of the career of Billy the Kid, the American desperado. Laurence Stallings is preparing the script.

Ivan Ledeff is conversant with eight languages—English, French, German, Russian, Turkish, Armenian, Italian and Greek.

Back in 1924, William LeBaron, then head of the Paramount Long Island studio, gave Paul Sloane his first directorial opportunity. This week, LeBaron now vice-president in charge of RKO production, signed Maeve O'Sullivan, Fox featured player brought over from Ireland to play in "Song of My Heart," for the important lead in "So This Is London," Bill Rogers' starring vehicle.

Claire Not to Leave F. N.

Bernice Claire, who is being sought by theatrical producers to play on the legitimate stage, will not desert pictures. First National has plans for her appearance in future productions after her legitimate appearance.

Barrymore to Remake Silent

Lionel Barrymore will remake "Never the Twain Shall Meet" into a talking picture for M-G-M.

Columbia Adds Two

Additions to the cast of "Prince of Diamonds," have been made with the selection of Tyrrell Davis and Claude King for important roles in the Columbia picture.

Pitts with Nancy Carroll

Paramount has cast Zasu Pitts to play with Nancy Carroll in "The Devil's Holiday," which will be under the direction of Edmund Goulding, author of the story.

Paramount Changes Title

"The Two Black Crowthers" has been changed to "Anybody's War" by Paramount. The picture stars Moran and Mack and was directed by Richard Wallace.

Jack White Doing Away With Slipstuck Comedy

Jack White Productions announces that it has "eliminated almost entirely broad and slapstick forms of comedy. With the adoption of a policy of legitimate and logical forms of entertainment, the change was prompted by the fact that "the newer form of entertainment is proving highly successful."

Exteriors for "Dixiana"

Being Filmed in South

While interiors are being filmed by Luther Reed on the RKO lot in Hollywood, exterior scenes for "Dixiana" are being "slate"ed, away, along the Mississippi, north of New Orleans, by Fred Fleck, assistant director of the film, in which Bebe Daniels is being starred.

Joan Peers Signed

Columbia has signed Joan Peers under a long-term contract. She will begin active work in two weeks.

"Fu Manchu" Sequel in Work

Paramount has put into production "The Return of Dr. Fu Manchu," which is being directed by Rowland V. Lee. The cast includes Warner Oland, Jean Arthur, Neil Hamilton, O. P. Heggie and William Austin.

Irish Find Gets Second Role

Maureen O'Sullivan, Fox featured player brought over from Ireland to play in "Song of My Heart," has been cast for the feminine lead in "So This Is London," Will Rogers' starring vehicle.

business. Columbia’s branch here, managed by Ben Marcus, is said to lead the entire U. S. in percentage of quota reached to date. Contracts show a 300 per cent jump, while weekly collections are running 202 per cent ahead of a year ago. As a result of this showing, W. A. Ronning, booker, has been made office manager, while Irving Marks has been appointed booker in the poster department.

Tiffany’s sales also are around 300 per cent ahead of last year, according to A. Fischer, M. E. Montgomery, Pathé branch manager, has been notified by the home office that his exchange is running fourth in volume of trade throughout the country. The local branch of United Artists led the country in February in played and exhibited films with Tiffany’s office manager, receiving a home-office commendation as a result. Tom Burke, branch manager, has led an aggressive sales campaign that also put U. A. in the top class for volume of sales.

Paramount, Warner, M-G-M, Fox, RKO, Fine Art National, Educational and Sono Art also are making good showings. Future prospects are considered most encouraging.

Releasing “Rogue Song” to Forty Key Theaters

M-G-M announces “The Rogue Song,” starring Will Rogers and Dorothy Mackaill, will be released for popular showing during this month and next in 40 key houses throughout the country. On Saturday the film is scheduled to open at the following first-run houses: Loew’s, Buffalo; Loew’s, Dayton; State, Syracuse; Valentine, Toledo; Fain, Little Rock, and Providence, and State, Louisville.

The compromise was made by Jack Miller and approved by 400 janitors at a special meeting yesterday morning.

Sound Films Meet With Approval in Shanghai

Shanghai — Telling pictures have found so much favor with the people here that it is almost impossible to get tickets with a show on the same day. Attendance at local theaters has been so large that patrons have had to reserve their seats three and four days in advance. Contributing toward the reasons for success of sound pictures is the musical revue. Foreigners of all nationalities, including French, German, and English, join the Chinese in attending sound shows.

advances or on delivery will go into effect at that time. Preferred credit policies have been in effect locally for several years, but only as a matter of practice.

Leading exhibitors here are continuing their efforts to find a suitable substitute for the credit system. J. Schwartz has proposed that every theater owner put $500 in the Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors’ Ass’n, which in turn would guarantee payment to distributors in case of dispute over a picture.

On the Ass’n, through its secretary, George W. Erdmann, also is urging its members to consider film contracts binding, and attempts to break contracts are being discouraged. Exhibitors are being asked to pay for their films and then, if they have any complaints, to seek redress from branch managers, and to submit matters to the association as a final resort. Erdmann says he has settled 90 per cent of the disputes he has handled this way.

atives at the opening session of Public’s convention being held at Drake Hotel here. The public become so “sound-minded,” Chatkin said, that when a silent short comes on the audience usually become fidgety.

Speaking of material for talkies Chatkin declared the producers had a number of opportunities and novels on hand in addition to the taller possibilities of dozens of former successful silents so there will be no shortage of ideas is anticipated.

A. M. Botsford, director of vertising and publicity, speaking the second session, said that the producers favored by screen fans are money and adventure, and that these three years all pictures will be color as well as sound.

More Outdoor Pictures Be Made by Fox in Utah

Salt Lake City—Plans have been announced by Fox that it will shoot exteriors on a number of product here. At present the company is making “The Arizona Kid,” sequels “In Old Arizona,” virtually the same which was filmed here. Next summer it is due to take local atmosphere that is “The Oregon Trail.” Other than this type will be put into work shortly, it is understood.

PROPOSED STATE TAX ON CHAINS FAILS

30 Loew Theaters Equipped With Wide Screen

The Mirror
—a column of comment

THE survey made by Electrical Products of reproduction Western Electric-equipped houses to be regarded as any criterion, the calibre of the record is seldom at fault when the pictures being played are the product of the major companies, as generally speaking, recording in their studios is reached to a high degree of consistent quality. Poor reproduction, to cheap, inadequate equipment of operators, or both, is hurting in some cities. It’s a crime to play a cracker-jack picture on your screen and then look at the box-office figures as the distorted reproduction.

FRANKE HARLING, who has been a good bit of composing himself, sees the talking screen as an additional and important tool for the present and the future.

JERSEY EXHIBITORS FIGHT BILLBOARD TAX MEASURE

Trenton, N. J. — Introduction of Assembly Bill 22, proposing a tax on all billboard advertising, has met with opposition by exhibitors of this state. The measure provides for a tax of five cents per square foot, but the Amendment Committee has reduced it to three cents. Newspapers are fighting for the measure. On the first vote the bill failed to pass, and its sponsors have had it held over for the next session of the legislature.

Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

STANLEY SMITH, Paramount's rising young juvenile, has earned himself the title of the "candy kid" by appearing in both "Sweetie" and "Honey," recently released. His next assignment is in "Queen High," now in rehearsal at the Long Island studios.

"Business in Great Waters," produced by Western Electric and scored and synchronized by Audio Cinema, has been booked solid by the Loew Circuit. This two reel special depicts the dramatic struggle with the elements in laying a cable between Newfoundland and the Azores. Charles W. Barrell directed.

"Kiss Me!" the Chester Beergart production, gives the "lowdown" on social life in a girls' academy. Rob- ert R. Snoddy, who wrote and directed the picture, proves he knows his women—but why shouldn't he? Bob had an early start, being "born and brought up with" one hundred girls! You see, his folks ran the Welland dormitory for girls at Oswego, N. Y.

Bette Garde, who scored in "The Lady Lies," for Paramount, will return to the screen when "Queen High" is filmed at the Astoria studios, beginning next Monday.

Rasch Ballet Completes Number One The Rasch Ballet has completed "The Showman," a new dance creation which is being used in M-G-M's "The March of Time."

Sloman's First for Columbia Edward Sloman's first assignment for Columbia will be the direction of "Soldiers and Women." The picture will go into production shortly.

Murphy to Write for Pathe Ralph Murray will write original scripts for Pathe, according to E. B. Derr, executive vice president in charge of production.

Peterson in "Madame Satan" Elsa Peterson will make her debut in talking pictures playing a featured role in Cecil B. de Mille's "Madame Satan," for M-G-M.

Light on Camera Tells When Film is Slipping Another problem incidental to taking pictures has been solved at last through the ingenuity of Henry Sharp, M-G-M cameraman. By means of a flashlight attached to the motion picture camera, Sharp has made it possible to tell when film is "buckling" or going "out of line," things which hitherto have been impossible of detection because of the sound-proof housing of taking picture camera.

4 Added to Bow Picture Additions to "True to the Navy," in which Clara Bow will star for Paramount are Adele Windsor, Rex Bell, Eddie Fetherston and Charles Sullivan. Frank Tuttle is directing.

Bridgely in Fox Film James Bridgely has been cast for a part in "A Very Practical Joke," directed by Berthold Viertel for Fox.

Land Making More Song Sketches Oscar Lund is making two additional Song Sketches for Pathe release. They are "Deep South" and "High Hopes."

Sidney, Murray in "U" Special George Sidney and Charlie Murray will be seen in "The King of Jazz," Paul Whiteman's revue for Universal.

Collier, Jr., Signed by Fox Fox has signed William Collier, Jr., for an important role in "Fox Movieland Follies of 1930." Benjamin Stoloff is directing.

Borden in Paramount Role Olive Borden will play the feminine menace in "High Society," for Paramount.

M-G-M Starts "High Road" M-G-M has placed "High Road" in production with Ruth Chatterton in the principal role. The film is based on the Frederick Lonsdale play. Sidney Franklin is directing.

Corday in "Hawk Island" Marcella Corday has been added to the cast of "Hawk Island" at the Radio studios.

Character Role for Sills In "A Very Practical Joke" Lillton Sills plays the first character role since his recent illness. Bert Viertel is directing.

Adapting Columbia Picture Adaptation of "The Last of the Wolf," for "Columbia is to be made by J. G. Hawks.

Wellman Back at Coast William Wellman has returned from his studio visit to New York, where he died Charles Rogers in "Yo Eagles."

Leila Hyams in "Big House" Leila Hyams has been cast for chief feminine role in M-G-M's "Big House," now in production at the direction of George Hill.

Two Added to "Abraham Lincoln" In addition to Walter Huston, playing the role of Abraham Lincoln, being produced by D. W. Gith for U. A., Kay Hammond and Jason Twombly will appear as William H. Herndon, Lincoln's law partner.

Fims Swanson Rehearsal Dress rehearsal of Gloria Swanson's "What a Widow!" was completely filmed and recorded in hours that analysis and review might be afforded to furnish the actual picture. Allan Dwan directed the rehearsal and word will be made of the picture.

Cast for "Call of the West" Matt Moore and Dorothy and Ray will be featured by Columbia in "Call of the West," to be directed by Ray.

Helen Virgil in "Good News" Helen Virgil will be making her second film debut in "Good News," with Edgar MacGregor and Nick Greco directing for M-G-M.

Halperins Set on Wide Film After completion of "Who Girl," at the Metropolitan studio, Victor and Edward Halperin will present themselves in wide film feature productions.

Lewis Stone with Garbo Lewis Stone will have a feature role in "Romance," Greta Garbo's next picture for M-G-M.

ALONG THE RIALTO

with
Phil M. Daly, Jr.

JEROME BEATTY is going West on a month's jaunt and will spend about two weeks in Hollywood gathering material for a quartette of articles which "The American Magazine" has commissioned him to write. During his absence, the Technicolor publicity tasks will repose entirely on the sturdy shoulders of Blake McVeigh. Incidentally, Mrs. Natalie Kalms, who was due to come East recently, has changed her plans and is remaining on the Coast, where Eddie Cantor's "Whoopie", the latest Technicolor production, is on the verge of going in work.

THY'RE off; Charlie Goetz and Mrs. Harry Goetz and wife, Mrs. Anna Laskin as well as Mrs. D. Dorson, both sisters of the Goetz boys, leave today for the Coast to attend the wedding of William Goetz. Now you guess who gets Goetz..... Arthur J. Newman has arrived from Albany and will serve as a special representative in the metropolitan area for Vitaphone due to the illness of Harry Danto......Charlie Penser has been made special short rep for Columbia.

MACAULEY CO., book publishers, gave Herb Crocker, of First National a break. He let them publish "The Hollywood Murder Mystery," his latest. Herb also aided the printing by sending a carload to his Coast friends....."Cohens & Kelly's" will be held over at the Colony for another week......Here, catch this, William Stoermer, vice president of Colorart Corp, sorry we forgot your birthday the other day. Get a load of these congratulations.

THE Johnsons in "Across the World with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson" will be at the Little Carnegie Playhouse tomorrow...George J. Rubin, formerly assistant manager of Loew's 46th St., Bklyn, now assistant manager at Loew's New York. James Risk now is manager of Loew's Circle......Here's another from Mike Simons, a left handed bloke. Who has some old shoes?......Dave Apollon will be master of ceremonies of the Capitol show which gets under way tomorrow.

ROGER FERRI'S latest "Dynamo" hits forth with this, "We'll Have Decks Clear"....Wonder if he means Radio's "Hit the Deck"......Charles Rosensweig of Radio leaves today for a trip to the company's southern exchanges......"Sarah and Son" was previewed yesterday at the Criterion and it looked like a good idea......Quite a gang turned out, enjoyed the picture as well as the eats....or at least so many of the boys claimed......The picture will open at the Paramount tomorrow.

MARCH 13---MANY HAPPY RETURNS

Best wishes and congratulations are extended by THE FILM DAILY to the following members of the industry, who are celebrating their birthdays today:

EXPLOITETTES

Thirteen Ads for "Thirteenth Chair"

GETTING an ad for each of its chairs used to advertise its "Thirteenth Chair" at the Publix Saenger Theater at Durham, N. C., Manager Terry McDaniel's furniture store to make a window display of thirteen chairs. The chair carried sales copy for both the picture and the picture at the Paris, but it was different chairs. Chair 13 in a row, each with a different advertisement, looked strange to the people stopping to read all about it.

Masked Woman Used for "Madame X" Stunt

WILLARD OSBORNE, manager of the Springfield, O., Regent, arranged a tie-up with a newspaper and a department store to exploit "Find the mysterious Madame X" stunt. Masked woman appeared at the store window and on the stre. It included a stunt, a large poster advertising, "The Life of Madame X's car is a short one. It consists of four figures. They try to escape the police...the number 15. The difference between the number made by the first two figures and number made by the last two is seventeen." Passes were given the first ten to figure out the combination.

"Marriage Playground" Mailing Card and Ring

SENDING out 1,000 wedding rings to advertise the "Marriage Playground," Phil Fourmont, of the Paul Rialto, Denver, attached them to wedding cards. The name of the card appeared on one side, with a stamp sized portrait inscribed in writing, as the cards were distributed and not mailed. The rev carried the sales message. The rings were attached by means of a pin, which seemed to work.
Film Daily Releases
Twelfth Year Book

Film Daily’s Year Book of Pictures for 1930, the true bible of the still infant industry, is once more finding its place on the desk of practically every executive and exhibitor in the business, for there is probably no one above the grade of office boy who does not, at some time, and in most instances very frequently, require the information made so readily accessible through intelligent compilation and indexing. It is so comprehensively laid out that it covers practically every phase of picture making and showing and does it accurately, concisely and intelligently.

Now in its twelfth season, the Year Book is at once an epitome and encyclopedia of the picture business and fills a need that is met by no other publication. We know of no other line of business more completely served by its annual. Few are so fortunate as to have the necessary trade information so completely and compactly assembled. This season there has been added a mass of valuable information on sound pictures, bringing this new field down to the date of publication.

The Year Book is included in the FILM DAILY SERVICE

We but not forgotten. That's right, the relatively good old kind of former years that has been a sort of defender as well distributor to money and, being sensitive to satisfaction of all concerned, this without expensive and a drawn-out legal procedure of sport.

IS manifestly impossible to stop the thousands of controversies arising a year without causing at a certain amount of dissatisfaction. This, of course, does not mean that arbitration, as a system, is not a good system. If you analyze the situation for a moment you must come to the inevitable conclusion that all these transactions are a result of arbitration. The bargaining, the buyer and seller before closing and the setting of any hence thereafter is nothing but arbitration. Here you see the very essence of sound business principles, the meeting of minds in settlement of disagreements. The spirit of arbitration is recognized in international law, by all the governments of the world in settlement of their trade as well as external affairs and by big business everywhere as a speedy and ethical way of the adjustment of major issues as minor contentions.

A Necessity

THE system of arbitration as placed for many years in the movie industry was wrong it may have been changed, not junked. A short space of time that has passed (Continued on Page 2)

Pennsylvania Circuit to be Operated by the Stanley Co.

Philadelphia—Complete control of the Equity chain of theaters, which includes more than 30 houses in Pennsylvania, has been taken over by Warner Bros., it is announced here. The deal was negotiated on the basis of an exchange of stock, and it is understood that the circuit will be operated by the Stanley Co.

With installations now being made at the rate of about 90 a week, and expected to continue on this basis throughout the year, Western Electric announces that its 9,000th sound system has just been placed in the Lyceum, Belfast, Ireland. The first W. E. apparatus was installed in the Warner, New York, for John Barrymore in "Don Juan," which opened Aug. 7, 1926. By the end of 1926 only 15 houses had been equipped by W. E. At the end of 1927 the total was 157 and in 1928 the total was brought up to 1,046. The figure, up to the first of this year was 4,354.

First installation by W. E. abroad was made Oct. 11, 1927, in the New Gallery, London. There are now 1,371 of these sound systems in 40 foreign countries, while 3,629 are in the United States. An installation also is being made on the Leviathan and one already has been completed on the President Fillmore, which is making a trip around the world.

Fairbanks Will Appear as Bandit in Tale of '49

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Los Angeles — Paramount has signed David O. Selznick to a new long-term contract as executive assistant to B. F. Schulberg, general manager of West Coast production.

Production will shortly be resumed at the old Cosmopolitan studios, 127th St. and Second Ave., according to report. Built by William R. Hearst about ten years ago, the property is now under lease to M-G-M until Aug. 1, at which time it reverts (Continued on Page 8)

Fairbanks is a story by Elton Thomas, will serve as Douglas Fairbanks' next talking picture. The star will again appear in a bandit role. The dialogue is by Porter Emerson Browne and James Warner Bellah.

New Committee of Seven Will Hold Sessions in New York

Following a closed conference held yesterday at the Union League Club, Sidney R. Kent issued a statement that a committee of seven, consisting of two distributor representatives, two from the M.P.T.O.A., two from the Allied States Ass'n and one drawing card, the latters, would meet April 1 in New York to put into concrete language the subject matter heretofore covered by the so-called 5-5-5 committee. The future sessions, Kent said, will be open to the trade press.

Present at the meeting yesterday in addition to Kent, were Felix F. Peist, and Phil Reisman, representative (Continued on Page 8) elapsed since motion picture arbitration was formally dropped in the ashes can thousands of suits have been instituted at law throughout the country at a cost of perhaps millions to those involved, and this cost must be born eventually by the entire industry.

The Personal Side

ASIDE FROM the business angle the personal side of the question should not be overlooked in an industry such as this with exhibiting, distributing and producing interests so dove-tailed as to be inseparable. The result of a controversy arbitrated usually leaves a good feeling all around. The decision in a case at law or equity never does.

Arbitration Needed Now

PROBABLY at no time in its history has a satisfactory system of arbitration been needed as badly in this field as right at this time. It is a fact that sound and its difficulties here and Wide Film coming soon. We have interviewed many exhibitors during the past month on the subject. Their private views, summed up, are about as follows: 1. Arbitration is needed by the square-shooting exhibitor to settle his honest difficulties with the distributor. 2. Arbitration as generally practiced in this industry before its breakdown was ninety-five per cent satisfactory. 3. The speedy return of some sort of system for the settlement of difficulties without resort to court action is sorely needed and the sooner this is brought about the better it will be for the entire industry and all concerned.

"Puttin' on the Ritz" is the present $2.00 sensation of N. Y.

Newspapers praised it as best all around entertainment of the year.

"Richman puts over his songs like a million dollars," said the Graphic.

"Boy, O boy, will this one clean up at the box-office—and rightfully," said the News.

"The best talkie-singie to reach Broadway."

"Lively, tuneful and effective songs that stand every chance of a deserved radio, phonograph and orchestral popularity."

"Puttin' on the Ritz" is a great picture. Quite possibly the greatest picture the talkies have produced. A classic. Is brave and fine, sincerely interesting, gripping and satisfying."

"The talkies have shown nothing more absorbing. A picture of unusual entertainment quality."

"The picture at Loew's this week is one of the best and most beautifully made movies of this year. It stands in the line of supermovies that are 'super'."

"Will leave its imprint upon the memory of all who see it. Miss Westover's portrayal one of the most profoundly impressive that the screen—silent or sound—has given us."

"Excellent work by Fannie Brice. Harry Green is very funny. Good dancing and singing."

"Fanny Brice always funny and ebullient in spirit. Harry Green is a whole show in himself. Comic and smart. Armstrong with another pugilist characterization that is clever and convincing and at the same time entirely different."

"Just what her customers like. Sings 'Cooking Breakfast for the One I Love' and 'Kicking a Hole in the Sky'—her gestures and rapidly changing expressions bring back fond memories of Old Follies days."

"The laugh sensation of the day. The funniest comedy trio that have been seen on the screen since the coming of talking pictures."

"Lively, tuneful and effective songs that stand every chance of a deserved radio, phonograph and orchestral popularity."

Contract Violations Threaten Future of Independent Distributor

ONE independent distributor told us this week that 90 per cent of the contracts being violated are those of the independent distributing organizations.

"Our losses," he said, "are tremendous, despite the fact that the independents are heartily cooperating with independent exhibitors in making every possible adjustment. If this situation continues, the independent distributors will soon be forced to close up shop," he said.

This is really a very serious situation. The independent distributors must be kept in business for the future of the independent exhibitor particularly. If they are eliminated, the competitive situation will react to the detriment of the independent theater owner.

An investigation of the books and records of the particular independent distributor, referred to above, has revealed that in many instances adjustments had been made which brought rental prices of talking product, including score charges, down to the level of the company's former silent prices. And still the contracts were being violated by refusal of exhibitors to furnish play dates.

Independent exhibitors must play fair with the independent distributors. To put them out of business would be merely to jeopardize the already shaky position of the independent theater owner and thereby strengthen the interests of the powers now pretty generally in control of the film industry.

Every independent exhibitor owes it to his business to make a check-up of his affairs. The independent distributor and make such revisions in the conduct of his business as will assure independent distributors of sufficient business to carry on.

This situation is of such serious proportions as to require the immediate attention of every independent theater owner.

THE Film Favorites' Program, broadcast every Sunday evening from the First National studios, is declared to be making quite a hit. The pattern is sent over Station KFWB, yes, of course, the Warner station. Jack Whiting, who made a name for himself in musical comedies here, leaves for the Coast Sunday to fulfill that F. N. contract. He'll be top man in "Top Speed," which goes into production next week.

ZEPPELINS, dozens of combat planes, bombed villages, color and 100 per cent dialogue, all to the tune of $4,000,000, will be seen and heard in United Artists' "Hell's Angels" when it zooms into Fox's Chinese sometime in May. Howard Hughes will take a bow for this one. Dick Brady of Eastman Kodak has returned from a vacation. Yet, but he won't say where he was, even though he looks great. Who remembers when Ben Lyon lost 30 cents a day as an extra? Ask Sam Warshawsky.

HARRY MOSKOWITZ, big construction and engineering guy for Loew, has returned from a fishing cruise in the West Indies. Harry shortly will make tests of the diggings for the new 4,000-seat Loew house in Astoria, L. I. "Disraeli" still refuses to blink an eye at the idea of leaving the Central here. It's a Warner screen classic. William A. Wolff, advertising man for Western Electric, this month completes his 25th year with the company. Just a mark for Walter Eberhardt to shoot for.

BOB MELLIN, Chicago mgr. for Remick, pulled a corker with the Chi elevated transit system and "White City," the Windy City's Coney Island, by having one-sheet posters telling all about the "El" ride and "Cinim For The Carolines," the theme song in F. N.'s "Spring Is Here." It used to be "Did You Have Your Iron," but now exhibitors are chirping "Did You Arbitrate Today." Betty Mastbaum, daughter of the late Jules Mastbaum, is to announce her engagement to Harry Grabosky in Philadelphia.

HOWARD DIETZ, head of M-G-M publicity and advertising dept., is scheduled to leave for the Coast in a few weeks. "Under a Texas Moon" follows "The Green Goddess" at the Winter Garden here soon. Jack Lewis, he with the gorgeous smile, now is handling all the souvenir programs for Warner special productions, in addition to editing the Vitaphone News Weekly. How goes the butchery, Jack. Wonder what the New York boys think of when they leave Broadway?

Stunt for "On the Border"

Get Over in Minneapolis

FRANK BURKE, publicity director for the Hennepin-Orpheum theater in Minneapolis, gets credit for the clever exploitation nature pulled recently in connection with Warner Bros. Vita-phone picture, "On the Border," starring Rin-Tin-Tin. A contest was started for boys of the city owning police dogs. The animals adjudged to have the closest resemblance to Rin-Tin-Tin was given a gold studded dog collar by radio station WCCO with several other prizes added to stimulate further interest. Each boy to enter a dog in the contest received a pass for the theater, provided he carried a banner announcing the entry of his dog in the contest and bearing the information that Rin-Tin-Tin would be at the Hennepin-Orpheum. The radio station and the local newspapers went strong to all publicity in connection with the contest.

values to be derived from arbitrations—including the economies.

Monday: The latest fashion in reform crusades affecting (or more properly, trying to affect) the film industry is one sponsored by Fred Eastman, ex-office officer, who aspires to have the business declared as and regulated as a public utility. So far the campaign is confined to Indiana, the state of its unfortunate origin. Well, many a good idea has died in the geographical state in which it was born... Following soft whispers, some of which got into this publication in printed form, B. S. Moss announces his return to the theater field—with plans for 40 or more theaters. Mr. Moss, who used to specialize in presenting vaudeville to the public at large, is now going to adopt talkers as the principal item on his menu, and certain by this firm... Publix intends to replace its stag shows in some cities with talking pictures version of the same. In four screens this is being done, certain exhibition spots, are putting too heavy a burden on the nut...

Tuesday: Out Chicago way, at least, it seems to be a case of wire your shots or get them paid up. Over here more theaters of the soundless spec have gone dark, largely owing to the competition of houses employing 1930 projection. The M. T. O. of Eastern Pennsylvania, on which you can pin a medal for alertness and general initiative, is always digging into problems involving not only its own members but exhibitors beyond its jurisdiction as well. Now the committee has made a resolution favoring the selling of pictures on a percentage basis...

Wednesday: Talking pictures are bringing home the dough so far as the RKO circuit is concerned. With all the talk of the boycott, the exhibitors, aren't exactly fighting the battle. Their reports indicate gains of from 100 to 300 per cent during the first three months of this year, as compared with the corresponding period in 1929... The ever-back-firing Thacker deuce now causes something of a commotion in Cleveland. Effective March 15, the present credit system will be junked by distributors and exhibitors will pay in advance or C. O. D... Suits by First National against four North Carolina exhibitors for contract violations constitute the first legal action against distributors against exhibitors as a result of the Thacker decision which makes it impossible to arbitrate the matters out of court...

Thursday: Attempts here and there among the Union to divide the profits of theater chains have apparently fallen by the wayside. Virginia and Texas legislators are now on the case of the said Thacker decision, which declared that such an assessment comes under the category of unnecessary evils. It has been argued that the theater screen is just around the corner everyone knows. But the question is: Just how far away is that corner? While we ruminate over this one, let...

Color Great Factor in Human Life Says Expert

"Color plays a major part in its effect on every person's make-up, whether seen by the eye or absorbed in the body," according to William O'Keefe, vice-president of the Colorcraft Corporation.

The phenomena of light and color does not begin at the red end and end at the violet rays, but extends below and beyond these limits, penetrating on one side into the region of the infra-red and on the other side that of the chemical radiation, ultra-violet.

"While it is reasonable to suppose that they give out colors, this fact cannot be proven since our eyes are not capable of seeing them. However, these rays, particularly the infra-red, affect us in most unusual ways. They penetrate our nerve tissues with a destructive reaction upon the nerve cells. The color red, giving off small quantities of these infra-red rays, creates an irritation in the human body similar to that caused by infra-red rays. This irritating sensation puts a person on edge," which probably accounts for the color red being used as a sign of danger.

"In a different way, the color green plays upon the optic nerves and yields a quiet, soothing effect. This response to the color green is, no doubt, the reason why it is the universal symbol of safety."

MOTION PICTURES AID TO DANCE, SAYS EXPER

Motion pictures allow much greater opportunity to develop origin dance routines, in the opinion of Maria Gamberelli, former prima balerina at the Roxy theater, who better known as "Gambal." Well known is the fact the stilt dance featured in "Leave It to Lester," the four reel Public presentation film unit, for which "Gambal" is putting on the dance number. During this number, the dancer costumes change three different times, which would be impossible on the stage.

"Gambal" discloses that all his dance routines are planned by means of choreography, a system of diagrams, and dashes which she advocates should be taught to all students of dance. Each one of her shows is a pantomime which she feels to be all important in aiding a dancer to express emotion.

AUDIENCE REACTION BEST GUIDE, DIRECTOR CLAIM

Audience reaction, a decided asset in the days of silent pictures, is a absolute necessity with talking pictures, in the opinion of Mark Sanger, who has just finished directing "Off To Peoria," the latest Lou Block comedy.

"Our comedies are always show to several different audiences before the final editing is made," says Sanger. "Preferences show that a certain one for comedy has the most of little value, he feels, since most of those viewing the picture are close to the subject to really judge what is most effective.

Sono Art Starts "Big Fight"—U. A. Preparing Short—Ralph Wilk's Notes and Other Wired Coast News

MONSIEUR LE FOX WILL HAVE ROLAND FOR LEAD

In announcing plans for the early springing of "Monsieur Le Fox," M-G-M discloses another producing innovation. This picture will be made simultaneously in five languages—French, Italian, German, Spanish and English. Complete casts for each of the multi-lingual versions will be assembled and rehearsed in the New York studio camera work. As soon as a scene filmed in one language a new cast will be moved onto the set and will act the same dialogue in a different language, so that the total "shooting" for the production will not be great deal longer than the normal schedule for a feature photoplay. Hal Roach has been hired as Joseph M. Schenck Productions to play the male lead. He will have to learn in at least two versions, English and Spanish.

The publication of "Monsieur Le Fox" marks the shift of M-G-M back with the M-G-M studio in the capacity of director. The comedy producer will personally supervise the undertaking. The director is an original by Willard Mack.

GOOD ACTING MILLENIUM.
MACK. EXCELLENT RECORDING OF HIS VOICE.
TOGETHER WITH A BEAUTIFUL PHOTOGRAPHY.

Perhaps the outstanding merit of this picture, and one that will cause many to buy tickets, is the turn will be profitable advertising, is the fact that John McCormack's famous tenor voice is reproduced so naturally and so pleasingly. Against the background of a simple but fitting sentimental story, McCormack sings a dozen or more songs, enough to satisfy the expectations of the class of audience he is most likely to draw. Other values of the picture include some thoroughly enjoyable comedy by J. M. Kerrigan and Farrell MacDonald, a feast of scenic beauty and gracefully directed by Edward L. Cahn, a capital cameraman and sound engineer share the credit in the technical triumph. Injection of juvenile elements is successfully accomplished through a talented youngster.

"Mamba" With Jean Hersholt, Eleanor Boardman, Ralph Forbes (All-Talker)

Paramount

Time, 1 hr., 18 mins.

ACTUALLY MAKING TOUCHING IN ITS HUMAN SENTIMENT. RUTH CHATTERTON GIVES A GREAT PERFORMANCE. LOTS OF PENSE. EXCEPTONALLY WELL DIRECTED.

Ruth Chatterton is the screen offer that will make "Mamba" and the "Squares and Son" something fine and beautiful. Few are the pictures that can boast such tenue, soul-searing drama, or such honesty of purpose. Not for a moment is it permitted to deviate from the course it sets itself from the first. Onward it moves to a climax as effective as ever was conceived, and never does cheapness intrude to mar the genuineness of its pathos. That you live and suffer with Sarah Storm is the mark of the film's greatness. For sure, here is an intensive story that relates a mother's search for the son placed in the keeping of a wealthy family by the husband who abandons them. It is a magnificent performance as Sarah Storm. She masters a German accent with remarkable fidelity. The cast is keyed in fine.

While the first half of this cast comprises natives of China, several Europeans are seen in important roles. Deng is played by passengers boarding train retard an action somewhat, but once it gain momentum, a steady pace is kept throughout. This incident of the problem has to do with unfair treatment of the coolies, whose women are sold off, the whites on a provocation, particularly a young sister of two brothers, one an engineer and the other a passenger on same train, man and save his sister from the wrathful overseer, the brothers sec her mercilessly killed, and joins the rebees to win their rights. It started on the train and then bloodshed is rampant, with the coolies victorious in the end.

EXCITING DRAMA FILM BASED ON THE MAORIS OF NEW ZEALAND. PROVIDING SCENIC TREAT.

Those who like films depicting strange peoples and not only one to find pleasure in "Devil's Pit." For there is an engrossing in the narrative that I was fashioned for it to give satisfaction to those who enjoy drama whatever setting. What is suppose by a Maori legend served as the base of the film. It concerns two love who are kept from marriage by marriage separating their territory. To gain a rival in a prince belonging to the girl's tribe. The climax film is a battle to the death between their clans and result struggle between the two tril. These scenes have been gripping filmed. The picture is an interesting record of Maori ritual usually separated dances. Some of the singing is amusing. At times the photograph fails to do justice to the scenic ha

"The Heroic Lover" (Synchronized)

General Pictures Corp. Time, 1 hr.

COMEDY WITH A SMALL-TOWN SETTING OFFERING GOOD CLEAN ENTERTAINMENT FOR THE FAMILY TRADE.

This is the type of film ideally suited to the family trade. True enough, its comedy is highly mave but cleverly does so without compromising its elemental, yet there is no questioning its ability to provide plenty of wholesome amusement for the young in particular. There is a number of slapstick moments that are mirthful to the extreme. At any rate it can never be accused of dullness or lack of movement. Leon Errol, St. Leo and William Franey are chiefly responsible for keeping the humor of the piece in an employees state. The story tells of a pair of vibrator salesmen who happen into a small town at the time of a train robbery and have a lucky chance bring about the capture of the robbers. A great asset to the success of the picture is the friendship with which the small-town atmosphere has been captured. This is a Richard Talmadge production.

Ken Maynard in "The Fighting Legion" (Part-Talker)

Universal

Time, 1 hr., 15 mins.

GOOD ACTION WESTERN WITH KEN MAYNARD AT HIS BEST. NICE STORY, WELL BALANCED CAST, CAPABLY DIRECTED.

Medley of everything that goes for the making of an action western, notably, thrills, hard riding, fighting, comedy and comedy, is packed into the outdoor film. Maynard fans are treated to another story where their favorite comes thru several fights in fine form. Tarrant, the horse, continues to demonstrate his uncanniness when his pal and owner is in trouble. Harry Todd handles the role of comedia with notch fashion. Dorothy Dwan does a nice bit as the heroine. First half of the picture is synchronized and talking in last half does not deter the action any. After bestriding a Texas Ranger, two pals find him dying, set out to get the murderer and land in Bowden, where strangers are most unwelcome. Maynard is accused of the murder, but how he works out of the mess, is handled by Director Harry J. Brown.

"Clancy in Wall Street" (All-Talker)

Aristocrat

Time, 1 hr., 15 mins.

WELL GAGGED COMEDY DRAMA THAT WILL BILL "CASH" CLANCY AND LUCIEN LITTLEFIELD ARE DIRECTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE LAUGH.

This comedy is a real laugh getter. The story is the "get rich quick" idea and the picture scores because of its humorously gagged sequences, which are capably handled by Charlie Murray and a good surrounding cast headed by Lucien Littlefield. Recording is well done and the smooth direction of Ted Wilde is noticeable throughout. Murray is cast as the stubborn Irish partner of Littlefield, in the plumbing firm of "Clancy & Mcintosh." The comic 'high spots' occur when Clancy makes a fortune in the stock market, quits plumbing and attempts to live the high life. He meets with disaster socially, and later is caught in the big Wall Street crash. Herring in the role of Mrs. Clancy gives a pleasing characterization, and of course there is the usual juvenile interest. Directors: Victor Seegar and Edward Nugent figure.

Bobby Nelson in “Six Gun Justice”

Time: 20 mins.

While the plot of this western does not deviate from the familiar lines, it certainly manages to create the effect it strives for—namely, that of excitement and suspense. Its adult appeal comes from the children who see it may be certain of getting plenty of thrills out of it. The story concerns the efforts of a group of badmen to deprive an elderly man of his claim to a gold mine. Thank God, there’s his little boy to confound the villain! Bobby Nelson as the son does creditably enough.

Sid Saylor in “Foul Ball”

Universal
Time: 20 mins.

Good Comedy

This comedy proves generally amusing and possesses a number of really good gags. This time Sid Saylor appears as a sap with baseball aspirations. He wanders into a stadium. There while dreaming of himself as a hero of the diamond he catches the attention of the owner of a baseball club—and of his daughter incidentally. He gets a chance but proves a false alarm. Later at a dance he gets into an argument with his rival for the young lady’s affection. When the fellow starts throwing things at him Sid bats them back with such precision that the girl’s father signs him up there and then.

DAVE APOLLOM PUTS PEP IN CAPITOL PRESENTATION

Against a colorful Russian background and with a Volga note predominant in the costuming, Dave Apollon begins the new season at the Capitol offering in a manner that fully conforms to its title, “Zip Zip”. His bits run all the way from a Russian takeoff on Rudy Vallee to an edge-of-your-seat romance that is a humorous gem. In between he serves as master of ceremonies and does a snappy job of introducing Deniz Goodell, Lilian Shade, Byrnes and Swanson, and the Royal Filipino Orchestra are the other featured artists on the bill. The male impersonator, singing and wiggly dancing of a blonde charmer delights the patrons into some big applause, and a generous hand is garnered by the skillful adagio team of Byrnes and Swanson and likewise by an a cappella stepping miss. A fluffy ballet number also proves an enjoyable morsel, and among other highlights are the string work of the Filipino musicians, who are dressed in kilts against a Russian setting, and a vocal number by a member of this orchestra. Chester Hale’s girls and the Captolians also join in the merriment.

Back and Bubbles in “Honest Crooks”

Entertaining Comedy

Despite its slightness this comedy lays out a pretty entertaining affair. It owes much of its effectiveness to the more fascinating. It shows how a story has been sustained. The drive for its fun is the discovery by Ack and Bubbles of a bag of money, followed by a haysick by a couple of hogs. How the latter try to revert it leads to some extremely amusing stunts.

“Big Top Champions”

Gruntland Rice Sportlight

This Sportlight offers absorbing entertainment. The scene is the winter quarters of Ringling Bros. at Tampa, Fla. We are made privy to the method of training followed by the ringlings, llamas and elephants for the circus. Albert Shetler, who trains the Ringling elements, gives a remarkable exhibition of human courage when he permits himself to be loaded with the animals on his back. He is the head of the body, then the head. He has made the ensemble for the children in particular.

“Doggie”

Gruntland Rice Sportlight

A remarkable record of dogs in training and in action. The opening scenes are taken in the Ringling Bros. winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla. We see how harmless canines are trained to perform some of the most difficult feats. The second half of the film, taken at Miami, is a view of the greyhound training for racing. How it is kept in condition. This film is the picture opens and closes with scenes of greyhounds on the track. To see their long sleek bodies shoot by is almost as thrilling as being a horse race. You won’t be able to keep the kids quiet when they see this one.

Time: 8 mins.

Here is one of the best of Pathé audio reviews. This carries tremendous interest through its entire length. For eerie beauty we have glimpses of the cloud-shrouded coast of Labrador. Familiar kissing of the waves only serves to make us hunger for more. The manager, who may be the creator, has done a word of praise for the softness of effect that makes these scenes so enthralling. The music is a high point of the film, which has quiet singing “Home, Sweet Home” in the harp of the composer’s home. This scene is furnished in the 1890 manner. There are also a number of exterior views of the old homestead. For passion we have a collection of scenes from the Pathé films of years back when. A number of different but equally approved styles of kissing are shown.

SAMMY COHEN DISPORTS ON PARAMOUNT STAGE

Sammy Cohen, the screen’s youthful Hebrew comedian, is the chief item of interest in Louis W. Mclernan’s stage show, “Putting on the Dog” at the Paramount. After engaging in a assorted line of general comedy business, Sammy does a travesty, supposed to be the adaptation of a scene from one of his latest pictures, in which he plays three characters at one time—doing straight for the hero, using a blonde wig for the heroine, and working a mustache as the villain. By getting the lines from the original and making them in the creation of laughs. In keeping with its title, the presentation is populated with dogs of various kinds, including Jud Brady’s beautiful colt, a little poodle that performs with Barbara in an acrobatic specialty, and George Ali, who impersonates a dog in a manner that provides some keen amusement. Doris Roche puts over some agreeable singing, while Bobbi Jackson officiates nicely as master of ceremonies and also accepts himself with credit in some stepping. Then there is an attractive beauty parade emanating from a revolving stage pedestal, some graceful dancing by the girls of the Fred Evans Ensemble, Rubinoff’s expert conduct- ing of the Paramount orchestra in “Irish Rhapsody,” and the Jesse Crawford organ treats.

460 Theaters in Texas

Now Equipped for Sound

Dallas—Installations of sound equipment in Texas now total 460, according to Don Douglas, secretary of the local Film Board of Trade. Only a few of the larger towns have sound installations, with Fort Worth being the largest town with population of less than 4,000. Although there are about 150 houses closed in this state, none with sound fall into this category. The present rate of installation about 95 per cent of the houses will be wired by the end of the next season, it is believed here.

Impregnation and Rejuvenation

Processes Add Life to Films

Adding life to negative and positive films is the claim of American Recono, Inc., of New York, which has two processes that will restore damaged prints and preserve them for future use, each adaptable to color positives. The processes do not consist of lacquers nor coatings, but operate by the impregnation of certain chemicals into the emulsion or celluloid sides of the film.

By the Rejuvenation Process, scratches and other mechanical abrasions are removed from both emulsion and celluloid sides of negatives and positives. A 75 per cent to 100 per cent removal of scratches is effected on the emulsion side of the thinnest film of emulation remains in the houses of the scratches. Dried or even brittle films are restored to its original elasticity, and in addition, given a glossy emulsion surface. Eight weeks’ run positives are thus rejuvenated to first or second weeks’ run quality.

The Impregnation (Preservation) Processes increase the elasticity (the stretch) of the film by at least 50 per cent. (This can be measured on suitable testing machines.) Thus locking is minimized. The resultant greater play in the sprocket holes reduces perforation damage. The emulsion side is given a high gloss surface impervious to oil and cigarette contamination. (Waxing or buffing or therefore unnecessary).

The surface of the emulation itself is hardened, making it more resistant to scratches. The Impregnation (Preservation) Processes actually cement the emulation to the celluloid base so firmly that it can only be removed with sharp metal instruments. This makes it much less likely that all the emulsion will be removed when scratching occurs. (Hence film so preserved can be most effectively cleaned by us here. This is of great importance for negatives). Impregnated negatives will print several times more positives before graining or mushiness is noted.

All the processes result in a definite improvement of the brilliancy and plasticity or the photograph. The intesities between the emulation granules in the emulsion are in relation to a substance homogeneous to light transparency with the grainule this results in a reduction in light spray or diffusion, and accordingly, in a straighter light path. Thus, treated negatives print better positives and, in turn, can be further improved when treated. Treated color-positives show a striking improvement in brilliancy and resistance against wear. The effect on the sound-track is an improvement in clarity of the tone.

Seven years of commercial operation in Germany have demonstrated that the Impregnation Process results in new positives showing two to three times longer; the perforation strip will often last more than five years without damage, and only one or two out of 125 treated prints will supply a demaj which would otherwise require 150 prints, and at the same time maintain a better screening condition. (This saving of $5 to $7 per cent which would mean a range of 60 to 330 reels in a 1000 reel de- plant.)

General Electric Has Smallest 110-Volt Lamp

Smallest lamp ever made to operate on an ordinary 110-volt household lighting system is claimed to have been developed by General Electric Co. of Hoek, N. J. The lamp measures a quarter of an inch in diameter and a half inch in width. Contrasted with one of the largest incandescent lamps which is rated at approximately 100,000 candlepower and used for motion picture studio lighting, the new lamp can burn continuously for a year at a cost of less than a nickel, the company declares.

Beltone Mfgs. Making Scientific Equipment

Pasadena, Cal.—The Burt Laboratories, manufacturers of Beltone sound equipment, aside from producing photo-electric cells and special rectifying devices used in their device, also develop pieces of scientific apparatus; manufacture oscilloscope— which measures the wave form of electric currents; and an ultra-violet photometer for measuring quality and quantity of ultra-violet light used in physiotherapy work.

AMERICAN BLOWER SYSTEM BUILT FOR WIRED HOUSES

Dallas—During the past year, National Theater Supply Co. has equipped more than 40 Southern theaters with the American Blower fan, especially designed to operate quietly so as not to interfere with projection of sound pictures and at the same time giving a large volume of air with sufficient velocity for the desired cooling effect. Installations of the blower system have been made in the following states: Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, New, California, South Carolina, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas and Georgia.

This new product is the outcome of extensive experimental and research work on the part of the American Blower Corp. in collaboration with National Theater Supply Co., the latter having furnished the basic information on the practical needs of the theater industry from which the manufacturer has developed the ventilating unit.

ON THE LEVEL

with

VICTOR McLAGLEN
WILLIAM HARRIGAN • LILYAN TASHMAN

Score another triumph for “smiling” Vic. What a man, sez we—and you sez ditto!

VICTOR McLAGLEN is a box office name that means DOUGH and loads of it. Just think of “The Cock Eyed World”—then “Hot for Paris”—and now, “ON THE LEVEL”. What a string of knockouts!

When you’re thinking of romance and ACTION with a big A—then, on the level, you’re all set to play “ON THE LEVEL”.

A. P. WAXMAN'S fame as "Silk Hat A. P." having spread to the West Coast, where the natives like to make visitors feel at home, the Warner publicity chief on his recent arrival in Hollywood was greeted by a barrage of top-hat wearers, the dudes being Max Shagrin, Harry Mairzlish, George Thomas and Maurice Silver. . . . Ted Healy has been given a Loew headline berth for four weeks around New York prior to getting into a lower berth headed for Hollywood's talker factories . . . .

LUCILLE WEBSTER GLEASON had to change her vaudeville plans and return to the Coast, where husband Jimmy goes to work for Pathé as soon as the dentist is finished working on him, which can't be too soon to please Jimmy. . . . George K. Arthur also is Hollywood-bound after a vaudeville sojourn. . . . Mrs. Irving Berlin attended a private New York showing of "Mammy," which her hubby wrote for Al Jolson, who incidentally is in town for the premiere March 25 at the Warner . . . .

RICARDO CORTEZ is scoring heavily with his gripping drama, "Wanted," at the Palace this week. . . . Also on the bill is Fannie Brice, who recently became a full-fledged cinemastar. . . . It is United Artists, and nobody else, who will produce "The Bad One" with Dolores Del Rio and Edmund Lowe, and, if your curiosity aches to know which of the two stars is to be the "bad" one, just call up Warren Nolan . . . .

DENNIS KING, who vaughbons to his musical picture at the Criterion, will go to London to play in "The Three Musketeers" at the Drury Lane. . . . Eddie Cantor is back in New York after finishing his stage tour in Cleveland and will start West next week to begin his Hollywood activities. . . . Walter Knapp, formerly of the Hammerstein offices, now is connected with Edward Small in New York . . . .

TERRY RAMSAYE hit upon a hot idea when he dug up a batch of screen lovers' clutches that have made serial history and collated them into the current Pathe Audio Review . . . . Laurence Schwab, who left Broadway behind to make talkers in Hollywood, is reported as having declared that the future of the legitimate stage is all in Hollywood . . . . Charles Mac- Arthur and Ben Hecht have another play scenario under way . . . .

ALTHOUGH Ben Lyon started work in "Hell's Angels" more than a year and a half before he did "Warner," he will be seen on Broadway in the latter film six months before the first one—and this is not a mathematical teaser, either.

Hagerstown House Inaugurates New Idea in Kiddies' Matinee Club

WARNER BROS. Maryland theater in Hagerstown, Md., has instituted a new idea in children's matinees which is being well received by its patrons. Every boy and girl under 16 years of age who regularly attends the house has been given a membership button in the Kiddies' Matinee Club. Each Saturday ten numbers, selected from the numbers on the membership buttons, are posted in front of the house, allowing free admittance to their owners providing they show their numbers buttons to the doorman. There are other attractive features to these Saturday matinees including the unexpected awarding of prizes and novelties from the stage during the progress of the show. From time to time, special performances are announced at which club members are admitted at reduced prices.

Football Game Used for "So This Is College"

FACT that local interest was centered on a championship high school football game at the time of the showing of "So This Is College," enabled S. Pechner, manager of the Fox, at San Francisco, to put over a good stunt. Pechner arranged to have both teams see the picture. The players appeared in uniform and sat in special block of seats accompanied by cheer leaders and team supporters. Mayor Ralph presented the trophy to the winning team on the stage of the theater. Announcements of the event were made in the schools and local newspapers.

I-G-M FINISHES WORK ON 3 FOREIGN VERSIONS

German versions of "A Lady to Love" and "Dinner at 8" have been completed at the I-G-M studios. Jacques Feyder has finished directing the all-talking French p.o.v. version "Le Spectre Vert," in which Garbo is the female lead. The Spanish version of the film is Free and Easy, which stars Busby Berkeley and Ray Milland. The female lead in the film is a femme fatale, and is expected to be completed some time in March.

Tiffany Cameramen Now Using the New Sound Box

Tiffany cameramen are now working in what has been termed a "cinema box," invented to safeguard the safelight of motion picture photographists. This new box is a rectangular tank and contains a camera run by an electric motor, a "finder" of a new and improved type, a focusing mechanism which permits the cameraman to change his focus without opening up the door or getting at the camera, and combinations of special frames and materials. The box can be moved to any part of the studio, working on lights just as the present camera box does.

Elaborate cast of "Paramount on Parade" will include Clara Bow, who is upon her return to the Coast to make a sequence for the Paramount social.

The largest and most powerful incandescent lamp in the world is being demonstrated at the studios. It gives a 8,000,000 candle power over a spread of 120 degrees, when housed in a mammoth reflector. It operates without noise and has been designed especially for huge Technicolor sets.

Frank McHugh has been signed to a long term contract by First National. He was signed as a direct result of his work in "Madamoiselle Modiste," now being filmed. He was introduced to pictures by Robert Armstrong, with whom he worked in a Des Moines stock company several years ago. "Bright Lights" was his first picture.

Al Dubin and Joe Burke, the prolific writers, recently completed the scenario of "Napoleon and the Girl," for Warner Brothers, and also wrote a new score for "Top Speed" for First National. Al composes the music, while Joe furnishes the lyrics.

A Little from "Lots"

By RALPH WILK

JACK BENNY says he knows a chap who bought two pants suits to save money and then burned a hole in the coat.

George Duryea had an ambition gratified when he played in "Radio Kisses" for Mack Sennett. During his three years in pictures he has always enacted emotional roles, although he had usually played comedy roles on the stage. It was when he had almost despaired of ever the score of "In the Pink" he said, "I'm going on," and on the screen, that he was engaged for the Sennett comedy.

When Mauri Grashin and Tom Lennon, Pathe writers, got their names in the paper for the first time, they became quite excited. Purchasing 100 copies of all the sheets in town, they carefully clipped out the item. "What'll we do with the rest of the papers?" asked Lennon. "I'll show you," said Grashin. He then folded the papers neat and went out on Washington Blvd., where, with part of the sheets missing he sold them at a discount.

Arthur Lake to Be Starred Arthur Lake will be starred by Radio Pictures in "Tommy," which Melvin Brown is directing.

The Eclipse

By JACK ALICOATE

YOU live in a city or town more than a pullman jump from a valley of bright lights and the law you are about to see that dancing at the local opry house deserves it as direct from Broadway—may be safe in putting it in as a slight deception or vision of the truth, because, in a landscape, the legitimate drama is now permanently divorced from motion pictures as the conundrum. Take a morning walk in the Times building to the theater where Columbus in statue hangs out and you will find talkers in and the shows out, anywhere. By this we do not mean that the show business in America is dead. Far from it. In fact, we look for rather a general trend among the legitimate field. The next few years. You will display more readily the stage of blood by mechanical sound than you can make direct operation by the telephone. In fact, we wish to make here a prophecy that Broadway has suffered like Uncle Tom, with body soul, entirely. To the movies.

Wide-Film Last Call!

HERE is a certain, rather active, energetic being used in sev.-locations that tells us in unmistakable terms that one of these fine things he will wake up and find a new wide-film seller spread all over the land. We have previously given our merry opinion that this element is irresistible and an ever-growing step forward for the industry. The exhibitors or their own, no is not up-to-the-minute on conquering innovation and the time for its installation may easily find himself on the outside looking in.

Marjorie Sullivan, executive secretary of the National M. P. League, tips us off to the fact that Faith Vilas, Fononda Sheseley and Laura Niles, debutante members of the Junior Radio Commission of the League, will talk about current films over WPCH at 3:30 p.m. today. For their good deed they will be treated to a lunch at Pierre's by Mrs. Stanley P. Woodward, the League's president, and Elvio Hitchings, reviewing secretary, will discuss selected films with the debes.......

Donald Henderson Clarke says that if Jack Francis gave him all the material for "Louis Beretti," as printed, he wishes Jack would hurry up and send him material for the novel he is now working on, by the same system, which must be telepyric since Don hasn't seen Jack in years..... Warner Bros. has signed Laura Lee as featured comedienne in "Top Speed".......

Carl E. Milliken, aide to Will H. Hays, spoke to 600 representative Washington women who met in the Capitol under the auspices of the Better Films Committee of the Eastern division, Daughters of the American Revolution.....

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, explorer-adventurer, recently released from the Federal penitentiary, makes his first public appearance and statement since his release at the Embassy by Fox Movietone News. Godfrey H. Boger, owner of Boger's projection rooms, has retired and transferred his business to Emanuel Rosenbloom and Joseph Josephson who will operate under the name Audio Public Projection Rooms on the seventh floor of the Film Center Bldg. .......

Al Smith, no, not our former governor, took the first prize in the Public Gold Getter Contest recently when box-office receipts were smashed to smithereens on "Her Unborn Child" at the Winona, Winona, Minn. Alice Goodman, who does a lot of reading for the M-G-M scenario department, expects to take the prize for synopsizing the most amount of short stories during the year. She'll take the prize providing no one sees her doing it. Helen Morgan has been recruited by R-K-O to play at the Palace for the week beginning March 29th. And we also hear that Gene Edwards will appear on R-K-O time for four weeks. He will open at the Palace, Chicago, March 22, then to Cincinnati, Cleveland and the dear old Palace on Broadway.......

ublix executives are back in town after spending the past week in Chicago, where they attended a meeting of city and district managers at the Drake Hotel. Sound was one of the chief topics discussed at the conference, which was in session Monday to Wednesday, and was presided over by D. J. Harris, general supervisor of the management.

The main address was by Dr. M. L. Brotte, sound expert for the Lublinian, who discussed methods of checking and preparing for this new medium of the medium. The subject was taken up by Harris and Brotte, and the future held promise for better films. A. M. Botsford, of advertising and publicity, and Fred Mather, of the sound department, took up the subject of the control of the expenses. Peck, chief of the sound department, stressed the importance of the music department. Vice President John Ballinger, president of Lublinia, spoke about the sound of the music department.

Dr. De Forest Sound Clinic
To The Rescue

You can have De Forest Sound Quality without junking your present equipment. Have De Forest engineers diagnose the ailments of your machine.

Hundreds of exhibitors are desperate! They are faced with the necessity of junking their ill-purchased bootleg sound equipment and taking the loss. This is a burden that few of them can bear. It is to those theatre owners that this message is directed.

DR. DE FOREST SOUND CLINIC will show you how your present equipment may be completely rebuilt without the necessity of losing your original investment. By the addition of De Forest sound head and necessary parts, you will have De Forest sound quality and Protection.

Clinic engineers will gladly examine your present equipment free and give you an estimate of the cost of rebuilding. Factory trained men will reconstruct your machine at surprisingly low cost, and you will have sound that will make friends for your theatre.

This is the first concrete plan to come from any manufacturer of sound equipment to give the exhibitor material aid in his pressing problem. The plan was conceived for you. Make the most of it!

Sausages
—and individual effort
—By JACK ALICOATE—

WE WERE ASKED by a well-meaning, picture-novice banker the other day if we did not think the present crop of pictures were so much alike as to be termed factory-made or chain store product. We replied that some picture companies, like some butchers, do turn out picture product like links of sausages, but, like the sameness of each link, do not always sell their product at a profit for this very reason. It has always been our contention that every successful picture reflects the genius of a single or small group of individuals. Now, more than ever, is creative thought needed as an offset to the easier but uninspired studio factory methods. To our way of thinking the floor was never more wide open nor the opportunity greater for the individual creator of the artistic, the unusual and the compelling than is offered now as well as in the future of the talking picture.

The Idea Market

IT STANDS to reason that the same set of men working day in and day out on the same lot in the same old way must grow brain weary trying to find the way out. Studio business energy and efficiency is decidedly one thing and individual creative effort within the same studio is definitely another. The day of the small producer may be waning but the hour of indi-

Maze of Injunctions Seen as Harmful to Bancamerica Plan

By a postponement till tomorrow afternoon of yesterday's Fox hearings before Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman, the stumbling blocks that have been thrown in the way of the Bancamerica group refinancing plan as a result of injunctions and counter injunctions, the situation has reached the stage where it is generally felt that legal complications will prevent a settlement before April 15, the date of the next annual election.

Hollywood Pictures Corp.,

Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:

It is gratifying to write you that "Clancy in Wall Street" opened to-day, not only to capacity business, but the best business we have enjoyed in many weeks.

I believe this speaks volumes for "Clancy in Wall Street" as an attraction, as for opposition we have Irene Bordoni in "Paris" at the Strand, and "Song of the West" at the State.

"Clancy" is surely one hundred per cent entertainment, and the comments from our audiences to-day were most enthusiastic and highly favorable.

There is every indication that you have a box office winner in "Clancy in Wall Street," and I wish you every success.

Very truly yours,
A. Goodside (signed)

order granting them the right to the Fox “B” stock held by the Bankers Trust, they undoubtedly will use the present time to get together a new board of directors for the Fox interests and thereby come into control.

Adjournment of yesterday’s actions, one of which was a show cause order obtained by William Fox to restrain a group of independent stockholders demanding a receivership, while the other was a similar order against Stuart and Otterson over the “B” stock, was by agreement between the lawyers, who on the previous day had asked postponements on the actions brought against Fox by Stuart and Otterson by the independent stockholders. These actions are due to come up in the State Supreme Court today. Two receivership actions also are scheduled to be heard by Judge Coleman tomorrow.

Although the growing legal tangles, which are regarded in some quarters as being engineered to keep the Fox case in abeyance until the annual meeting, may prove fatal to Fox’s announced refinancing plan, the New York Stock Exchange already has begun trading in rights to subscribe to additional A stock and debentures proposed under this plan. Rights will expire March 28.

An order permitting Fox Film and Fox Theaters to act as co-plaintiffs with William Fox in his suit against Stuart and Otterson was signed by Judge Coleman yesterday morning.

that is likely to prevent William Fox and the Bancamerica group of bankers from going through with their refinancing plan before the annual meeting on April 15.

Judge Manton's order is returnable April 7. Meanwhile Judge Coleman is restrained from acting on any suit in connection with the Fox case. These actions include, in addition to the original and subsequent petitions for receivership, a suit brought by Fox for an injunction to prevent Stuart and Otterson from exercising the power of Fox's "B" stock now held by the Bankers Trust.

Justice Aaron J. Levy, of the State Supreme Court, recently handed down an order in Fox's application for an order to enable him to obtain possession of this voting stock and this suit before Judge Coleman is an appeal from that decision.

Max D. Steuer, Henry Epstein and Gabriel L. Hess. Date of trial of the suit is indefinite and may not occur for many months.

A statement issued yesterday affternoon from the Hays office says the action is based on "the alleged representatives of certain pictures produced by the plaintiffs.

"Some of the pictures produced by Mr. Abramson, and in defense of which he wrote a book in 1929, called "Mother of Truth," were 'Forbidden
Fruit,' 'A Fool's Paradise,' 'Sex
Lure' and 'Enlighten Thy Daughter,'" says the statement.

"The charge of monopoly or restraint of trade is based upon the failure of these and similar pictures," Steuer, in part said "is utterly ridiculous. No industry is more actively competitive than the production, distribution and exhibition of motion pictures.

"However, the respondents in the business have consistently affirmed, and now re-affirm, their intention not to use the world's great entertainment medium to transmit salacious and immoral tendencies to a wide audience of 250,000,000 weekly.

"The answer, in part, as follows, the working of "The Formula," under which "selection of wholesome screen material is made for many months.

"There is little difference of opinion between the business as fundamentally right which is fundamentally wrong. Perfectly conscious people, however, differ about themes which are on the border line. Who is to say what is right? The companies, them selves, with a growing consciousness of their responsibilities and of their pledges, took upon themselves consciously to determine, to so far as they were able, what was suitable and what was not. On June 24, 1924, the voluntarily set up a system planned to excessively those themes which demand consciousness for success. This system be-known as 'The Formula' and operated as not agreed on until December, 1927, when it was modified by an agreement executed with the Author's League of America, which brought the author into the situation in a more intimate way.'"

Wide Film Projectors Set for April Delivery

Second Thoughts

by Jack Alcoate

CERCENTAGE booking looms on the horizon as the one sensible, straightforward and satisfactory solution to the pressing problems of distribution. The analysis of application is elementary. A large, or small, should produce and distribute given production an amount and on the actual takings at his office. No more and no less. Arrangement is obviously just equitable. We are not trying to win the pros and cons of the argument in a paragraph, but we do insistently suggest that perhaps there is a way out, and that it may be sooner than most film folk expect.

1 HAVE A PULITZER prize. A Pulitzer prize book and a Pulitzer prize editorial. Why not Pulitzer prize motion pictures? Remember hearing something is thought in the dim and distant hut, like other good deeds by boy scouts, is probably now a shelf gathering dust. We have the facts and figures at hand just at this minute but let out last season's pass to another Theater that twenty as many people as the Ten Best Pictures of the year see the Pulitzer prize play as lead the Pulitzer prize book editorial combined.

Bell & Howell Accuracy Begins in the Test Tube

THE rigid specifications guiding every operation in the manufacture of Bell & Howell Cinemachinery begin with inflexible chemical formulae. For the various kinds of metals used, specifications as to hardness, texture, and reaction to temperature are invariable, and can be achieved only by exacting restrictions in their manufacture.

Scores of minute inspections follow every manufacturing operation. Tolerances of one ten-thousandth of an inch are commonly demanded. Completed machines must run a hard gauntlet before they are released. Bell & Howell's first guarantee is to itself . . . that its Standard Studio Cameras, Film Perforators, Printers and Splicers be made in such a way as to render the full measure of dependable service the world has learned to expect of them.

From the "lot" to the projection booth, this insistence upon accuracy paves the way for better motion picture sound or silent. Every branch of the industry shares in these values, Bell & Howell's permanent contribution to widespread economic advancement of the industry.

To Make “Big Fight” in Spanish—Fred Kohler in “Little Caesar” — Name Town After Cooper—Ralph Wilk’s Notes and Other Wired Coast News

By RALPH WILK

Hollywood

GEORGE O’BRIEN sings two songs in his newest picture, tentatively titled, “A Holy Terror,” directed by A. E. Erickson. The songs are “The Song of the Lumberjacks” and “Nobody Knows,” both written by John Little and Eddie Burke.

Walter DeLeon recently completed his original story, “Fire Men,” for Pathés. He also wrote the continuity and dialogue. He is now writing another original for Pathes.

Do you remember when Sam W. B. Cohn was publicity director of Associated Producers, when Tom Lennon was a lawyer in San Francisco; when Mauri Grashin was a reporter on the old “Chicago Herald.”

Rowland V. Lee, veteran Paramount director, has signed a new contract with Paramount. He directed two of George Bancroft’s most successful pictures, “The Wolf of Wall Street” and “Ladies Love Brute.” Lee was well prepared when sound pictures came into being. Several years of stage experience had left him well founded in the proper use of dialogue, while additional years as a motion picture actor increased his worth.

Colleen Moore was so interested in the stage debut of her brother, Clive, that she traveled to St. Louis to witness his performance as the juvenile in “June Moon.”

Tom Buckingham, who wrote “Officer O’Brien,” to which T. C. Grett directed for Pathes, is at work on an original that Garrett will also make for Pathes.

Completes Plans for “Big Fight” in Spanish

Plans have been completed by Samuel Zelwer of James Cagney Productions for the making of “The Big Fight” in Spanish. Ralph Ince has been assigned to direct this version and will be assisted by Andres de Segurola, operative and screen star as well as author and linguist, who will also translate the story into the Spanish tongue.

Paramount Signs Taurog

Paramount has signed Norman Taurog to direct forthcoming productions for the company. His first assignment will be at the Astoria studios.

Wellman with Warners

William Wellman has been signed by Warners to direct “College Widow.”

Columbia Making Original

“The Man from Hell’s River,” which Columbia will produce, is not by James Oliver Curwood but an original, the company states.

Start Lillie Picture

Hamilton MacFadden has started direction of Beatrice Lillie in “Are You There?” for Fox.

Fred Kohler to Star in “Little Caesar” for F. N.

Fred Kohler’s first starring vehicle for First National will be the “Little Caesar,” a story of the underworld.

Gets Lead in Five Versions

Barbara Leonard, hailed as a “find,” will play the leading feminine role in all five versions—English, German, French, Italian and Spanish—of M-G-M’s “MonSieur Le Fox.” Two other players, Frank Lackteen and Miss Nita Quintero, also will be in all editions. Gilbert Roland will act the male lead in the English and Spanish editions, while Andre Luguet will play the same role in the French version and Jean de Briac in the German and Italian. Arnold Korf has a principal part in the English and German versions. George Davis and Helmar Corin will appear in the French and German editions, and Robert Elliott is in the English cast.

7 Leading Men in Bow Film

Clara Bow has seven leading men in her next, titled “True to the Navy,” for Paramount: They are: Fredric March, Eddie Dunn, Rex Bell, Eddie Fetherston, Harry Sweet, Ray Cooke and Charles Sullivan.

Town of Gary

The Great Northern Railway will rename the town of Bonnyside, Mont., to Gary, in honor of Gary Cooper, who owns a ranch near by and who was born in Montana.

Chesterfield Changes Title

Chesterfield has changed the title of its second all-talker to “Ladies in Love.”

Radio Casts June Clyde

June Clyde has been added to the cast of “Hawk Island” by Radio Pictures. George B. Seitz will direct.

Along the Rialto

with

Phil M. Daly, Jr.

With Harry M. Warner and other officials of the Warner firm due back from Hollywood on Tuesday, and representatives of the Tobis and Kuechenmeister talking picture companies scheduled to arrive from abroad at about the same time, that much talked of deal involving foreign talker patents is expected to be concluded.

The Paramount, ace Broadway house of the Publix chain, is receiving its management nowadays from Stephen Barutio. Steve formerly managed the Metropolitan in Boston and the Rialto in this great big town. Incidentally, he helped open the Paramount . . . . And what a capable and pleasant secretary he has in Anne Rubin, who is on the job in a serious, consistent way.

Mike Simmons speaking in behalf of Sono Art-World Wide. Sez his outfit will stage a 47-station radio hookup Mar. 23 to plug the songs used in "Blaze O' Glory," in which Mr. Dowling stars . . . . Beside Mack, who publicizes the Capitol with much gusto, is smiling, officially, and personally, at the way they're crowdin' in to hear Greta talk in "Anna Christie." Getting into the Capitol these days is like trying to bust the Notre Dame line on something.

John Boles, who is currently appearing in "Song of the West," will be the guest star of Roxy and his gang at their broadcast Monday evening over WJZ. He'll also make personal appearance at the Roxy when "Captain of the Guard" begins a run there next Friday . . . . Add to the list of personal appearing gentlemen Maurice Chevalier, who will start a series of them at the Fulton Monday. For two weeks he will appear under the direction of Charles Dillingham, through arrangement with Jesse Lasky. Duke Ellington's band will entertain along with Chevalier.

Jimmy Quirk's mag, "Photoplay," lists the following as the best pictures of the current month: "Lumina," "Hell Harbor," "Only the Brave," "Montana Moon" and "Such Men Are Dangerous." The Lambs Club has gone pictures. If you don't believe it, eavesdrop on that spot some day and you'll get the impression that the stage is a prehistoric institution.

Buckling and Breathing Eliminated on 56mm Head

Buckling and "breathing" of film as it passes through the sprockets into the upper magazine are being eliminated through the Natural Vision Head, which converts 35 mm. film to 56 mm. pictures. Elimination of these hazards not only includes any possibilities of fire from these sources, it is said, but also film from being damaged. In addition safety devices are attachable with the new head as an added assurance against fire. Other advantages the new wide film apparatus promises.

Presto Products, Inc. Opens Toronto Office

Toronto—Presto Machine Products Corp. has opened offices here at 505 Yonge St., where J. E. Rudell is in charge. The Presto Mobile Unit, now being marketed in Canada, is claimed to have "definite features of superiority" involving "increased output—approaching the theoretical ideal volt generation." "Extreme sensitivity as the result of unique armature design and construction, laboratory flexibility, increasing volume and minimizing record wear." "Clarion-like definition established by use of highly specialized materials in magnetic-circuit components." "Elimination of sharp resonance peaks by virtue of correct balance of oscillating elements free from excessive needle scratch and other disturbing noises without sacrifice of tone quality."

Tri-State Will Handle Stan-O-Phone in Ohio

Cleveland—Selling rights to Stan-O-Phone, portable sound equipment, for the state of Ohio, have been acquired by Tri-State M. P. Co., of which Jack Flanagan is president.

Sound Theater on Wheels Shown Capital by ERPI

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington—Complete talking picture equipment mounted on a motor truck was recently demonstrated by Electrical Research Products before the President and other high government officials in connection with the annual dinner of the White House correspondents held at the Hotel Willard. The device, which is practically a theater on wheels, was later placed on public display. The truck has a solid steel body and is lined with lead. This new development will permit the showing of talking pictures in out-of-the-way communities.

will make disc records using the same process in the talking machine industry, but will be out of the ordinary in that they will reduce shipping difficulties to a minimum. Records can be made as high as 36" in diameter and can be pressed in multiples of from two to 10, according to size. Recording studio will also be located at the company's headquarters.

Five qualities are claimed by the company as important to the producer and distributor. They are: brilliant tone, durability, unbreakability, economy in packing and freight, and tightness (the 10" record weighs 3.6 ounces; the 16" less than one pound). Arthur D. Little, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., collaborated in the development of the record and is under exclusive contract to Unbreakable Record for a long term of years.

All Netoco Houses to Have Sarasone Screens

New London, Conn.—All theaters in the Netoco chain will be supplied with the Sarasone screen, invention of Chester Harson of Boston, it is announced here. The screen is said to improve the appearance of the picture thrown upon it as well as amplifies and clarifies the accompanying sounds. Each square foot of the screen contains some 12,000 ends of tiny silvered wires of coil, which, coming through the warp of the cloth on front, act as tiny reflectors. Because of the hyper-reflecting quality thus obtained, theaters using the Sarasone screen are able to reduce projection amperage with consequent reduction in electric bills. Another advantage is that the picture appears as bright and as natural from any seat in the house. No matter what size, the screen is seamless. Installations are now in the Rivoli and State theaters, Roxbury, and the Capitol, here.
Scots Write 95

Edinburgh — There are 95 wired houses in Scotland, according to the latest statistics available. Western Electric and RCA Photophone lead in the number of installations, the former claiming 42 and the latter 24.

Press Austrian Gov’t to Help Sound Films

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington — Austrian sound film interests are bending every effort to produce and distribute important talking pictures in Austria, it is reported to the M. P. Division of the Dept. of Commerce. The matter soon will be placed before the government by the Austrian minister of commerce.

32 Censored in Germany in Jan.; 11 Made in U.S.

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington — Thirty-two feature films, half of German and half of foreign make, were censored in Germany in January, according to statistics forwarded to the M. P. Division of the Department of Commerce. Eleven of the foreign films censored were produced in the United States. There were 39 rejections in December and 33 in November.

Sound Equipment Insurance

London—Insurance against break-down in talking picture equipment purchased from it has been taken out by Syntok Talking Films, Ltd.

Opens Berlin Branch

Berlin—A distributing office has been opened at 48 Friedrichstrasse here by Defra, recently formed by French and German interests to produce multi-lingual films.

Foreign Service

Through the medium of Trade Papers International, a reciprocal news arrangement in which this publication participates, spot news of all important foreign developments is brought to the readers of THE FILM DAILY as rapidly as modern news-gathering facilities permit.

Trade Papers International is represented in London by Ernest W. Friedman, editor of "The Daily Film Renter"; in Berlin by Karl Woflfsohn, editor of "Filmbildenschein," and in Paris by P. A. Harle, editor of "La Cinematographie Francaise."

High Quality at Moderate Price Is Good-All Claim

Ogallala, Neb.—Features identical with those to be found in high-priced equipment are claimed for the latest Good-All sound reproducer put out by the Good-All Electric Manufacturing Co. of this city. It is said the apparatus, which is of the disc type and sells for $1,200, has perfect fidelity of reproduction, offers evenness and silence of operation and is sturdily constructed. The reproducer has a non-repeating tone arm.

Tobis-Klangfilm Offered in France at Cut in Price

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington — Tobis-Klangfilm is offering its sound equipment in France at a heavy reduction in prices, according to information in the hand of the M. P. Division of the Dept. of Commerce. Apparatus which previously sold as high as $13,800 is now being offered at prices ranging from $7,000 to $9,750.

Pathé-Cinema to Raise Capital to $8,000,000

Paris—Authorization for an increase in capital to $8,000,000 has been obtained from the stockholders of Pathé-Cinema. The company's receipts in 1929 showed a 25 per cent advance over those in 1928.

Poland Won Over to Sound; Declares P. L. Palmeton

That Poland has finally been won to the view that the future of the films depends on the audible picture is the assertion of P. L. Palmeton, executive manager of Electrical Research Products. "The indication," he says, "is that Poland will go all-talking in the near future." He adds that "the natural antiquity to anything foreign and the inherent belief in Polish that synchronized pictures represent an artificial art have gradually been overcome according to the reports of our agents."

SATISFACTORY PROGRAM OFFERING, COMEDY RELIEF BY STUART ERWIN AND JAMES DEAN TOO MUCH TO FAIR STORY.

Charles "Buddy" Rogers' fans will be satisfied with his latest picture. Grover Jones and William Slavena McVitt fashioned a script, which treated air war fairly lightly. The comedy relief was assigned to Stuart Erwin and James Finlayson and they ring up many laughs. The story is also rather intriguing, with Mary Gordon (Jean Arthur), the heroine, being forced to pose as a German spy for a few reels. In the end, of course, she proves to be an American spy, who, however, is captured by the enemy territory with Von Baden, the German ace, capably played by Paul Lukas. The air scenes credit director T.C.

Directors: William A. Wellman; based on "The One Who Was Clever" and "Sky High," by Elliott White Springs; Adaptors, Charles Jones and William Slavena McVitt; Dialoguers, Grover Jones, William Slavena McVitt, O'Toole and Cullen; Assistant Director, A. J. Stout; Monitor Man, not listed.

Richard Dix in "Lovin' the Ladies" (RKO)
Time, 1 hr., 5 mins.

SOPHISTICATED COMEDY PROVIDING GOOD ENTERTAINMENT, FULL OF LIFE AND HILARIOUS SITUATIONS. CAST GOOD.

Adapted from William Le Baron's play "I Love You," this production proves good mature entertainment. Chief among its assets is a fine strain of humor. The film boasts any number of engaging situations and brightly-toned lines. In its direction Melville Brown reveals a keen understanding of comic values, and he has kept the comedy consistently fast and light in tempo. The picture also gains much by fine photography and splendid settings. Heading a well-balanced cast, Richard Dix is engaging enough, though his humor is a bit too broad and he sometimes overdoes the part. He plays an electrician who is hired to handle guns to a bit of a fairyish girl. Instead he falls in love with a friend of the lady he has been engaged to woo and ends by marrying her.

Cast: Richard Dix, Lois Wilson, Allen Kearns, Rita La Roy, Rene Macuraedy, Virginia Bruce, Selma Sylven, Jackson, Anthony Bushell, Henry Armetta.

WHALE OF A DOMESTIC COMEDY FULL OF REFRESHING HUMOR AND HELD ALONG BY A STERLING CAST.

J. C. and Elliott Nugent's "Kemp's" has been made into a film that is really good stuff. There have come to the screen new productions full of such provoking humor. What makes this film so refreshing is the keen sense of human nature that it reveals. The word "human" perhaps best describes the picture. Every one of the characters is extraordinarily true to life and full of the warmth of life. There is truth of being. It is humaneness. The film owes much to its cast, which has among its players both the Nugents. They are a pair of terminals that C. G. gives a portrayal of a plaintive, irritating small-town family that is positively a gem. The story is about the daily personal intimate war of youth with architectural ambitions only to have the marriage later annulled. The husband, who is really in love with a younger sister, is tickled at the idea.

Cast: Elliott Nugent, J. C. Nugent, Roland Young, Norma Lewis, Claire Blaisdel, Marion Shilling, Lora Spellman, James Donlan.

Director, E. Mason Hopper; Author, J. C. and Elliott Nugent; Editor, Margaret Booth; Assistant Director, R. B. White; Photographer, William Daniels.

Ken Maynard in "Lucky Larkin" (Synchronized)
Universal
Time, 1 hr., 4 mins.

GOOD WESTERN CHOICE OF EXCITEMENT AND FAST AND THRIBBING IN THE FIRST-RATE ENTERTAINMENT.

Ken Maynard is starred in a western that provides exciting entertainment. For sheer blood-stirring quality this picture can stand its group with the best of the so-called westerns. The picture as a whole boasts of such consistency of action and such heedlessness of plot. The result is a production of mendacious popular appeal. This makes use of all the devices that have been tried in the action field and found successful. Not satis with a thrilling fire and a tense hand-to-hand struggle, the producers have devised as a climax a horse race across the desert that is one of the finest things of its kind on the screen. The story, which is laid in Arizona, has to do with a lucky horse owner whose whole fortune depends upon the outcome of the race. One can have no doubt that the horse is "Lucky Larkin" by his master's name to win the cast is good.

Time, 50 mins.

ROUTINE PRODUCT WITH ENOUGH EXCITEMENT TO REDEEM IT. LEONA ST. LEO DOES GOOD WORK.

If this production were not tuneful in having a generous measure of excitement, there would be certain to make more of a hit with young people than with adults, as it contains many of the attributes of a moldy film. Action involves gunplay, villain-chasing, a fair amount of romance and a few personal counterattacks. Finally there is Leon St. Leo, who is pretty successful in carrying on the Douglas Fairbanks style. His acrobatic ability will not lure captive young film-goers. He is copped by a thoroughly blacky in the film has been treated with blackness. The plot concerns sacred vase stolen from a Buddha by a young Chinese man who is the son of a scientist who is. The scientist is that it may be used to destroy the power of a god. The hero cannot find the thief to whom he has pose of it, he tries to steal it and is caught.

Tom Tyler in "The Canyon of Missing Men" (Synchronized) Syndicate
Time, 51 mins.

PASSINGLY SATISFYING WESTERN WITHOUT DIALOGUE. BEST SUITED FOR A DOUBLE-FEATURE PROGRAM.

Tom Tyler and Sheila Le Gay, an unusually likable western love team, are the center of interest in this story of cattle rustlers and kidnappers. Tyler plays the role of a member of the gang who decides to go straight after meeting the nice daughter of a ranch owner. For revenge his former pals kidnap the girl, obtain a ransom, then hold both the girl and her father and are about to engage in more dirty work when the hero comes riding to the scene and clammers the action. Though it is not so original, the story and its handling should prove popular with western fans, and the picture ought to get by all right as part of a double bill.

FAIRLY ENTERTAINING BRITISH-LONE STAR Wiring FROM DOMESTIC COMPLICATIONS. HAS SUCCESSFUL PLOT, HANDLED TO SUIT AMERICAN AUDIENCES.

As one of the first British sound productions made in Wembley, this is not a bad piece of entertainment, even from the American standpoint. It has a pretty good dramatic plot, dealing with a jealous sculptor who wants to get even with a musician he believes has deserted his love in a love affair with the former's wife. The sculptor arranges a ruse whereby he plans to catch the musician's memory by making a plaster cast of them, but fails to go through with it. There is a tense scene as well as some pleasing lighter sequences in which a couple of clever children take part, and some musical interpolations that are also handled with the philosophical touch that would find its best appreciation among arty audiences.

Time, 10 mins.

This should prove a fine bit of entertainment considering that it possesses some good music and a certain amount of really beautiful color and presents an assortment of highly interesting subjects. It is also notable because it offers glimpses from the past of figures historical and otherwise. We see General Jacob S. Coxey at the time he led "Coxey's Army" in its march to Washington; Eamon de Valera haranguing a Dublin crowd in the days of Ireland's struggle for independence, and Leon Trotsky in the heyday of his power in Russia. There are also gaps, however, in Neshoba County. Mary Garden as they appeared some half dozen years back and Ruth Roland in a bit from an old Pathe thriller. Other subjects are the Catt Lady in a bit on the effects of women. It is pleasing arrangement of Strauss melodies, while Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford have an augmented repertory of five numbers in their organ program.

PIANO FESTIVAL STAGED BY KAHN AT PARAMOUNT

About two-score pianos participated in the big windup scene of "Dancing Keys," featuring Art Kahn, re-created in the theater at the Paramount. Harry Gourian devised and staged the production, which is designed primarily to exploit Kahn's abilities in manipulating the ivories. The surrounding artists, including Lucille Peterson, are soon to join the regular Orchestra in pleasing arrangement of Strauss melodies, while Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford have an augmented repertory of five numbers in their organ program.

DANCING IS HIGHLIGHT ON ROXY STAGE PROGRAM

This week's stage offering at the Roxy is pretty much of a dance festival. For the opening number, "Ballet Chasssine," Patricia Bowman and Leonide Massine indulge in some artistic movements with the support of the Roxy Ballet Corps. Then comes the Russell E. Markert Roxette in "Divertissement," a delightfully routine stepping affair. In George W. Meyer's "My Song of the Nile," Ellen Eckler and the Roxy Ballet Corps put over a few more terpsichorean fancy work, while Lucille Fields and the Roxy Chorus add to the gayety. The whole was staged and colorfully costumed exhibition. A final dancing treat is presented by Miss Bowman in the closing number, which also features Percy Wenrich, Dolly Connolly and Tom Cowan, with the entire Roxy Ensemble participating in the vocal climax.

New Screen Can Show Films in Lighted Room

Lifelike Screen Corp., of New York, will hold a series of exhibitions of moving pictures on a screen, which, it is believed, will effectively show pictures in a fully lighted room. The screen can show films with about one-quarter of the light usually employed in projection, the company states, which is particularly striking when screened colored pictures. The screen is said to be dull on the ordinary screen, live on the new life-like screen. Exhibitions will be held from March 25 to 28 at the Engineering Societies Bldg. 29 W. 39th St., at 8:15.

Sunday Shows in Texas

Despite Court Actions

Scratches Removed from Negatives!

Positive and Negative Costs Reduced With the RECONO TREATMENTS

AMERICAN RECONO, INC. now offers to the motion picture industry the scientific film treatments evolved by J. J. F. Stock of Berlin, prominent among the scientists active in the European field of photo-chemistry.

Three complete and distinct treatments are offered:

First— The scratch removing treatment for negatives and positives (including color): actually removes scratches and other abrasions from both celluloid and emulsion sides of the film.

Second— The Impregnation Treatment for preserving new negatives and positives. This process actually prolongs the life of negatives or positives, rendering them impervious to scratches, to absorption of oil and to other deteriorating conditions to which film is subjected. Retards brittleness, actually improves the projected image, and clarifies the sound track.

Third— The Rejuvenation Treatment. This treatment successfully restores damaged or worn negatives and positives (including color). The film is completely rejuvenated, eliminating shrinkage and brittleness.

Each of the treatments attains its effects by the impregnation into the film of a scientifically balanced solution of certain chemicals by means of precision-gauged mechanical devices entirely automatic in their operation.

No coatings or lacquers are used in any of the treatments. The processes are covered by basic patents which have been under successful commercial operation in Berlin for the past seven years.

During several months of trial demonstrations in New York City, we have proven to most of the major motion picture companies our ability to treat negatives and positives (including color) in line with the above claims.

Effective with this issue of Film Daily, our new and specially constructed laboratory is open for business at 245 W. 55th Street. We have the most modern equipment, thus insuring the proper treatment and handling of all film. The actual work is performed by skilled technicians who have had years of training in the plant of the parent company in Berlin.

ARBITRATION CLAUSE IN M-G-M CONTRACT

Plan Another $2,000,000 Addition to RKO Studio

The Public
—must be catered to—

By JACK ALICOATE

OVER ONE MILLION customers to be catered to each and every week throughout the year is a considerable number in any league, yet, that's approximately the number that pay as they enter the picture theaters of these United States from Saturday to Saturday. All of them are demanding something about what to give them in the way of production and story, and they want it sooner rather than later. If this great international industry is to continue as the dominant force in the world's activity and progress it must continue to give its millions of patrons what they demand in the way of story material and what the ever changing demands of thought, demeanor and morals warrant.

Modernism is not Smut

By this we do not in any sense mean the word mean dirt. Smut in its present form has no place whatsoever in the screen. Our thought rather to that the progressive and modern ideas of our younger thinkers must be considered if we are not to let the parade pass us by. Public demand cannot be sidetracked. If the ear ladies wish to wear their hair short and their skirts short, no power on earth can stop them. So with picture story material. Keep a watch on the public pulse. The answer is manifest. Give the dear old public what it wants and ninety-nine percent of the home folks will be satisfied.

Censors Must Live

Like normal minded inhabitants censors must be constantly doing something, whether right or wrong, if they would be out of a job. They.

Canavan Sees Recording and Reproducing Much Improved

Approximately 2,700 operators are improving their knowledge of sound projection through attending 150 classes being held by projectionists' unions throughout the country, estimates William E. Canavan, president of the I.A.T.S.E. & M.P.O.

"There is no comparison with the brand of recording put out 18 months ago," says Canavan in commenting the work of the studios. "Intensive need of training projectionists in operating equipment is now past as they are doing uniformly good work."

DEPOSITS REQUIRED UNDER NEW AGREEMENT

Both arbitration and deposit clauses are embodied in the new M-G-M exhibition contract, just printed and now ready for use, THE FILM DAILY exclusively learns.

Under the arbitration plan four arbitrators are to be appointed in event of dispute, two by each party. This group will select a fifth arbitrator from outside of the industry in case it fails to agree and the case will then be heard. In event the original four arbitrators cannot agree on the picking of a fifth his appointment will be made "by the presiding judge of the highest court of the state wherein the exchange of the distributee from which the exhibitor is served is located."

Greed for Profits Held Cause Of Most Box Office Failures
In the history of the film industry, it is really amazing how little genuine experimentation goes on in the picture studios. The box office test is today the most formidable factor in determining the value of a picture; and although the desire of the producers to make money out of a picture is perfectly understandable, this exclusive preoccupation with money has probably been responsible for more stupid, silly and unenticing pictures than would have been made if the aim of the producers had been to experiment with their materials and take a healthy chance on the public's liking for the results.

Thornton Delechanty in "New York Evening Post"

Asserts Sound Has Brought Projectionists to the Fore
COMPETITION which took place in the early days was between houses wired and unwired. Now the competition is between wired houses, and such a spirit can only result in better quality on the average. The quality of the show is more dependent now on the efficiency and resource of the projectionists than ever before, and where in the case of silent films certain tolerance might be allowed with the quality of projection, the same does not apply to sound.

Word "Super" Going Out of Style in Hollywood, Says Quirk
FEW picture concerns today have the effrontery to advertise their pictures as super-specials, super-productions, or super-anything. The high, mighty and useless office of supervisor has been ridiculed out of existence, and the public has habited "super" off the billboards.

"Mamba" makes its N.Y. Premiere

By ROSS PELTROD

"Mamba," a Technicolor Technicolor picture, was opened on the Tiffany stage last evening and turned out to be the best, by far, of the Technicolor dramas that have appeared on the Tiffany stage. The picture has a good deal to its credit and is a well-made and interesting story, but it is only the best of the Tiffany Technicolor series.

The plot of "Mamba" is a typical work of the Tiffany studio, involving a romantic interest, a mystery, and a thriller. The story is well-sketched, the dialogue is well-written, and the acting is good. The Technicolor is well-handled, and the picture is well-produced.

The Tiffany studio has done a good job in "Mamba," and the picture is a credit to the Tiffany company. It is a well-made and interesting story, and it is well-worth seeing.

Well, it's just Pathe's way of exploiting "A Feline Fighter," Granitel Rice Sportlight, playing at that house in conjunction with Dix's "Lovin' the Ladies." Don Hancock arranged the stunt with the cooperation of Joe Rivkin of Pathe—Charles Yarmy, in charge of Warner realty transactions, is back from Oklahoma City after completing negotiations for a new exchange building in that city. Fred Dowley, who owns the Fourth Avenue Amusement Co. of Louisville, Ky., is paying New York a visit.

MR. AND MRS. AL JOLSON arrived in town yesterday for the opening of "Mammy" at the Warner tomorrow night. Marilyn Miller says good-bye to New York Sunday. She's going to the Coast to start her second picture for First National. Upon her return to Broadway in the fall she will be starred in a new Ziegfeld show—Nils Asther is taking time off from his work at M-G-M to embark on a 14-week vaudeville tour. This is his first appearance on the stage in this country.

IT'LL be off for Hollywood soon for Otto Harbach and Jerome Kern, who are under contract to write tunes for Warner films. They're now at Palm Beach taking it easy. So that she may screen to better advantage Vivienne Segal has placed her nose in the hands of a plastic surgeon on the Coast—Lou Guimond has joined the advertising and publicity staff of Columbia as editor of the company's new exhibitor house organ. He has seen extensive service in the exhibition and distribution branches of the industry. Everybody knows Lou.

EXCUSE US. We spoke about Marilyn Miller a while ago but forgot to mention that when she leaves for the coast Sunday there will be an engagement band on her finger. Her husband-to-be is Michael Farmer—Lillian Roth is certainly keeping her name on Broadway. Her work in "The Love Parade" and "The Vagabond King" will be followed several weeks hence by her appearance in "Honey" at the Paramount.

by RALPH WILK

HARRY WEBER, artists' representative, has a record of his own, in that he has spent one day in 10 during the past 10 years aboard trains. During the 10 years, Weber has spent 13 months commuting East and West, North and South, in the interests of his various clients in the theater. The distance covered is approximately four times around the world.

Wilson B. Heller is all smiles that day he won a pewter cup for winning his flight at the California Golf Club.

Before becoming a writer, Forrest Halsey was a portrait painter of note. He drew portraits of Lionel Purnell, the late Alfred Vanderbilt, Olga Nerhusoth, Fritz Kreisler, Lily Langtry, Eleanor Robson, Harry Miller and other noted figures of the theater and society. One of his early plays, "Ennui," was produced in London, with Fanny Ward as the star.

Our Passing Show: Frank Joyce, Guthrie McClintic, Audrey Scootto, Louis Loefler, Helen Twelvetrees, Oscar Levant, Samuel Spreckel as "East of Suez," Ben Silvey, assistant Frank Lloyd on "The Right of Way."

Bert Wheeler, who recently completed a co-starring role in "The Cuckoo," for RKO, is a former comedy star of the Ziegfeld "Follies."

Several years ago Wheeler went abroad and toured the music halls of England, Scotland and Ireland. Floss Ziegfeld heard of his success abroad and brought him back for a "Follies" reunion.

COLEMAN NOT RESTRAINED IN FOX RECEIVER ACTIONS

making disposition of the case over the Fox-Stuart-Otterson trusteeship of Dec. 3 and the Fox "B" stock, but the order could not lift the restraint on Coleman from acting on the three receivership applications, which are due to come up today.

Three Appellate judges, Martin T. Manton, Learned Hand and Thomas Swan, after listening to argument by Richard E. Doty, Pitt and Joseph N. Wroksiner, representing the Stuart-Otterson group; Samuel Untermyer and Robert F. Lewis, attorneys for the receivers, replied that Samuel C. Coleman, representing Judge Coleman, allowed time for the filing of reply briefs, which would be delivered by last night.

In the Appellate Court hearing, Dwight argued that Judge Coleman had exceeded his authority by his intervention in the question of who produced from Stuart and Otterson are en-dorsed to vote the Fox "B" stock. Untermyer replied that it was entirely in order for the Fox interests to enter suits in the Federal and the Circuit Courts at the same time. Untermyer also contended that it was improper for the Stuart-Otterson group to seek to enter in the Court of Appeals before the lower court had been given a chance to hear the facts. He said the right procedure would have been for the lower court to pass on the case, after which it could be brought before the Court of Appeals. However, this would seem to be the right course, but that in the present case there were special conditions that were different.

The Spring — is inventory time

— By JACK ALICOATE

NOW THAT THIS stimulation, conquering and sometimes hectic industry has just passed through one of its magical and prosperous years of its third decade we wonder how many of the busy executives are taking time out to appreciate the Spring days to spend a moment beside the team and pause in retrospect all that has gone under the rig, both good and bad, during the past twelfth month. Now is the time to reflect on the future of the industry, of television, of color, of foreign situation, of perfect reproduction? This is now to gear to the best speed in its fantastic story. It is floating upon an eschen high wave of universal popularity with all of its riches synchronized accordingly. From our point of observation we can see nothing to suggest anything to its irresistible progress but, if we fasten travel the lesser, it might not be entirely of order to suggest an obvious slowing up at each stop. Look and Listen sign, Spring is the time for clean house.

Advertising Elementals

Advertising fundamentals, learned under the tutelage of the past, are as follows: 1. Advertising must be seen. 2. Advertising must be read. 3. Advertising must be believed. We have many industry publications to take of Number One. About half of the publications are read, which (Continued on Page 2)
takes care of Number Two. Nutter Three is strictly up to the advertising copy writer. Personally, we believe the words “Finest,” “Greatest” and “Best” in connection with pictures, should have been buried years ago. Only one picture can be the finest, greatest or best made, and there have been over eleven thousand features produced in the past fourteen years.

TALKER SHORTS CUT INTO VAUDEVILLE 50 PER CENT

of the investigation was to obtain facts in support of the theory that the public would rather have performers in the flesh than "canned" acts, but the results proved surprisingly to the contrary.

More than 200 theaters reported having dropped vaudeville entirely in favor of shorts, while 35 said they have reduced their act bookings from 25 to 80 per cent and expressions of regret over the change were practically nil. Number of acts on the vaudeville circuits, the survey indicates, has dropped in half within the last five years.

In order to get an authentic line on public sentiment, the investigation embraced laymen sources as well as those of talent from all fields, at lower prices than the average second or third grade vaudeville show. Though admitting a difference between the personal element and the mechanical reproduction, the fans seem pretty well satisfied that the shorts contain sufficient compensations to offset this.

Jolson and Grady Buy 'Penny Arcade' for Talker

At Jolson and William Grady of the William Morris booking offices are understood to have purchased talking picture rights to "Penny Arcade," which they will produce independently. Reportedly price is $2,000, with production slated for Hollywood soon.

EDITORIAL

"LADIES OF LEISURE" is one of the very finest talking pictures we have seen. It is packed with entertainment value. No apparent effort has been made to put it in the sensational class, but it is there, nevertheless. That is one reason why it is outstanding!

Not only does the production contain startling entertainment, but it brings to our ever-welcome eyes and ears a new star, a new luminary of charm and ability to gaze upon.

The stellar light in question is Barbara Stanwyck, former stage actress, who came to Hollywood for a vacation but remained for work.

Miss Stanwyck's portrayal is not the only one. Ralph Graves, playing the wealthy lad, quite bored with life in general, gives a splendid account of himself. By far the best talking picture work he has done, and probably the best of his career.

Lowell Sherman, who can worry John Barrymore for honors, does the constantly semi-intoxicated man-about-town in his usual suave fashion. Sherman is one actor who never seems to be acting.

Marie Prevost does a slangy girl part, getting much out of a small role. Marie, too, wins our printed plaudits. George Fawcett, Nance O'Neill, Juliette Compton and Johnny Walker complete the well-selected cast.

Frank Capra, director of the film, is also responsible for "Submarine" and "Flight." This is indeed a signal triumph for him as well as the producers.

Perhaps you remember the David Belasco-Milton Herbert Gropper play, "Ladies of the Evening." This is the talking picture version of that rather daring drama, and it is produced so that we honestly believe it now carries more punch than ever before. Probably not in the manner of speech, but certainly in the construction of situations. The adaptation and dialogue was prepared by Joe Swerling. Excellently done, by the way.

"LADIES OF LEISURE" can easily win a place in the list of the "ten best pictures" for this year. It is a tripartite victory for Producer Harry Cohn, Director Frank Capra and New Star Barbara Stanwyck! Congratulations!

By, RALPH WILK

HELEN TWELVE TREES, who is quite handy at drawing with crayons, has made crayon drawings of Fred Scott, Dorothy Burgess, George Fawcett, Bryant Washburn, Nick Stuart, Daphne Pollard and Director Joseph Santley during lulls between scenes of "Swing High," the forthcoming circus musical.

EDDY DUNN is a familiar figure in Clara Bow pictures. The elongated comedian, who is supporting Clara in "True to the Navy," also appeared in "The Fleet's In" and "The Saturday Night Kid."

Fred Guiol, for several years a Hal Roach director, recently completed "Lonesome Husbands" for Pathe. He also directed "Rich Uncles" and "Live and Learn" for Pathe.

Robert Woolsey has chewed thousands of cigars to fragments—and never smoked one. He says he would rather appear on the stage without his shoes than minus his cigar. In a scene in "The Cuckoo," he appeared with a full-sized cigar. In a closeup of the same scene the cigar was half chewed away. The scenes, naturally, wouldn't have matched on the screen. Now, a prop man with a tape measure and a box of cigars follows the comedian around on the "set."

Eleven new faces arrived in Richard Dix's "family" recently. One of Dix's prize getters demonstrated what she thought of birth control.

Douglas Dawson and Norman L. Spec, who will produce the "Silver King" series for Sono-Art, have signed Lane Chandler to a long-term contract.

Thorough Campaign Puts "Sally" Over at Des Moines

The showing of "Sally" at the Paramount was well exploited by M. L. Elewitz, manager of the house. A lobby display a week in advance of the picture started the campaign and Elewitz followed it up with posters, store cards, teaser trailers, and heavy advertising campaign which allowed more than the usual amount of publicity story to get in the papers. The Tribune ran a story telling that all blond Sallys would be admitted free between certain hours and that the event was to be a big opening for the radio station. WHG plugged six songs from the picture and talking machines in the lobby of the house also helped. The who was this campaign was so successful that the picture was switched to Des Moines to continue the run.

The Year Book for 1930 has been turned over to an industry that has learned to lean on it annually as an authoritative and encyclopedic reference work of the various and sundry in motion pictures. A complete job and a handsome job to boot. A staggering compilation of facts and statistics which, in addition to imparting important and necessary information, tends to quicken a fuller realization of how extensive the ramifications of this business really are. The Year Book makes a comfortable companion by the right elbow—not for a few days or a few weeks, but all through the year.

concerns a film cleaning solution which, it is claimed, will rejuvenate film at a nominal cost. The laboratory is also at work on non-flam or acetate film which Essam has perfected. Statement is made that the process extends the life of acetate film to equal that of present nitrate film. A film developing process using changed chemicals, is expected to double the speed of present running time of machinery for developing film, give added life and improve photography. A heat absorbing device is also being perfected.

Silent Films Held Over

1650 Broadway, New York City
That’s what MACK SENNETT TALKING COMEDIES are doing. Setting new Short Feature records everywhere. Each one soaring a little higher in entertainment value and in box-office power—and in play dates in the country’s finest houses.

Look over the list of releases since the first of the year. Then ask yourself if any other series of short comedies has ever approached such a showing.

FIRST

"SCOTCH" ... Six weeks on Broadway, New York. Exhibitors Herald-World says: "Probably the best Educational short subject thus far released ... Just great."

THEN

NEXT

"BULLS AND BEARS" ... "Another one of the Educational short-feature hits that will play in any house to a roaring audience. The industry is beginning to wonder how Educational can be so consistently good in its comedy productions."—The Billboard.

AND THEN

"MATCH PLAY" ... Short feature special with the golf champions WALTER HAGEN and LEO DIEGEL. The greatest box-office bet ever offered among two-reel comedies. Now setting record bookings all over the country, with unprecedented exploitation backing.

FOLLOWED BY

"HE TRUMPED HER ACE" ... Sennett’s smartest. The Film Daily calls it "a sure ace... a pip of a comedy." And Variety says: "Delightful comedy for de luxes."

AND NOW... after this unbroken record of hits, is coming another that will challenge all altitude records:

"HONEYMOON ZEPPELIN"

MARJORIE BEEBE with DAPHNE POLLARD
NICK STUART EDWARD EARLE

A comedy that has just about everything that a short feature could have. A great cast in a great story. Marvelous action, with a thrill for every laugh. And plenty of exploitation angles.

Stage Depression Sends B’way Producers to Films

New Legitimate Managers Making Any Money This Season

One of the chief factors behind the illusiveness of so many Broadway stage producers to invade the picture field, either upon invitation or at their own solicitation, is due to the uniformly general depression in the legitimate field, according to information obtained from stage sources by THE FILM DAILY. It is stated that a number of producers who have left the stage to make a profit in the picture field are very few. Most of them have been able to do so. Many of those who are going to the pictures are not making their stage's activities a net loss. In line with this trend also is the report that several Broadway legitimate theaters now, having weak productions, are anxious to switch to a talker policy and are likely to make such arrangements in the near future.

New Proposal Being Discussed to Straighten Out Fox Affair

Another attempt to effect a compromise of the differences between the Fox-Bancamerica group and the Stuart-Otterton interests, with a view to having a new and simpler proposal to submit to Judge John C. Knox on Tuesday afternoon as a way out of the existing entanglement of Fox affairs, is being made by the interested banking factions, it is learned by THE FILM DAILY.

The first intimation of this latest step was given by Samuel Untermyer, Fox attorney, before Judge Knox on Thursday, when Untermyer suggested that, if the Judge would allow an adjournment until Saturday, efforts would be made to work out a new arrangement that would save time and trouble for the court. Due to inability of some of the lawyers to attend on Saturday, however, the Judge made the adjournment to Monday afternoon, despite protests from Untermyer that the situation has reached an acute stage and quick action is necessary if a receivership is to be avoided.

M. P. T. O. A. Directors to Ask Rescinding of Tax on Music

Resolutions asking producers to reduce score charges and appealing to music publishers to rescind the music tax will be adopted by the M. P. T. O. Exhibitor officials will stress the burden this assessment is placing on the small town theater owners in appealing for this relief. Complete removal of the charge is understood to be likely within two years. In connection with the music tax, exhibitor officials estimate that one-half of the music is owned by three producers.

The directors will prepare recommendations for submission at the 2-2-2 conference discussion of a standard exhibition contract Monday. Frank Walker will report on the 5-5-5 sessions held in December. President M. A. Lightman will preside.

equipment. Production competition is at the highest pitch in the history of the industry. The business is on a collective toe—ready to go lick-by-split.

In an effort to ward off legislative pressures, the Hays organization is prepared to adopt a code of ethics governing talking pictures. Self-imposed censorship is the plan. Story material will be scrutinized with object of banning those subjects which might be considered offensive and detrimental to standards of life.

Monday: An improved brand of sound recording and reproduction is seen by William F. Canavan, who ought to know, as president of the stage hands' and operators' national organization. But there are still some sad reproduction spots in houses here and there. The RKO production machine, all steamed up for its new production schedule, needs another $2,000,000 addition in its workshop. And Bill Be Barou says its going to get it.

Tuesday: Optional arbitration, served in a national package, is expected to emerge from the exhibitor-confab scheduled for April 1. This ought to make 'em cheer everywhere. Jesse Lasky, although only officially speaking in behalf of Paramount, probably voices the feeling of more than his own outfit when he points out that the matter of costs is a problem to be overcome with in color production.

Wednesday: Looks like a break down Washington-way for newscells. The tariff bill under consideration would let into the country free American-made motion pictures. asked for an exposure clause for American productions. The newspapers of the screen and speaking of newspapers Universal Newscell Syndicate has increased its number of newspaper associates to 66.

Thursday: Vaudeville, which has been finding the going rocky for some years past, is meeting with increased competition through the rapidity of sound short subjects. Many vaude acts have gone short, subject, as a matter of fact. Modernization of the British Film Act are in the wind. They will ease the situation for whatever American production talent that aspires to work in British studios.

Friday: Legislative guns are to be trained on the song sheet ranch, stirring gongs which ignore copyrights. New York State leads the enforcement parade against the illegally-inclined gentlemen. The daylight saving battle is on in Baltimore, with patron support helping the offensive. R-K-O is set to enter the Broadway exhibition section as a permanent resident. Danish, Swedish Exhibs Protest Sound Rentals

Copenhagen—Advent of sound has brought protests from Swedish and Danish exhibitors because of high rentals of talkers being distributed by American companies. Unless prices are reduced theater owners threaten concerted action "by other means." Exhibitors of both countries contend that the English language has not been understood by the majority of moviegoers and declare that since box-office receipts have not increased there is no justification for such "rumous" high rentals.

Department of Commerce Issues Circular on Theater Acoustics

Principles of acoustics that need to be observed in the construction of theaters are outlined in a circular recently issued by the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce.

The circular points out that the usual acoustical effects of auditoriums are echo, dead spots, and reverberation. Reverberation, including echo, is a serious defect since the prolongation of one sound beyond a musical note or spoken syllable may interfere with the next sound, producing hopeless confusion.

This is likewise a difficult defect to remove, and should be prevented by foresight in construction. Avoid circular halls and smooth, hard-finished walls. Surfaces of the ceiling and even procenium arch in theaters should be designed to reflect sound up into areas which will scatter the reflected sound. Dead spots and sound dead areas result from a consequence of reverberating-producing conditions.

Claim Exclusive Feature on Ilex Projection Lens

Exact adjustment of the focal length of the Ilex F.25 projection lens, which is claimed as an exclusive feature of the Ilex Optical Co., Rochester, N. Y. This adjustment is designed to overcome unskilful slippage or incomplete covering of the screen, and it is necessary to specify "plus" or "minus" with the focal length ordered. This adjustment simplifies selection from several lenses before obtaining one which fulfills the exact screen covering desired.

The Ilex F.25 maintains its unusual speed throughout all focal lengths, it is said, and among other improvements ascribed to this new lens are: maximum contrast, jet white and black projections, freedom from gray yellowish tint, elimination of chromatic aberration, freedom from coma, absence of distortion and perfect projection effects.

Cleaner Is Added to Film Inspection Machines

A wiping or cleaning attachment, which has been designed to effectively wipe off the oil and grime while the film is being inspected without any loss of time or speed, is now being added to the two leading Film Inspection Machinery Co. of New York. The two styles are the Theatre Model Film Inspection and Rewinding Machine, designed for use in theaters, and the Duo Model, which handles two reels of film simultaneously and is intended for the use of exchanges.

Flameproof Film Cement Approved by Fire Chiefs

Flameproof "2-in-1" Film Cement has been approved by the fire marshals of Michigan and Arkansas and by the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce; two weeks ago. This cement can be used for any type of film, according to the makers.

Several Chains Sign for Outdoor Advertising Plan

Offering of its plan for maintaining and posting three-sheets for the price of a one-sheet, Outdoor Advertising Service company has found favor with various chains for this service. All locations of the companies are subject to approval of the service. The service covers a period of 12 months and provides for weekly changes in posters provided by the advertiser.

Organize Equipment Company

UNIT DRIVE FAN PERMITS
LOW SPEED VENTILATION
A noiseless fan with a unit drive has been developed by Typhoon Fan Corp. for use in sound theaters. The new ventilating fan, known as the "Kool-N-Vent" has various improvements incorporated in it, state its makers, that enable great volumes of air circulation at extremely low speeds. One of the principal factors working towards the elimination of noise at this low speed is the fan-wheel design. The number of blades as much above the average, giving a blade-area several times that of the usual type fan wheel. Back lash (return of air at the fan center) is held to a minimum by a very large center disc.

Practically all other makes of fans up to 48 in. in diameter are equipped with the motors connected directly to fan-shafts. In such an arrangement the fan must operate at the same high speed as the motor. Low-speed motors are expensive and inefficient. To equip a fan with a motor operating at a speed so low as to assure silence means a motor exorbitant in cost, it is said.

The Typhoon Unit-Drive Fan dispenses with the direct-connected motor entirely, using instead a standard-speed motor and a silent and highly efficient new V-shape belt-driven running on V-groove pulleys.

Newman Mfg. Co. Showing Line of Metal Frames
Cincinnati—A complete line of metal frames for display in lobbies of theaters as well as in the front of the house, is now being distributed by the Newman Mfg. Co. The frames can be had in various types and sizes with designs to meet the demand of the exhibitor.

Weber Sound-on-Film
Rochester N. Y.—The Weber Machine Corp. recently demonstrated its new sound-on-film reproducing device here. An exciter lamp throwing light on an optical system under the film is said to be a new departure.

NEW COLOR MIXER SIGN
FOR DECORATIVE LIGHTING
When the Warner Hollywood opens April 17, something new in the way of signs will be seen on the roof of the house. The sign, which takes in the entire block on Broadway, will combine animated colors and designs in decorative lighting. These colors, heretofore projected only through the medium of paint, are the direct result of a new electrical color-mixing process known as Color Control.

The development is the property of Kirk Color Control, Inc., from which Warner Bros. have purchased the rights. It makes possible the actual mixing of electrical colors to the same degree of accuracy and perfection which are now obtained in paint. Just as the artist mixes two primary colors to create a desired shade, so does the electrical engineer now "mix" primary electrical colors to achieve a shade effect. A cellular steel face, studded with invisible lamps is the giant canvas used for the creation of perfect pictures in light and for the projection of thousands of subtle shades never known to electricity before.

P-F-L LONG ISLAND PLANT NOW AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

With over 25 per cent of the Paramount product set for the Long Island studios, production schedules have been completed for well into the summer months.

“Queen High,” now in production, is expected to be finished by April 15, at which time “Too Much Luck,” Chevalier’s next starring vehicle, will be started. This was originally set for April 1, but was postponed owing to the French stage’s appearance in New York. “The Long Island” stage will be used in the first time.

During the coming week, “The Sap From Syracuse,” Jack Oakie’s second starring picture, will also be started around April 15, with Edward Sutherland directing.

Josephine Haviland, who was director of the story department at the studio, has been appointed assistant, and this gives the studio a double-strength story department.

PRODUCERS, CAMERAMEN TO DISCUSS NEW AGREEMENT

Producers will meet with representatives of Cameramen’s Local No. 644, on April 2, at 100 E. 45th St., to finish up a new agreement covering working conditions in the studios.

The present agreement expired January 31, and new arrangements had been held up owing to the nature of Guy F. Currier, who represents the producers. Francis E. Zeisse will act on behalf of the cameramen.

FORMER SOUND STUDIO MEN WITH PATHE-NATHAN ABROAD

Several former employees at the Pathe studio in New York are now abroad working at the Pathe-Nathan studios in Paris, under Robert Kane. Among these are Harry Stradling, Ted Pahle and Phil Tannura. Straddling is directing and photographing a series of shorts, the first of which was recently shown at the Paramount, Paris.

Ted Pahle, engaged as first cameraman and Tannura, formerly a director here, has been placed in charge of Pathe-Nathan’s cutting department.

Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

CHARLES RUGGLES, Helen Carrington and Nina Olivette appear in “Queen High,” at the Paramount Long Island studios, all playing the same roles as in the original stage production. Ruggles, who played his part for 92 weeks straight says that the lines are always second nature to him by this time and that he knows every role in the play by heart.

Three Broadway favorites are featured in “The Collegiate Model,” which Murray Roth recently directed at the Warner Bros. Eastern studios.

Hazel Forbes, one of Zigfield’s gloried beauties, is high-hatting her sister chorines in “Simple Simon,” since being given five lines to speak in “Round One,” a Vitaphone short, just completed here.

Ray Foster, cameraman at the Warner Vitaphone studios, is starting to wash the dishes and clean house, having heard that his wife is returning home after a month’s vacation in the South.

“Skippy,” a feature production built around the famous Jewish cartoon character, will get under way in June, with Monta Bell directing.

Syd Newman, who was recently employed at the Paramount Long Island studio offices, has just returned from a honeymoon trip to the West Indies having become the bride of Mitchell Fenberg, New York artist.

Ray Cozine was associate director with Frank Cambria on “Leave It to Lester,” the first Public film presentation, and not “assistant director.”

STANLEY RIDGES, Hobart Cavanaugh, Natalie Schafer and George Blackwood are featured in the comedy sketch, “Poor Fish,” which was just completed at the Warner Vitaphone studios. The first three mentioned players have all appeared in previous Vitaphone Varieties.

How to Hide ‘Mike’ Big Problem with Sound Men

The necessity of taking many extreme long shots in “Queen High,” now being made at the Paramount East coast studios, in Astoria, has put the sound men at their wits end to place the microphones where they will be out of sight.

In an office scene, once “Mike” (hidden in the waste-basket of another in an inkwell) was caught by cutout a hole in a restaurant table and asking the “Mike” behind a soup bowl. According to sound experts, the solution to this problem will be, as the microphone can be adjusted in much the same way as the present day motion picture camera.

Ona Munson in Talkies

Ona Munson, musical comedy favorite, and wife of Eddie Borden, stage and screen comedian, made her talker debut in “Rah, Rah, Ro,” a two-reel comedy of college life recently completed by Murray Ruggles at the E. Vitaphone studios. Hay Rosenthal and Roger Pryor are in the cast.

Author Adapting Oakie’s Next

John Goldsmith, author of the story on which John Wray based “The Sap From Syracuse,” now working at the Paramount Long Island studio, is collaborating on a screen adaptation. Jack Oakie is in the picture.

FIRST SCREEN OPERA IS COMPLETED IN EAST

“I Pagliacci,” first screen opera of the East, has been completed by the Edison studios in New York, with Audio Cinema and Vitaphone Gallo as joint producers. The opera is sung entirely in Italian, with Richard Baratta as the opera tenor, in the title role. Anna Novella, dramatic soprano, is expertly opposite him.

Carlo Peroni conducted the orchestra and Leon Leonidoff acted as the master. Fortune Gallo was organist, Joe C. Collins as director. 115 people, exclusive of the orchestra, were used. Settings were by Alan Hall and Al Wilson, with Nick Rogali and Charles Hall officiating at the camera.

RK0 Building Program Now Under Way

Pathe Has New Method for Handling Scripts—Fox Building Two Stages at Movietone City—National Players Making Western Series—M-G-M Signs Four More Song Writers—Will’s Notes and Other Wired News

KO STUDIO EXPANSION PROGRAM NOW UNDER WAY

Radio Pictures is at work on its radio expansion program. Among the improvements to be made are four-story dressing room building, four-story property building, a re-semester and special effects building and several additions to the electrical apparatus in the studio. Fire-proof and sprinkler systems will be installed throughout the plant. Rebuilding will cost nearly $6,000,000 according to RKO.

 athe Evolves Method of Handling Story Matter

E. B. Derr, executive vice president in charge of production for the studio, has evolved a system of handling story material which makes it unnecessary to make any changes in scripts after a story has been started. The story goes through the hands of a narrative riter, a playwright, a scenario riter, a director and a technician. A final step in the story is keyed by Eugene Walter, dialogue editor, to the last authority on all scripts.

Ruben Working on “Tommy”

Radio Pictures has assigned J. Ruben to do the adaptation of “The Big House,” which Robert Hill is directing for G-M.

Columbia Adds Delaney

Charles E. Delaney has been added to the cast of Columbia’s “Around the Corner.”

Stone in “The Big House”

Louis Stone, has been given a starring role in “The Big House,” which Robert Hill is directing for G-M.

Goldstone Signs Pert Kelton

Pert Kelton has been signed by J. Goldstone to appear in Tiffany productions for the next three years.

Reunited

Joan Crawford, Anita Page and Dorothy Sebastian, who played in “Our Dancing Daughters” and “Our Modern Maidens,” have been united for the third time in M-G-M’s “Our Blushing Brides.”

A Little from “Lots”

By RALPH WILK

Harvey Theew is writing the dialogue and screen play for Oscar Straus’ operetta, “Daube Love Song,” which will be made in Technicolor. Also wrote the screen and dialogue for “Play Boy” and “Dumbells in Ermine.”

Walter Lang has completed the direction of “The Big Fight,” which is his eighteenth picture. He has been associated with James Cruze for several years.

Our Passing Show: Darryl Zanuck, Michael Curtiz, Ernst Lubitsch, Harvey Thew, Erno Rapee, Robert Crawford, Alexander Gray, Bernice Claire at Oscar Straus’ party; Frederick Y. Smith and Tom Flahiff in a spirited tennis match.

Freddie Fleck, who assisted Luther Reed on “Rio Rita” and “Hit the Deck,” is also assisting Reed on “Dixiana.” Freddie was at one time casting director at the Paramount Long Island studio.

Ziegfeld stars are beginning to clutter up Hollywood boulevards. Among those proteges of today are Eddie Cantor and Leon Errol, with Ed Wynne scheduled to come later in the year. Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Sam Harsh and Harry Grubbin are among the former Ziegfeld favorites active in pictures, while his feminine contingent now on the Coast is almost too numerous to mention.

Do you remember when Hugh Bennett worked at the Whitman Bennett studios in Yonkers, N. Y.; when Bill Rezac is in the cigar business; when Charles F. “Chuck” Reisner was a welterweight boxer? * * *

John Sheehan, who plays a featured role in “Swing High,” is right at home on the Pathé lot. He has been graduated from a California college—St. Mary’s—and was connected at the start of his career with a California theatrical organization—the Liberty stock company in Oakland. James Gleason and Walter Catlett were among his fellow players then. * * *

Leslie Mason, who wrote the dialogue and titles for “The Fighting Legion,” has finished work on the next Ken Maynard production, “Mountain Justice,” a talker with a backwoods story.

National Players Making Talking Western Series

SATISFYING PROGRAM WESTERN, PLENTY ACTION AND THRILLS. WELL-DI-RECTED AND ACTED BY MARIE GREEN FURNISHING MUCH EXCELLENT COMEDY.

This is a pleasing Western, with George Mitchell and Marie Green having fashioned a script that provides all the ingredients of box-office appeal. Richard Arlen and Mary Brian are popular leads, while Harry Green, as "Pie-Pan" Plotz, the cowboy-peddler, furnishes the comedy—and how. His comedy relief is injected at the most important moments and does much to keep the picture entertaining. Fred Kohler is as good as ever in his part of the hero, who murdered the heroine’s brother. Many thrills are provided, with the fight between Arlen and Kohler being one of the outstanding scenes. During the fight, Arlen forces a confession from his opponent. The picture is handsomely photographed, and should be especially popular fare in the smaller towns and cities.

AMUSING COMEDY OF MAN-SHAY BACHELOR WHO FINALLY FALLS. EDWARD EVERETT HORTON GIVES A GOOD PERFORMANCE.

Edward Bateman Morris’ novel has been turned into a screen comedy that abounds in farcical situations. While it is too much to ask a person to believe some of the incidents as within the realm of possibility, yet there can be no question that they command enough laughter to outweigh their implausibility. The film proves pleasant entertainment through the presence of Edward Everett Horton in the cast. This actor plays one of those pain-fully-embarrassed bachelor types in a funny way. Horton is completely at home in the part. T. Roy Barnes portrays a high-powered salesman to good effect. The rest of the cast does commendable work. The story centers around a chap who, for all his diffi-culty with women, marries a strange young woman who happens into his home. As a pro-gram picture this one ought not find

AMUSING FARCE COMEDY WITH DENNY SHINING. GOOD ENTERTAINMENT FARE FOR FRESH TUMS AND DOWN THE LINE.

A trim, neat piece of screen-fare in Reginald Denny’s first talker for Sono Art-World Wide. It gains momentum all the while and ends with a pair of reels which have plenty of laughs. Denny does a chap who turns hobo in order to get a fresh start in life. He lands a job as chauffeur and gradually wins his way into the confidence and heart of his employer’s family. He especially the heart of the elder daughter. There’s the love interest. The wind-up of the story is that Reg is not a crook or hobo. With all indications, but a former British army officer who has been down on his luck. His employer’s family brings him in and makes him the recipient of a large sum of money. This story is a real tearjerker. Miss Miss Amanda Louise tops the list of attractive as the younger sister who collects $5 bills. Harvey Clark, play-er, who turns, in a fine performance.

Jolson Clicks with His Sure-Fire Personality and Singing in a Minstrel Man Role, Mostly HOKUM, BUT HEheits WILL SUIT THE TASTE OF JOSLON FANS.

Based on an original story by Irving Berlin, who also did the music. Sob stuff which has predominated in previous Jolson stories has been left out of this story, which is familiar and principally is used as a medium for the star’s inevitable line of entertainment. Jolson plays a minstrel man who is apparently hopelessly in love with his pal’s girl. Framed by the heavy, Jolson accidently shoots his friend during a performance, makes his getaway when the evidence proves he is guilty. The trial cast does well enough with the act-ion assigned it. There is nothing particularly tuneful about the music. This vehicle will be a Jolson vehicle and succeeds.

GOOD PROGRAMMER WITH ALICE WHITE GIVING A SATISFACTORY PERFORMANCE IN AIR-PLANES. STORY MOVES SMOOTHLY AND DIRECTION IS WELL HANDLED.

Although there is nothing exceptional about the story of this film, it is well handled and gives Alice White a chance to shine in her usual "man" class, it does however, hold enough general entertainment value to please. Despite the lightness of the script handled by the underlings, Miss White manages to turn out a pleasing performance as the daughter of a cigar store manager, whose craving for the highlife leads her to turn down her soda clerk boy friend for the attention of a "polished" crook. She is taken on tour of the sky, but is brought back to realism when the crook shoots her father in a hold-up. CROOK MELODRAMA THAT RISES ABOVE ITS ROUTINE STORY TO BECOME TENSE AND ENTERTAINING. CAST GOOD.

Thanks to a good cast and competent direction, "Framed" succeeds in overcoming the handicap of a routine story that asks one to take too much for granted. The film comes through with more than enough to spare is due to the tense manner in which George Archainbaud has directed and the ease with which the cast carries out the melodramatic pattern of the thing. While Evelyn Brent performs a fine performance, she loses in acting honors to Ral Harold, who plays a vindictive racketeer with surprising realism. The story is a fine family Thriller who is out to even matters with a police inspector for the death of her father. She is in love with her son. She tries to revenge herself on the father through the son, but cannot bring herself to do it. When it is over an underworld figure seeks to break up the affair out of jealousy, he is shot by the boy. But everything is all right in the end. There is plenty of fun in this comedy, but it is aimed, possibly, more at the old audience. At times it rises to a hilarity that causes your sides to ache with laughing. The late George Le Maire and Lew Hearn are almost wholly responsible for this. The latter, affecting a nasal tone, is a positive scream as a good-time fellow who happens into a bungalow man's room and there makes whoopee with her while attending an inventors convention in the big burg. GENTLEMAN'S OFFICE OF TALENT ON THE PARAMOUNT STAGE

By DON CARLE GILLETTE

WEST COAST BUREAU, THE FILM DAILY

Los Angeles—Despite the competition offered vaudeville by sound pictures, Fanchon and Marco were able to add 15 weeks to its bookings in 1929, it is revealed by “Mike” Marshall of the organization. Marco enters the “low-the-patronage” field by vaudeville is not only temporary, but is due to causes other than the advent of talking films, adding that “sound has come in simultaneously with union troubles in many spots.”

“The new vaudeville, as a matter of fact, the Tal—addition in 1929,” says Marco. “Furthermore union stage conditions, making it playing of vaudeville prohibitive to some spots, are fairly in the way of being adjusted by the union officers themselves. These men cannot afford to see vaudeville disappear, and after many months' effort we expect to get a helping hand from them, which will bring more theaters in the field of vaudeville or presentation folk.”

Marco characterizes the cheap grade of vaudeville as “the only kid sound can permanently sit about.” As to the “Tal—addition,” he reveals, have brought the first-grade vaudeville talent into the films, and that fact makes them better entertainers on the vaudeville stage. So, therefore will not hurt good vaudeville, but help it. Nothing can counteract vaudeville in its present folk. The two perform as the flesh except had vaudeville. That the large circuits a gradually eliminating, and sound b. nothing to do with it.”

MARSEILLAISE NUMBER TOPS PROGRAM AT ROXY

A stirring revolutionary tableau, with Jose Santiago leading the Roxies Ensemble in a rousing rendition of “La Marseillaise,” is the outstanding item on the Roxy stage program this week. It is an impressive number, especially arranged as an introduction to the current film, “Captain of the Guard,” which deals with the great French Revolution. In contrast to this offering of serious aspect, is a delightful festive affair entitled “In Holland,” in which Dorothy Miller, 11, and Leonide Massine dance, while the ballet corps, the chorus and the Roxettes disport themselves in various outfits in front of a large windmill setting. Of particular interest in this number are the clever costumes, which take the form of huge tulips that totally conceal the wearers. Erna Rubinstein, Hungar-ian violinist of note, makes her Roxy debut with a pleasing selection that draws a generous hand. A snap, dance routine, under the heading of “Whirligig,” brims forth the Roxettes in some neat drill work that is enhanced by striking red costumes against a dark background of draperies.

5 Outdoor Films Among First National Releases

An Argument—of smiles vs. tragedy
—By JACK ALICOATE

ARE PICTURES becoming so high-brow for our great inety per cent? Here is a fair question, occasionally brought up, regarding the present swing away toward too much sorrow and tragedy in pictures and too many so called intellectual or high-brow productions. We are now having a blizzard of unhappy ending pictures and more so on the way. Personally, we dislike unhappiness, in large doses, on the screen. Like a dash of angostura bitters in an old fashioned cocktail one or two tears goes a long way with Mr. and Mrs. Customer seeking amusement and entertainment in the modern picture house. No one will deny that this inspirational industry was built upon a firm and solid foundation of laughter. Take away the millions of chuckles from our pictures of the past fifteen years and the business would still be centered around the store show.

The talkers have opened the way to universal presentation of the great tragedy masterpieces of the world. A certain percentage of paying theater guests will rave over them of course. Many more, with a flair for the unusual, will be satisfied, but it is our modest and fleeting guess that the great majority of the picture loving public will take them only when seasoned with a proper proportion of legitimate laughs. Shakespeare came pretty near knock-

Number of Westerns to Be Included in Company’s Schedule

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood—Five talking films of the out-of-doors type are listed among First National’s future releases. Indications are that a number of Westerns will be included in the schedule. Among them will be the “The Girl of the Golden West,” made from the Belasco stage, with Ann Harding, James Cagney, Thomas Meighan, Arthur Hunnicut, Richard Carlyle, Norman McNeil and Fred Warren in the cast. The film will be entirely in Technicolor.

The other four are “Under Western Skies,” based on a story by Howard Estabrook, with Lila Lee, Fred Kohler, Sidney Blackmer and Raymond Hatton in the principal roles.

The Byrd Picture

Being a picture fan of several years standing we are rather enthused with the coming Byrd-South Pole picture. This feature will be released about the middle of June. It has probably added more advertising and publicity than any other picture ever released and it is our thought that it will not only live up to the optimistic expectations of its sponsors, the Paramount outfit, but be a compelling and inspiring knock-out whenever shown. We are willing to place a little wager, say anything between twenty-five and fifty cents, that the scenes of Commander Byrd flying over the South Pole will bring forth spontaneous applause than any production climax of the season.

THE PICTURE THAT WILL LIFT YOU TO THE HEIGHTS!

No. 685 Straight from the Shoulder Talk by Carl Laemmle, President of the Universal Pictures Corporation

FEW STAGE OR SCREEN PRODUCTIONS CARRY THE EMOTIONAL THRILL OR SOUL-UPLIFT that you will get when you see and hear “Captain of the Guard.”

THIS IS THE PICTURE WE ORIGINALLY CALLED “LA MARSEILLAISE.” I CHANGED THE TITLE because of the difficulty so many people had in pronouncing the French title.

THE SMARTEST EXHIBITORS IN THE WORLD LIKED THE ORIGINAL TITLE FOR SENTIMENTAL reasons, but when it came to box-office reasons they unanimously preferred “Captain of the Guard.”

BUT WHATEVER THE TITLE, THE TALE IS SUGGESTED BY THE WORLD-FAMOUS SONG “LA Marseillaise.”

AND — MARK MY WORD — WHEN JOHN BOLES COMES MARCHING OVER THE COBBLED streets of Paris at the head of the patriots singing that glorious song, you are going to get a tingling up and down your spinal column such as you have not had for many a year.

THIS, OF COURSE, IS BUT ONE OF THE MANY HIGH SPOTS IN A MASTER PRODUCTION directed by John Robertson.

REMEMBER, TOO, THAT THE MUSIC FOR “CAPTAIN OF THE GUARD” WAS WRITTEN BY Charles Wakefield Cadman, who has composed some deathless songs of the past.

YOU NEVER SAW NOR HEARD THE REAL JOHN BOLES BEFORE. YOU NEVER KNEW the richness and range of his magnificent voice as you will know it in “Captain of the Guard.”

IN PRODUCING “CAPTAIN OF THE GUARD” WE PAID, FRANKLY, BUT LITTLE ATTENTION TO historical accuracy. Our aim was to make a great entertainment and at the same time give a handsome setting to the glorious song which stirs the souls of men, no matter what their nationality.

THAT WE HAVE SUCCEEDED HAS ALREADY BEEN DEMONSTRATED, FOR “CAPTAIN OF THE Guard” is one of those very rare pictures such as you get only when those responsible for its making are at least temporarily inspired.

FOR IT IS AN INSPIRATION AND IT WILL LIFT YOU TO NEW EMOTIONAL HEIGHTS—AND keep you there!

Hays Tells Radio Fans About Pictures' Aims

In a radio address that was one of the "New Business World" series conducted by Merle Thorpe, editor of "The Nation's Business," Will H. Hays told radio listeners last night of the part played by pictures in creating a demand for American manufactured products, and concluded with the following statement:

"The industry knows its responsibility and is entirely sensitive to its accountability to you. You tell us what to do. The demand we hear is for entertainment, real entertainment, clean and wholesome entertainment. You are getting it. You will continue to get it. The pictures today are a vast advance over five years ago, over one year ago. This year and next they will be better."

Mardi Gras scenes in color used in a recent issue of that company's news- reel. Pathé is employing a process known as Coloratura and Ramsaye states, at a cost of approximately six cents per foot. This production cost can be considerably reduced, he says, providing the output reaches 500,000 feet weekly.

Costly Wiring May Close Half of German Houses

London (By Cable)—Unless a cheaper reproducing equipment is made available in Germany, 50 per cent of the theaters in that country will be obliged to close up, it was stated at an exhibitor at a meeting of the German C.E.A. here. Another speaker declared that the Klangfilm monopoly in Germany has been broken by the court victory of the new Lorenz Co. device, known as Kinoton. A strong attack was made on the electric trust domination of the German film industry.

The Mirror
—a column of comment

IT WONT be long now before newsreels will put on more "dog" through the use of color. Although one company is understood to be experimenting with object of issuing an all-color reel the chances are that there will be no panic towards this plan on the part of contemporary organizations—for the time being at least. Each issue ordinarily contains scenes which lend themselves to color and these will pioneer in the newsreel's color adventure. One item, that of production cost, will probably make color-in-newsreel enthusiasm somewhat sluggish. But that's an obstruction which seems certain of removal tomorrow—or the next day.

* * *

THE LOBBY entertainment idea is spreading. It's a swell way to keep the customers in good humor while the S. R. O. pennants flutters in the breeze around ye box-office. Furthermore, the arrangement affords an opportunity to plug songs used in coming attractions and to slip the standees other announcements of a business-building character.

* * *

TALKING equipment firms continue with their price-slashing campaigns. And these companies in mind are ones whose apparatus are tried and true. They don't fall into the fly-by-night category. They will be operating next year and some years after, too, and providing for the service needs of exhibitors. Which is something worth considering when you are scrutinizing the sound equipment market.

Other Officers Named to Succeed Themselves at Annual Meeting

Will H. Hays was unanimously re-elected president of the M. P. P. D. A., Inc., at its annual meeting yesterday at 409 Fifth Ave. Others re-elected were Carl E. Milhiken, secretary; Fred L. Herron, treasurer and George Borthwick, assistant treasurer. Annual reports of the organization were presented and approved at the meeting.

20 PRODUCERS RATIFY NEW CODE OF ETHICS

Formal ratification yesterday of a new code of ethics for the guidance of producers was characterized by Will H. Hays as the latest and greatest step taken by the industry in the direction of self-government. Twenty companies, including members of the Hays office as well as producers not affiliated with the organization, have subscribed to the code to date. These companies are:

Philadelphia—Congressional action to standardize the length of feature productions will be sought by the M. P. T. O. of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware, if the producers do not heed a formal request now being made upon them by the exhibitors' organization for relief in this matter. It is planned to have a Pennsylvania congressman introduce the measure, which will call for regulation of the length of pictures by the Bureau of Standards in the same manner as other materials and products are standardized by the bureau.

The following have been determined by the organization as the minimum length: Single reels, 900 feet;

British Organ Hits Church
Opposition to Films in U. S.

AmeriC a has a kill-joy problem besides which our own troubles look insignificant. The Hays organization has had to consider legal action against a church newspaper which can see nothing in the film industry but a "sordid money-making combination" and which talks glibly of producers as "selling crime and shame." It is impossible to conceive of even the most virulent British opponent of the films seeking to make capital out of the fact that various leaders of the trade were Jews, Baptists or Presbyterians.

Don't Spend Money on Worthless Ballyhoo, Is Advice

D ON'T confuse ballyhoo with exploitation. There is a vast difference. Exploitation is free, with the exception of calling ballyhoo—ballyhoo is costing this circuit thousands upon thousands of dollars every year. An attractive store window, a tie-up with a merchant, a good hobby—that's exploitation. Use your bean. Would you spend the money on that ballyhoo stunt if the theater were your own? If the money was coming out of your own pocket? Let that be the test! This isn't intended as a wet blanket on your energy and enthusiasm; it is just an effort to make you think—-to make you plan a better idea—a more original and novel ballyhoo, one that is sure to be a ticket-seller. An attention-attracting ballyhoo that is worth the money you put into it and will help to sell your ideas, your progress as well as your showmanship. Ballyhoo is showmanship—ticket-selling showmanship. Show your caliber, your showmanship—by the type of advertising you do, the ballyhoo that you originate.

Signal Lights Stop Crowds for "Navy Blues"

THE Chicago at Chicago arranged to borrow two signal lights from the local naval training station. Lights were placed on the marquee of the house and operated with alternating green and red signals. Cut-outs of Alfred Page and William Haines were placed behind the lights. The house also arranged to place one-sheets on the naval recruiting boards throughout the city. -M.G.M

"Sally" Is Exploited From Varied Angles

THE exploitation of "Sally" was approached from a variety of angles for the engagement at the Warner Strand in Brooklyn. Children belonging to Elsie Jean's Happy Times Club, numbering 250 were guests of the "Brooklyn Times" at a Thursday matinee at the Strand. Ten thousand heralds were distributed at the employees' entrance of the big department stores in Brooklyn at closing hours. McPhoto Company placed 50,000 circulars in packages. McPhoto's also devoted a full window to a "Sally" display and featured "Sally" songs on their music counter. In return for this cooperation, 200 passes were issued by the theater. Over Station WLHT (the voice of Brooklyn) "Sally" announcements were broadcast. Posters for music store tie-ups were furnished by Witmark, free of charge. "Sally" souvenir programs were given to each woman attending a matinee performance a week before the opening. Cards were used on cars on the surface lines passing near the theater. A calliope, was an important feature of the street exploitation.

Give Them What They Want

EXHIBITORS know better than anyone what their patrons want in the way of shorts. THE FILM DAILY circularized a selected list of exhibitors and has analyzed the 650 replies which came back. (*)

These are the questions put to and answered by the men who come in close contact with the public and who know what their patrons want:

1.- On the whole, do you consider that short features mean more as entertainment and as box-office attractions now, than they did before the advent of sound, and if so, how much more?

2.- Have you increased your bookings of short features since the advent of sound?
   (a) To what extent?

3.- To what extent have short film features replaced vaudeville or stage presentations?

4.- (a) What type of short feature in sound do you consider most popular and most important to your program?
   (b) In what order of importance would you rate the following types of short feature: slapstick comedy, satire, straight farce comedy, scenic, operetta, novelty reel, cartoon, newsreel?

5.- Are good comedies or the vaudeville act type of short subject most successful?

6.- In the field of sound comedies, what type do you think most popular with the public?
   (a) Is slapstick as popular as formerly?
   (b) Does the situation comedy appeal more than slapstick?
   (c) What type of comedy appeals most to women?

7.- What length comedies are better suited for your house: one-reel or two-reel?

8.- Is the story in a comedy the important factor, or are the gags the main thing?

9.- What is the reaction of your patrons to the new sophisticated comedy made possible only by the advent of sound; that is, the smart type of playlet depending largely on its clever dialogue for its entertainment?

10.- Do your patrons comment on the comedy on leaving the theatre more than they did in the past?

11.- Is a comedy a necessary part of the show, regardless of the length of the feature or whether there is any stage show?

12.- Do your patrons prefer the popular screen comedians to the stage comedians who are not so well known to them?
   (a) In general, what has the biggest value in the short feature, the performer's name, the series name or the producer's name?

13.- Do you advertise your short features in all of your ad lay-outs?
   (a) Have you increased the amount of advertising on the short features since the advent of sound?

14.- Would general advertising on comedies in your local newspapers be of value to you?

15.- What are the most important accessories on short features and do you need any that are not now furnished by the distributors?

16.- Of what value to you is the comedy press sheet and do you have any suggestions to make on how these could be made more valuable to you?

17.- Has the interest of local newspaper critics in short features increased since the advent of sound?
   (a) What do you do, if anything, toward influencing them to review short subjects more generally?

JUDGE KNOX BALKS AT MEDIATING IN FOX TANGLE

...as a negotiator in any other way. Yesterday's hearing before Judge Knox centered on the possibility of enjoining the Winfield Sheehan and the Krebs-Rudnick-Snider suits in the State Supreme Court and consolidating the various suits in the Federal court exclusively so as to expedite dispositions of the minor litigation and get to the major matters. To this end, a motion was filed to enjoin the Krebs-Rudnick-Snider action, and Judge Knox said he expected to hand down his decision on this today. Should the ruling be against Krebs-Rudnick-Snider, the other suits in the State Court will be automatically shifted to the Federal Court.

Untermeyer argued that the determining point at issue now is the question of the validity of the trusteeship of Dec. 9, and that if this point could be settled all other angles of the litigation would be disposed of or simplified, also that unless this question is settled it is of no avail to proceed with any other suits. Untermeyer said he had been in conference with counsel from the other suits—the last three days in an effort to work out a simpler course of procedure and that a proposition is expected to be ready in another day or so. Further conferences are to be held today and tomorrow in the hope of presenting the plan at the next hearing, at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow.

In the Court of Appeals yesterday morning the hearing on the action of prohibition brought by Judge Coleman was indefinitely postponed and probably will not come up again. The Krebs-Rudnick-Snider suits in the State Court also were put over, and the Sheehan action has been postponed to Thursda.

Report Warners Dickering for Harris Circuit

The Mirror
- a column of comment

The Daylight saving apparatus is starting to walk once more. Its perennial and unlimited guest is ticking around the land armed to a wide sward in evening grosses providing exhibitors don't scare them in. As one exhibitor organization wisely pointed out yesterday, one sure way of defeating a proposal of this sort is to take off your hat and go to work seriously in an all-purpose campaign. The legislators or aldermen who are scheduled to consider the measure are apt to be antagonistic to your cause unless it is seen to be a reason and forcibly brought to their attention. Events are harmful to this or any other industry aren't ordinarily ushered through long-distance offenses.

Theaters houses throughout the country will get behind the N. V. A. for funds needed for its humanitarian work at Saranac Lake. The benevolent idea, sponsored by the National Council of the N. V. A., represents the first organized exhibition has given its aid in a national campaign to aid vandervillians in need. It is a move which no doubt will receive the thorough cooperation of the industry.

Included in 1930-31 releasing schedules of major companies provide independent producers with an unusual opportunity for enterprise. Copies of this classification which are in the drive towards better entertainment product are likely to have profitable season ahead.

Denver — In an effort to relieve distress among musicians and stagehands thrown out of work by the talkers, the local branches of these unions plan to lease the Denham and open it about April 20 with a stock company financed and operated entirely by union groups.

Adoption of Big Films Policy Announced by Laemmle

Adopting a new policy of big pictures, Universal announces that it will make only 20 features next season, instead of the usual program of around 50 productions, and a proportionately smaller number of shorts. The newly formulated plans also call for concentration on short subjects like the George Sidney-Charlie Murray series and others along the lines of the Collegians and Leather Pusher.

Installing 54 Cooling Plants for Warners

Seven refrigerating and air conditioning plants are now being installed in Warner theaters in New Jersey and Philadelphia with 47 more houses throughout the country to be equipped before the summer season begins. New Jersey houses now installing cooling systems are: Montclair, Passaic, Regent, Elizabeth, and Cameo, Bridgeton. Cooling plants will be ready for operating in three weeks at the following Philadelphia theaters: Stanton, Victoria, Palace and Logan. Miner-Woodling Heating and Ventilating Co. of New York is making the installations.

Deplores Ignoring Needs
Of the Silent Film House

THE talking film having by now established itself, the tendency to forget the silent picture is understandable.
Whether it is forgivable is another matter. It must not be forgotten that there are still thousands of cinemas where the new film has not yet arrived.
The silent exhibitor who is apt to be forgotten in the present
"talkie" enthusiasm has had to complain that he is being left in the cold. In concentrating all their energies on the meeting the "talkie" boom, renters may have devoted less thought to the silent man than might have been.
Even the most ambitious houses, from the all silent independents, have room for the fine art and craftsmanship of the silent film.

BELIEVES Talking Films
Can Give New Life to Opera

MANY a humbler person has been convinced for a long time that grand opera stopped with Richard Wagner, unless Debussy in "Pelleas et Melis-sande" is admitted to have gone another step forward, though practically in the same direction.
If an art stops growing it may not therefore belong in the tomb, out of sight and forgotten but it does emphatically belong in a museum, and museums are what opera houses have become. If the sounds can break into them and bring out what is still capabile of having the breath of life breathed into it they will do what nothing else has been able to do for generations. It will be the best thing that this country has ever done for grand opera as an art.

TOMORROW will be a great day for Paul Gillick, Mason, as his Right Worshipful will be invested by Pacific Lodge as Grand Representative of the Grand Lodge of Colorado near the Grand Lodge of the State of New York. The ceremony will take place at the Pacific meeting rooms in Masonic Hall, 50 W.
24th St. Paul was Master of the lodge before he became its treasurer. Other motion picture men who have served as its Master are Samuel Eckman, Jr., and George Balsdon. I.
Silverman, one of the directors of Warner’s real estate activities, is back in New York after a 12-day trip to Havana

PARAMOUNT has started going after exhibitors anent "Paramount on Parade" with the distribution of broadsides announcing the release of the production in the near future. Credit for the job goes to Russell Holman, Paramount advertising manager. Just received word that Bert Lytell and Grace Menken have said "I do" in Philadelphia. The two have been appearing together in the play "New York." W. E. Rosenquast, Vitaphone Central sales manager, has returned from a week trip to Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago and Dettroit.

MANY persons prominent in the amusements world are taking an active part in making arrangements for the benefit to be held at Carnegie Hall Sunday evening in aid of the Jewish Community Center and Social Service Fund. Among them are S. L.
Rothafel, Eddie Cantor, George Jessel, David L. Loew, Nathan Burkan, A. J. Balaban, Sophie Tucker and Belle Baker.

Sound experts have given their okay to the acoustics of the Warner Hollywood, of which Thomas W. Lamb is the architect.
The theater opens April 17. "Swing High," the Pathecirrus film, has been the means of reuniting George Fawcett and Bryant Washburn after twenty-three years. Bryant made his stage debut in 1907 in a play in which George was being starred in Chicago at the time.

GUS EDWARDS is taking a brief respite from picture work for a vaudeville tour of R-K-O theaters. He plays the Palace in New York the week of April 12. Among those in his company is Arnida, she who played opposite Jack Barrymore in "General Crack." Dolly Tree, the well-known theatrical designer, left New York yesterday for the Coast. She has been engaged by Fox to assist Sophie Wachner in designing sets for the company’s stars. W. E. Gordon will be the featured artist on the program to be broadcast by Major Bowes’ Capitol Family on Sunday.

GEORGE E. BRADLEY has become director of publicity and advertising for the new B. S. Moss circuit of talker houses.

PAUL L. STEIN, who directed Lillian Gish’s first talking picture, “One Romantic Night,” arrives in New York this morning preparatory to sailing for Europe. He’s at the Biltmore.

FOX REFUSES BANKERS OFFER TO STEP ASIDE

banks offered to step aside if Fox desired to accept another plan of refinancing for his companies.

For being joint venture to Fox, the bankers state that they merely were reiterating one of the terms of their contract which allows Fox to privilege of considering other arrangements. The Bancamerica group's withdrawal was made contingent upon Fox reimbursing the bankers for expenses incurred thus far, amounting to about $975,000. Refusal of Fox to accept the proposal leaves the refinancing situation just where it stood before, with the Bancamerica group holding a contract to refinance the Fox companies according to the plan approved by Fox and the stockholders.

Although denying the motion for an order to restrain suits in the Superior Court designed to prevent the consummation of the Bancamerica plan, Judge Knox granted Gast the injunction with conditions to avoid what Krebs-Rudnick-Snider in their federal court action for a receivership. Judge Knox's action also is understood to make it unnecessary for the Stuart-Otterson group to press its application in the Circuit Court of Appeals for an injunction restraining the Federal court from interfering with actions before State Courts.

Prompt action of Judge Knox in settling this point was in line with his declaration Monday that he would make every effort to straighten out the legal complications with the least possible delay.

As a result of the continued deadlock, the Fox note for $12,000,000 held by Halsey, Stuart, due Monday, was not acted upon.

"There will be no more Universal house operas, no more five-reelers," Carl Laemmle states. Elaborate plans have been made for John Boles, whose next vehicles will include an original music drama by Konrad Bercovici and a current Broadway stage hit. Universal also intends to remake "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" and produce three or four big outdoor pictures like "The Oregon Trail." Among the plays and books already bought are: "The Little Accident," by Floyd Dell; John Erskine's "Sincerity"; "East Is West"; G. B. Stern's "For Husbands Only," and "Outside the Law," which Tod Browning will make, with Edward G. Robinson and Jackie Coogan's little brother already selected.

WINNERS, of which there has been a scarcity are apparently de-

Window Displays Feature "Lady to Love" Campaign

Window displays formed the basis for the campaign used by H. M. Addiss, manager of Loew's Rochester, Rochester, to help put over his showing of "A Lady to Love." The displays were arranged with the David's Peoples store, Small's Jewelry store, The Kathryn Baker Co., the Mashaun Furrier store and the flower shop in the Seneca Hotel. Each display carried advertising copy for the store and the picture. . . . . . M-G-M

A Digest of Current Opinion

The turn of Western Will be soon to Exhibitors, Is View

THE west is coming back and with a vengeance, according to announcements by several producers. What welcome news that is to the small town houses, those Saturday night businesses as much dependent on the outdoor action picture. The mastery of sound recording outside the studio is no doubt responsible for the sudden rush back to the ranks of the great outdoors. Too, producers by this time undoubtedly realize that the great movie public wants more than dialogue and songs in its picture fare. Action is the thing that gave pictures what the stage couldn't and made them the entertainment of the masses. The public is becoming fed up on the same old pictures or picture matter no matter who the producer.

Selects Quality of Film Advertising Needs Improvement

FILM advertising all over the world certainly compares very unfavorably with the methods employed by ordinary national advertisers. Old showman methods die hard, and it will probably be some time yet before film chiefs realize that improved advertising will mean improved business to them. It is difficult for them to see this when they are as prosperous as they are at the moment, but I do believe that the present prosperity can be greatly increased if methods of publicity progress. Vast strides have been made in the quality of film production, and in the comfort and construction of buildings in which films are shown. Yet advertising has shown little or no improvement during the last ten years.

World Premiere
Thursday, April 3rd

WARNER BROS. present

"UNDER A TEXAS MOON"
HE "inside" from Coast previews is that this is one of those naturals that come along once in a blue moon. The public is going to rave about it.

Frank Fay in the dashing role of a gay caballero is the answer to the maiden's prayer. He's an all around bad hombre, who lies his way into feminine hearts and laughs and fights his way out of danger.

"Under a Texas Moon" will be hailed as one of the season's greatest—a glamorous entertainment—replete with thrills and laughs—the lure of fair women—the melody of Spanish guitars and the picturesque beauty of old Mexico in dazzling hues of Technicolor. (All Outdoors.)

Universal Buys Interest in Music Publishing Firm

Clauses for Exhibition Contract
Adopted as 2-2-2 Conference Opens

Sound must be delivered on disc or film as specified in the schedule or the exhibitor may cancel pictures involved.

Exhibitors must pay for each picture four days in advance of date of shipment unless credit arrangements are made.

Daily statements in connection with percentage bookings must be calculated and sent to the producer or credit arrangement is made.

Under percentage arrangements producers are allowed four months, instead of six months, for examination of "all book entries" relating to the pictures.

Checkers must be a regular employee of a distributor or an accountant.

Sixty-five per cent fixed as penalty, based on last day's gross, when theater fails to play picture as booked, under percentage deal.

Prints must be delivered in good physical condition "capable of clearly reproducing sound in synchronization.

Agreements Reached on Over Seven Points at First Meet

A pronounced get-together spirit marked the inaugural day of the 2-2-2 conference yesterday at the Union Club when agreements were reached on seven important and near-importance clauses to be incorporated in the new standard exhibition contract.

The day's session ended with a lively discussion of the availability clause which will be resumed when the conference reconvenes this morning at 10:30, this time at the Bar As'n Bldg., on West 44th St.

Sidney R. Kent presided and the following delegates were present: M.

See Need of Two Pacts—One with Arbitration

In submitting its contract proposals to the Chairman Sidney R. Kent of the 2-2-2 conference committee, the committee comprising M. A. Lighman, Frank C. Walker, representing the M.P.T.O.A. had the following to say, in a letter: "Our organization is in favor of a fair system but thinks that two forms of contract should be offered the exhibitor, viz., one containing provisions for arbitration and an alternate form excluding it."

'Under a Texas Moon'

A swell all-around job has been done on this glorified Western in Technicolor. It has a border story rich in humor, unfolded with ideally romantic charm. Chief interest centers around Frank Fay as a dashing caballero in a role that amounts to the Don Juan championship of the screen. Dialogue is ideal, direction is imaginative, outdoor scenes are beautiful, color is among the best to date, and altogether it is an unusually delightful entertainment that should get the money anywhere.

The conference approved a clause which provides that sound must be elivered on disc or film, as specified in the schedule, with the exhibitor having the privilege of cancelling upon notice of the distributor to do so.

When the payment clause was reached, Allied proposed that payment be made at least three days in advance of the date of shipment from exchange. The distributors asked payment seven days in advance, less, in attacking payment by check, declared that in 1929, approximately 100,000 was lost by distributors through "rubber" checks. He said referred payment would be allowed regardless of the wording of the contract but each delegate insisted that definite provision be made for redit when accounts justified this consideration. Finally the clause was dropped with the requirement that payment be made four days in ad-

With object of providing relief for small theaters in connection with the score charge, the M.P.T.O.A. delegates atting the 2-2-2 conference will propose the following clause for inclusion in the standard exhibition contract: "Where the average film rentals do not exceed $50 per picture for a given block of pictures the score charge per picture shall not exceed 10 percent of the film rental."

Lowell, Mass.—Western Electric equipment is being installed in the Capitol and the Victory.

U.N.T. HOW long the delegates are going to gather around the conference table is a subject for a guessing contest. Some figure 10 days and others envision a long hard campaign ahead.

Sid Kent, officiating as chairman and representing distributors along with Gene Heas, is proving a tactful and fair-minded, as per his reputation, at past exhib-distribue powows.

A number of exhibitors made a personal appearance at the Union Club yesterday, expecting to sit in on the deliberations, but were barred as the chairman felt that the conference could work more effectively in a smaller group of authorized delegates.

It's a serious-minded confab, this 2-2-2 affair. And, from all indications, it's going somewhere.

The famous overture by the Russian composer Tschaikowsky. Known and played all over the world. United Artists brings it to the screen accompanied by a marvelous visual interpretation of the meaning of the composition—the invasion of Russia by Napoleon.

"IRISH FANTASY" Victor Herbert at his best. In this composition he depicted the eviction of the Irish patriots from their homes, their fight for freedom and their victory. Donald Novis, the Irish tenor who sang in "Bulldog Drummond" is the principal singer. A great big little Featurette.

"1812" The famous overture by the Russian composer Tschaikowsky. Known and played all over the world. United Artists brings it to the screen accompanied by a marvelous visual interpretation of the meaning of the composition—the invasion of Russia by Napoleon.

"SORCERER'S APPRENTICE" Goethe's most celebrated poem is the theme for a thrilling musical drama depicting the attempts of a sorcerer's apprentice to imitate the magic arts of his absent master. Brooms, chairs, tables come to life in the weird settings designed by Wm. Cameron Menzies. Told to the fascinating music of the noted French composer Dukas.

"GLORIOUS VAMPS" This musical gem brings all the real vamps of history before you: Eve, Salome, Cleopatra, Delilah, Lucretia Borgia, Madame Pompadour, Carmen and to top it off the modern jazz girl.

THE APPETIZER OF YOUR PROGRAM

Given high praise by leading exhibitors wherever they have been shown, this series of smart featurettes was produced with one idea in mind—to give the public something different. Every short tells a complete story to an accompaniment of the world's greatest music played by Dr. Hugo Riesenfeld's famed seventy-piece orchestra. Songs, dialogue and dramatic sound effects are also included.

Three Days' Run of Film at Popular Prices Will Constitute General Release in Zone

Highlights of Friday's session of the 2-2-2 conference on a new standard contract were:

Adoption of an availability clause providing that a picture which plays three days at popular prices be construed as a regular release in the zone in which it plays. Distributor must send notice of availability to exhibitor at least 15 days prior to "available date."

Product automatically becomes available for subsequent run houses 90 days after date of availability for first runs, except in cases of long run theaters.

Availability was the initial clause to receive consideration. The distributors and Allied both proposed that "within a reasonable time after a print is at an exchange, the exchange must mail a notice that the picture is available for exhibition." Such notice, they specified, must be mailed to a theater at least 15 days before the "available date." T. M. P. T. O. A. (Continued on Page 35)

SUBSTITUTIONS LIVE TOPIC AT 2-2-2 MEET

Substitutions were decried by exhibitor delegates and defended by distributor representatives during lively discussion at the 2-2-2 conference Friday. Allied submitted a contract clause calculated to reduce this problem from the exhibitor standpoint (Continued on Page 35)

Publix Appoints Hamlin Coast Advertising Head

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Los Angeles—Fred Hamlin, publicity director for the New York Strand about five years ago, has been appointed West Coast advertising director for Publix.

To Confer on Plan

A zoning and clearance plan for every territory, now in preparation, will eventually be submitted to a conference for ratification. This was indicated by Gabriel Hess in discussing clearance at the 2-2-2 conference Friday.

Patrons Now Demanding Short Subjects, Survey Shows

(Continued from Page 1) went so far as to declare that their talking comedies and other novelty features were responsible for saving the show when the feature happened to be weak. It is also apparent from the answers to various questions that the reason more exhibitors have not enjoyed an increase in the box-office value of their shorts is because of lack of exploitation.

Comedy, novelty and variety shorts are to a film program what the dessert is to a dinner, more than a hundred exhibitors pointed out, and when the “dessert” is left out for any reason the patrons, particularly the children, complain about it. Sound shorts have created more comment by patrons than ever was aroused by either shorts or features in the silent days, and the remarks heard about the talking comedies, cartoons and some other subjects even exceed the comments elicited by talking features, several exhibitors declare.

The big producing companies, who in the past have looked upon short subjects as nothing more than fillers, already have begun to wake up to the new importance of shorts and are preparing to give them more careful attention. Keen competition is coming into this field and this is expected to result in continual improvement of quality of the short product.

With the public displaying a strong appetite for shorts, one of the complaints from exhibitors at present is that the features often are too long or cost too much to permit of anything else on the program except perhaps a new reel. In order to adjust this situation, theater operators suggest that features be made uniformly shorter, thereby allowing for the shorts that are necessary to round out the show and at the same time, by the inclusion of some good comedies and novelties, insure support for the occasional bad feature. This arrangement, it is pointed out, works equally to the advantage of the feature producers and consequently merits their co-operation.

Small towns, which will provide one of the best consistent markets for shorts after all the theaters in the country have been wired, are not using more of these subjects at present for the reasons that they cost too much, some exhibitors state. Another complaint from this field is that producers are not making enough Western talking shorts, which are needed to build up small town grosses.

Theater men are quite generally in accord on the point that shorts can draw more patrons if properly exploited, and negligence of some distributing companies in supplying press sheets and accessories is cited by quite a few exhibitors as the reason they are not doing more of this exploitation.

By far the most popular form of talking short is the comedy, the survey shows, with slapstick and farce heading the field in this category. Satire and sophisticated humor are reported as having only a mild appeal, one of the chief reasons being that the masses are not quite up to this class of entertainment, and in addition it is considered that the features already contain enough sophistication to satisfy picture audiences.

There is a growing trend among exhibitors to build up their programs along lines of a vaudeville show, and this is reported to be working out very successfully. Talker subjects have replaced vaudeville act traveling shows in a great number of houses and this replacement is expected to continue and remain in effect so long as the quality of shorts are kept at a level that satisfy the public. Generally speaking, exhibitors feel that the pictures have a edge because they can bring to the screen the best talent of the stage, screen, musical field, etc., to every little town while theatrical stars for the most part are expected to favor appear in talkers because it eliminates travel and other inconveniences, places the before tremendous audiences in short time, and means more compensation for less work.

Producers of shorts, therefore, have a wonderful opportunity to extend their product from the “taken granted” class and place it practice on a level with the features. Numerous suggestions that should be guidance in this respect, as well as an assortment of interesting and informative statistics that have a vital bearing on the subject, are contained in the next two installments of the THE FILM DAILY’S short subject questionnaire.

Analysis of Short Subjects Questionnaire

Question 1
On the whole, do you consider that short features mean more as entertainment and as box-office attractions now than they did before the advent of sound, and if so, how much?

Answers
Yes .................. 422
No .................. 129
Noncommittal ........ 99

Estimates of the increased value ran all the way from 5 to 300 per cent. More than 150 exhibitors stated that sound has boosted the box-office standing of shorts, while 95 said that sound has made no difference. Consensus of opinion on this point, however, is that lack of exploitation is responsible for the future having realized more substantially on the value of talking shorts.

Remarks
Sound shorts now are as important as our feature pictures.—Saenger, Vicksburg, Miss.

Because patrons can see and hear all the big stars of both stage and screen, sound shorts are 100 per cent more valuable to the box-office.—Strand, Altoona, Pa.

Our patrons are beginning to like the Broadway stars in shorts, and ask for them Strand, Covington, Va.

In many instances the sound shorts actually are responsible for the success of the feature.—M. Solomon, Publicity Manager, Macon, Ga.

Talking shorts must be good because they are more critically received than the silents.—Calihan, State College, Pa.

Question 2
Have you increased your bookings of short features since the advent of sound, and to what extent?

Answers
Yes .................. 327
No .................. 233

Only 218 replies specified the percentage of increase in bookings. Of this number, 84 said their increase amounted to from 10 to 50 per cent, 71 from 50 to 100 per cent, and 63 from 100 to 300 per cent. In several instances exhibitors stated that the length of features did not permit them to balance their programs with shorts. A good deal of opinion seems to be in favor of shorter features to allow for more short subjects.

Remarks
Buying and booking arrangements on short sound subjects are not yet what they should be, so it is not always possible to fill out and properly balance a program. The type and length of a feature picture should decide the nature of the shorts to strike an agreeable balance.—A. R. Nininger, Sunset, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Question 3
To what extent have short film features replaced vaudeville or stage presentations?

Answers
100 per cent ........... 218
5 to 75 per cent ........ 87

Included in the replies were 107 that stated neither vaudeville nor stage shows had ever been used by the theaters concerned.

Remarks
We get better acts via talking pictures which I think is an advantage for the small towns that used to get poor vaudeville.—F. D. Walters, C. F. Smith, Hartford City, Ind.

The public now can see big titans at small neighborhood houses small admissions.—Louis Levey, Dye man, New York City.

Question 4(a)
What type of short feature in sound do you consider most popular and most important to your program?

Answers
Comedies .............. 341
Newsreel ............. 107
Cartoons ............. 87
Musical ............... 47
Novelties ............. 39
Color ................ 19
Sketches ............. 12
Dancing .............. 5

The foregoing are the only classifications that received five or more mentions. Travelogues, orchestra acts, and a few other types of short were specified less than this number of times.

Remarks

Slapstick Is Voted Favorite Brand of Comedy

Slapstick for Relaxation
Give us the well-directed slapstick comedies. People, lowbrow and highbrow, want to laugh, belly laughs, and lots of them. They have enough worries. The highbrows spend a lot of time maintaining a highbrow attitude and they like to laugh it off at times. The talking slapstick comedy is needed.—HOWELL, Coleman, Texas.

Slapstick as popular as formerly?

Want Low Comedy
Sound, or no sound, has no bearing on the absolute necessity of good old-fashioned comedy with real "belly" laughs. Our patrons yell more and more for true low comedy. People are still kids. —J. M., Hollywood, Los Angeles, Cal.

Silents Pass
A silent comedy is very flat now. In fact, for the last two years my audiences seldom laughed out loud at a silent. But they have to now. Some producers have been making talking comedies very cheap. Four or five actors, and sometimes only two, yet they are sold as comedies whereas they are nothing more than acts.—H. E. HOAG, Momence, Momence, Ill.

Question 5

Are good comedies or the vaudeville act type of short subject most successful?

Answers

| Good Comedies | 439 |
| Vaudeville Acts | 67 |
| Neutral        | 144 |

Question 6(b)

Question 6(b)

Does the situation comedy appeal more than slapstick?

Answers

| Yes | 258 |
| No  | 254 |

This neck-and-neck standing of situation comedy and slapstick does not jibe very well with the respective ratings given to these two types of short subject. Under Question 6, where slapstick is credited as being a 3-to-1 favorite over situation comedy in public favor. However, the counts are given as they appear on the records. General remarks as to a comparison of the two types are in agreement that standard of production is the first consideration.

Question 7

What length comedies are better suited for your house—one-reel or two-reel?

Answers

| Two-reel | 485 |
| One-reel | 81  |

In many of the replies the answer to this question was qualified with the statement that comedies register according to their entertainment value, not their length, and the greater popularity of two-reels is due principally to the fact that these subjects are of better quality than the majority of one-reel issues.

It was generally contended, however, that two reels is sufficient length for a comedy because, in the first place, the difficulty in maintaining a comedy plot at a satisfactory entertainment level for a longer period, and secondly, on account of the tiring effect it would have on the audience, as well as the interference with the feature.

Question 6(c)

What type of comedy appeals most to women?

Answers

| Situation Comedy | 157 |
| Farce           | 118 |
| Slapstick       | 81  |
| Satire          | 26  |

| Kiddie          | 14  |
| Musical         | 13  |
| Sophisticated   | 6   |

An unusually large number of replies expressed inability to fathom the desires of feminine film patrons. Several intimated, in different ways, that women as a rule prefer comedy of the more refined type.

Want Low Comedy

Sound, or no sound, has no bearing on the absolute necessity of good old-fashioned comedy with real "belly" laughs. Our patrons yell more and more for true low comedy. People are still kids. —J. M., Hollywood, Los Angeles, Cal.
Gags Considered More Important Than Story

Question 8
Is the story in a comedy the important factor, or are the gags the main thing?

Answers
Gags ............... 395
Story ............... 97
Both ............... 115

On account of the average picture audience not being able to grasp dialogue, a considerable number of exhibitors stated that, while gags evoke the biggest response, the full kick of a gag frequently is lost unless its meaning is made clear to the audience through the medium of a story, plot or theme.

Remarks
Good gags and funny situations always are sure-fire.—J. E. Murdock, Alhambra, Canton, O.

Question 9
What is the reaction of your patrons to the new sophisticated comedy made possible only by the advent of sound: that is, the smart type of playlet depending largely on its clever dialogue for its entertainment?

Answers
Poor ............... 217
Good ............... 151
Fair ............... 103
Very Good ........... 97

General sentiment seems to be that film audiences are not yet ready for this class of material. This applies particularly in the large number of second and third class houses. It is also pointed out by several exhibitors that the features already contain a sufficient dose of sophistication.

The Proper Setup
It takes properly balanced variety to put out your show. News — comedy — novelty — organ — feature. This constitutes the ideal setup for a program. Whenever you eliminate any part of this, you weaken your show.—DALE A. LIEBHEIT, De Kalb, De Kalb, Ill.

Getting the Shorts Habit
People are getting the shorts habit and want them on the program, consequently the short subject has become an indispensable part of the bill, and in addition is valuable in building up a weak or average program.—R. J. BOYLE, Park, Rockland, Me.

Remarks
Sophisticated comedy depends on the booking situation. The type of your feature should determine entirely the style of comedy to be used.—ROOSEVELT, Union City, N. J.

About 90 per cent of our patrons sit through the sophisticated shorts and then ask why we did not show a comedy.—DIETRICH, Mer, Ourthen, Ottawa, Ill.

Sophisticated comedies and clever dialogue always have left a favorable impression at this theater.—RIVoli, Baltimore.

Question 10
Do your patrons comment on the comedy upon leaving the theater, more than they did in the past?

Answers
Yes ............... 457
No ............... 151

In many instances the "yes" was made very emphatic, with some exhibitors declaring that the comedies, occasionally create more comment than the features. A great many remarks also are heard in favor of the cartoon comedies.

Remarks
Good shorts cause more comment than the average feature.—FOX WORLD, McCook, Neb.

Patrons are evidencing keen interest in the "surrounding program" in many instances the shorts build up weak program to nearer perfection than formerly.—IRVIN R. WILDE, Queen, Galveston.

The short subjects on the show in this community is an essential thing and when we have a long feature that will not warrant much shorts the patrons talk about it and ask me why.—JACK ALBERTSON, Indiana, Indiana Harbor, Ind.

Unless we have a short subject that about kills them from laughing, they don't say a word.—R. F. KOBERG, Iowa, Sheldon, Ia.

Question 11
Is a comedy a necessary part of the show, regardless of the length of the feature or whether there is any stage show?

Answers
Yes ............... 443
No ............... 169

Except when the feature itself happens to be a strong comedy, the absence of a short along this line invariably arouses complaints from patrons, and proves a disappointment to children especially, according to a score of replies. Length and character of feature are cited as determining factors, but opinion is practically unanimous that comedy shorts should be used wherever necessary to give a program proper balance.

Remarks
No show is complete without a good short bill to start things off.—E. M. MATHER, Avalon, Bellingham, Wash.

The comedy is missed by many if it is cut out. Customers feel there is something wrong with the show if there are no shorts.—PINEGROVE, Port Huron, Mich.

Question 12
Do your patrons prefer the popular screen comedians to the stage comedians who are not so well known to them?

Answers
Yes ............... 389
No ............... 107
Neutral ........... 118

Preference for the screen personalities is not only on account of their established name popularity, but also because their style of fun-making is more suitable for the screen medium, several of the replies state. The penchant for Broadway wisecracking, so prevalent among stage comedians, is not entirely liked picture audiences.

Remarks
At first the patrons did not like stage stars, but now we have grown as to when we are going to see well-known stage artists.—SUSAN CORBIN, Pa.

A new face has as good a chance as the old one. It's the show counts.—EDWIN B. RIVERS, Granada, Lewiston, Ida.

Question 12(a)
In general, what is the biggest value in the short feature, the performer's name, the series name or the producer's name?

Answers
Performer ........... 478
Producer ........... 85
Series ............... 66

Quality of production was mentioned in more than 50 replies as being one of the chief factors in establishing a steady following for a series of comedies.

Remarks
The biggest value is in the entertainment angle, regardless of who is in the picture or who makes it.—AVON, Boucherville, N. Y.

The public will accept anything that's good entertainment, no matter who puts it on.—NEW, HOOSICK FA, N. Y.

Question 13
Do you advertise your short features in all of your ad layouts?

Answers
Yes ............... 489
No ............... 77

About 20 replies stated that short features were advertised only when the name

Block Selling

Block selling of shorts is poor business. High-class vaudeville acts command big salaries, and there are "hams" who never play the big time. So why put a "ham" talker in a first-class house? Producers should price their shorts according to quality, not sell them for $5 each in series of 26.

F. W. ZIMMERMAN, Palace, San Marcos, Tex.

Remarks

A carefully written, special one-sheet, similar to vaudeville lobby billing, would be fitting for this wonderful new type of entertainment. - F. W. Zimmerman, Palace, San Marcos, Tex.

We advertise our shorts if they are good. Talking comedies, good features and novelty, if exploited, will bring in 10 to 20 per cent more trade.

Question 14

Would general advertising on comedies in your local newspapers be of value to you?

---

Answers

Yes .............. 352
No ............... 217

---

Among the exhibitors claiming that general exploitation is advisable because it would familiarize the public with comedies, a few expressed the opinion that the fan magazine would be a good place for some of this advertising. On the other hand, some of those who are opposed or indifferent to this class of publicity declare that comedies are taken for granted and expected, and therefore do not lend themselves to general exploitation.

Remarks

You cannot expect small-town exhibitors with weekly newspapers to employ high-class artists to advertise the comedies, and that's why shortdo not receive their proper mention. The small-town newspaper is the lobby of the theater, and if no high-class ad matter is available there will be no publicity on the shorts. - F. W. Zimmerman, Palace, San Marcos, Tex.

Question 15

What are the most important accessories on short features and do you need any that are not now furnished by the distributors?

Three-sheets ...... 18

In addition to the foregoing, from one to four exhibitors mentioned a wide assortment of articles including corner blocks, thumbot lines, corner ad cuts, release bulletins, music, novelties, slides, trailers, more star photos, etc., while 115 stated that no other accessories were needed. Suggestion also was made that accessories should be marked "sound" or "all-talking" more emphatically, and earlier delivery of this material was urged by many. Difficulty or inability to obtain accessories was cited by 26 exhibitors. In this connection, the Educational offices advise that they supply one-sheets on all one and two-reel subjects and newsreel, and Pathe also furnishes one-sheets on practically all shorts, while Paramount supplies one-sheets only on two-reel subjects.

Remarks

Film exchanges should have a syn- opsis of each act so we can tell what it is and thus be able to balance our program. - Dan C. Stearns, Willoby, Willockville, O.

Good shorts don't need accessories to put them over. - Strand, Providence.

As comedies are dated, press mat- ter should be mailed or sent by motor delivery to exhibitors. - Lansdale, Lansdale, Pa.

Too little information is easily ac- cessible to the exhibitor. Shorts Draw SRO

I booked a short starring Eddie Cantor, another with Clark and McCullough, and a Disney cartoon on the same bill with Clara Bow. I featured Cantor, Clark & McCullough and Miss Bow on the marquee, and had to stop selling tickets five times. In the past it was pretty difficult to get such names on one program. - ROBERT SOFFER, Hollywood, New York City.
Continuity Needed
Some plan must be worked out, with the cooperation of producers, whereby programs can be arranged and knitted together. Present bills lack continuity and the short subjects in the average house just amount to something thrown in.
—K. BELLA, Auditorium, Crockett, Tex.

Question 16
Of what value to you is the comedy press sheet and do you have any suggestions to make on how these could be made more valuable to you?

Only 92 exhibitors reported that they were using press books, while 152 stated they did not use them and 37 declared that press sheets were not available. Several expressed the opinion that press sheets on good comedies are just as valuable as they are on features, that they are useful in writing ads and making强有力的 exploitation, and that they help in elevating the shorts from fillers, as formerly, to added attractions and features.

Among the recommendations on how these press sheets could be made of greater value were the following:
More attention to ad angles of subjects, stars and directors.
Catch lines.
Casts.
Synopsis, nature of story, exact running time.

Clever illustrated ad copy.
Short, snappy, humorous stories.
Gag advance stories.
Performer personality notes.
Truthful information about kind of entertainment.
Advance information about type and appeal.
More exploitation suggestions.
Straight ad layouts.
Better and larger mats.
Better in exhibitors’ hands automatically.

Mats with sales talks.

Exact running time.

Various of human interest exploitation stunts for general appeal in different kinds of communities.

Question 17
Has the interest of local newspaper critics in short feature stories increased since the advent of sound?

Answers
No 253
Yes 147

Majority of the replies stated that reviewers as a rule are interested only in the features, but that when special request is made they invariably give attention to the shorts as well. Critics are just beginning to recognize the importance of short subjects to the program, according to various opinions expressed, and with the improving quality of these shorts it is considered quite likely that the time is not far off when more critics will be reviewing the surrounding program regularly.

Question 17(a)
What do you do, if anything, toward influencing critics to review short subjects more generally?

Most of the exhibitors answering this question said they did nothing, leaving it to the shorts to gain attention on their own merits, but a fair number offered the following suggestions:

Give shorts a better position on the program.

Arouse the interest of critics in the value of shorts to the bill.

Make personal request.

Prevent screening the entire program.

Do more advertising.

Supply gag and personality stories and readers.

Request reviews when the shorts are of special merit or contain some important star.

Build Up Bills
Utmost care should be exercised in arranging the shorts to fill your bill. Sometimes results are far more satisfactory if the position of an act is changed or switched from first to second position. Do not have your acts too much alike. Get variety and novelty. Don’t walk into an exchange and say you need three acts to fill your program. Pick your acts. If you have a short subject, follow it up with a gag comic, get a contrasting act to fill. But above all—arrange your program.

Anudee J. Van Beuren is now producing five series of single reels for Pathe’s release, as follows:

The Sportlight production staff with the Van Beuren sound truck has just returned from an extensive trip through eastern Florida, during which time three new Sportlights have been completed by Oscar Lund, director. The Voice of the Sea, and “Deep South” the two latest Songs, Sketches, have been completed by Oscar Lund, director. The Aesop’s Sound Fables department has just completed “Piggy’s Day”, a cartoon burlesque on “Uncle Tom’s Cabin.”

The latest topics of the day, “The Van Beuren News,” will be followed up by an altogether different layout which has been made on the West Coast and which is now en route to the New York Van Beuren offices.

Westerns, Air Thriller on Educational Schedule
Two Western comedies and an air thriller that is said to be the most ambitious comedy produced by Mack Sennett are included in the current month’s release schedule of Educational.

There are four two-reel subjects and two Terry-Toons in the list. “Honeymoon Zeppelin” is the title of the Sennett air picture, in which the famous Los Angeles blimp plays a part. Marjorie Beebe and Daphne Pollard are featured with Nick Stuart and Edward Earle in this comedy. Nena Quarto also is in the cast. “Western Knights,” a Mermaid talker directed by Stephen Roberts, features Eddie Lambert. “Indian Pudding,” the other Western subject, is a Terry-Toon. “Roma Punch” will have Italian music and locale.

Ideal Family Show
In our opinion the ideal show for a neighborhood house catering to family trade is as follows:

A feature of 1 hr., 15 mins.

Two-reel comedy, 20 mins.

Sound newsreel, 10 mins.

Novelty, 10 mins.

Trailer, about 5 mins.

L. BEACH, Chimes, Oakland, Calif.

15 SHORTS STILL TO COME ON RKO’S 1930 SCHEDULE

Out of 52 short subjects scheduled by RKO for 1930, 15 are still to come. The future releases include “T. Guest” and Good Time Kennel in October; a Marc Connelly short and a group of seven “Palooaka Fly School” and an untitled subject, the six one-reel NCA Novelties; 1 of the 13 two-reel Mickey Mouse series; 1 Larry Darmour two-reel comedy in the group of 13, and “General Ginsburg” “Hot Bridge” in the set of 13 RCA two-reel shorts.

Four Short Subjects
Are Announced by U. A.

United Artists have announced four short subjects for RKO release. Three are “Overture of 1812,” “Irisch Fantasy,” all-talking; “Glorious Vamps,” all-talking, and “The Sorcerer’s Apprentice,” all-talking.

Bell Doing “The Roundup”

“The Roundup,” a two-reel talkie with music, has been placed on the 1930 production schedule by B. Pictures.
Short Subject Exploitation

Blimp Ride

Mack Sennett recently gave syndicate writers a ride in a Goodyear blimp which was being used on location for the final shots of the "Honeymoon Zeppelin." Picture got some nice write ups as a result.

G-M DISTRIBUTING "3 PIECE "GANG" DISPLAY"

G-M is distributing a three-piece "Our Gang" display for ice cream stores. The center piece portrays the entire gang and provides a blank board for the imprint of the local name of the ice cream manufacturer's product. Individual side panels show Mary Ann and Farina, eating an ice cream cone. The Wolf Co. of Philadelphia is manufacturing the display and will make it available to only one ice cream manufacturer in each territory. The manufacturer in turn will distribute it with his own imprint to the dealers selling his product. The displays have been lithographed in nine colors and mounted on heavy board with double re-inforced casels. The center panel measures 31 1/2 by 23 inches and the two side panels are each 23 1/2 inches high. The display may be obtained for lobby use through the Wolf Co.

UNIVERSAL ISSUES PRESS SHEET ON EVERY SERIES

A complete press sheet is issued for every series of Universal shorts released and for their serials and news reel's. Each book contains a complete exploitation campaign and illustrations of accessories available to exhibitors. Banners and pennants in colors are also to be had. In addition to the regular two color one sheet issued on each newsreel release, Universal has prepared a star stock one sheet in color playing up Graham McNamee's newscasting. For this purpose there is also a 22 by 28 inch lobby card, a set of special 8 by 10 lobby cards and a large cutout head of McNamee.

MANY GOLF TIE-UPS FOR EDUCATIONAL'S SHORT

Educational has arranged many tie-ups for the Mack Sennett golf short, "Match Play," which stars Walter Hagen and Leo Diegel. Every golf club in the country is being circulated and cards for bulletin boards distributed; three photo services are distributing stills from the picture; manufacturers of golf products and local dealers are tying up with exhibitors for window displays on the picture. A special eight page press sheet which contains many ideas, is a valuable accessory.

The latest window display tie-up to be made is with 31 of the Dav-egna sporting goods stores in New York.

MICKEY MOUSE CLUBS TO BOOST MATINEE BUSINESS

"Mickey Mouse Clubs," such as the one formed by Harry Woodin of the Dome, Ocean Park, are boosting matinee attendance for houses playing these Columbia Disney cartoons.

To start the club, Woodin made tie-ups with several merchants whereby they became official Mickey Mouse stores, distributing application cards for membership. These cards admitted the children to the first matinee for 5c instead of the regular 10c price. Stores appealing to children cooperated in this and carried announcements of the club in their advertising.

The club now holds regular weekly meetings in the theater, which open with one of the cartoons and after club formalities, a serial and a western or a feature are shown.

NEWSPAPERS TIE UP WITH PATHE SPORLIGHT SERIES

Newspapers throughout the country which run the syndicated Grantland Rice sports articles are glad to tie-up with exhibitors when they play Pathe's "Sportlights." Many exhibitors make special contacts for each picture, depending upon the subject, and some papers are willing to go in for cooperative advertising stunts.

One-sheets, such as this one, displayed in front of the Arcade, La Grande, Ore., are developing a special clientele that is regular in attendance on "news days."

Roach Studio Working on Next Program

Hoffman, Bischoff, Barsky Join Columbia — Lucas Advising on Dialects — Barbara Stanwyck Signed for Four — Ralph Wilk's Notes and Other Wired News

OACH STUDIO WORKING ON 1930-31 PRODUCT

Work has been started at the Hal Roach studio on the 1930-1931 shorts to be released by M-G-M. All but two of the series are already completed in the current program; they are: "In the Land of the G Wizard" and "Sinbad the Sailor." Programs of the Harry Langdon and Our Gang series have been finished and material for the Laurel-Hardy and Stanwyck shorts is now in preparation for the new season.

Wilfred Lucas to Advise on Dialects in F. N. Films

Wilfred Lucas, actor-director, has been engaged by First National as consultant dialectician. His assignment is on the filming of Sir Gilbert Parker's novel "The Right of Way."

Barbara Stanwyck Signed for Four Columbia Films

Columbia has placed Barbara Stanwyck under contract to appear in on our pictures. Signing of the actress allows her work in "Ladies of Leisure," in which she is seen as the co-mine lead.

A Little from "Lots"

By RALPH WILK

OTHER day Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford celebrated their tenth anniversary. Mary pulled a little joke on her husband by having an old delapidated auto driven to the United Artists studio and announcing to Doug that it was her present to him. A few minutes later a brand new car was driving in the studio, Mary's real gift to Doug. Doug also gave Mary an automobile as an anniversary present.

Our Passing Show: Joe E. Brown and Max Shartin chatting in front of the Warner Brothers' Hollywood theater; Pete Shamroy visiting the United Artists studio on business.

Fred Niblo is busy directing "Easy Going," which stars William Haines. It is Niblo's first comedy in seven years.

Do you remember when William S. Gill "scooped" the world on the sinking of the Titanic; when Bill Wright lived in Lawrenceburg, Ind.; when Adolph Menjou and Jack Meader attended the Culver Military Academy in Indiana?

Sidney Franklin was rehearsing Fred Kerr in "The High Road" and suddenly noticed that the actor's voice was getting tired. "We'll rehearse in whispers," he said. "Until I get this scene shot your voice is more precious to me than Grace Moore's."

Donn Hayes, who edited "The Lost Zeppelin" for Tiffany, is cutting "The Bad One," starring Doolores Del Rio.

Al Goodman, of Schwab & Mendel, is engaged as musical advisor on "Queen High," as well as directing the orchestra on all musical numbers.

William Sautler, head of the art department at the Paramount Long Island studios, has returned from a trip to the West Indies, entirely recovered from his recent nervous breakdown.

Do you remember when Frank Tuteur worked on "Vanity Fair"; when Otto Brower lived in Grand Rapids, Mich.; when Percy Heath was a press agent?

In line with the present craze for prison plays, Edmund Joseph directed "Strong Arm," a two reel melodrama, at the Warner Vitaphone studio. In this, the entire action takes place in the death house of a prison. Harry O'Neil, John Harrington, E. L. Fernandez, Paul Harvey and Norvale Keedwell are in the cast.

No fewer than ten elaborate sets were used in "Leave It to Lester," the Fred Niblo production, all of which were designed by Ernest Fege of Paramount's art staff.

Although Sid Blumenstock, paymaster at the Paramount Long Island studios enjoys great popularity, he is always sure of a special "goodie" every Wednesday, which happens to be the day on which pay checks are handed out.

"Queen High," now being transferred to the screen by Paramount, under the direction of Fred Newmeyer, will be a force comedy with music, rather than a musical comedy, as it was originally. This is the first of the Schwab and Mendel stage successes to be filmed under their contract with Paramount.

Alfred L. Werker, recently completed the direction of "Double Crossed" for Fox, has been assigned to direct "Alcatraz" a western. He was with the Mary Pickford and Fred Thomson units before joining Fox.

On the results of the showing being made by "Inagail," Congo Pictures, Ltd., is said to have turned down an offer of 12,000 pounds for the United Kingdom rights to the film and is holding out for 20,000 pounds.

The striking modernistic sets used in "Queen High" were designed by Chick Kirk, who was art director for D. W. Griffith for several years.

Our Passing Show: Ernst Lubitsch and Lothar Mendes motoring to Beverly Hills; George Amy, Clark Burst and Bob Bischoff playing tennis at the Palomar Club.

Hoffman, Bischoff, Barsky Join Columbia Pictures

Milton Hoffman, former M-G-M and Paramount executive, has joined Columbia as business manager. Columbia has also made Sam Bischoff and Bud Barsky associate producers.

Harry Langdon Reported Leaving Hal Roach Fold

Harry Langdon has secured his release from Hal Roach, it is reported.

"Follow Thru" Started

Paramount has started production on "Follow Thru," which reunites Nancy Carroll and Charles "Buddy" Rogers.

Comedies Growing More High-Class

By MACK SENNETT, Producer, Mack Sennett Comedies

More sophistication and less slapstick, more humor and less horseplay, and more real comedy and less high clowns, are the outstanding differences between the talking short features and the old-time silent comedies.

Eighteen months of production of talking short features have accomplished more for the comedy producer and for the exhibitor than 10 years did for the big screen pictures. It has added to the exhibitor's armory a steady clientele of adult comedy lovers, created a real box office following of ticket-buying patrons who have learned to look for their favorite brands of comedies and as given the exhibitor another real money-making attraction for his box office.

To the producer it has made possible the employment of players of higher class, the choice of better story lines and the production of real comedies.

Color and Wide Screen in Cartoon Field

By WALT DISNEY, Producer, "Mickey Mouse"

I believe that the inclusion of color in cartoon comedies offers great possibilities for pictorial effects, but would add very little so far as comedy is concerned. There are many problems in sound yet to be worked out, and I should like to see this single perfected before considering color. After all, a cartoon comedy is a laugh and personality that counts. Color alone will not sustain public interest unless the cartoon itself is exceptionally clever and unique, a good, clever black and white cartoon should hold its own for some time to come.

As for the wide screen, its possibilities and advantages are unlimited for the live effect picture, but as yet, I see no special advantage for its use in the production of cartoon comedies.

Better Technique

In many instances we have found short subjects far superior than main features in technique and general subject continuity, and we hope the example set by the shorts producers will stimulate the efforts of feature makers.

Featuring Shorts

On two or three occasions recently, when we have been drawing together a number of features for one book and advertising, the comedies and did business on the strength of the shorts regardless of the mediocrities. — GEORGE T. SHARP, Garden, Cleveland

Short Subjects Supply Demands for Variety

By PHIL REISMAN, General Sales Manager, Pathé

Through the judicious booking of short subjects, the successful showman secures a variety of screen entertainment that utilizes a balanced bill. The wise exhibitor should ask himself: "What am I doing to provide a program that will enter the bulk of my patrons?" Then he should make a thorough survey of the available short product and select his subjects so that his programs have variety.

Applying the principle to our own product, Pathé is releasing the greatest diversity of single reel subjects in its history. Three kinds of News are being provided: Sound News, Disc News and the pioneer silent Pathé News. To make the newsreel better entertainment Pathé is offering new realism through the Color process.

Pathé is offering six short subject series and eight different kinds of two-reel comedies. The single reels, Pathe Review (Audio, disc and silent), Talking Topics of the Day, the Vagabond Adventures, Grantland Rice Sportlight, Aesop's Fables (color and sound) and the Vagabond Adventures are designed to fit into practically any program. When the feature is a drama, Fables and Topics offer a comedy element; while the Sportlight and Vagabond Adventures subjects balance a comedy feature, Song Sketches balance any program lacking singing numbers. Two-reel comedies are always the complement that makes a good, balanced bill.

Talker Shows Attract Stage Names

By SAM SAX, in Charge Eastern Vitaphone Studios

The successful short comedy needs a real story and can no longer depend upon a loosely strung series of gags, in the opinion of Sam Sax, in charge of the Eastern Vitaphone studios.

The talkers have attracted many stage and feature production favorites to the short subject field because they have a greater opportunity to display their dramatic talents than in the old silent days, when looks counted more than ability.

These new faces come as a welcome change and the public welcomes them. The proximity of the Eastern Vitaphone studios to Broadway has enabled us to use some of the biggest stage names in our Vitaphone Varities. During the past two months such performers as Chester Coiklin, Ruth Etting, Doris Dawson, Joe Irissco, Bert Lahr, Jack Norworth, Una Almson, James Rennie, Mayo Methot, James Barton, Eddie Foy, Jack Haley, Myrna Loy, A. G. LeFevre, Alison, and many others have appeared in Vitaphone short subjects.

Suggestions for Short Subject Theaters

By E. W. HAMMONS, President, Educational Pictures

A short subject program that should satisfy the diversified tastes of an audience and provide the essential variety, would consist of comedies, newsreels and novelties, with the time emphasis on the comedies and newsreels.

In the classification of many want in the talking field, we have made a wide variety of comedies, and after studying numerous reports that we have received, we are convinced that the public does not discriminate in favor of any particular type of comedy, but will support any pictures that furnish a full quota of entertainment.

Jack White Talking Comedies have introduced many innovations in the short subject field while the Vitaphone has the first wild animal comedy produced in sound and dialog, "Cold Shivers," the first spook comedy, "Look Out Below!" the initial high and dizzy sound comedy attempted, "Hunting the Hunter" the first two-reel farce comedy in sound and dialogue, "Lover's Delight" the first domestic comedy, "Hot and Howl" the first modernistic farce, and "Dad Knows Best," a marked departure for us, was the first sophisticated drawing room farce we attempted.

Films and Vaud

I have tried two sound features and a silent comedy, and my patrons complained. I then changed to 90% shorts and 10% sound. Now I am running a single feature with two sound comedies and a sound news week and three small-time Vaud programs. Our business has doubled since I inaugurated this policy. — JACOB CONN, Conns, Oil- neville, R. I.

Pertinent Sidelights from the Production End

Public Develops Taste for Fort Films

By TERRY RAMSAYE, Editor-in-Chief Pathe News and Review

Nearly everyone admits the importance of the newsreel and topical picture. This importance has been increasing year by year and now has been given a great impetus by the coming of sound.

Looking at certain trends in the somewhat related art of publication in the printed word—the book and magazine business—we will discover some interesting parallel evidences, a stringing Indian or Army story of trend because the customer has a bigger and more direct individual vote at the book counter than he has at the box office. In the last five years the dominant best sellers of the world have been, and continue to be, non-fiction products.

The public has developed a startlingly strong taste for facts—enteraining facts, of course, but facts just the same. This is significant of an equally strong public demand for a similar line of screen product, whether we call it merchandise or entertainment.

Of course, it is good business for the exhibitor to cash in on such trends. Never before in the history of his business of purveying screen entertainment has there been so good a line of non-fiction product on the market.

Utilizing Color in Short Subjects

By WILLIAM HOYT PECK, Vice-President, Colorcraft

The possibilities of color in short subjects are tremendous. You can fill the theater with a program that will be astounding. An opening review with a charming scintillating color lighting effect, a comedy with utricular color lighting, a scene with sound and color as the master painted it himself, a lovely Corot lighting for a delicate triangle situation, and for the piece de resistance, a series of rapid fire action that will hold them in their seats with the very vividness of its color, the flashing costumes, the charging streaks of color action, and the grandeur of the great outdoors for a setting—a Remington.

We are building a special instrument which will be known as a recording colorimeter, as an apparatus to determine the correct and opaque color of any scene at any time in the picture. We have found it necessary to develop a special photo-electric cell with high sensitivity in the visible regions; this cell is also sensitive in both the infra-red and ultra-violet regions. For instance, it will be possible to compare different dyes and fabrics so as to select the proper fabrics that will transmit the ultra-violet and healing rays of the sun and at the same time reflect the beauty of the colors selected for next season’s fashions.

This instrument will make it possible for us to check the color values of all objects in picture sets when they are being photographed in color, enabling us to check our illumination, establish definite standards in advance, and so all our colored motion pictures will properly photograph and bring out the original colors of the sets and costumes.

Short Features in the World Market

The most active demand for short features abroad at present is for subjects of a musical nature. Selections from the operas, classical compositions, and popular music almost always possess an international appeal and are finding an important place in the programs of the leading theaters throughout the world. Paramount has made many of these short features in recent months and their demand has been universal. After the appealing feature will keep them on the short features program permanently.

There is, of course, a tremendous interest in short sound and talking pictures made in the more important languages, such as Spanish, French, Italian, Swedish, Dutch, German, and, while this market is more local in character, it is an important one. As an illustration, Spanish is spoken in 450 cities, 130,000,000 people, and of the more important languages are spoken or understood by many millions of people, and these various markets represent important items in the export trade.

Real Wildcat

Don Hancock and Joe Rikin of Pathe pulled a good one when they said they were after an honest-to-goodness wildcat and put it in the lobby of the Globe, New York when the Grantland Rice sportlight, "A Blue Wildcat," was shown there. Extra cops kept the traffic moving.

Tabloid Talker House Clicks

Chicago—After a trial period of two months, the Adams, presenting all-talker short subject programs under the copyrighted billing of "Tabloid Talkies," is declared an unmistakable success by M. O. Wells, manager of the house. Since the new policy was put into effect on Feb. 10 without a line of newspaper or other advertising, except a lobby display on the opening day, business has been steadily on the up-surge, and in two weeks twice what they were under the old policy. The theater caters to office workers, salesmen, shoppers, etc., who have only an hour or so to kill, and to persons who have become tired of long features.

A typical program consists of cartoons, comedy, vaudeville act, musical comedy, color subject, review, dramatic playlet and news.

Animated Cartoons Rise to New Heights

By CHARLES B. MINTZ, Producer of "Krazy Kat"

The animated cartoon has undergone a metamorphosis. From having been just a lowly filler or a chaser, this 600 feet of concentrated film fun has become an almost indispensable part of the program in the finer theaters today. The only theater, since the advent of sound that doesn’t exhibit an animated cartoon now is the theater that can’t get one.

The animated cartoon has particular charm for the young children of the audience and, in some instances, even to talk and song. The study of the cartoon, which has gone from the stage of a novelty to a sure-fire comedy, has given us undreamed-of opportunities for making an audience laugh.

Of course, the work and, therefore, the cost of production has increased threefold. Where we formerly were able to make an animated cartoon subject in two weeks with 12 artists working, we must now keep stepping in order to turn out that same length picture in four weeks with 18 artists at work.

Action Is Essence of Comedies

By MONTE BRICE, RKO Director

The very essence of short comedies being action, too much attention to story is apt to retard the pace. A properly constructed series of gags can put over a story just as tellingly as a set form and, more often, with a greater effect. After people have concentrated on a feature picture for an hour or more, they instinctively look to the short subject for relaxation. They are tired of living over someone else’s problems and want to sit on the sidelines and laugh. After people have concentrated on a feature picture for an hour or more, they instinctively look to the short subject for relaxation. They are tired of living over someone else’s problems and want to sit on the sidelines and laugh.

One of the short comedies serves its most important function in refreshing the minds of the audience so that they will not be too tired to concentrate on the story told by the feature attraction.

Shorts Are Climbing Toward Top

By GRANT L. COOK, Executive Vice-President, Tiffany

With the ever-increasing popularity of talking and sound pictures, the short subject is rapidly climbing toward the top of the ladder of importance. Should anyone by inclined to belittle short subjects, let him answer this question: "Where would we be without them?"

Douglas Fairbanks got his start on the screen in short subjects. So did Chaplin, Harold Lloyd, Gloria Swanson and many others. In the field of talking pictures, the short subject is to the screen what the vaudeville sketch or the magic lantern was to the stage, or the short story to literature.

Therefore, with dialogue and music, the short subject is absolutely indispensable. Tiffany at present is interested in several series of short subjects, including Color Symphonies, one-reel talking and musical numbers; The Voile of Hollywood, one-reel subjects giving fans an informal glimpse of film players; Forbes Randolph, Kentucky Singers, two-reels filled with folk singing, dancing and comedy, and other shorts yet to be announced.

Short subjects should not be turned out with the idea that they are to be program fillers, but to furnish a high grade of entertainment. Put the shorts in the de luxe class and they will bring de luxe returns. We have faith in short subjects and we are ready to back up that faith with action.

Expense No Object

An example of the enormous expense incurred by newreel companies to score a scoop on news shots was indicated last Thursday when Paramount had special pictures of the arrival of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his party in New Zealand rushed to New York for immediate showing in Broadway houses. Returning to civilization after 15 months in the polar regions, Paramount's sound news camera- men, or playback, as Byrd dashed aboard a steamer for the Pacific side of the Panama Canal. Then the pictures were indespisibly rushed to the Atlantic side of the Canal at Colon by seaplane. From there the results were rushed by plane on the 3,000-mile trip to their U. S. destination. They arrived at Newark, N. J. at 3 p.m. Wednesday afternoon and were shown in the theaters Thursday.
In the Spring
an Exhibitor's fancy seriously turns to thoughts of Pathé
Spring is here! And with it lazy reflections on the exhibitor’s hard life. Poor feller, he has to pick a short subject program. But are Pathe’s customers unhappy over the prospect? Well, look at the exhibitor above. He knows that he’s getting 52 ALL-TALKING COMEDIES; steady old PATHE SOUND NEWS, produced also on disc and in silent; that unique screen whimsy, PATHE AUDIO REVIEW, available too on disc and silent; the one and only GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS, (on disc too), more popular than ever; the brand-new VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES, (on disc too), dramatically enacted in quaint foreign lands, the ultra-successful SONG SKETCHES, (on disc too), dramatized musical favorites; that uproarious cartoon, AESOP’S SOUND FABLES, also on disc and silent; and the new wit-and-humor of the screen, TALKING TOPICS OF THE DAY, (on disc too). Yes sir, no wonder the old boy’s grinning. That’s a program to lick your chops over on a balmy Spring day, with the Rooster crowing, “It’s all Pathe!”

SHORT SUBJECTS
Heast Metrotone News
Has 65 Recording Units

More than 65 recording units located throughout the world now are gathering material for Heast Metrotone News, the M-G-M office states. Since it was established seven months ago, this twice weekly newsreel service has shown pictures from 24 foreign countries in addition to Canada and the U. S.

Fowler Varieties Booked
For Colony, New York

Fowler Varieties, one reel talker shorts consisting of diversified entertainment of the vaudeville type, have been booked by the Colony, New York, with the first subject being shown on the current week's bill. These shorts are made at the Fowler Studios in Hollywood. Ted Teddy is territorial representative in New York and New Jersey, with headquarters in New York City.

Makes Grandstand Play
for St. Louis Kid Patronage

St. Louis—A grandstand play for kid attendance at the Sunday afternoon shows is being made by the owner of the Southampton. Children attending these performances are given yoyo tops free and the give-away idea is going over in a big way with the minors.

Stripes and Tastes

Baltimore—Good film subjects are desired by patrons inside of prisons as well as those outside. States Patrick J. Brady, warden of the Maryland Penitentiary. His observations of the inmates when viewing underworld films are that the honest person is given more applause than the crook in the same cast.

Audio Cinema Is Active
In Eastern Shorts Field

Audio Cinema, one of the newer companies engaged in Eastern shorts production, has its studio in Long Island City now operating at full capacity. In addition to a series of comedy-dramas built around the character of "Sheriff Crumpett" and another series featuring the Bruce Bairnsfather character, "Old Bill," and 26 "Terry-Toon Cartoon Novelties," are being made for release by Educational.

All production is under the supervision of Joe E. Coffman, president. Frank Goldman, secretary-treasurer, is head of the industrial production department, turning out short subjects for the major advertisers. The cartoon department is in charge of Paul Terry, while Montrose Newman acts as business manager.

Newsreels Draw

Drawing power of the newsreel theater is indicated by the reported attendance figures of the Embassy in New York, which is understood to be admitting about 40,000 customers a week, or a daily average of nearly 6,000. Programs for this house are specially edited and include a number of local events each week. More than 135 shows are given weekly.

Quality Shorts Needed
For Tabloid Theaters

Success of the tabloid picture theater depends primarily on the supply of quality shorts, according to William Stoermer, of Colorcraft, who has given long and careful thought to the subject. "A few years ago, in conversation with one of the big exploitation men of the industry, I advanced the thought that sooner or later somebody would start a theater solely for short subjects," Stoermer says. "This has now come about. The public for years has supported the bright, snappy, varied tabloid productions in vaudeville, consequently there must be a clientele for tabloid pictures as well.

"The audience in the newsreel theaters are just as enthusiastic as those who go to the feature and just as critical and thirsty for entertainment. But—and there is a but in this—we must make real shorts. Shorts that are attractions, shorts that are varied in entertainment form—drama, comedy, scenic—above all varied entertainment. Not photographs of vaudeville acts that lose through their method of presentation. Not hastily thrown together imitation revues and so-called comedies of the vintage of 1910 with sound and bad voices and worse music thrown in so as to get by as sound pictures.

"Nothing of this kind will satisfy the venturous spirit who opens and conducts a picture variety house for tabloids. He will want sufficient variety of entertainment shorts to be able to balance his program just as the high-class manager of vaudeville balances his bill. And, in order to get such variety, he will have to call on the producer of this type of attraction to produce for him high-class productions using all the artistry, all the effects, all the tools of the full length feature. He will have to have well written stories, well cast players and well photographed pictures. He will have to resort to everything to sell his wares that the so-called big producer uses to sell his. By that I mean fine natural color and excellent lighting effects, with good prints that don't hurt the eyes of his auditors and spectators. He must not go on the theory that it is just a short and anything will do. If the print is out of registration or too dense or the color badly reproduced, it won't get by just because it is color."

22 Educationalons on the Way
To Complete Current Lineup

To complete the current schedule, running about the middle of July, Educational has 22 comedies on the way. In the group are "Honeymoon Zeppelin," "Radio Kisses" and eight untitled shorts, from 13 sennett comedies; four lloyd hamilton talking comedies, "Follow the Swallow," "Good Morning, Sheriff, Your Horn" and an untitled picture; one jack white talking comedy, "Hail the Princess," three mermaid talking comedies, "Western Knights," "Peace and Harmony" and "How's My Baby?"; two tuxedo talking comedies, "Friends" and "French Kisses," and 10 terry-toons, "Indian Pudding," "Roman Punch" and eight untitled.

All of the subjects will have sound-on-disc, and the Terry-toons are one-reelers and all the others are in two reels.

Other Educationals since January include four sennett talkers, "Scotch," "Hear the Story," "Big Bad Bears" and "He Trumped Her Ace"; a sennett special, "Match Play" (two lloyd hamiltons, "Camera Shy" and "Polished Ivory"); three jack white talkers, "Hot and How," "Oh Darling!" and "Dad Knows Best"; one mermaid, "the Big Jewel Case"; two showing the Photocolor Sensations, "Trouble for Two," and three terry-toons, "Caviar," "Hot Turkey" and "pretzels.

135 Shorts in Seven Groups
Are Coming from Columbia

Seven groups of shorts, representing 135 single-reel novels, each of which is either all-talking or syn-chronized, are scheduled for release by Columbia during the year. The series, which are in a similar view to presenting outstanding ex-amples of the various forms of screen entertainment, covers practically the entire range of novelties in vogue to-day. A tabulation of the subjects shows the following lineup:

- Columbia-Victor Gems (sound) - 26
- Photocolor Scenariums (sound) - 26
- Screen Snapshots (sound) - 26
- Disney Silly Symphonies (sound) - 12
- Curiosities (sound) - 12
- The "Screen Snapshots" are re-leased bi-weekly and have been in release for 10 years. These present the newspaper of film land and are com-parable to newsreels except that they deal only with events pertaining to screen players.

As a companion release Columbia has selected "Curiosities," which are released at the rate of one a month. This is midway between a screen magazine and a revue. They present a wide variety of subjects of unusual character and are elaborated with facetious talk explaining the various sequences.

The new development in entertain-ment is the Columbia-Victor Gems, released weekly. These present the stars of musical comedy, vaudeville and the concert hall in their foremost features. In addition the long list of Victor talking machine artists also are presented in the Columbia-Victor Gems. Each release is different from the preceding in nature and presentation. They include miniature musical comedies, "Augustine," "Four Seasons," "Faculty," "Mead," "Dancing Acts," the "Waltz," the "Harmonettes," dancing acts, vaudeville teams and variety programs. The latest are "Tony Sarg's" "Mamnettes," "Spike Speaks," "Harmonicas," "Stage Door Knights" with buddy doyle.

In natural colors Columbia is pre-senting the "Mother's Day," a series of musical comedies photo-graphed in natural colors by the Photocolor method. Twenty-six of these are being released during the year, the most recent being "Alpine Love Call" and "South Sea Inter-vals.

A series of fantasies in pen and ink is entitled "Disney Silly Symphonies." There are 13 of these scheduled, "Autumn" and "Cannibal Capers" are the latest.

The "Krazy Kat Kartoons," pro-duced by the Winkler Studios, from another series of 13 animated car-toons. These are released alternately with the "Silly Symphonies," "Desert Sunk" and "an Old Flame" are now ready for release.

Columbia recently added another series of cartoons, the "Mickey Mouse" series, also produced by the Walt Disney Studio. Eighteen of the "Mickey Mouse" novels are scheduled for the year.

Shorts Oust Road Shows

Because the ability of the performers in shorts usually is so far ahead of the small traveling shows and we can give the public so much more variety with film novelties, we have been able to get along without road attractions in nearly booking short subjects.

Trailers on Coolers

A series of trailers designed to exploit the cooling systems in theaters, due to a hot weather drawing card has been prepared by the Acme Film Co. In order to put the message across effectively, the trailers have been made entertaining as well as educational.

Fewer, Better Shorts

New Universal Policy

Although the exact number of short subjects to be produced by Universal for 1930-31 has not been de termined, the company has decided upon a new policy of fewer but better pictures, in line with a similar policy adopted by feature producers. Among the plans already announced is the george seydie-charlie murray series, to be done along the lines of the "leather puncher" series. It is Universal's intention to produce its pictures on a scale that will make them attractive for first run houses.

Mack Sennett's Contract

Extended by Educational

Mack Sennett's producing-distribut ing arrangement with Educational Pictures has been extended for a long term, it is announced by E. W. Hammons. The first of the original series of 20 sennett all-talking com- edies was released in December, 1928, and this marked Educational's entry into the sound field. Following the big success of the pictures, the original number was increased from 20 to 30. Sennett personally has been active in his production outfit and is directly in the selection of the greater number of his comedies. He recently acquired the services of a. leslee pearce, who will continue to work with him throughout the year.

3 Series Already Set

by Advance Trailer

Among the product already set by Advance Trailer Service for 1930 release are the following three series: Synchro Song Films, 52 subjects, released weekly on film and disc; Master of Ceremonies, 52 subjects, released weekly on film and disc; and Master of Ceremonies Jubilee Show, 10 reels, released monthly on film and disc.

Photocolor Is Making

Three Series of Shorts

In addition to the "sensations" for release by Columbia, Photocolor is making a series known as "presentations" and a cartoon series, all with sound on both film and disc.
Both Vitaphone Studios Working At Full Speed

Both East and West Coast studios of Warner Bros. are working full steam ahead on the production of Vitaphone Varieties for the coming months. An average of eight of these short reel productions a week is consistently maintained.

A feature of the future productions is the series of 20 musical Vitaphone Varities in Technicolor, a number of which have already been made under the direction of Roy Mack, Jack Haskell and Larry Cabalaos. Among these will be "Girls Wake Up!" (a trailer of which has already been seen in "A Holiday in Storyland"), "Bubbles" and other natural color short reel pictures.

The series of short comedies, from J. P. McEvoy's newspaper syndicated stories, will be continued until 12 have been produced. Coming numbers, under the direction of Lewis Foy, are The Potters in "Ia Get a Vacation," the Potters in "Big Money," and "The Potters in "Out of Office.""

Robert L. Ripley, whose cartoons of queer news events and oddities of all kinds "Believe It Or Not," are syndicated in 250 daily newspapers throughout the country, will make a series of Vitaphone Varieties under the title he has already made famous in his syndicated drawing and in his books. Photograph of the first of the series has just been completed under the direction of Murray Roth.

A contract has been signed with the famous musical comedy star and producer, Lew Fields, for a series of Vitaphone Varieties having a musical theme. Preparation for the first of these is now under way.

A series of Vitaphone Varieties told in rhyme and in dance will be made under the direction of George Hale, stage manager of musical comedy and dramatic productions, of which "Strike Up the Band," "Heads Up," and other recent numbers, will be made. The first of this series has just been filmed under the title "Off Steppes," with a cast including Harry McNaughton, the Phelps Girls, Big Bob and Louis Dahners, Jack Thompson and Gertrude McDonald, with a score of charming chorus beauties.

Eddie Buzen is also making a series of Vitaphone Varieties comedies, supported by popular players recruited from the Broadway stage. Of these, "Hello Thas," has already been seen, "Keeping Company" and "The Royal Fourtis." the second and third productions in the series are completed.

Bert Larr, comedian of "Hold Everything" on the stage, has been engaged for a series of short reel pictures, the first of which is "Faint Heart" in which he is supported by Bobbe Arnst, also of the musical comedy stage.

Stories recently have been purchased from three famous authors for future Vitaphone Varieties. These authors are Ring Lardner, Porter Emerson Browne and Guy Bolton.

Stanley Houses in N. J. Book Pathe Sound News Eight of the Stanley houses in New Jersey have booked the Pathe Sound News. The theaters are: Rialto, Newark; Fabian, Fabian, Paterson; Regent, Elizabeth; Claridge, Montclair; Capitol, Belleville; Montauk, Passaic; Union, Union, and Castle, Irvington.

The silent news goes into the Lincoln, Union City, Central, Jersey City, and Stanley, Jersey City.

Sees Comeback of Drama Shorts

Short subjects with a strong flavor of drama are due for a great revival, in the opinion of Bradley Barker, director. "This is primarily due to the trend of singing and dancing films which have been brought in by sound, thereby crowding out dramatic features, which were formerly in the majority.

"Exhibitors need shorts that will contribute the element of drama so necessary to a well balanced program which is bound to result in a demand for dramatic one and two reelers of which there are not nearly enough now being made to meet the market which exists."

Sennett cites changes in production system

A striking example of the extent to which sound has changed the system of short comedy producing is cited by Mack Sennett in connection with "Honeymoon Zeppelin." Educational-Sennett talker. Ten weeks of preparation and two weeks of actual shooting and editing necessary to complete this short feature.

"We used to take a company into the park, or down to the beach and make up our material as we went along. Now it takes us from six weeks to two months to perfect a story, says Sennett. In the old days we would get an idea for a 'beach' story, or a 'park' story, scratch a few words of the plot on a piece of paper, go to the chosen locale, do the best we could as we went along. Today, with talking pictures, that procedure would be impossible. A writer is regularly employed at the Sennett Studios. His sole business is to write comedy stories. After a plot is finally selected, dialogue must be written. This is far from a simple task, for the dialogue must tell the story, must be funny. The dialogue itself must be funny. The dialogue must be 'measured' so that there is not much room too little. The dialogue must hold its audience. The dialogue must equal the finished picture, because of the difficulty in cutting a modern talking picture.

Occasionally we have a subject that presents more even than the average problems. For example, in the special comedy, 'Match Play,' in which two of the world's golf champs, Leo Diegel and Walter Hagen, were co-starred, of course, their shots had to be explained before they were made.

"The story of dialogue are finally in shape, the complete scenario is typed in multiple and each player gets a copy. Then we rehearse for a week before shotting starts. These rehearsals are held on the completed sets, and each shot is taken on the running time of each scene. If there is too much time for the dialogue, the director changes the dialogue and action are changed to give us exactly the screen running time desired.

"Every word of the dialogue is considered before it is accepted. Is it a word that every will understand? Does it fit the situation? Is there a shorter word? Sentences also undergo the same inspection. When everything is satisfactory, actual shooting starts."

Cutting 'Em Short

Windsor, Ont. — The Canadian Gov't has been asked to knock off by the Canadian Legion to cancel licenses of theaters where Communists are permitted to conduct meetings in the Dominion.

42 SHORTS ALREADY SET BY TIFFANY FOR 1930

Forty-two subjects have been set for Tiffany's 1930 program of shorts with others expected to be added. The list as it now stands includes 26 issues of "The Voice of Hollywood," 12 "Color Symphonies," and six of the Forbes Randolph Ken- tucky Singers issues in two reels. "The Voice of Hollywood," one reeler, has gained in popularity. The program introduces film celebrities that has been booked on the Loew and Pathé circuits and includes a piece by all at the Gaiety in New York. This short has a feature in which film patrons may write in to Lou Lewyn, producer of the series, and name any players they desire to see and hear in these pictures. Lewyn then arranges for the appearance of the actors.

Pathe Launches Activity
On Its Biggest Program

Pathe has started work on the biggest short programs in its long career. The campaign includes 322 subjects, in addition to 250 newreel issues, making a total of 578 issues of wide variety for release in the 1930-31 season. In the list are the following:

Two reel comedies (32), in the following eight brands: Checker Comedies, which proved popular last season; Manhattan Comedies, a more sophisticated type of farce; Melody Comedies, in which music will be featured; Campus Comedies, treating on college life; Follies Comedies, which are planned as short, snappy revues; Rodeo Comedies, which will be western in idea and background; Rainbow Comedies, to be made entirely in color, and Whoop Comedies, which will be musical and novelty features in miniature.

Newsreels (250): Pathe Sound News, 104 issues; Pathe Disc News, 52 issues; Pathe Disc News, 52 issues; Silent newsreel, Pathe Review, 52 issues. Pathechrome process is used for color stories in these subjects.

Animated cartoon comedies (52): Aesop’s Sound Fables, 26 issues; Aesop’s Silent Fables, 26 issues. Produced by the Van Beuren Corporation.

Press humor: 26 issues of Talking Topics of the Day, offering dramatized humor selected from the press of the world.

Of the 52 two-reel comedies planned by Pathe for 1930-31 will be filmed at the west Coast Studios, it is announced by E. B. Derr. Facilities for this purpose are now being rushed complete.

William Woolfenden is supervisor of scenarios and Josiah Zuro is supervising the music. Five directors are at work: They are Arch Heath, Robert De Lacy, Fred Guiol, Wallace Fox and Monte Carter. Carter is to direct two-reel musical comedies. Robert Fellows and Al Smiley are the assistant directors. Charles Younger is in charge of sound recording and John Mescale is chief cameraman.

 Writers include George O’Neill, John Cantwell, Luther Jantys, Dan Kueel, Sam Lewis, Ray Hodggon, Hugh Cumming, Guy Voyer, Walter De Leon, J. Kein Brennon, Betty Scott, and Frank Davis. Some writers who are contributing to the short feature comedies are Ted Snyder, Henry Sullivan, Mack Gordon, Aner Silver, George Green and Mort Harris.

The general studio staff includes Harvey Leavett, studio superintendent; Charles Sullivan, studio manager; John Rohiffs, studio executive; L. E. Clark, chief sound engineer; and Ted Dickson, set dressing and properties.

FitzPatrick Hits China
in World Travelog Tour

James A. FitzPatrick, who started out in January on a travelog tour around the world on the S. S. Columbus, has called his arrival in China, where he will obtain views of the country’s high spots. FitzPatrick to date has visited the Madeira Islands, Gibraltor, Algeria, Italy, Egypt, India, Ceylon, Java, Singapore, Siam, and the Philippines. His scheduled itinerary also includes Korea, Japan, the Hawaiian Islands, California, and New York. Ha are before returning to New York around the middle of May. The material being acquired will be included in future releases of the Travelog Series of short subjects which was started by FitzPatrick with four films on Spain.

Stylish

Thirty-nine releases, 13 dealing with dresses, 13 on furs and 13 on hats, are on the 1930 release schedule of Fashion Feature Studios, of Hollywood. All of the productions are in second release and the different subjects are released alternately on Thursdays.

PARAMOUNT’S APRIL LIST CONTAINS ONLY 1-REELERS

Five subjects, all one-reelers, are on the April release schedule of Paramount. The number includes two Bruce pictures, “The Wanderers” and “Wallace and the Lonely Men” directed by Herbert Timberg in “I Came First,” Lee Morse in “A Million Men’s,” and two song numbers, “La Paloma” and “Yes, We Have O’Bannons.” March the Paramount short subject releases include five two-reelers, five one-reelers, while four two-reelers and four one-reelers were on the February schedule.

Future plans of Paramount with regard to the only one-reel releases in formation, with a likelihood that the company will decide upon increased activity in high-class subjects featuring big names of the stage and screen.

Complete First Six on New Pathe Schedule

Bill Woolfenden, of the recently organized comedy production department in the building on the coast, has completed the first six two-reelers of the new schedule. They are:

“Southeastern States,” directed by Wallace Fox, with Mona Rico, Cornelius Keefe, Fred Varnes, Sam Silver, Rosemary, and Zella Connolly.

“New York,” directed by Robert De Lacy, with Mildred Harris, Harry Woods, Don Douglas, Nick Curley, Bill Burt, Earl Empire Comedy Four and Tom Mahoney.

“Ranch House Blues,” directed by Robert De Lacy, with Mildred Harris, Harry Woods, Don Douglas, Nick Curley, Bill Burt, Earl Empire Comedy Four and Tom Mahoney.

“Live and Learn,” directed by Fred Gullo, with Ed Deering, Addie Philpil, Maurice Black, Gertrude Astor, George Towne Hall and David Durand.

Only 6 Fox N. E. Theaters Now Playing Stage Shows

New Haven—Only six of the 14 houses operated by Fox New England Theaters are now playing stage shows. These houses are: Fox Poli in this city; Fox Poli, Bridgeport; Capitol, Hartford; Elm, Woreceter; Palace, Waterbury; Fox Poli, Springfield. The other houses are featuring all-talking policies.
For popularity of performers, as brought out by THE FILM DAILY'S Short Subjects Survey, by far the greatest number of nominations were for Laurel and Hardy. Many exhibitors declared they consider this the best advertised team appearing in short comedies. Producers receiving widest comment on their comedy product included Mack Sennett, Hal Roach, Al Christie and Larry Darmour.

3 HAL ROACH COMEDIES AMONG APRIL RELEASES

Three Hal Roach comedies are included in the group of four short features scheduled for release by M-G-M this month. These are our Gang in "When the Wind Blows," Charley Chase in "All Teed Up," and Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy in "Below Zero."

"Babbie a la Mode" is the fourth release of the month. This is one of the series of 12 M-G-M Color tone Revers in Technicolor. Gus Edwards and Sammy Lee both have had a hand in the direction of these miniature musical comedies.

It is expected that all Hal Roach comedies for the next year will be produced in five languages—French, Spanish, German, Italian and English.

Marc Connelly Urges Copyright Protection

Adapting Sound to New Uses

By DAL CLAWSON, Cameraman, Fox Film

Short subject producers are adapting sound to new uses which will soon be copied by feature producers. An example of this is "The Black and Tan Fantasy," a short subject produced by RKO last fall. In this two-reeler photography was so synchronized with the musical accompaniment that it was possible to create a picture of what was actually happening in the character's mind. It was an entirely new technique that is sure to be adopted as the relation of the camera to sound becomes better known.

More Diversified Programs Bring New Standards of Value

By PIERRE de ROHAN, Motion Picture Editor, "The Morning Telegraph"

SHOWMEN are offering more diversified programs than in the past. The advent of the musical prologue, enacted by living players in theaters in the larger cities, has inspired the exhibitor in smaller towns to approximate these presentations within the limits of his budget. This he turns to the short subject makers and demands more and better supplementary films. The result is a program as varied and as impressive as those of the huge Broadway showplaces.

This tendency has brought about another condition which is having and is due to have in still greater measure, a marked influence on production. Feature films are being made shorter and shorter to allow for the showing of prologue material. This, in turn, increases the cost of program building, for quite naturally the feature film producer charges just too much for a 5,000-foot feature as he does for one running 8,000 feet. His story, cast and so on cost him just as much: the only saving in film stock is in the positive prints, too slight a matter to cause a variation in rental.

All of these tendencies toward diversification are bringing about a new standard of values in the cinema. The wise exhibitor should begin soon to analyze his program costs and to take up with those from whom he buys, the question of equitable rentals. Having introduced variety to his patrons, he can never go back to the showing of a single feature film. But, having saddled upon his overhead operating expense the rental of short subjects he cannot sell his programs for the same price unless the producers themselves will help him by readjusting production costs, and therefore sales costs.

The solution seems to be a reduction in the rental of features to allow for the addition of short subjects. After all, the rent money all goes into the same pocket, and the more sales the distributor has in circulation, whether long or short, the more money he has to show for his investment at the end of the year.

Increased Distribution of U. S. Shorts Abroad

Washington—Distribution of American shorts abroad is increasing, it is indicated in a report to the M. P. Division of the Dept. of Commerce. Short subjects, such as comedies, novelties and musical revues are in great demand. While the majority of foreign countries do not have many theaters wired for sound, those that do find that the synchronized short is keenly coveted by audiences; the reason being that foreigners are not familiar with the American language and rather than be made uncomfortable listening to a tongue that is not understood they prefer synchronized pictures instead. There is very little production abroad on this type of picture, hence the emphasis of the shorts are imported from American companies.

LARRY DARMOUR LINES UP DE LUXE COMEDY SERIES

Arrangements have been completed by Larry Darmour for the production of a new series of short comedies, described as "de luxe productions" with casts composed of big screen names, for release through RKO. Darmour, who is now on his way back to the West Coast after conferring with RKO executives in New York, also will continue his Mickey McGuire series.

8 American Producers Using RCA Photophone

Eight producing organizations in the United States are using the RCA Photophone equipment in the motion-picture industry, according to the annual statement just made public by the Radio Corp. of America. The company has in addition installed Photophone equipment in 13 sound trucks used in recording news events. The RCA Photophone statement follows, in part:

"R. C. A. Photophone, Inc., has now established an important position in the motion-picture industry. Its apparatus is in demand by leading exhibitors and producers, not only in the United States, but a good market has also been developed abroad. The company is working on its acoustic and recording facilities developed by the Victor Company has greatly widened its scope. The reproduction of sound records, whether from film or disc, has required extensive research and development in such fields as radio acoustics, optics and chemistry. The technical achievements of our associated companies are embodied in the RCA Photophone equipment.

"Indications are that synchronization of sound with motion-pictures will make even greater progress in 1930. The Photophone Company is entering on a wider program of research and development work. During the year the Photophone Company has developed portable apparatus for recording music and sound in the field as well as in the studio. The company has also designed recording equipment, including the "portable" for outdoor use by radio stations, that will be available to the industrial, educational, and entertainment fields.

Out of Range

The sophisticated type of short comedy is all right, but it doesn't go over so well with the folks up in the balcony. Inasmuch as the balcony section forms a considerable part of the seating capacity in many houses, the producers should take this into account in planning their material for effectiveness. — William Benton, Congress, Saratoga Springs, N. Importance of Makeup
Is Cited by Fred Ryle

The question of makeup is of more importance with short subjects players than with the actors in features, in the opinion of Fred Ryle, makeup chief at the Fox studios in New York.

"The most common defect of the average makeup is that it is too light, which gives the face a white, mask-like character. It is also a mistake to use liquid makeup since the necessity of standing under hot lights hour after hour is bound to result in moisture that will remove liquid makeup, while not affecting grease.

"So far the makeup in most color pictures has been of very poor quality, but as we become more familiar with the requirements of the color camera, better results may be expected."

Shorts Being Reviewed
Like Former Vaudeville

With the substitution of short subjects for vaudeville in many theaters around the country, some newspapers are beginning to review the shorts' bills along the same lines formerly followed in writing up vaudeville programs. In giving critical estimate of the shorts, reviewers frequently express surprise over the quality of the subjects as compared to the standards of the average vaudeville bill. A typical instance is quoted from a review appearing in "The Daily Leader," of Mt. Clemens, Mich., reading in part:

"Five acts of Vitaphone vaudeville, acts which, in the days of not so long ago would have headlined individually and which today are the 'talk of the town' were shown at the Macomb theater last night, on the occasion of the first showing of Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, co-starring in their first all-talking picture, 'The Taming of the Shrew.'

"The five acts, we firmly believe are worth the highest praise and commendation. To see them, and see nothing else at the show, would be a treat of rare proportions. They are exemplary of the gigantic up-braval which has taken place on the stage during the past few years. In other days even the management could not be held wholly responsible for the variable quality of vaudeville, and too often it was disappointingly amateurish and feeble."
BROCK PLANNING MORE SEMI-SLAPS FOR RKO

With the opening of the Radio-Victor Gramercy studios next month, RKO expect to get under way on several different series of short comedies of the semi-slapstick variety, under the supervision of Louis Brock.

W. C. Fields has been engaged to star in a series of six shorts, the first of which will be directed by Monte Brice. Brock is also negotiating with several of Broadway's leading comedians, who will also be starred.

The comic team of "Nick and Tony" has completed its third comedy for Brock. All of these were directed by Mark Sandrich and three more are planned under the present schedule. These will probably be made at the Ideal studios, pending completion of the Gramercy studios, now under reconstruction.

Vernon Finishes "Cry Baby"

Bobby Vernon has completed the Vitaphone Variety, "Cry Baby," a comedy written by Herman Ruby. Mary Louise Treen appears in support of Vernon and much of the action takes place in a theater where "Romeo and Juliet" is being played.

A SWEET TIE-UP

Atlantic City—As an advance exploitation stunt for Nancy Carroll in "Honey," patrons of the Warner, upon leaving the theater, are being presented with a paper bag of Glen Logan Macaroons, the product of a leading macaroon shop on the boardwalk. BRITISH FIRM WILL MAKE SOUND CARTOON SHORTS

London—John Maxwell, of British International Pictures, is negotiating with the Noble Bros., artists, to make a series of cartoons on the style of Mickey and Felix. The shorts will be made at the Elstree studios and will be synchronized with noises familiar to the animals.

THE Film DAILY
Reviews of New Short Subject Releases

"Off to Peoria"
Louis Brock (RKO)
Time, 21 mins.
Good Slapstick

The new comic team of Nick and Tony, Italian comedians, get off to a good start in this uproarious comedy of pullman car antics that moves with all the speed of an express train. After Nick is relieved of everything down to his shirt, by a card sharper, he is obliged to grab the first piece of clothing he can lay his hands on, which happens to be women's attire. This leads to very amusing complications when it becomes necessary to search everyone on the train and Nick finds himself forced to disrobe with the ladies.

Hark Sandrich, credited with both story and direction, did an excellent job and both photography and sound are above average.

Prison Scene from "Faust"
Vitaphone No. 974 Time, 9 mins.
Typically Operatic

For opera fans only is this short, with Giovanni Martinelli, who sings splendidly. However, it has been made only characteristically dull and heavy operatic lines and possesses no entertainment beyond the excellent voices of the players.

Pathé Audio Review No. 14
Running Time, 10 mins.
M-G-M

Those who like the restful in pictures will find this Audio Review ideally suited to their taste. The opening scenes of sea gulls in flight over a sea glittering under the sun. Then there are some charming rustic shots of hay gathering along the Connecticut countryside. This sequence is nicely done in color. Another group of scenes show girl swimmers in a Viennese pool turning themselves into human patterns in the water. Also included is the Audio Review Quartette singing that popular tune of other days, "Heaven Will Protect the Working Girl," in a barber shop setting matching the quaintness of the song.

"Crooked Trails"
Universal Time, 15 mins.
Weak Western

Again the rubber stamp applied with a vengeance. Try as hard as one may one can find little to recommend in this western short. It is likely that even the young will find it un worthy of their enthusiasm. Even the acting seems to be of a piece with the story. An old chap is robbed of his bag of gold by a gang of outlaws. Up comes the Mountie, who dispatches the man's daughter for aid while he pursues the gang. The girl is captured and taken to the robbers' hangout. The Mountie takes on the whole bunch. Finally other Mounties come to the rescue. Ted Carson is the principal player.

Milton C. Work
Vitaphone No. 979 Time, 9 mins.
Fair Entertainment

After a slow start, this film gains speed and ends in a roar of laughter. Playing of bridge hands is shown, with stress on the comedy angle. Bridge enthusiasts especially will like this picture which Edmund Joseph directed.

"College Hounds"
M-G-M Time, 17 mins.
A Corker

With a cast composed entirely of dogs—and dogs of amazing intelligence, at that—this film is a novelty that will draw approval wherever it may be shown. These animal actors are used in a story that, were it produced with human players, would be one of those laughable and ludicrous melodramas. But in this case the story is of no consequence at all to the enjoyment of the film. The tale is that of the football player who is forcibly prevented by the villain from taking part in the big game. He manages to escape and reaches the field in time to win the game. The football game is a clever piece of direction and photography.

Pathé Audio Review No. 15
Running Time, 12 mins.
M-G-M

Best of this Audio Review is that part in which are shown some of the highlights from the repertoire of the company of Japanese players at the Booth Theater in New York. The famous sword scene that features so prominently in their performance is pictured at considerable length. It affords a number of extremely exciting moments, so realistically is it staged. Far less interesting are flashes of various important events in the history of the nation re-enacted for the camera. Of completely negligible value are views of a collection of modern-day flasks.

"Dixie Days"
Pathé Time, 7 mins.
Good Animated

This animated cartoon is a travesty of the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" theme. And it is uncommonly well done, too. All the characters are drawn as if we gnashed our teeth or over whom we wept copious tears are pardoned before us. Some really amusing moments result.

Educational
Time, 7 mins.
Plenty of Animation

A highly diverting short in spite of the fact that it follows the same line of procedure as its immortal animated cartoons. The story seems to be that of a touch of class in the Terry-Toon that is rarely seen in entertainment of this kind. The story is simply that of the struggle between villain and hero for possession of the pretty heroine. The musical angle is stressed, some of the music being unusually good quality.

Charley Chase in "Fifty Million Husbands"
M-G-M Time, 20 mins.
Fairly Amusing

Though "Fifty Million Husband" in none too strong on laughs, it succeeds in being acceptable entertainment. The humor is on occasion a little too flat for the good of the situation, comedy as a whole. Once or twice the film even runs perilously close to being dull. But Charley Chase manages to get over these spots in good fashion. The film is all about one of those marital misunderstandings. The trouble is caused by a lady who drops in on Charley while the wife is away and requests that she be permitted to look about the apartment, so that she may recall the happy days she spent there when she occupied it, from whom she now separated. Willy comes in unexpectedly. In the end, however, everything is satisfactorily explained.

"Love, Honor and Oh Baby"
The Worms Turn
Pathé Time, 15 mins.
Based on the idea of the "what that turns," an obedient husband as his meek daughter turn the table on their dominating spouses after a series of scenes of "vassalizing" the husband. This short is not a comedy although directed by the late George Lepine, but delivers its sermon in nice fashion.
Critical Survey of Latest Sound Shorts

Sunny Jim in "Mush Again"
Universal
Time, 20 mins.
Satisfactory Comedy
Sunny Jim appears to fine advantage in a comedy that's petty but awful as a whole. Persons who have no experience with children will be as perturbed by this film as they are by "The Yellow Kid." Sunny Jim plays the sort of kid at is common to many homes throughout the world. He has the habit of repeating before people what his parents have said of them behind their backs. In the end, however, he redeems himself by remit-novation with such matters as the way of persons who find delight in sweat films. Tom Terriss as our ride takes us to Buena Vista, a land of implied shrines. In a fine voice, for a dramatic when the occasion warrants
the picture places and customs of several places the film is genuinely weeping. Here is something a little different.

"The Golden Pagoda" Vitatech Film
Time, 11 mins.

"The Golden Pagoda," first of the Universal Grand Series, should give a constant delight to a major ity of persons who find delight in sweat films. Tom Terriss as our ride takes us to Buena Vista, a land of implied shrines. In a fine voice, for a dramatic when the occasion warrants
the picture places and customs of several places the film is genuinely weeping. Here is something a little different.

"Follow Me" Universal
Time, 19 mins.
Poor Stuff
"Follow Me" is the sort of comedy prevalent years ago. Greatest its handicaps is a story that is apparently stereotyped and dull. It's not that a student of the supernatural is taken to a deserted house by stranger to do a little ghost hunt-It. Others in the party are his sister and her sweetheart. Ghost-story forms fit this way and that but is no appreciable success in pro-ing laughter. The cast is not the help of film. Inferior entertainment.
Arthur Lake is featured.

"Whispering Whooppee" M-G-M
Time, 20 mins.
Pulling a Fast One
A fast comedy that works itself into a pitch that is a scream. Charley Cantor has the part of a chap who, in his effort to win the good graces of a party of young people desiring to buy his real estate, calls in a number of girl friends to help them feel at home.
The trio are of the extremely serious type, but after a drink or two and a few moments of the young ladies' company they begin to soften and shoo it up. The whole thing winds up with a very thrilling scene that is frankly slapstick yet none the less as rib-tickling as one can imagine.

There are plenty of laughs in this one.

"Stimulation"
Vitatech No. 3636 Time, 11 mins.

Something Different
That a man needs relaxation after a hard day's work at the office serves as the basis for this short. The fact that wifey has a presentable dress to go out with her husband does not prevent him from being for that much needed prescription. The fun really begins when Arthur tries to evade the vaump at a social affair by closing himself in a room which is visited by a bargirl who disagrees with him of his pants in order to insure his escape.
When the vampire faints in the room upon seeing the partly disrobed hero, his wife. She recovers his pants when the thief is caught and after refusing to return them and accompany him to another affair, Arthur flies her a one ton by leaving without them. Principal in the cast is Johnny Arthur.

"Bowery Bimbos"
Universal Time, 10 mins.
Good Animated
This one is among the best of the Oswald series. It is a clever and extremely amusing little number. Osowald appears as a gay Bowery cop.
He has the occasion to rescue sweety from the clutches of a no-torius gangster. The manner in which he does it provides no end of amusement.

Laurel and Hardy in "Brats"
M-G-M Time, 21 mins.

Something Different
"Brats" should be set down as one of the most ingenious comedies to reach the screen in a long time. What makes it so unusual and extraordinarily interesting is that there are four characters in it but only two performers, Laurel and Hardy also appearing as their ownors. To make the effect realistic the sets in which the comedies are seen as children are duplicates on a huge scale of those in which they appear as themselves. The story is that of two fathers who, left at home with their children on their hands, run into a deuce of a time trying to get the little brats to behave. This is a sure winner.

"Ride 'Em Cowboy"
Pathes Time, 12 mins.

Not So Good
"Ride 'Em Cowboy" is one of those artificial pieces of the musical comedy school that produces in one the feeling of something false and deliberately striven for. For all the world the thing might have been taken on the stage of a theater. True enough, there can be picked out here and there lines that are charged with no real meaning, but as a whole the effect is one of frailness and self-consciousness. Thelma White and Bobby Carsey in the chief roles are better than the matterial they have to work with.

"Hot Bridge" A Winning Card
RKO Time, 19 mins.

"Hot Bridge" proves a pleasant comedy. While its general outlines are not exactly new the story has been given a new angle and treated in a highly expert manner. We have a shrewd husband who, in an effort to get himself out of a bridge party and escape the vigilant eye of his wife, asks his Butler to call up during the game and say he wants to see him on important business.
The gag, however, doesn't work. When the switchboard operator calls up to warn the building is on fire, the wife thinks it is just another of her band's tricks to leave the apartment.
The game goes on until the discovery is made that the building is really burning. Mark Sandrich has directed with considerable skill.

"Backs and Bubbles in "Darktown Follies"" Peppy Steppers
Pathes Time, 18 mins.

Another of the Hugh Milne "Wildcat" series with plenty of fast stepping and singing by a competent cast of colored entertainers. This number shows the negro comedians in a rehearsal try out where they have to put over some lively steps and melodies to win the much needed parts in the Darktown Follies. Has plenty of pep for audiences that go for comedy on this order.

Charley Chase in “All Tied Up”
M-G-M
Time, 21 mins.
Great Comedy
Charley Chase was born in this comedy makes for some of the greatest fun that has come along for a long time. As a bumptious fellow who is eager to make a golfer of himself the comedian is a perfect riot. He is fortunate when he meets the daughter of the president of the very golf club he is hoping to join. The girl sends him to the club to meet her father, but Charley goes to another place by mistake. He gets himself into trouble and is thrown out. In the street he runs into the girl and her dad, and all is well. Golfer ought to get a double kick out of this comedy.

“Western Knights”
Educational
Time, 18 mins.
Some Loud Fun
Eddie Lambert and Al St. John form a sure laugh-getting team in a short that provides some nice wholesome fun. For the kiddies there is the added treat of a furiously sure of the villain of the piece and a rough-and-tumble physical encounter in which the hero wins out and thus proves himself worthy of the gal he loves. In a sense the film is a take-off on the western picture. Eddie Lambert has the part of a tenderfoot and plays it for all he is worth. Others in the cast are Ed Brady and Addie McPhail. This is a Merced Comedy produced by Jack White.

“The Pay-Off”
Vitaphone No. 3798
Time, 12 mins.
Limited Appeal
Henry B. Walthall appears to poor advantage in a drama that speaks in which it is told leaves almost no impression when it all is over. Still there is the added treat of a furiously sure of the villain of the piece and a rough-and-tumble physical encounter in which the hero wins out and thus proves himself worthy of the gal he loves. In a sense the film is a take-off on the western picture. Eddie Lambert has the part of a tenderfoot and plays it for all he is worth. Others in the cast are Ed Brady and Addie McPhail. This is a Merced Comedy produced by Jack White.

“Live and Learn”
Vitaphone No. 965
Time, 9 mins.
Pretty Good
This Manhattan comedy shows itself in spots as riotous a thing as one could imagine. The humor is not only robust kind and is good for any number of real loud laughs. Fred Corliss has done a fine little job of directing and the cast has done as well. Ed Deering, Addie McPhail, Maurice Black and Gertrude Astor are particularly good. The fun is occasioned by the attempts of a man to enter the apartment in which his wife finds herself with her first husband. The apartment is quarantined because her son has the measles, with the result that hubby number one can’t get out while number two can’t get in.

“Broadway’s Like That”
Vitaphone No. 960
Time, 8 mins.
Nicely Sung
The only thing that counts in this short is the presence of Ruth Etting in it. Everything else is negligible. What story there is is simply for the purpose of creating the proper mood and setting for a number of tunes which Miss Etting executes in a truly appealing fashion. Her song of “From the Bottom of My Heart” is the most delightful part of the performance. Another tune that is enchantingly done is “The Right Kind of Man.” The recording brings out all the charming quality of Miss Etting’s voice.

“Spinning Wheels”
Educational
Time, 10 mins.
A Bully One
Cartoon of the various animals at the bull arena where the hero conquers the bull to full satisfaction of his fair lady. Sidney Franklin, who has garnered so much publicity as Brooklyn’s matador, is mimicked by a burro. However, it is the voice of the rider on a donkey that brings down house and horse. That really is the beauty of this short. The adventurous cat has a certain way of being the belligerent bull and retraces the route of these journeys in ways that the horsey animal is brought to his end. A humorous piece with all the curious noises of the creatures synchronized to the satisfaction of all.

“Idle Chatter”
Vitaphone No. 954
Time, 10 mins.
Grossly Offensive
Lou Holtz, the popular stage comedian, with a fresh line of breezy material and business, delivers one of the best 10 minutes of his career in this short. His nonsensical patter covers a wide territory and is practically a series of blow holes that come in rapid succession. A sure fire comedy skit that is bound to be relished anywhere.

“Gym Jams”
Vitaphone No. 965
Time, 9 mins.
Pip Juggling Act
If this amazingly dexterous routine of juggling feats by Lou May were to be presented on a vaudeville stage by Mayor in person, it would bring down the house as few acts of this kind ever have done. That is the effectiveness of the fancy tricks is lost in the screen reproduction, enough of the values remains intact to make the patrons and make the picture a gem of entertainment. Cleverly hand of hand and acrobats a mingled with the juggling. An audience that misses this item is missing a rare treat.

“Keeping Company”
Vitaphone No. 963-4
Time, 19 mins.
Swell Love Comedy
Eddie Buzell is featured in this swell little comedy about the owner of a pet store who has a wide y for dog racing. All he gets out of his store is a load of customers, but finally he gets a break when his wife enters as a dark horse in a race. Some brief songs help to carry the love interest along. Elaborately produced and efficiently directed.

of the small producer who sells his subsequent runs before his first runs are set. After much discussion it was decided to recommend that subsequent run houses specify in their schedule when the pictures they are buying are available.

Amendment was made to a clause providing that the exhibitor pays for pictures he fails or refuses to play. Provision was made that "competent evidence of mitigation in damages may be offered to the arbitration board." Although the subject of an arbitration has not yet been reached it is generally understood that a successful defense will not entitle the exhibitor to a declaration of nonviolation.

Assignment of pictures upon sale of a theater was the next subject given consideration. The clause was amended to prevent the transfer providing the exhibitor is in default.

Question of latitude of exchange managers divided the conference into two fractional groups and changing contracts. The distributors asked that "no change or modification thereof shall be binding upon the distributor unless in writing signed by an officer of or any person authorized by the Distributors at its main office in New York City." Allied replied that the exhibitor shall not be deemed to have violated the copyright of any of the pictures involved in a contract by relying in good faith on written or telegraphic authority from the distributor's exchanges. After some argument a definite sentence on this clause was deferred. The conference adjourned

SAYS EXHIBITS FURNISH

sors, asserted Gabriel Hess in the announcing the practice, which furnished material for a sharp discustion at today's session of the 2-2-2 conference. Gabriel Hess, under whose jurisdiction the Copyright

Bureau functions, was hot in his attack on exhibitors who so indulge.

Aram Myers, Allied States leader and delegate, asked Hess if his information led to the exchange books.

He replied that his records are the findings of a personal investigation.

Myers thought in many instances the reprints given as "casual" but

Hess instead supplied the word

"consistent." When exhibitors do not make the records for pictures week after week something is wrong, said the tutor who represents the distributors.

Hess then went into a brief survey of the work of the Copyright Bureau, recalling its origin in St. Louis. Myers expressed the opinion that organgization has been weak since for many holdover difficulties and viewed as inconvenient the distributor proposal that contract changes only be made at

Theater Equipment

Say Film Cooling Systems Ends Buckling and Sound Distortion

Chicago—Elimination of sound distortion by preserving the sound track and preventing the buckling of film are among the outstanding features, claimed for the new film cooling system being manufactured by Chicago Cinema Equipment. The device is easy to install on Simplex and Motograph heads and does not require any drilling, replacing of parts or remodeling of the old head when making installation. It will not interfere with film threading, framing or any adjustments or repairs that may be necessary. No moving parts are exposed. It is claimed by the company that the life of aperture gates and asbestos heat shields are lengthened.

The film cooling system consists of a scientifically designed centrifugal impeller driven by a Universal motor and mounted on an aluminum base which is readily attached to any head. On the Simplex head, this device slips into grooves provided for the stero attachment. Six feet of approved BX is provided for wiring the unit. When installing this unit, the motor must be wired in parallel with the switch that controls the motor and is at the same time providing immediate cooling at the start. An adjustable baffle is provided to direct a cool blast of air over the entire front plate, protecting gate and shield.

By reducing the film temperatures considerably, fire hazards are lessened and life of the film is lengthened by preventing burning, buckling and warping, it is pointed out.

Claims More Air at Low Speed with Sirocco Fan

Increased air capacity of fans running at low speeds, providing the same amount of ventilation formerly procurable with high speed fans, is said to be obtainable in the new Sirocco Blower, recently perfected by the American Blower Corp. and now being distributed by National Theater Supply. Mechanical hum and vibration is claimed entirely eliminated by the new fan which is designed for wired houses.

Issues Spring Catalogue

Stanley Frame Co. has issued its new spring catalogue showing the line-up of booths, and frames for the coming season. The 32 page booklet may be had by addressing the company at 727 Seventh Ave., N. Y. C.

Sterling Moves Plant

Sterling Motion Picture Corp. has moved its plant from New York to Naugatuck, Conn., where it now has larger quarters for the manufacturing of portable projectors and sound reproducing apparatus for the theater. The company also makes disc recording equipment for studios.

Ventilation, Color Films with Sunlight Reflect

A glass lighting reflector permitting ventilation without escape of light is claimed as an exclusive feature of the Sunlight Silver Reflector lamp number 954. The reflector is of special design complete with removable film color frame, five sheets of color film, and six feet of cord and approved separable plug. Ventilating openings are provided for with baffles to prevent light leaks. It comes equipped with an original bracket that permits the throwing of light in practical any direction, it is said. The frame for color films is considered by the company as a radical improvement for it holds the color films rigidly and smoothly and can be instantaneously removed or replaced, when changes in color films are desired. Sizes are available in eight and 10 inches, for 100 to 150 watt lamps and the latter for 150 to 200 watt lamps. Sunlight Reflector Co. of Brooklyn is the manufacturer.

Waco, Tex.—A Carrier Air Washer has been installed in the R. E. Cox Dry Goods store.

Light Exhibition

Detroit — Lighting equipment, instruments and other auxiliary devices for theaters, studios, etc., will be exhibited here by General Electric Co., at the All-American Aircraft Show, April 5 to 13.

Capehart Has Automatic Record Changing Device

Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Theater owners plugging musical numbers of pictures on records do not require attendants for watching the record as they near the end of song. The Capehart Corp. automatic record changing device eliminates this expense and enables the exhibitor to play as many records as the turntable in the machine permits. The company manufactures an electric pick-up, electric amplifiers and dynamic speakers in addition to the changeover record device.

Acoustic Ceiling Material

Rockdale, Tex. — Acoustic ceiling material has been installed at the Dixie here. It is claimed that the beauty of tone production is considerably aided by this material.

THOMAS RECORD AMPLIFIER
AIDS THEATER BALLOPS

Exhibitors in many instances find that music and record plays are an important side-line which brings in a great source of revenue. The large theater chains are fast experimenting with other ideas and it has proven so successful that the Fox is installing the Thomas record demonstration in many of its theaters. The company has a new model, especially designed for both big and small theaters, and the owners claim they can be attached with the slightest effort. This new demonstration which comes in various finishes and sells at an extremely low price, will also work at any volume without distortion.

Johnson & Co., largest agents for the Thomas record demonstrator and amplifiers, predict that before many months fully half the theaters in their territory will install amplification facilities in their lobby.

Steel Cabinets, Racks for Exhibitors’ Need

Philadelphia — Vitaphone rack record and trailer cabinets made of steel are now available for the exhibitor and distributor through Dav Lapton’s Sons Co. Cabinets for storing 17 inch records with protection from dust, fire and other destruction, are being sold for under $100. Also steel equipment to meet the needs of theatre owners and exchanges. The trailer cabinet has 12 compartments for sound film titles and is made of 16 gauge steel. A new 12 inch cabinet with dividers will be introduced at the show and is designed to meet the needs of exhibitors wanting to have that extra storage space. The trailer cabinet is made of sheet steel and is 36 inches wide, 40 inches high and 24 inches deep. The trailer cabinet can be made to order and is now in stock.

No New Problems in Grandeur Projection, Says McCullough

"Grandeur offers no new projection problem," declares R. H. McCullough, Fox West Coast sound engineer, "in Now."

The width of Grandeur film is 70 millimeters, which is twice the width of the standard 35mm film. The photograph size is 1,786 x 962. The sound track width is 240 millimeters.

"Everything in the film-travel of the projector mechanism is twice the width. It is interesting to know that the wide film does not buckle. It is held in a perfectly flat plane at the aperture with a special designed film trap and film gate, which curves out toward the screen."

"The Grandeur projector magazine accommodates a 10-inch reel, which holds 2,000 feet of film. Additional rewinds and film storage cabinets are necessary with Grandeur installation. The projector mechanism parts are of heavier construction than that of the 35-millimeter projector. The principle of the mechanism is identical to the Super Simplex, with the exception of the film trap and gate and working parts which are large. The resulting shudder is between the light source and aperture, which reduces the heat on the film considerably. The Grandeur projection, "Happy Days," was projected at 90 feet per minute. Each foot of film has 15 frames. The projector speed is 1,768 to 881. The reproducing sound stage is 21-millimeter attachment, with the exception that the film passes from the intermittent sprocket to the sound mechanism over a roller instead of through a take-up sprocket and then to the sound mechanism."

"The Grandeur projector mechanism must be threaded with extreme accuracy. A length of film, equal to 135° or 10.14 degrees between centers of the sprockets, is necessary to properly project the sound aperture and the center of the aperture in the reproducing mechanism is necessary for proper sound synchronism."

OLD TEXROPE DRIVE WILL ELIMINATE FAN NOISES

For the theater owner having trouble with cooling fans, such as squeals or oil squelches, new V-belts with grooved sheaves can be secured for oth fans and motor in return of the id belt and pulleys. Typhoon Fan will replace this old apparatus with the Texrope Drive, a new type of transmission apparatus designed to act as a driving medium between the operating engine speed and an driven machine at another speed. Complete, it consists of two grooved belts and a number of specially constructed V-shaped endless belts. These belts are made of a newly developed composition, the company states, material of which is far superior to any belt material known. With the Texrope Drive, there is no slip, backlash, no lost motion, none of the characteristics which cause interior walls, squeaks, etc., so common in their drives it is said. Texrope also permits shorter center distances between motor pulley and fan pulley, thus making possible a considerable vang of space, Typhoon declares.

Vocalite combines a distinct, clear transmission of sound with sharp brilliant pictures. It enables better projection because of its mechanical, scientific and optical features, the result of painstaking study on the part of its executive staff of the Beaded Screen Co.

It is 100% Perfect for Light, Sound, Paper, and third Dimension. Description Literature on Application.

W. C. FIELDS SIGNED BY BROCK FOR RK

W. C. Fields, stage and screen comedian, is the first of a series of Broadway names to be signed by Louis Brock, producer of RKO studio, for subjects in the East. He will star in a series of two reel comedies to be made at the Radio-Vitaphone Gramercy studios.

Fields has appeared as star of Edward Carroll's 'Vanities' for the past ten years, prior to which he was featured in the Ziegfeld Follies. His screen appearances include several Paramount screen productions, notably 'That Royle Girl.'

Louis Brock's latest RKO production, 'Tell It to the Judge,' has just been completed, and is at Ideal studio with Mark Sandrich directing.

Cameramen to Submit
New Working Agreement

Following several preliminary conferences, representatives of International Photographers, Local 644, met with a committee appointed by producers, on Monday, at which time a proposal will be submitted by the cameramen covering working conditions during the coming year.

Joins Warners Art Dept.

Walter Keller, formerly with Paramount Long Island studios, and more recently with the Tec-Art studios, Hollywood, has joined the department at Warner's East Vitaphone studios, under Fra. Namecy, art director.

Eastern 'Baby Star'

Olive Shea, who appears opposite Eddie Foy, Jr., in 'A Good Mix,' has just completed at the Eastern Vitaphone studios, enjoys the distinction of being the only Eastern 'bab star' through having been chosen by the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers' ball, as the most likely screen aspirant.

Witaphone Signs Hale

George Hale, director of many stage productions, has been signed by Vitaphone to stage a series of rhythmical shorts in the East. The first, 'Office Steps,' has just been completed with a second, 'Devil's Parade,' now in preparation.

Judges Claim that Screen is a Medium of Education

We hear of the screen as "being the greatest educational medium of the world." Just what is meant by that is not set forth. If it means that the impoverished, who are wondering where their next meal is coming from, are taught the proper manner of giving a banquet to their society friends, or that forgers are taught the proper rhythm for gum-chewing, or that philosophers will learn the final devastating word in their learned debates is "Oh, yeah?" then we may agree. But if it means any fundamental education, other than the subtle subversion propaganda for things-as-they-are, then there is little basis for the claim. By and large the frivolity of the screen has no intention to teach; it is just an amusement medium and any other claim is ridiculous. And that's a high credit for it. THE AIR DRAMA WITH THE WHEAT FIELDS AS A BACKGROUND. UNORIGINAL STORY RESULTS IN WEAK PICTURE.

This film will never do for the more intelligent type of audience. It has one of those stories that are aimed at the very top, but never quite reach their mark. There is something about the production that makes it appear as though it had been produced some years ago—so antiquated is the technique resorted to in the development of the plot. Some times the film becomes annoying by its obvious attempt to wring sympathy out of the audience and in many instances there is a sentence that is a true Arab. This is a highly fictitious thing. A Wisconsin farmer sends his boy to Chicago to sell wheat, but the lad meets a woman and marries her. The stern father will have nothing to do with her. But finally they all come together and the man is won over.

"The Last Dance"
with Vera Reynolds and Jason Robards
Audible Pictures, Inc.

SMALL LITTLE STORY ABOUT A DANCE HALL CINDERELLA AND HER PARK BOY FRIEND, ACTING OF PRINCIPALS, GOOD AND RECORDING EXCELLENT.

Here is an independent production that towers above the average in point of substantial story, sustained interest and suspense, clear recording, fine performance by Vera Reynolds and Jason Robards, and generally good direction at the hands of Scott Pembroke. The tale concerns a lower East side dance hall hostess who pretends to be engaged to a rich Park Avenue boy and actually wins up by marrying the lad. Plen- ty of human interest and comedy are distributed throughout with the heroine's Irish mother, idle father and smart kid sister providing a particularly amusing domestic background. The entire story is a disturbing note is an anti-climax in the form of a breach of promise suit for money and the happy ending is logically expected by all fans.

Cast: Vera Reynolds, Jason Robards, George Chandler, George T. Lewis, John Eldred, Lillian Leighton, Lillian Alvarez, Lillian Roth, Lillian Moss, Leonard Earns, Eugene Puglia, Florence Vidor, Chief Proctor, Director, Scott Pembroke; Author, Jack Alexander; Father, Bertram Millhauser; Editor, Scott Honey; Composer, M. A SURE WINNER FOR LAUGHS, WITH WILLIAM HAINES MORE COCKY THAN EVER, A REAL TONE FOR THE BOX OFFICE.

William Haines plays his usual type of role in a comedy that has all the marks of a good box-office success. Not of late has a film provided such boisterous fun come to the screen. The picture might have been a still better piece of work had it been toned down a bit. Sometimes its noisy humor gets on one's nerves, while its pace is so feverish that one is left somewhat dizzy when it is all over. Haines would have gained in his performance through the exercise of a little more restraint in his actions. The plot is a riot in the part of a cocky chap who won't "take no" for an answer from the girl he loves, the actor is far more pleasant to watch and listen to in his less noisy moments. Much of the story is far-fetched. Leila Hyams does something of a bit as good as the girl. Marie Dressler is a wow in a small part.

Time, 1 hr., 9 min.

FAIRLY ENTERTAINING MYSTERY COMEDY-DRAM FROM STAGE PLAY OF SAME TITLE, NOT ORIGINAL PROGRAM FARE.

With all the essential elements that go for the making of mystery stories crammed into three reels this is a good deal of a punch because of a jumpy continuity. Despite this handicap direct Eddie Cline has turned out a good piece of entertainment with the assistance of team work on the part of the cast. Alice Day and Jack Mulhall are convincing in the principal roles. Robert O'Connor as the blundering detective appears through out the story as comedy relief, and the acting of H. B. Warner as a "gigolo" is poor. Plot revolves about the mysterious mansion of an antique dealer and involves a newspaper reporter, boot-legging butler and a death dealing cabinet. The story works up to a slight climax. The audience should please: fans. O.K. for average house.

COMEDY GETS EMPHASIS IN CAPITOL STAGE SHOW

Comedy predominates on the Capitol stage this week. To lend variety to the shows there, Harry Mitchell has arranged for a three-week tour by the comedy team of Nile, McGinty and West. These are put over some really rib-ticklers. Cleveland, of it is frankly a mess in nature, but that does not make it any the less enjoyable. They appear as carpenters who fall on their feet and generally make a mess of matters in trying to go up a building. Sammy Lewis, who is billed as master of ceremonies, tops up with Patti Moore in offering some comedy that gets over in a big way. The two also appear to tell advantage in a number of perky face steps. The show is titled "April Follies," also boasts of its entertainers including a singer named Mose. She (yes, it's a woman) has several tunes, including "Old Man River," in a tiny but attractive voice. Her voice possesses no unusual quality, but there is about it a touch of mystery that fascinates a fan. The Chester Hale Girls provide an attractive change of pace, and down and around little pyramids of steps.

I-K-O Makes 4 Changes in Its Managerial Staff

Four replacements in I-K-O matters have been made in addition to the appointment of Joe Lee as supervisor of exploitation of the Orpheum, respect and Greenpoint theaters in Brooklyn. Harry McDonald succeeds Harry Mitchell at the Orpheum, Y. C.; John Sheridan is now man-aging the Orpheum, Brooklyn, replacing Lee with Dors. He is in charge of the Prospect in the same rough. Ralph Walsh has taken the duties of manager at the Hip-Port, with the resignation of G. Watson.

J. J. Shubert Sees Talker Losing in Drawing Power

That the legitimate theater is regaining some of its former prosperity has been lost to the talking films is the belief of J. J. Shubert, president of the Shubert Theater Corp. “Earlier this year,” says Mr. Shubert, “the talking pictures, due to their novelty and the low admission prices at which they may be seen, were drawing patronage from the legitimate theater to a certain extent, but all signs indicate that this innovation has lost some of its popularit.

I believe the remainder of this year and the legitimate theater more prosperous and strongly intrenched than it has ever been before. We have a distinct following of our own, which will not be materially affected any longer by talking pictures. They will find it necessary, just as the silent pictures did after their freshness had worn off, to build up their own public.”

Shorts Come Into Their Own

both fascinating and illuminating. One of its chief results is to bring home in most conclusive fashion the fact that shorts have become an indispensable part of the modern picture program, that shorts actually are being requested by the public, and that companies producing either their features, or both, must take the factors into account in mapping out their future production plans.

There are dozens of concrete practical suggestions in the survey for producers, distributors, technicians and others concerned with the making and selling of shorts. Warners will find it profitable as well as interesting to study what their brother in the field have to say on a variety of mutual problems.

Summing up the expressions from local and chain exhibitors representing the greater number of theaters in this country, the consensuses of opinion is that short subjects launched by sound into the greatest popularity so far, have barely scratched the surface of the possibilities. There are much bigger things ahead. Realization of the greater possibilities will depend in large measure on a study of the production and utilization of the idea of shorts started in the analysis appearing in this issue.

Squawks

—a column of protest

BY JACK ALICOATE

Squawk No. 1.—We are pessimistically apprehensive of the rapidly developing tendency of several of our major producing studios and their avowed intention to restrict advertising and exploitation field of motion pictures, the field is rich and the possibilities interesting, but entertaining and amusing Mr. Customer. All the lady who accompanies him to one thing and an endeavor to convince him as conclusively as possible that he could turn a good violinist into a satisfactory shoemaker. The highly successful manufacturers of chiloid entertainment should stick to their trade and leave the distribution of the major problems of education, advertising and industry to those whose minds, training and inclination are better fitted to the problems involved.

Squawk No. 2.—To date it has not affected our ability to sleep soundly but we do believe that talking pictures based on stage plays and books should be so advertised, both in newspaper copy and in the lobby, as for two reasons, each as far apart as Charlie Pettijohn and Abram Byers.

First, Advertising the success of a story will bring some customers in. Many times original stories mean nothing as compared to reputation of a book or play. Second, it will not mislead those who might not want to sit through a subject that they know in advance.

Multi-Lingual Versions of Many Specials Are Planned

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Los Angeles—An expenditure of $20,000,000 on 42 features and an un-determined number of shorts is announced by Jack L. Warner as having been decided upon by Warner Bros. for the coming year. The proportion for shorts alone is $2,500,000. Multi-lingual versions are planned for many of the specials, and there will be several roadshow productions done entirely in Technicolor.

REPORT P-F-L TO MAKE 10 FEATURES IN FRANCE

Paris (By Cable)—Ten feature talkers, six two-reel comedies and about 40 other short subjects are planned for production in France on the 1930-31 schedule of Paramount, according to reports current here. In addition, it is understood, Paramount will release in this country about 40 features and 40 shorts produced in the U. S.

M. A. SHAUER WILL HEAD NEW P-F-L FOREIGN POST

Western Cities Vote in Favor of Sunday Shows

Three western cities are showing definite signs of elasticity in the ban. Elections held on Sunday showed that in Iowa, citizens of Bloomfield, Fayette and Sycamore voted favorably on the question, while in Nebraska, Broken Bow decided for Sabbath entertainment by a narrow margin of 470 to 466.

H. L. Clarke Group Buys All “B” Stock—Banks Join in Refinancing

Financial difficulties of the Fox organization and the legal proceedings for its control have been brought to an end through the sale by William Fox of all his Class “B” voting stock to a syndicate headed by H. L. Clarke, president of General Theaters Equipment Co. and the formulation of a new refinancing plan in which Halvey, Stuart & Co. will participate with Bancamerica-Blair, Lehman Bros., and Dillon, Read & Co. Announcement to this effect was made last night by Samuel Untermyer, Fox attorney, and bears out recent predictions of THE FILM DAILY that a compromise between bankers was under way.

Under the new arrangement there will be issued $50,000,000 of $65 per cent debentures with warrants for common stock of Fox Films, and with 1,200,000 shares of common stock of this company at $36 a share. This is considered a more economical plan.

progressive showmanship should be entirely taboo the idea of trying to kid Mr. and Mrs. Modern Patron. It just can't be done.

SQUAWK NO. 3—We sometimes think that this talkative and colorful business is getting an overdose of the unsympathetic and impersonal prescription known throughout the professions as business efficiency. The making of pictures as well as the selling of them to the public is largely inspirational. It cannot be done by forms, tabulated instructions, squares or trig formulas. Just as we would not like to see this mercy old business drift back to its "Every man for himself" days of fifteen years ago we are just as strongly opposed to the brass-button, agnostic, business-engineer regime that seems to be in the making. Bigger and better business methods yes, but don't close the door so tight that humaneness, inspiration, individuality and perhaps an occasional dash of genius cannot squeeze in.

Adviser and one of the best-known exhibition figures in the country, will today take M. A. Lightm. man’s spot at the conference table.

M. A. has had to bag and baggage back to his home town, Memphis, to attend the Tri-State exhibit conven- tion, which swung into action yesterday.

Abe Myers’ ready and steady wit is helping to make conference pro-ceedings interesting. The Allied States chief isn’t missing much.

No session was held Saturday owing to the “regular job duties” of the conferees.

Cigars, cigarettes and ice water are taking a terrible licking from the delegates.

E. A. Schiller of Loew’s, the lone affiliated theater representative, is inserting a lot of valuable informa- tion and ideas into the conference kitty.

Departure of M. A. Lightman for Memphis and environs removes a valuable conferee. The M.P.T.O.A. head man has contributed numerous ideas and suggestions in his way towards aiding the exhibitor cause. He’s been effective, without too much noise.

Still Sees Large Public for Silent Film Attractions

The truth is that both renters and exhibitors are realizing that the day of the completely all-talkie cinema has not yet come. The latter have found that not every talkie is a sure box office success, and that there is a big public still for the good silent. The former are getting a fairly accurate idea of the market which wants "silents" in unwired halls, as second features in wired halls, and even in some cases as first features in such halls.

"The Nation" Speaks a Kind Word for the Film Producer

Many are men of talent and refinement. A few at least would be glad to find some way to escape from the thousand and one limitations imposed upon their work. But every individual is lost in the huge organization, and the organization itself is controlled by social and economic factors which make impossible any effort to do anything except what has always been done. Individuals engaged in it may dream of something different, but they know that they must conform or get out. Experimentation? Unconventionality? Special pictures for the few?

H. M. WARNER was the guest of honor recently at a banquet given by the Market Street Business Men's Ass'n of Philadelphia. The Warner president spoke on "The Influence of the Talking Picture on Business." Santly Bros, music publishers, this week will celebrate the first anniversary of the firm, headed by Joseph H., Henry W. and Lester A. Starting with an office in New York, the company in a year has built up branches in five big cities, the representatives being Jimmie Cairns in Chicago, Tubby Garron in Los Angeles, Jack Fay in Boston, Benny Cairns in Detroit and Cleveland, and Jack Harris in Philadelphia.

BERT ADLER sez that every candy manufacturer in the U. S. is behind the national publicity tieup just arranged by Fanchon and Marco with the National Confectioners' Ass'n, which ought to have sweet results. Milton Ager is back in New York from the Coast to rejoin his partner, Jack Yellen, of the music house known as Ager, Yellen & Bornstein.

BILL SCULLY, M-G-M's beau brummel manager of the New York exchange, has challenged S. N. Berger to a game of golf. Bill declares this is just in preparation for the Film Daily's spring tournament, which will come off some time next month or early in June. Max Cohen of Universal's New York branch has taken over Sam Liggett's territory in New Jersey and is now supervising all Greater New York sales under the jurisdiction of Leo Abrams.

CHARLIE O'REILLY, president of the T.O.C.C, is doing a lot of commuting between New York and Albany fighting several harmful bills now pending in the Legislature. Have you heard the organ at the Pennsylvania station? They got the idea from the fillum industry, you know, entertaining passengers waiting for trains. Jay Emanuel has discarded the derby, and Herb Miller, who works for him, thinks that's funny.

VERNE PORTER, eastern scenario editor for Universal, is back from the Coast where he took part in conferences on the new season's product, Frank Goodman of Handman, Kent & Goodman, music publishing firm, in which Universal has a half interest, has left for Universal City.

Mounted Caballero Boosts "Senor Americano"

Manager "Hime" Jacobs used a traveling caballero to exploit "SENOR AMERI-CANO" when it ran at the Liberty, Atlantic City. He secured a spirited mount and used a highly decorative cloth about the size of a full length blanket instead of the usual saddle cloth. On the sides of this was painted the message that Ken Maynard was to be seen at the Liberty, etc. The rider wore an authentic caballero costume similar to that worn by Maynard in the picture.

"Bombs" Town With Passes For "The Sky Hawk"

On the "Sky Hawk" Chet Miller, of the Fox, North Platte, Neb., advertised for people to watch the sky at noon on a certain day as "The Sky Hawk" would bomb the city with free tickets. Three thousand handbills were dropped from the plane. One hundred of which were good for free tickets. It created a lot of excitement and pulled the biggest Saturday night's business in the history of the house.

The Mirror
—a column of comment

HE GOLD RUSH gains momentum day by day. All along the road the Hollywood you'll find Broadway affl new towards the Land of the Big Dough. In the caravan are men and women whose names stand for achievement in their own particular fields—men like Ziegfeld, Gershwin, Urban, Goldwyn. And in the same procession are some lesser talent—men who are surging towards the Gold Coast, not on the surety of a contract but with a speculation. These travelers, in no out of ten cases, will fail by the wayside. Unaided by reputation and, in many cases, by any unusual ability, they will find that Hollywood, ready crowded with picture-wise people, is not always a land of financial milk and honey. It must be expected that these unfortunate individuals will seek East low in places and occasionally embittered by failure. History always repeats itself. Great majority of the original Forty-Niners returned home without a share of nuggets they had anticipated that the hills of California could give them. * * *

N THE SPRING it would seem that an exhibitor's fancy, among their things, might turn to thoughts of house cleaning. Paint, new electric light bulbs, new seats, lobby display frames, perhaps replacements of projection booth equipment, are seasonal thoughts. Every inch of effort expended to make a theater more attractive goes down on the bigger as good showmanship. * * *

IMPORTANT ON the industry's calendar of things-worth-paying-attention-to is the coming Spring meeting of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers. At this conference the scientific minds of the business go into a huddle and the results are inevitably worthwhile. No doubt numerous vexing problems growing out of this mechanical age will receive their solution at the forthcoming gathering in Los Angeles.

NATIONAL BOARD ATTACKS STATE CENSORS' ACTION

As a protest against the banning of "High Treason" by the Pennsylvania and New York state censors, the National Board of Review is sponsoring a special screening of the film tonight at the Roerich Museum, 103d and Riverside Drive, to which about 500 prominent men and women have been invited and will be asked for opinions. The picture deals with war and peace in 1940. New York condemned it on the grounds that it might tend to incite crime.

Meet rudeness with unflinching politeness. Never argue with a patron. When anything is beyond your control, refer it to your superior. Remember—the patron is always right! Business like friendship, is attracted to where it is best treated and flourishes where it is best served. Wear a cheerful smile. Speak pleasantly. Try to please every patron as if you owned the theater yourself.

The Exhibitors’ HOME Trade Papers

NEW YORK may be the barometer for theatre owners in Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles and other of the larger cities, but the barometer for exhibitors in the state of Kansas is Kansas City, Wichita, Topeka and some of the other key cities in their own state. While pictures are made in Hollywood and the executive offices of all companies are in New York, they are marketed through the branch exchanges scattered throughout the country. The exhibitors in Illinois are interested primarily in their “market place”—Chicago; and those in the state of Texas are interested in Dallas and the immediate territory. Thus each of the ten Associated Publications, being the exhibitors’ HOME trade paper, is the closest exhibitor contact between producers and distributors next to their salesmen, and the buying guide for those in the section of the country it covers.

LILLIAN GISH and Her Triumph!

by ARTHUR JAMES

A new Lillian Gish will greet the public in "One Romantic Night," which is Molnár's "The Swan," done into a charming talking picture with such assisting talent as Rod La Rocque, Conrad Nagel, Marie Dressler and O. P. Heggie.

This United Artists picture, directed by Paul L. Stein, is romance portrayed through a rose crystal. It is the story of the princess and prince and the tutor who is permitted to love ardently and beautifully until the dawn sweeps the stars from the sky. It is a splendid story, engagingly presented and attractively acted.

Lillian Gish was never so lovely. She speaks with clarity, charm and a thorough naturalness that gives her new power as a star. In all the pictures in which we have seen her, and we believe we have seen her in all the pictures in which she has appeared, we have never seen so competent a performance.

Conrad Nagel as the tutor is splendid. Rod La Rocque is fully adequate, but aside from the star the acting honors go to Marie Dressler and O. P. Heggie, trained players who can be depended upon always for fine performances. Phillippe de Lacy and Byron Sage, who have little boy parts, are very attractive, and young Master Sage has a speaking voice which is a joy to hear.

The whole production is beautifully scene against rich backgrounds and is carried along to its romantic heights on naturally introduced music that is altogether delightful.

The unplayed pictures will be added to the total price of the pictures. In connection with mixed selling, cancellations will be allowed on 10 per cent of pictures sold on a flat rental basis. Exhibitors must not be in default and up on their playing time.

With Sidney R. Kent presiding, the morning session was opened at 9:30 o'clock and after a few preliminaries the discussions got around to substitutions and block booking. Fred Wieland said he knew many exhibitors who prefer to buy through this method. Kent remarked that "if you get 40 hits out of 75, you're lucky," referring to production, and A. E. Schiller agreed. Sound, Kent declared, has started a distinct drift towards competing with the talking pictures. He was of the opinion that the rapid changes brought about by talking pictures story material which is today obsolete tomorrow, and said, "today we're selling trademarks more than anything else.

Withdrawal of A. E. Schiller as the delegate representing affiliated theaters resulted in the substitution of Sam Dembom of Pulaski.

Discussion of trailer costs opened the afternoon session, with Nathan Yamin declaring that in some instances they cost as much as 50 per cent of a feature. He pointed out, however, that their use ought to be encouraged and Dembom described them as the best mechanism of publicity for a program directly to an audience. Further discussion of the trailer problem brought up the pertains to cases in which small distributors failed to sell first runs as expected, occurred. A. E. Schiller declared, in the matter of misrepresentation, Kent pointed out that any discussion of the trailer problem with distributors would be allowed to secure first runs would prove injurious to them.

ROVNER AND HANDLE CHAIN PURCHASED BY WARNER

Strengthening its position in New Jersey, Warner Bros., has added the Rovery & Handle chain of six houses to its operations in that state, which are also under way for additional theaters. The houses taken over are the Towers and Lyric at Camden; Kenyon, Millville; Clementon, Clementon; Grand, Vineland; Westmont; Westmount; Collins, Collingswood. Publicis acquired its first house in 1927 by purchasing the Lincoln at Trenton for which Warner was the competitive bidder.

Sunds Shows Victor in Evanston Recount

Evanston, III.—Recount of the ballots of the special election on the Sunday show question here reveals that an error occurred in the first precinct of the first ward and that proponents were victorious by 56 votes.

Alderman Peter J. Cans called attention to the mistake in the first counting when the reform faction claimed victory by a margin of 50 votes.

This marks the first success for the anti-Sabbath followers in five years. Three special elections on the Sunday issue have been held during this time with the reformers always defeating the question. The outcome of the referendum is indicative of the consensus that Blue Laws are dead as far as Illinois is concerned, it is said. M. J. Murphy, formerly Publicis city manager at Rochester, N. Y., as chairman of the committee, led the fight for Sunday entertainment.

Shows will not be permitted and the city council amends the ordinance providing for Sabbath closing. Such action is inevitable in face of the referendum.

Appeal from Decree Banning Arbitration System

Action Filed in U. S. Supreme Court, May Come up in Oct.

Appeal from the Thacher decree, finding compulsory group arbitration illegal, filed in the U. S. Supreme Court, may not be heard until Oct., as it was disclosed at the 2-2-2 conference yesterday. It is expected that a decision on the action, filed by fourteen distributors, the Hayes organization and Film Boards of Trade will not be rendered within a year.

The Federal Government also has pending an appeal from the Thacher decree which approves the credit system as legal.

2-2-2 Conference Bumps Into Trouble When Allied Takes Firm Stand Against Deposits

Distributor proposal for a deposits clause to be incorporated in the standard exhibition contract ran the 2-2-2 conference into a snarl yesterday.

The distributor delegation remained firm in its demand that the clause go into the agreement and the M. P. T. O. representatives agreed that such a plan was fair. On the other side of the fence, Allied States' stood equally firm in insisting that provision for deposits be kept out of the contract. As an alternative proposition its delegates recommended that the matter of deposits be settled individually by distributors and exhibitors.

Use of a "rider" to the agreement to cover the additional clause, when adopted, was urged.

Further consideration of the subject which yesterday threatened to throw a serious monkey wrench into the proceedings, will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock when the conference resumes. This morning, Gabriel Hess will furnish the conclusions.

Distributors to Meet on Score Charge Protests

Exhibitor protests against the score charge will probably be referred to a distributor conference for action. This was indicated yesterday at the 2-2-2 conference when the subject came up for consideration. At a previous session Sidney R. Kent, chairman of the conference, made it.

"Journey's End"

"Journey's End" is an inspiring and notable 1930 contribution to the talking screen. Tiffany's Spring will make its bow to Broadway last night at the Gaiety Theater for an extended run. Here is a clean and entertaining story that has already made a great international reputation as a legitimate attraction. It has been impressively improved in its transition from stage to screen.

The direction of James Whale is sympathetic and understanding. The characterization of Captain Bligh, by Colin Clive, is outstanding. This war story, although without direct love interest, and minus women in the cast, is curiously fascinating. We don't know how many "Journey's End" will make at the box office. We do know that one "Journey's End" will do more for Tiffany in particular, and this industry in general, than a half dozen song and dance operas.

RKO Stockholders Vote
Increase in "A" Stock

Baltimore—Proposed increase in RKO Class "A" common stock was approved at a special meeting of stockholders held yesterday. The number of Class "B" shares, of which there are 500,000, is to remain the same.

One rumor in connection with the increase in number of RKO shares is that this is a step toward the purchase of the Loew stock held by the Fox interests, the assumption being that two shares of RKO would be given for each share of Loew. These reports are discounted, however, by the statements of the Fox bankers, who declare that the new refinancing plan specifies that to be no disposition of any of the Fox assets.

Winds Theater Operators Against Tendency to Overwork

SEVERAL of the big theater operators seem sadly in need of good lieutenants who can remove from their worries those innumerable petty details which are far without resorting to the audacious strategical moves. They work day and night, never quite catching up and wearing themselves out into a nervous condition which keeps their business associates in a perpetual ferment. When tired nature finally compels these theater opera- tors to take a rest, they indulge in a brief variation and then rush back to work plunging into a swirl of accumulated business which demands extra effort. Before they have caught up they are more in need of a vacation than before.

DEPOSITS CLAUSE HITS SNAG AT 2-2-2 CONFERENCE

frees with Stand on the clauses tentatively adopted.

After a discussion of the score charge situation the morning session came to a close. Nathan Vanian shows and agreed on the clause now in use in the old contract.

Consideration was then given to the following Allied clause: "The exhibitor shall have the right to cancel this contract in its entirety at any time this contract and pictures for which the distributor retains a deposit. The clause is proposed to be adopted to safeguard exhibitors against a "print is available for exhibition." It was agreed that the distributors were willing to make the revisions specified in the Allied proposal, providing he is up in the price to match.

Reaching of the distributors’ deposit clause proposal brought from Abram F. Myers, A lied president, the assertion that he could never agree to it. A credit system involved that justified deposits," declared Myers, and pointed out that the contract provides advance payment to the distributor and that the clause attempts to "pull the rug out from under the exhibitor."

Having been aware of the "grave dangers" of violating the Thacker decree, the proposal was adopted, declaring that such a provision "can not possibly go into the contract."

Gabriel Hess, distributor delegate, said that bad accounts have proven a major problem on a basis of checking the deposits are justified, he asserted, but exhibitors possess only maps. printing and advertising, holding over the money. He denied that the proposed clause was in violation of the agreement. Hess then stated his views.

Kent declared that Allied was "trying to put us in an unfair position." Allied representative, expressed the opinion that exhibitors are "not clamoring for arbitration" and Hess violently disagreed with the statement.

In stressing his statement that adoption of the clause does not necessarily mean that distributors are receiving funds from exhibitors, but that both parties are suffering, Kent said, "We are going to get security or bond."

Fred Walker, P. T. O. A. delegate, agreed that distributors have a right to seek deposits. He emphasized that adoption of the clause would be "like tying a dog on a tennis court of its own making."

As a compromise proposal, Hess recommended that distributors print a deposit clause on their schedule. Allied objected. Hess then suggested that the deposit clause be left out of the contract but distributors authorized to arrange deposits individually with exhibitors. Hess continued: "Any system will be attached. Some exhibitors will write to the Dept. of Justice and exhibitors leaders will back them up. Without naming the company he said that one concern plans to demand deposit on every contract they execute owing to the "staggering losses" in the past. Action was temporarily deferred.

The deliberations turned to the time allowed distributors to notify exhibitors of their acceptance of contracts and then swung back to arbitration. Enforcement of arbitration agreements came into the discussions spotlight. Hess said that 11 states have arbitration rules and pointed out that exchanges in Salt Lake City serve nine states. He suggested an amendment providing distributors with the right to require security to all accounts and the M. P. T. O. A. asked the idea. Walker observed that arbitration is only enforceable through a credit system. Kent said that 85 per cent of his business was direct contract and that he was not bothered with the cash and cited the procedure made to him by a surety company which refused to bond his accounts. He recommended "a recognition of equity" in connection with the interest in deposited money.

WEBSTER, N. Y. — William J. R. Jordan, president, delivered the opening address, and James B. Hacker, vice-president, stated that it was time for exhibitors to "step up to the plate" and do their part. The gathering adjourned to Monday, with the meeting expected to last all day.

NVA Saranac Sanatorium to Admit Screen Players

With added funds assured through the cooperation of film exhibitors, the NVA will be able to admit screen as well as vaudeville performers to its sanatorium at Saranac Lake, N.Y., it was announced by the M. P. T. O. A. here yesterday. Owner exhibitors throughout the country have pledged themselves to aid the association in raising $1,000,000 during NVA Week, which opens April 27.

6,500 More Play Dates Pledged for Vitaphone

Playing time for 6,500 additional Vitaphone Varieties has been pledged to date by exhibitors for San E. Morris Month, which is still four weeks off, it is announced by Paul J. Swift, general sales manager of Vitaphone. These play dates are in addition to the regular contract showings for May.

Futuristic House for Ottawa

Ottawa — Nolan Theater Enterprises, plan the erection of a futuristic type suburban house in Ottawa's West End, to cost $125,000. This will eventually replace the company’s Columbia.

Backsliders

There have been 50,000 instances of failures of exhibitors to comply with arbitration awards, declared Gabriel Hess during a discussion of the distributor-proposed deposits clause at yesterday’s session of the 2-2-2 conference.

clear that he believed the matter was one beyond the jurisdiction of the current sessions.

Abram F. Myers, president of Allied, opened the attack at yesterday’s meeting. Gabriel Hess, distributor delegate, explained that the Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers’ charge was tax 10 cents per seat for the performing right of music. Electric companies, he pointed out, charge a recording assessment against producers.

"Then the score charge is reimbursement for producers to pay for their right to record," said Myers, "and nothing to do with the right to reproduce." Paramount assesses Public theaters with a score charge, Kent stated. Myers asserted that the Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers is "going pretty far" in its tax against exhibitors, and said that matters "would have been simplified originally had the tax been figured into the manufacturing costs of producers instead of a separate charge.

Fred Wehrenberg, P. T. O. A. representative, said that exhibitors ought to include the tax in film rentals. Myers asked Hess to furnish him with copies of the license agreement and Wehrenberg claimed, "We can't bargain over a tax," replying to the distributor contention that the assessment is a tax.

Schmidt to Cleveland

Cleveland — Warner Schmidt has been brought in from Cincinnati by the Independent Pictures Co. and will remain at the home office here.

2-2-2 Delegates to Draft New Arbitration Rule

Adoption of a new set of arbitration rules will be one of the tasks to be accomplished at the 2-2-2 conference in connection with arbitration system, formally proposed and agreed upon yesterday. Provisions in the agreement are to be put on the deposits clause the delegate will go to work on the arbitrations.

Columbia Now Has All Rights to Two Cartoon

In addition to acquiring the foreign distribution rights to Disney “Mickey Mouse” and “Silly Symphonies,” Columbia also has taken over the entire domestic distribution of both cartoons, thereby giving it the company the world rights to the shorts. Although Columbia already had been handling the domestic distribution of “Silly Symphonies,” it had been releasing a "Mickey Mouse" cartoon in only 13 territories.

Television is here. Not one shadow of a doubt about it. The aforementioned expansion of the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Being of an inquisitive nature we gathered together what is one of the big guns of the A T & T outfit that television is still highly complicated and terribly expensive. That its commercial application is a matter of years but that it will come, sooner or later, just like the telephone, the movies and radio. An afternoon of unusual interest leaves us with the following industry observations: 1st, television is a fact and one of the greatest inventions of the age. 2nd, that it is still in its technical stage but constantly making progress. 3rd, that its commercial application is not immediate, but is just as possible, in years to come. 4th, that it might prove an irritating rival to the theater. 5th, that it would be suicide for the big minds of this great industry to close their eyes to television and its unlimited possibilities.

Oakey to Lasky

Jesse L. Lasky was introducing Jack Oakie at yesterday’s RKO Symphony Hall for Marlene Dietrich. After referring to Jack as “the world’s greatest tragedian—a man who has made millions cry,” Lasky said, “Jack is now going to play in The Sap from Syracuse. Do you know what a sap is, Miss Dietrich? Well, Jack is the sap. Aren’t you Jack?”

“Oh, yes,” replied Oakie. “I'm a sap now. But keep in touch with me.”

Reception is Given for Marlene Dietrich

Marlene Dietrich, who arrived in New York Tuesday night from Germany en route to Hollywood to appear in Paramount pictures, was guest of honor at a reception yesterday afternoon held at 24-25-26-27 Paramount preliminary and among others present were Adolph Zukor, Gilbert Miller, Walter Wagner, Jack Oakie, Stanley Smith, Ginger Rogers, Monte Bell, Ike Blumenthal, Henry Salsbury and a large delegation of the press.

Lasky, in a short speech, predicted that Miss Dietrich, who bears a resemblance to Jeanne Eagels and Greta Garbo, and who speaks fairly good English, will repeat the successes achieved by other Paramount imports like Emil Jannings, Paola Negri and Maurice Chevalier.

Gary Cooper is to appear opposite Miss Dietrich in her first picture, based on a story selected by the German star, Josef Von Sternberg will direct.

Says Helen Eager

"Ladies of Leisure" will be remembered as one of the best in celluloid. Columbia may well be proud of it. It is one of the most clean-cut, straightforward intelligently handled and directed pictures that has come to the screen.
Says Ada Haniñ

"Ladies of Leisure, has been brought to talking pictures with an extravagant excellence that marks it as one of the season's brightest comedy dramas.

Brown, in "Hold Everything," which opens the Warner Hollywood April 17, will have several tunes from the film on the Del Monte Hour the evening of April 19. The program will be broadcast over WAEF and 39 other stations. Hugh Trevor, juvenile lead in "Cuckoos," is in New York. The actor will remain in the city until after the premiere of the RKO film. Gertrude Lawrence and Harry Richman have been added to the list of theatrical stars who will take part in the benefit performance to be given at Carnegie Hall Sunday evening, April 20, in aid of the Jewish Community Centre and Social Service Fund of Saranac Lake.

Marlene Dietrich, the German actress brought to this country to play in Paramount pictures, will head the list of artists who will take part in the Paramount-Publix broadcast Saturday over station WABC. Others on the program are Marcia Freer, Paul Ash, Paul Small, Jesse Crawford, Vic Ince and David Mendoza, who will conduct the Paramount Orchestra. What a treat for radio fans! Pauline Garon will make her vaudeville debut in a comedy sketch on April 16 and will tour the Fox and RKO circuits. Before coming to New York, Miss Garon completed the feminine lead in the French version of "The Unholy Night" for M-G-M.

The Macaulay Co. is putting out a popular-priced edition of "Reno," the Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., novel which has been made into a talkie by Sono Art-World Wide. The jacket will carry a likeness of Ruth Roland, who plays the lead, and scenes from the production will illustrate the book. Ferdinand V. Loporini will give a screening of the Italian version of "The Great Gabbo" at the RCA Photophone projection room at 411 Fifth Avenue this afternoon. George Brent, accompanied by the bearded he raised for a role in Fox's "The Big Trail," has left New York for the Movietone lot. George was recently seen with Alice Brady in "Love, Honor and Betray."

Sam Lerner, special service director for De Sylva, Brown and Henderson, who are publishing the score of "Hold Everything," which opens the Warner Hollywood on April 17, has prepared an organ slide of "Sing a Little Theme Song," one of the tunes in the film.

Another amendment provides that an exhibitor cannot use prints where theater unless he secured the written consent of exchange manager.

At the suggestion of Nathan Mins, Allied delegate.

Mins told of incident in which a salesman required him to a newswear in order to get fees and Sidney R. Kent, in reply, was “not the usual practice.” The conference swung around to discussion of protection and zoning, and Gabriel Hess said that the principles of a general agreement the matter would be worked out the coming S-5-5 conference.

J. F. Myers called attention to proposals last December for a machinery to operate a protection system including arbitration board.

Frank Walker, T.O.A. delegate, remarked that organization previously had a plan for a board of appeals. Kent told that in zone conferences the subject, affiliated theaters would be put in an unfair position pressing independent exhibitors’ force based numerically.

You put protection into action, you would ruin every business,” he declared.

Others observed that “arbitration applicable to protection.” He that there is “pressing need relief in some spots” and chartered protection as the most important problem confronting the industry. Nathan Yamin declared it was “more important than before.”

The conclusion of conference expressed the opinion that the sons had been “a fine step forward” and thanked delegates for their sincere efforts in working out contract. Both Myers and Walker cited their appreciation of Kent’s work and help in engineering the conference.

Owners of the theater were having trouble with the operators’ union at the time of the bombing and suffered a loss of many thousands of dollars when the house was destroyed.

Columbus, Ga.—Four local houses have recently been visited by stench bombers, three of which are owned by the Daily. At the Royal, one of the independent houses, serious damage was done in the projection booth by the intruders who, in addition to polluting the house, also damaged the screen, necessitating repairs and closing for a day. The attack is not believed an outcome of labor troubles as three operators are employed at the Strand, Publix theater.

The other independent houses visited were the Rialto and Beacon, which do not employ union men in the booths.

No amalgamation of Fox Film and Fox Theaters, or the placing of the West Coast houses and the Eastern group under one general management, is contemplated in the new regime, as far as could be learned. It is pointed out that the handling of the West Coast theaters, a $25,000,000 proposition and still growing, is a big enough job for one man.

Comment

Considering the industry's growth and the new period of research and experimentation work, rounding off the industry to accommodate enlarged pictures will be an assortment of various months out of its pocketbook. Additionally, it means that new production techniques must be mastered. In view of this assortment of unavoidable problems, the industry is looking over local sites for new theaters. While the downtown sector has been generally regarded as oversupplied for some time, the reports indicate that

PUBLIX SCOUTS AFTER SEVERAL PHILLY SITES

Philadelphia—Invasion of Publix into this territory, long a Stanley stronghold, is seen with consistent reports that numerous scouts of the company have been looking over local sites for new theaters. While the downtown sector has been generally regarded as oversupplied for some time, the reports indicate that

PLAN 250 DAY AND DATE OPENINGS FOR BYRD FILM

Two hundred and fifty day-and-date openings throughout the country of "With Byrd to the South Pole" are being planned by Paramount, which intends to open the special at the Rialto, New York on or about June 19. The picture will be synchronized with an off-screen voice describing certain scenes. Rear Admiral Richard F. Byrd will prefete the picture with a talk. Length of the film will be about eight reels.

Deal Involves 55 Houses in Ohio, Ind., Ky., and West Va.

Just before going to press last night THE FILM DAILY learned from an authoritative source that RKO had acquired the Libson Circuit of about 55 houses in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia. Since Fox, who started to take over this chain last fall, found it impossible to go through with the deal, various other chain operators had been reported dickering for the houses.

The Libson Circuit is affiliated with the Harris Amusement Co. of Pennsylvania and an association already existed between Ike Libson and RKO in the operation of several theaters. The chain includes some important first-run houses, one of

Protests Censoring of Newspaper Ads in Quebec

Quebec—Declaring that it was a violation of the principle of freedom of the press, P. R. Du Tremblay, a member of the legislature, has protested against the Quebec government's measure to censor motion picture advertising in newspapers of Quebec cities and towns. The law was such that a newspaper edition could be held up on the order of the censors.

Sono Art Developing Exhib Contract Service

An exhibitor contract service is being built up by Sono-Art-World Wide exchanges. The service will be on bookings, exploitation, etc. and will be carried out by special booker-contact men. The first of these are Paul Canty who has been sent to Boston and Charles Donohue who is at Philadelphia.

Sam Warner Tribute

The Hollywood theater, opening April 22, is a tribute of the three Warners to their brother, Sam, it was announced yesterday.
Multi-Lingual
Answering four telephone calls and speaking to each of the parties in a different language — English, German, French and Spanish — was accomplished nonchalantly yesterday within a space of six minutes by Felix Malitz, vice-president of J. Pile, while a FILM DAILY representative sat in his office. If the rep. had stuck around a few minutes longer, there might have been more languages to report.

McCarthy Sailing to Show McCormack Film Abroad
J. J. McCarthy, under the John McCormack film, "Song O'My Heart," is being shown for Fox, sails tomorrow for England to put on the picture in one of the London legitimate houses in May. After the London opening, McCarthy will go to Dublin, Paris, Rome, Barcelona, Vienna and Berlin, in most of which cities it is expected that the McCarthy picture will be shown this year.

DeVry Corp. Develops New Talker Apparatus
Chicago — A new talking picture machine, known as the DeVry Industrial Cinetone, has been developed in the J. R. DeVry Corp. laboratories here, it is announced by T. M. Fletcher, president of the company. Large, brilliant pictures are now possible at 60 feet, synchronized with a modern amplifier and dynamic speaker unit, Fletcher says.

Raskob Bullish on Warner
A favorable forecast on the business outlook for Warner Bros. was given by John J. Raskob, just before sailing for a six weeks' trip abroad, in an official statement verifying his stock activity in the company. Raskob believes that Warner Bros. will continue to do a very satisfactory business, and, looking ahead, it would appear to possess attractive possibilities along with the future of the motion picture industry.

M-G-M Redeeming Preferred
M-G-M has called for redemption $101,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock, June 1, at $27 a share and accrued dividends, payment to be made at the Manufacturers Trust Co. of New York.

Smith's Return to Fox Will Not Affect Talley
Expected return of Courtland Smith to the Fox Movietone organization is not likely to affect Truman Talley, now in charge of this division, THE FILM DAILY learns. Smith is expected to bring back others who departed from Movietone at the same time he did.

No official intimation has been given out as yet with regard to the impending Fox re-arrangement under the Harley L. Clarke banner. Clarke is understood to have arrived in town and a meeting, presumably having to do with the new board of directors, was held yesterday. It is now stated that William Fox will be on the board, as will J. E. Otterson and perhaps H. L. Stuart.

Fox Minority Action Postponed to Monday
To allow time to look into the $500,000 annual salary to be paid William Fox for five years and also to investigate the proposed new re-financing plan, Arthur Berenson, Boston attorney, has obtained a postponement until Monday of the minority stockholders' suit which seeks to assure the acceptance of the Halsey, Stuart & Co. plan in place of the Bancamania plan. This action was filed in the State Supreme Court.

JESSE L. LASKY now says "cinema," instead of "film," most of the time, and he explains that it has been caused by his increasing international dealings in the picture business.... Harley L. Clarke, new head of Fox interests, is not entirely new to pictures, since he once sunk a half million in a venture to develop educational pictures for schools.... Bruce Gallup was observed looking over Agua Caliente, the other week-end, Coast reports say.... Buddy Rogers, director of sales for Sono Art-World Wide, is in an extremely happy mood. Reason? He has received word that "Up the Congo" has been widely booked in the San Francisco territory and that this film and "Blaze O' Glory" have been sold to the Fox, Reid, Yem and Hayes circuits in St. Louis....

THEY'VE gotten Walter Eberhardt to do jury duty.... Mark Lueckens reminds us that the RKO Hippodrome will be a quarter century old next week.... Henry A. Staab, executive secretary of the M.F.T.O. of Wisconsin, writes in to tell us that "Because I Loved You" is not the proper translation of the title of the German talking film "Dich Hab Ich Geliebt". It should be "You Have I Loved," insists Henry. Hope the one who gave the film its American title reads this—and repents.

ELMER G. LETERMAN, vice-president of Stebbins, Leterman and Gates, the insurance brokers, has underwritten a $400,000 policy covering the fingers and hands of Harry Roeske, the pianist, who is playing the leading role in "Einstein's Theory," a talking film which Warner is making. This is said to be the largest policy of its kind ever taken out by an actor or musician.... Warner Baxter will arrive in town Tuesday for his first visit in three years.... John Ford left Hollywood for N. Y. yesterday after finishing direction of "Born Reckless."

LUDWIG Klitzsch, Ufa's director general, received such a dose of rough sea weather coming over on the Bremen with Mrs. Klitzsch and Kurt Hubert, Ufa director, that he had to spend yesterday recuperating. Tom Hogan has directed a Pathe Audio Review in which is used the $500,000 Wurlitzer collection of rare old violins and violincellos.

Lobby Stage Setting Exploits "Grand Parade"

A GREAT deal of attention was attracted by a clever little stage setting for a minstrel performance that appeared in the lobby of the Majestic, Burlington, Vt., in connection with the showing of "The Grand Parade." On the miniature stage Christmas tree lights formed the footlights and blue and orange striped cabris was used for the scenery. In the minstrel circle on the doll chairs were seated 12 minstrel dolls adorned in characterist costumes, with the stove pipe hats associated with real minstrels.

EXPANSION OF NETOCO CIRCUIT NOW COMPLETE

Expansion program of the Netoco chain in New England is practically complete with a total of 40 houses now comprising the circuit. The opening at Dorchester, Mass., seating approximately 2,500, will open Labor Day, states President Samuel Finanski, who is now in New York. Increasing of Netoco circuits started with about 10 houses two years and a half ago.

"Talking pictures have made a few and more intelligent audience," declares Finanski, who believes the industry has only "scratched at the surface" of this form of entertainment. In theater operation he points out the need of intimate contact between house managers and their patrons and a knowledge of local conditions. Color, he believes, has not had any important influence on the box-office.

Publix is now negotiating for acquisition of Netoco.

Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

GEORGE POPORICI, research engineer at the Paramount Long Island studios, is living up to the first syllable of his name masmuch as his wife has just presented him with a bouncing baby boy, complete with sound effects.

That goal of all vaudevillians, the Palace theater stage door, figures in Joe Frocco's latest Vitaphone short, "The Song Pluggers," which he just shot, at the Warwick Bros. Eastern studios, under the direction of Roy Mack.

Terry Carroll, sister of Nancy Carroll, was a last minute addition to the cast of Louis Bowe's latest RKO comedy, "Who's Got the Body?" made at the Ideal studios this week. Nicky and Tony, the Italian comic team, are starred with Mark Sandrich directing. Rube Welch, who collaborated with Sandrich on the story also appears in the cast with Jean Newcombe, Douglas Burley, Shirley Grey and others.

Bridget Ferry, noted chambermaid who figured in the Roxetha murder case, was among the visitors to the Paramount Long Island studios last week where she offered the "inside" on the murder mystery as the basis of a picture.

Theresa Klee, who plays a character role in "Queen High," at the Paramount Long Island studios, remembers back to the old Biograph studio on 14th St. where she appeared with Mary Pickford, the Gish sisters and other present-day stars. Miss Klee was brought from Bavaria at the age of five years, since which time she has played in all branches of the profession, including circus, burlesque and vaudeville.

Another old-timer appearing in "Queen High" is Dorothy Walters, who started her career as a "lady washer" in vaudeville, 20 years ago. Miss Walters played in many of the silent pictures here in addition to appearing on the stage in "Irene," as well as many other roles.

A telephone conversation between two continents has been photographed to sound by Visagraph Pictures, Inc. The call was from Thomas J. Watson, president and general manager of the International Business Machines Corp., to his New York offices, to S. R. Walrin, manager of their branch at Santiago, Chile.

Hollywood

PHIL WHITMAN, who has directed several comedies for Larry Darmour, knows his camera angles. Before starting to write and direct, Phil was one of the best trick cameramen in the industry. He was responsible for many of the unusual camera tricks in "The Thief of Bagdad." He was at one time in charge of the trick camera department at the Paramount from Long Island studio.

Noel Francis, Evelyn Knapp and Ginger Rogers are among the girls who have graduated into features from the short subject field. They all worked in comedies made in the East by Pathe. Now Miss Francis is with Fox, while Miss Knapp has also accepted a Coast contract. Miss Rogers is with Paramount.

Ray Mack, well known revue producer and dance director, is one of the busiest Vitaphone short subject directors on the Coast. Among the other directors with the Vitaphone comedy department are Carter De Haven, Del Lord and Herman Raymaker. William McGann, Sid Silvers and Tenny Wright have also directed for Vitaphone.

Lewis R. Foster has many comedy shorts to his credit. He began his directorial career at Hal Roach's studio and has directed Harry Langdon and Laurel and Hardy. He is now with Larry Darmour.

Wallace Fox and Bob De Lacy are among the directors of Western shorts for Pathe. Monte Carter, Fred Guiol and Frank T. Davis are directing comedy shorts for Pathe.

HEAVY DUTY SPOTLIGHT
HAS RANGE OF 200 FEET

Clear white, crispy spots or floods for distances up to 200 feet are easily accomplished, it is claimed with the Heavy Duty Art Spotlight made by the Chicago Cinema Equipment Co. The lamp is said to be equally as satisfactory for projecting effects.

But, with a view to sturdiness and evenly balanced, this spotlight is double-lined throughout, is exceptionally roomy and is air-cooled by extra ventilation on top and bottom. The side bracket is large, and the fine tension, combined with the fact that the whole is mounted on a simplex type pedestal, permits a freely moving spot, especially for following, without vibration.

The housing is made of Russian iron, while the front and back are of cast aluminum with ventilated condenser holder. The lamp accommodates any standard color wheel, an eight-inch color frame or lens holder for effects. It is fitted with apertures of 50 to 75 amper capacity and six-inch condensing lens. Operating handles extend through the rear of the head.

In addition to the simplex type pedestal, there is a less expensive model with an adjustable pipe standard with tripod base.

VOCALITE
Sound Screen

Vocalite combines a distinct, clear transmission of sound with sharp brilliant pictures. It enables better projection because of its mechanical, scientific and optical features, the result of painstaking study on the part of the laboratory staff of Ideal Sound Co. It is 100% Perfect for Light, Sound, Color and Third Dimension. Descriptive Literature on Application.

New Poster Firm Started

A new poster firm, known as the Reliable Poster Mounting Company, has started in business at 449 West 37th St., in association with W. A. Grace and Charles Solowdowsky. They are conducting the establishment, which will handle theatrical art work, display signs, menu cards, banners, and poster mountings.

Carnival—Importance of properly lighting sheet music for musician and conductor has been carefully studied by the Liberty Music Stand Co., which has issued a folder of the various stands now being furnished to theater chains. More that 70 houses throughout the country have already installed the company equipment, it is declared.

While the organ console is considered the most difficult to light the company has the Liberty Seven Light Set which, it states, is the only type that completely lights the console from top to bottom without glare or reflection. This set is said to be absolutely safe from fire and all high tension wires are inclosed in the tubular frames outside the console. The standard volt circuit runs clear and the 14 lamps are used. If more lights are required on the music rack 25-watt clear tubular lamps can be used for the upper two lamps. Special console lighting is set. Liberty declares, are standard lamps used; one master switch and dimmer controls the set. The lighting, it says, is a soft lighting. For making repairs or adjustment the lamp frames will swing out of the way; or, can be easily removed entirely, an emergency work light is provided with 10 feet of cord.

Other equipment includes the Straight Line No. 1 lamp stand as the type most closely suited to the present performance and has sufficient room for large scores. For piano lighting there is No. 14 set of two lamps placed relatively the same as for the organ music rack; each lamp is mounted on a regular base and placed at each end of the piano keyboard, in front of the piano; the switch controlling the two lamps is at the left.

SPECIAL LIBERTY STANDS FOR MUSIC LIGHTING

Liberty lighting offers the greatest advantage in simplicity, in the entire installation of the lighting system. The set, it is said, is easy to install and the kind of apparatus is made to last. The set includes two 205-watt clear tubular lamps and the master switch. Liberty declares, the set is the only type that is lit for the console from top to bottom without glare and the master switch is easy to operate. The lamps are not harmful in any way, the company states, and they are the only type to be used in the lighting of the console. It is recommended, Liberty says, that the master switch be placed in a convenient position and that the switch be operated only when the master switch is in the line of sight.

Liberty also recommends that the music stand be placed in a position where it can be easily reached from the console. Liberty declares, the music stand is an essential part of the musical arrangement and it should be easily accessible for the conductor and the musician. Liberty also recommends that the music stand be placed in a position that allows the musician to see the music without any obstruction. Liberty says, the music stand should be placed in a position that allows the musician to see the music from the top of the stand to the bottom. Liberty also recommends that the music stand be placed in a position that allows the conductor to see the music from the top of the stand to the bottom.
THEATER EQUIPMENT

New Electric Mixing Process Blends Colors Effectively

Reflective of the artistic qualities brought out in paints, a more natural blending of color lighting has been effected through the medium of Kirk Color Control electric illumination. This new system of lighting is second to none in mixing of colors. The first sign of its kind reposes on the largest frame in the world which was built by W. H. Bredon, general manager of the new Warner Hollywood, at Broadway from 51st to 52nd St. Significant is the fact that the system was only recently perfected and has proved widely attractive to those who have longed for its magnificence as it nightly blends its various colors with the changing of the automatic switches.

Each of the letters in the sign is 9½ feet high and is composed of a cellular steel face. The display board, or sign face, appears as a bank of cells or compartments. These cells can be of various sizes: squares, triangles, hexagons, or even completely square depending on the purpose for which the sign is to be used. In each cell there are three lamps, namely red, green and blue; but the cells are constructed so that these lamps are not directly visible to the observer. Each lamp is controlled separately so that it is possible by turning on the three lamps individually, or in combination, to get full range of the spectral colors.

With this arrangement any desired design in color can be flashed on the board and by the control mechanism, 32 completely different designs can be flashed at any desired speed, from one change an evening to the complete cycle in a few seconds, before the sequence is repeated, it is claimed. It is possible to change the layout, or copy on the display board without the necessity of changing the outside lamp bank in any way. Changes of the changing is accomplished in a short time at the control mechanisms or flasher. Interchangeability of the design permits moving the installations, allowing a 100% salvage, Color Control states.

Color control is made up of “pigeon holes,” and the cells slant downward on floors and ceilings as they extend to the back wall of the “pigeon hole.” On the back wall are three lamps, green, red and blue. Cells ranging from 2” x 2” up to 8” x 8” are made and in special cases irregular cells can be built as in the links which join the names of Warner Bros. and First National.

Many colors are obtainable when dimmers are hooked up with the color control mechanism. This allows each incandescent lamp to be dimmed from full strength down to “off” and vice versa without a perceptible jump. When each light has two adjustments there are eight colors: (1) off, (2) on. Thus, with two adjustments on each light, and three lights available, total number of colors obtainable becomes two raised to the third power, or 8. Twenty-seven colors are available when each light has three adjustments: (1) off, (2) 1-3 on, (3) 2-3 on, (4) full on.

Since each cell or square has its individual circuits running to the control mechanism, any picture, attack or series of words can be run off. A flick of Color Control mechanism wipes the slate clean and new pictures, new words, new color effects, etc., are available merely by setting up any desired action of the control mechanism.

Four More for Kipp Device
Dallas—Kipp sound equipment has been ordered for the Lyric at Monahan; Palace, Brownwood, and Rubin’s theaters at Silverton and Happy.

U. S. Scenic Equipping Two Omaha—U. S. Scenic Studies has been given contracts to equip the Atlantic, Atlantic, 1a. and the Tarkio, Tarkio, Mo.

TECHNICIANS DEVELOP SOUND CHECKING DEVICE

A sound checking device, by which it is possible to test focus, exciting lamp current and output value of the photo-electric cell (which governs the quality of sound reproduction), has been developed by J. S. Winick, chief projectionist and George Poporic, research engineer, of the Paramount Long Island studios, with the approval of George E. Stewart, chief sound engineer.

A small alteration on a sound unit is made by adding a special switch which releases the flow of the photo-electric cell current, either for measuring or normal reproduction. Two portable boxes—one containing a microammeter and the other, a set of “B” batteries and the necessary wire. This system can be hooked up in a few minutes and the sound unit of the projection machine can thereby be brought to a perfect balance. All guess-work is eliminated and a positive setting is the result, which guarantees a high grade quality of sound reproduction, it is declared.

COINOMETER AIDS CHANGE SOLUTION FOR CASHIERS

Theater cashiers doing out change all day will find considerable relief in the new Coinometer, quick and dependable change machine, now being distributed by National Theater Supply. One press on the keys delivers the exact change required and provision is made for paying change when 25, 50, 75 cents or even a dollar is tendered, it is declared.

The Coinometer offers the advantage of pressing the key that corresponds to the amount of the sale and the machine automatically calculates and pays out the difference in change.

Opens Pittsburgh Office
Pittsburgh—U. S. A. Fire Douser has opened a local office at 1030 Forbes St. to handle sales and service. The projector control handled by this company is entirely mechanical, eliminating electrical contacts, and many of the big circuits already adopted it as part of their regular equipment.

SPLENDID, INTEREST-GRASPING, IMPRESSIVE DIRECTION OF THE WORLD WAR. DISTINCTLY AN ARTISTIC ACHIEVEMENT.

Based on tremendously popular play now current all over the world. This is the first American-made version of the popular stage play, and it is a credit to the country. The story is told with such skill that one is not aware of the slight plot. One of the results is a picture without a woman in the cast, although a love affair involving Capt. Stanhope is referred to in the dialogue. The theme concerns a group of nerve-shattered British officers at the front line and their reactions and experiences during the horrors of war. It is a reenactment of the incident, but for the most part, it’s a reenactment of war at its cruel worst. Acting throughout the picture is splendid and is handled, as Capt. Stanhope excelling. The direction is wholly intelligent and sympathetic. People who like unembellished, often brutal, are sure to be enthralled by this picture.

“Cock o’ the Walk”

with Joseph Schildkrout, Myrna Loy

Sono Art World Wide  Time, 1 hr., 14 mins.

EXCELLENT PRODUCTION PICTURE. WELL DIRECTED STORY OF A SWAGGERING DON JUAN, ABLY PLAYED BY JOSEPH SCHILDKRUT IN HIS MOST POPULAR VEIN.

Joseph Schildkrout is the main activity in this comedy drama of a gay philanderer and musician who makes the ladies tumble right and left and not only receives their favors but takes their money as well. He is good in his role (Myrna Loy) from drowning, makes a bargain with her whereby she marries him and promises not to commit suicide for a year, at the end of which time she may divorce him. Within the year she returns him and the suicide is off. For Schildkrout it’s a fat swaggering role of the type that has been given him in the past. There is a good comic touch to the story, which has been nicely directed.

“Ladies of Leisure”

with Barbara Stanwyck, Ralph Graves, Lowell Sherman

GRASPING UNSUSPECTINGLY.

Columbia  Time, 1 hr., 38 mins.

STRONG BOX-OFFICE PROJECTION WITH BARBARA STANWYCK GIVING FINE PERFORMANCE SHOULD REGISTER.

Columbia has a winner in this one. It packs a strong popular appeal punch, largely through the grand performance of the swell-looking Barbara Stanwyck, and Director Frank Capra has built up a human interest climax that will send the patrons home satisfied. Story is about a party girl who renounces upon meeting a rich lad artist and becoming his model. Drama is built up by the refusal of the boy to show any sentiments, the girl, whom he suspects of being a gold-digger. Opposition of the boy’s parents, the efforts of the crook, elegantly played by Lowell Sherman, the creeps, and other elements all add heavily to the story, and other complications help to sustain interest throughout.

“The Benson Murder Case”

Paramount  Time, 1 hr., 5 mins.

STILL REFUSES TO CATCH A GOOD BOX-OFFICE RAIDING.owell HEADS A CAINS-AR-CASE.

“The Benson Murder Case” brings another S. S. Van Dyke mystery to theaudible screen. This one outshines the others. The picture is good in everything that the others are. The film gradually builds up the suspense until it reaches a crescendo that grips you like a vice. At no time does the unfolding of the story weaken the interest of the spectator in the events that lead up to the discovery of the murderer. But that moment one’s guess is as good as another’s. And the ingenious method by which the whole thing is set up is always sufficient to grant them an extension of time to permit them to cover the losses might be guilty of his death as well as for the death of his wife’s lover, Chico, played by Philip Vano, who is played in fine fashion by William Powell. Direction: Michael Curtin, with David Moxon, Eugene Pallette, Paul Lukas, William Boye, E. H. Calvert, Richard Tucker, Mary Bertha Mische Auer, Otto Yarascho, Charles Murphy, Dick Bruce. Adapt: Harry Landa; Author, S. S. Van Dine; Director, Bartlett Cormack; Dialogue, Arthur, M. J. Stuart; Monitor Man, A. J. Stott; Monitor Man, no list.

“Guilty?”

with Virginia Valli, John Holland

Columbia  Time, 1 hr., 15 mins.

FAIR PROGRAMMER WITH RITE BUT MODERATELY INTERESTING STORY CONTAINING A NUMBER OF DRAMATIC MOMENTS.

The story of “Guilty?” manages to command a certain amount of attention by virtue of a number of highly dramatic moments. Even in the face of the oldness of the tale the film could have been made into far better entertainment had it been treated with less looseness. The plot has to do with a young man who is found guilty of a circumstantial murder of his stepfather, the father of his fiancee. As he is about to go to the gallows a suicide note is found in the old man’s bible, which makes for a conventional happy ending. Though the outcome is not hard to divine, the film succeeds in creating some good suspense in the course of its events. The picture would have been a more effective piece of work had it been given a better treatment. The cast is no more than adequate.

Maurice Chevalier in

“The Big Pond”  Time, 1 hr., 15 mins.

Chevalier again splendid in a Swift and Amusing Contribution to American Big Business, Both Star and Story Box Office. Nicely.

Based on a stage play of several seasons back. Chevalier is seen as an impoverished Frenchman who makes good in the dishing world, and his employer, whom he has met abroad. The picture opens with some charming Venetian scenes after which it switches to New York where Chevalier, as Pierre, the French go-getter, comes through in spite of odds placed in his way by such stars as Genevieve Tobin, C. S. Battles, Howland Chamberlain, Sidney Blackmer, Mischa Auer, Otto Yarascho, Charles Murphy, Dick Bruce. Adapt: Harry Landa; Author, S. S. Van Dine; Director, Bartlett Cormack; Dialogue, Arthur, M. “The Benson Murder Case”  Time, 1 hr., 5 mins.

Still refuse to catch a good box-office raiding. Powell heads a Cain’s case.
Joan Crawford in "Montana Moon"

M-G-M  Time, 1 hr., 30 mins.

box office picture with western theme providing complete entertainment and rich in humor and alluring music. Joan Crawford fine.

"Montana Moon" offers a strange combination of the outdoor and the sophisticated, inasmuch as the film is a ranch and much of the action takes place outdoors, but most of the characters are ultra-modern. This is easy to understand when it is explained that the story has to do with a group of city folk whooping up on a Montana ranch to which they have been invited by the owner, a New Yorker. His daughter marries one of his ranchmen. The story comes to grief when they discover their views on life clash. Here is a film that provides generous entertainment. Those who like close to nature will be satisfied; those who like to get close to nature will revel in the inspiring glimpses of the outdoors that are shown. The music is nice and plenty of good acting Joan Crawford is splendid.

Cast: Joan Crawford, Walter Pidgeon, Black Brown, Dorothy Sebastian, Ricardo Cortez, Benno Rubin, Karl Dane, Lloyd Ingraham, Cliff Edwards, Kenneth Harlan, Lewis Stone, Royal Monckton, Donald Meek.

Director: Malcolm St. Clair; Authors: Syl Winston, Frank Butler; Photography: Joe Folks, Edward Sedgwick, B. H. O. Daniels; Music: Harry Jones, Moster Mun, not listed.

Direction, fine. Photography, great.

The Woman Racket

with Tom Moore, Blanche Sweet

M-G-M  Time, 1 hr., 10 mins.

inferior melodrama with stilted dialogue and unoriginal production dealing generally of a poor order.

This film is decidedly second-rate entertainment. There has been poured into all the melodramatic spoons that they could be filled. The acting as a whole is of small help. Tom Moore and John Miljan are the only members of the cast who succeed to some degree in rising above the mediocrity of the film. The story is about a night club hostess who marries a cowhand guy who grows tired of the domestic life. She goes back to her old job and gets herself involved in a murder. Her husband straightens matters in the end.

Cast: Tom Moore, Blanche Sweet, Sally Eilers, Johnny Allen, John Miljan, Thelma Todd, Lew Kelly, Tom London, Eugene Borden, John Lepper, Harry Grant, Robert Travers.

Screening: Robert Ober, Albert Kelly; Authors: Philo Dunning, Frances Ducommun; Photography: Albert del Shelly Le Vino; Editors: Baut White, Anson Stevenson; Camera: Verner L. Shea.

Short Subjects

Pathé Audio Review No. 16

Running Time, 10 mins.

This number is fairly entertaining. A sentimental touch is added by the singing of "Sweet Alice Ben Bolt" by the Audio Review Quartette in a Numbers One performance. The story is an engaging one, but when the love interest is composed. There are some nice views of the Tiber and glimpses of some of Rome's historical structures. Last of all is there a little jingle played on the aid of dummies.

"The Lightning Express"

Universal  Time, 20 mins.

Fast Thrills

"The Lightning Express" contains just the sort of stuff that serial fans swallow without asking questions. This one is no better and no worse than others. True enough it has incidents that are just a bit too far-fetched and moments when it sinks a bit stupidly but the film has qualities that are sure-fire with those who like this kind of film fare. There is no end of action in it and enough excitement to win it a favor with young film-goers. The chief players are Louise Lorraine and Lane Chandler, and the director Harry Macrae.

Adventure Pictures is the producer. The plot concerns the struggle between a railroad and a group of ranchmen who are set on preventing an extension over the land owned by their boss's ward.

"Sixteen Sweeties"

Pathé  Time, 22 mins.

Good Revue

"Sixteen Sweeties" is a talbord revue of good entertainment quality. It has above all else the unique Harry Delmar, who is the author as well as the director of it. There are a number of gags certain of provoking a lot of loud laughter. The film has some nice singing and several dance numbers that are really well done. Others in the cast are Thelma White, Bob Carney, Sil Wills, Harry McNaughton, George McKay and Eddie Elkins and his orchestra. They are all good.

"Spills and Thrills"

Pathé  Time, 12 mins.

Grantsland Rice Sportlight

If the lover of water sports wants a treat, here it is. Those who go in for thrills will find plenty to satisfy them in this short. The scene is Florida. Things are done on the water that would be deemed impossible. This is a fast, exciting film that ought to bring plenty of enjoyment to young and old alike.

YOUNG TALENT KNOCKOUT ON THE CAPITOL STAGE

Those who go to the Capitol this week will witness a corking good number by the stage of the stage. It that theater has been so uncrowded with entertainers yet so crowded with really genuine entertainment. "Broadway Stars of the Future" is the name of the revue, and judging from what the young talent that comprises it is capable of doing one must confess the title is an apt one. These young smartly combine the spirit and enthusiasm of the amateur with the touch of the professional.

Players from Japan feature Roxy Program

An unusual novelty, a big troupe of Japanese dramatic players, who recently gave a series of performances in Broadway legitimate stage, is the headline number on the Roxy stage program this week. The bill they present is "Love of the Cherry Blossom," apparently a Japanese counterpart of the Helen of Troy incident, performed in a loud and demonstrative manner that is at all times amusing even if it always intelligible. Other items on the program include an appropriate Easter tableau, "The Palms," with Jose Santiago leading the Roxy Chorus, while the Roxy Ballet Corps does a springlike dance in front of the colorful ensemble. An ingeniously conceived offering is "The Porcelain Clock," wherein a man and woman are transformed into an ornamental clock, flanked by candelabras of corresponding size, formed pedestals for Patricia Bowman, Loo Reitzig, Clarice Goldner, Claudia Loytova, Anita Gordon, Charlotte Mount and Grace Love, who come to life and do a neat routine of footwork. "Flappers on Parade" displays the Roxettes, in spring costumes and gaily plumed, doing an effective fancy drill.

business throughout the world, except in the U. S., Canada and New Zealand. A received in the Kuchenmeister group are the Sprinkel of Amsterdam, Tobis of Berlin, Associated Sound Film Industries of London, and Tobis of Paris. Tobis Klangfilm also is affiliated with the DeForest patent, owned by General Talking Pictures in the U. S.

The German firm occupies an exclusive position in producing and licensing other to produce as well as exhibiting talkers in Germany and Switzerland. Since these companies obtained an injunction against Western Electric, Warner has been the only American film company exhibiting talkers in Germany. This was done under a temporary license from the Tobis Klangfilm group, and the present arrangement will supercede that.

Officials of Western Electric stated last night that they place no significance on the Warner-Tobis deal, inasmuch as out of 24 infringement suits instituted in seven different countries, the foreign groups have been able to keep W. E. out of Germany only. The W. E. officials said they could see no effect of the present deal on the operating situation of W. E. either abroad or in this country.

George E. C. Queen, general manager of Vitaphone, represented Warner in the negotiations, while Milton Diamond, New York lawyer, acted for the Kuchenmeister group.

HERE SEEMS no stop-profits and security tomorrow as well as today. The foundation on the making of a delivery in the face of the setting pretty, financially and other-

Columbia's "Ladies of Leisure" has been booked into the Capitol for its New York premiere.
Vitaphone Varieties now brings new potent showmanship elements to the short feature field with this sensational series of "BELIEVE IT OR NOT"

By ROBERT L. RIPLEY

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT" commands a popular appeal second to no other feature of its kind on the screen.

Ripley is the highest paid artist in America today.

He receives more than 2500 letters a day.

He has a daily audience of more than twenty million readers in 220 newspapers in which his "Believe It Or Not" drawings appear.
Chicago's premier showmen play Fox in their Publix theatres because their audiences demand the best entertainment, and when you talk "best" you naturally mean Fox.

Now Playing
McVICKER’S Theatre
Western Electric Quality for $2950

The sound equipment accepted as the world’s standard—at weekly average rental as low as $42.28, including service.

Small theatres can now use the earning power of Western Electric equipment to make rental payments out of weekly income—without down payment.

New equipment designed by Bell Telephone Laboratories, and economies of large scale production and distribution—bring within reach of every theatre a proven box-office stimulator.

Supervision by ERPI engineers assures the same high quality installations as in over 5,500 Western Electric equipped theatres.
Service. Electrical Research Products’ organization assures for the life of the contract the same efficient service that gives these theatres 150,000 performances weekly with almost no interruption.

This new plan applies to all types of equipments, including those for the larger theatres.

Shipping dates will be scheduled in the order of acceptance of contracts.

Complete information and survey of your theatre’s requirements may be had quickly by communicating with our nearest sales office.

Western Electric Sound System

The Voice of Action

Northern Electric in Canada
ALL through motion picture history the independent producer and distributor has been the virtual "safety valve" that has kept this industry free from monopoly; he has kept alive competition that has maintained a consistency of quality in product and, too, has held costs within reason. His fight to remain in business without theaters of his own as an assured outlet for his product has been a game battle. The independent distributor is the greatest friend of the independent exhibitor and a boon to the welfare of this industry.

Bringing Plays Literally to Screen Caused Many Failures

The most dreadful failures in talkie talkies happened when we attempted to make a "faithful" photograph of a stage play, without regard for the distinctive advantages of the screen technique.

Suggests New Designation for Silent Picture House

SHORTLY, when we speak of a "cinema" we shall think of a wired house; some other term will have to be devised for the establishment which carries a "silent" policy into the last ditch. This does not necessarily mean that the silent film is dead, or even doomed; but the silent theater already wears an obsolescent appearance. One of the most interesting problems for speculative members of the trade is, in fact, to decide whether a "revival" of the silent film, if it is likely to occur at all, can take place in theaters which are a percentage per cent talkie equipped.

WARNER BAXTER is due to arrive in the Big Town tomorrow morning for a four weeks' respite from the Fox lot in Hollywood, and incidentally for his first Eastern visit in three years. He stopped off in Columbus to receive the congratulations of the old home town for having been awarded the M. P. Academy honor for the greatest performance of 1929. Otis Skinner, now touring in "Papa Juan," is due to reach Hollywood about the end of this month to start under his First National contract. Julian Johnson, Paramount associate producer, has arrived here from the Coast, to edit the Byrd Expedition film. Mitzi Green, Paramount's youngest featured player, arrives in New York today to make personal appearances at local Paramount houses.

Eddie Cantor and family have ensconced themselves in the Beverly Hills home of Byron Morgan, author, who is going to Europe for a sojourn. Florenz Ziegfeld is expected to land on the Coast shortly in connection with the filming of Eddie Cantor's vehicle, "Whoopie." under the Sam Goldwyn banner, after which Ziegfeld is expected to start his own company.

Jack Buchanan, English musical comedy star, may linger for a while in the film capital, with M-G-M having contracted to give him lots of work after he finishes "Monte Carlo" for Paramount.

Jew Fields is back in New York after making a feature picture with Joe Weber for M-G-M on the West Coast, and he will now turn his famous dialect in the direction of the Vitaphone microphones, being signed for a series of Varieties. Rudy Vallée will make a speech to the sales force of George F. Baker & Co., 1457 Broadway, at noon tomorrow, on the subject of salesmanship from an author's standpoint. Frederick Lonsdale, English playwright, who nearly was signed a few months ago by Joseph M. Schenck to write for the talkers, is due in port tomorrow aboard the Olympic.

Howard Dietz and Felix Feist return to New York today from conferences with M-G-M officials on the Coast, Harold Raives, former local exhibitor, has joined the Vitaphone home office staff. Among the industry's song writers to be heard over the radio last night were Sammy Fain and Benny Davis, who is appearing at the Capitol this week. Sammy sang on the Majestic, while Benny was featured on the major Bowes Capitol Family program. Among those drumming cakes at Sardi's the other day were Maxene Dietrich, Laura La Plante, Mrs. Josef Von Sternberg and Frank Cambrin. Al Bundy has booked "The Conquest of the Cascades," General Electric talking short, into the Roxy, where it is now current.

Sarah Y. Mason, writer for M-G-M, is bound for a European vacation aboard the Leviathan.

M-G-M Launches $1,000,000 Building Campaign

Good-Bye Hip
—the show must go on
—By JACK ALICOTO—

HOW THIS WORLD in general and industry in particular does move. Twenty-five years ago last Saturday the Hippodrome first opened its doors. The crowds were enormous and speculators charged 20 frogs a passport. At that time it was the finest and greatest theater in the world, and, by way of relativity, pictures were then being shown in store-rooms and women had not forgotten how to blush. Barely 20 years later this great playhouse is considered old-fashioned and for the past five years has been doomed to the scrap heap. Perhaps in this instance the location was wrong in the first place. At any rate it points to one rather fateful fact, that, although a quarter of a century is a comparatively short span of time, it is more than the average life of the ordinary theater, large or small. Amusement, and the manner of serving it to the public, must be marked by certain definite progress with each new year. The so-called showman and theater owner who is not constantly up with the parade is soon left standing by the wayside. Such has been the history of the show business since its beginning.

A Digest of Current Opinion

Importance of Projectionist Emphasized by Film Critic

THE impression is widespread that the faults and virtues of sound reproduction lie almost wholly with the actual taking of the picture, and that the operator in the theater has only to press a few buttons and thereafter superimpose the sound while it unreeled itself. That this misconception should be so prevalent is only natural when you consider the enormous publicity which centers around the picture studios and the corresponding obscurity of those less glamorous spots whose duties are shrouded in technical mysteries.

Gives Ethics Code Lessons Danger of Federal Censorship

THE Hearst organization has adopted a code of ethics for the production of talking pictures. Adherence by the producers to this code will do much to relieve the outside pressure of the legislative bodies, and eliminate all necessity for Federal censorship. It will be more beneficial and far more effective to do our own house cleaning than to have the Federal government find it necessary to do it for us.

DOLORES DEL RIO

IN

"THE BAD ONE"

WITH

EDMUND LOWE

TWO OF SCREENDOM'S GREATEST MONEY STARS IN A SMASH HIT THAT HAS S. R. O. WRITTEN ALL OVER IT

Picture Dolores Del Rio as a rollicking flirt, the dancing favorite of a waterfront cafe. Immune from love, she makes overtures to all the men customers to humor them into squandering away their money. Dolores Del Rio in a gay, breezy, colorful role, the most dynamic portrayal of her career.

Edmund Lowe elaborates his success in "What Price Glory?" and "The Cock-Eyed World" as a wise-cracking great lover of the Seven Seas, a two-fisted, rough-and-ready hombre, with a girl in every port. Watch him fall for Dolores. Tempestuous sweethearts, they wage the battle of hearts along the colorful waterfronts and carry it on past the mires of misunderstanding and temperament to triumphant glory.

The master achievement of director George Fitzmaurice's career.

Big time stars, a big time supporting cast, a whooping good story, romance, fun, adventure — "The Bad One" measures up to the highest box-office standards. It's slated for record highs. Fit it into your schedule now and smile the smile of a wise showman.
Fowler Studio Starts On Definite Schedule

With the return of Herman Fowler, head of the Fowler Studios, from an important business conference in Chicago with the National Alliance of Independent Theater Owners, production is being planned at the Beachwood studios of the company to start on a definite schedule.

Fowler announced that while in the east he opened his new Chicago exchange, making the fourth exchange to be opened by this company since February this year.

Series six, seven, and eight of the "Fowler Studio" series have been completed, bringing the total number of these short vaudeville numbers up to forty single reels out of the 156 originally planned for the year or nearly a third of the program.

Columbia Gets "Brothers"

Columbia has purchased screen and dialogue rights to "Brothers" and Bert Lytell will play his original stage role in it.

"Molosoff" for Rogers

Buddy Rogers will be starred in "Molosoff" by Paramount as soon as he finishes work in "Follow Thru."

Bancroft Back from Vacation

George Bancroft has returned from a vacation at Palm Springs.

Peers Instead of Bronson

Joan Peers has replaced Betty Bronson in "Rain or Shine," Columbia film in which Joe Cook will be starred.

Ames in "Holiday"

Robert Ames will play opposite Ann Harding in "Holiday," which E. H. Griffith is directing.

St. John in "Two Eggs"

Al. St. John has been signed by Paramount for a role in "Two Eggs" to be directed by Monte Carter.

Durkin in "Tom Sawyer"

Junior Durkin has been cast by Paramount to play the name role in "Tom Sawyer," which is being remade as an all-talker. John Cromwell has been assigned the direction.

Report King May Quit P-F-L

Dennis King will not make a second film for Paramount, according to reports.

Carl McBride Promoted

Carl McBride has been promoted to direct Vitaphone shorts.

Rennie With First National

James Rennie has been signed by First National on a long-term contract.

Roles for J. C. Nugent, Zusy Pitts

J. C. Nugent and Zusy Pitts are added to the cast of M-G-M's "The Big House."

A Little from "Lots"

By RALPH WILK

CRANE WILBUR is busy at M-G-M. His "Children of Pleasure" was recently produced at the Culver City studio and he is now at work on an original. His sketch, "The Rope," attracted much attention at the Writers' Club.

Melville Brown is one of RKO's busiest directors. He is now directing "She's My Weakness" (formerly "Tommy"), following which he will direct "The Silver Horde." He also held the megaphone on "Lovin' the Ladies," starring Richard Dix. He also directed Dix's initial picture, "The Love Doctor," which was made by Paramount.

Alice O'Neill, who designed the costumes for "Bride 60," "Coquette," "Be Yourself" and other United Artists' pictures, will furnish the costumes for Irving Berlin's initial picture at the U. A. Studio. Miss O'Neill also designed the costumes for "Married in Hollywood."

Fred Guiol, former Hal Roach director, is directing "Lonesome Husband," a Pathé comedy short, starring Gene Morgan. This is Guiol's third picture at Pathé.

Van Nest Polglase, head of the Paramount art department, has returned from New York, where he hobnobbed with Charles "Chick" Kirk, William N. Sautler, Ernest Gebhardt and other former associates. Polglase was a member of the Paramount Long Island studio art department before coming to the coast.

Joseph Santley, who has just completed directing "Swing High for Pathe, his first production on the coast, has been presented with a silver megaphone with the signatures of 58 members of his company as a token of esteem.

Al Bonsberg is spending his vacation in Honolulu. The M-G-M writer is expected to return with a fresh supply of Hawaiian jokes and anecdotes.

Sam Wineland has completed the synchronization of the foreign versions of "Halluciajus," "Chasing Rainbows," "It's a Great Life" and "Devil May Care." William Axt did the scoring of the music.

A Digest of Current Opinion

To Limit the Bigness of a Film, Says Fox Organ

There is a certain type of theater manager who, when an attraction breaks house records for him, becomes so sold on it that he can't begin to imagine anything bigger. But experience has proved over and over again that the possibilities of the motion picture business are greater than such doubting managers have ever dreamed. It is even bigger than the most enthusiastic managers dream. We are still far from touching the roof of the sky. The word gross means big. But it doesn't mean biggest. There is always a figure that's greater than gross. Even full capacity plus all your standing room at every performance is not the roof of the sky in the show business.

"Fox Progress" cores Lack of Cooperation among Independent Exhibitors

VERILY, psychology of the so-called independent motion picture theater owner is truly an enigma—ine comprehensible if we may be permitted to use the word. Cooperation is defined "to operate together for a common object." History of the independent theater owner shooting at that mark, records that he has been a mighty poor shot. In fact, cooperation would appear to be the most disused word in the parlance of his vocabulary.

M-G-M's rights also cover equip- ment for cameras, Schenck stated. The company will not definitely adopt any company's wide screen procedure unless additional costs it will im- pose upon the industry. M-G-M is now making "Billy the Kid" on wide film as its first picture, Schenck said, and pointed out that it is experimental. King Vidor is directing, with John Mack Brown as the principal player.

Schenck believes that in the next year programs, color will be used sparingly, as in the case of his own company's M-G-M wide screen projection, as a unit separate from Fox, he said.

Gorgeousness, Ultra-Modernity Typified in Warner's Hollywood

Marking a new era in theater con- struction, Warner's Hollywood on Broadway will open with impressive ceremonies on Tuesday evening, a fine tribute and memorial to Sam Warner, to whose memory it has been dedicated. The premiere at- traction is "Hold Everything, and after a detailed inspection of this gorgeous palace of the cinema, it looks as if Warners have indeed held everything for one grand smash presentation in this ultra-modern theater.

From the moment you enter the lobby, you are impressed with the note of modern- ity that has been skillfully blended with the French Baroque style decoration through out. Beautiful mirrors alternate with rich draperies and marble. As you pass into an entrance which leads directly into a magnificent oval rotunda which serves as the grand foyer. Here the French Baroque style reaches its highest expression in a design and hand wrought wrought iron and marble. The outstanding impression is one of richness and dignity without a single bl равновес или tawdry note.

Now you ascend the grand staircase that winds gracefully to the mahogany-paneled second floor that permits a fine view of the grand foyer. Here you find an infinite variety of marble- enameled wall and floor enameled wall and floor decorations featuring panels and curved marble arches. The ceiling is exquisitely carved, a perfect oval, and the two marble statuary above the proscenium arch and which form an intricate puzzle to the eye are covered in the murals of an extensive range. All these murals represent each of the 12 months, suggesting to the audience that the theater is devoted for their entertainment and comfort throughout the year.

The stage is enormous, and has been skillfully designed to entertain legitimate inspirations at a few hours notice. There is a con- cealed orchestra pit that can be raised, and the stage proper is larger than that of most legitimate Broadway houses, equipped with bridges, counter weights, and all the other special necessary perquisites of the most modern stages. An enormous swing board back stage controls the lighting system through out, also manipulating a battery of spot lights operable from the projection booth.

Among other unique and original features used for the first time in any theater, you will find the incredibly enormous balcony ceiling which slopes up to the footlights and extends throughout the entire stage. Just one of the scientifically perfected innovations to meet the demands of the new acoustics for the new era of modern sound pictures. From the balcony the view is perfect in all parts.

Now you return to the grand foyer by a beautiful marble stairway, and enter a magni-ificent lounge. It is an oval shaped room, shaped room, with a marble cornice. Here you find with refreshments, a millionaires' mansion,and perfectly finished architectural design.

So, with the feelings of one who has conducted through a fairy palace, we pour out to the balcony on the right wall, we find a unique bronze plaque of Sam Warner, for whom the entire building was erected as a memorial by the Warners, being a sitting tribute to the man with the dream of sound-on-film came true.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and M. P. Operators are deadlocked over the question of jurisdiction over maintenance of sound equipment. The projectionists at present are doing the maintenance work and the electrical union is demanding that they be allowed to extend their scope to embrace this activity.

A statement issued yesterday by the electrical workers pointed out that an agreement was reached at the conference held on the subject in Washington recently.

Fox Companies Now in Shape to Forge Ahead

55,000,000 Securities Are Being Issued at 6 Per Cent

(Continued from Page 11) Board of Fox Film Corp. has fixed the price of its new shares at $1,500,000 per cent in the amount of $12,000,000, as pro-\red for in the amendments to the act approved last September and\red in Albany yesterday.

Fox Film has issued its one-year per cent obligation in the amount of $55,000,000. This will enable Fox film to clear off its indebtedness and leave it with ample capital. The total amount necessary to clear off the current indebtedness of the two companies was in excess of $100,- 000,000.

Commenting on the situation,

larske said:

"During the next few months, with \of the current indebtedness of these companies out of the way, the management can devote its entire time to the workings out of better operating conditions and carrying it out in a well-laid expansion program.

Arge economies are being instituted in many departments and will save the companies in excess

$1,500,000 a year. It is worth of note that a large part of this will be affected by the consolidation of the two studios at Hollywood.

The financial condition of the company has been such that it has been heavily burdened for a long time passing under a heavy and very interest charges and large deduits for short term notes. The fiscal plan which has been put in effect will save considerably over 1,000,000 a year in interest charges.

The present management because of the company will have made sufficient strides during the past 15 years to enable it to permanently cut economically its present year obligation, then, saving millions of dollars as compared with its previous situation.

The only consideration paid to the holders outside of a nominal discount on the notes was 300,000 three-year warrants for the Fil "A" stock at $33 per share. The bankers will make an announcement early next week of the securities to be issued.

Lennon Allyn Signs

New Contract with Fox

contract with Fox, to continue as director of advertising and publicity.

cording this season's pictures.

Eisenstein Gives His Views On the Nature of the Scenario

A SCREEN scenario is no stage piece. The drama is a work that can stand alone, even outside of its effective presentation in the theater. A scenario, on the other hand, is nothing but the statenographic report of an emotional outwardly projecting for embodiment in a vast number of pictorial shapes. The scenario, which at the worst is written by an ordinary worker at his trade, supplies the traditional optical description of what the spectator is to see. But the secret consists in using the scenario to weld together the links in the chain of events to be shown.

S. M. Eisenstein, Russian director

Conversation, Not Dialogue, Held Need of Talking Films

If the talkies stop emphasizing dialogue and go in for conversation; if they discard their feeble idea of keeping speakers in view; if they learn to use speech and other sound as active parts in a great harmony, of which the moving picture is another part, then they will begin to make a new art of themselves.

Gilbert Selde in "Evening Graphic," New York

Declares Sound Has Created Greater Audience for the Films

The coming of talkies has focussed public attention upon the cinema in a way that has brought untold thousands of new devotees of the screen to the doors of the picture theaters and it has carried the art and industry of cinematography to heights immeasurably greater than would ever have been possible with the silent product alone.

The Lambs' Annual Public Gambol at the Metro Opry House on April 27 should be a fine performance, with all the rehearsals they have had this season gamboiling in films, shows and Wall Street. And a tab newspaper tells of a surgical operation on Bert Lytell's "proboscis," so we looked it up in Webster's word-mangler and find it is only his nose.

Pauline Frederick will play leading lady to Hugh Chisholm Leighton, proxy of Interstate News Co., having taken out a license to wed.

How would you like to have Will Mahoney or Jim Corbett usher you and your femme fancy to your theater seats while Ann Pennington or Helen Morgan hands you your program? That can happen to you, if you are fortunate enough to attend the opening of Warner's "Hollywood" on Tuesday, for all the ushers and program girls will be celebs that night.

Julian Johnson has equipped himself with a railroad mileage ticket and a dog sled to travel over the 30 miles of film of "With Byrd at the South Pole" which he is now editing.

Genial Billy Whitmore of Ergi will handle the publicity on the S.M.P.E. convivial at Washington, May 5.

Dick Watts of the "Herald-Trib" steams on the Milwau-keee Saturday for a six weeks' confab with Budweiser in Berlin, and he also hopes to confer with Herr Pilner and Muenchner...lucky dog!...Oliver Claxton is hitting on high with his film clue in the "Telegraph," having switched from "The New Yorker."...Harry Richman will grab a bunny and an egg Easter morn and hism himself by airmail to Chi to attend premiere of "Puttin' on the Ritz."...Vernon Gray of the Rialto has a hunch "Paramount on Parade" will fittingly celebrate the 15th anniversary of that theater.

Warner Baxter and his wife, Winifred Bryson, are in our midst, Baxter having just come from Hollywood where he tells us he has been doing some picture work. He sauntered down Main Street and chatted with some old cronies, and spoke very nice to several newspaper men....Sidney Skolsky sez that Arthur Hammertin wears only green shirts, Gertrude Lawrence runs "blue" record songs when sad, and Eva Le Gallienne has her dressing room painted blue. It probably all comes from patronizing these Blue Kitchen restaurants.

Rutgers Neilson of Pathe entertained a couple of newspaper men at the afternoon tea served at the Little Picture House, and tomorrow night we are thinking of inviting a couple of big producers there for after-dinner coffee. What a godsend this lil' pitchin' house is turning out to be.

And now we would like to see the Methodist Board for the Regulation of Everything regulate these pasts who walk on the left side of the sidewalk in Broadway traffic jams.

David Flam, blurf creator for Fox Metropolitan, has inaugurated "Surprise Nights" at his theaters, where you can get your weekly groceries for nothing...maybe.

Special Audience O.K.'s Banned War Picture

"High Treason," the Tiffany-Gaumont picture of warfare in 1940, banned by the New York and Pennsylvania state censors, was unanimously endorsed as an intelligent, artistic and entertaining production by an invited audience of about 500 at a special showing and discussion held at the Roehrich Marquee under the auspices of the National Board of Review. The performance was in the nature of a protest against legal censorship.

Following the discussion a resolution was passed condemning the ban on this picture as a form of suppression and restriction on films as a medium of expression.

Warner Will Convene in Atlantic City in May

Although no date has been definitely set, Warners are convinced that the annual national sales convention at Atlantic City this year. With Paramount and 20th already lined up for regional conclaves at the Ambassador for May 16-18, 17 and 18 and May 21, 22, 23 respectively, it is probable that the entire Warner sales contingent will gather at the same hotel for three days on or before May 27.

First National's convention plans are also understood being worked out with a view of holding the conclave at the same hotel in form of a joint session with Warner executives killing two birds with one stone, providing such is the ultimate decision.

Small Chorus Better, Says Hamilton MacFadden

A few girls of unusual dancing and singing ability are preferable for a chorus in pictures in the opinion of Director Hamilton MacFadden, to the traditional ensemble of scores of dancers who do routine steps mechanically. For this reason he selected a sextet from the 100 girls under contract as dancers to Fox Films, to be used in the chorus of the picture, "Are You There?" Edward Dolly, brother of the Dolly Sisters, is training the girls in particular numbers.

M. P. Academy Plans Support for "Will Hays" Code of Ethics

establish a common understanding as to how best to make them effective. “This is the most significant step taken since Will H. Hays announced the new rulings,” Woods said, “and it indicates that the code is regarded as a thoroughly practicable and workable instrument, founded upon common sense and decency and ensuring the highest possible standard morally, and artistically in talking pictures. Also it shows how effectively the industry intends to back it.”

The idea for unified effort in applying the code through different branches of production grew out of a recent meeting of the directors division, according to Woods. A majority of the prominent directors conferred with Fred W. Beebe, executive vice-president of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, and Colonel Jason S. Joy, director of public relations for the Hays office of the organization. “At this meeting, which was held at Academy headquarters,” said Woods, “all of the directors present expressed themselves as heartily in accord with provisions of the code, the only concern being that it would become the accepted criterion of thought and effort within the industry. It could be carried out in good faith, they agreed, without standardizing product or sacrificing the best ideals of art development.” It was pointed out by the Academy’s secretary also that great importance attached to the fact that the men most responsible for the application of the rules—the directors themselves—were first to acknowledge the values of these new rules. They recognized them not so much as a set of restrictions and inhibitions as a guide insuring compliance with the dictates of good taste. A resolution was passed at the meeting,” said Mr. Woods, “recommending that the writers’ branch be called to meet and discuss among themselves, and with both Mr. Beebe and Colonel Joy, the specific operation of the code, thus insuring intelligent cooperation and common understanding. This meeting has been arranged for following this recommendation. It was then decided to broaden the field of activity by including in the invitation, all branches in the production field, including producers, associate producers, supervisors and those in close contact with them, thus establishing channels through which to convey common knowledge to every branch concerned with picture making. Among prominent directors responsible for the movement were Frank Lloyd, Eddie Cline and Esther Reed. Others who lent hearty support included George Fitzmaurice, Al Green and Sidney Franklin, as well as many more who are nationally famous. Producer interest in the code is evidenced, of course, in the fact that it was originally drafted by a committee consisting of Irving Thalberg, Ben Schulberg, Jack Warner and Sol Wurtzel. The initial draft, as prepared by this committee, was subsequently perfected by a joint committee of nine, including the first named: William Le Baron, Charles Christie, Charles Sullivan and Joseph Schenck, head of United Artists. Before the final ratification of the code by the Hays office, it was adopted by the Association of M. P. Producers.

Some of the machines which are making history in the moving picture industry — general view of the Tool Room, Milling Department, in the new Bell & Howell Engineering Development Building.

A new piece of Bell & Howell cinemachinery is never put into production until the conditions under which it might operate are carefully surveyed and tested; not a wheel is turned until the whole function of that instrument is visualized and prepared for in advance.

From this care in design, and the precision of their manufacture come the constant dependability of Bell & Howell Standard Film Perforators, Printers, Splicers and Studio Cameras.

Wherever movies are made, printed, or projected, the name Bell & Howell has rightfully become synonymous with high known quality.

The foresight of engineers is but a part of the contribution of the Bell & Howell Engineering Development Laboratories to the progress of the industry. Clear thinking and rare skill in application of theory to practice are daily solving the problems of the moment in these Laboratories. Penetrating vision and mechanical ingenuity are constantly at work in anticipation of the future.

WARNER-WISCONSIN DEAL
DUE MONDAY OR TUESDAY

Negotiations for taking over of the 11 Universal Wisconsin houses by Warner Bros. will be concluded either Monday or Tuesday, the FILM DAILY learns. It is understood that the purchase will be made through an exchange of stock.

The Venetian, Racine, Kenosha, Sheboygan, and Sheboygan, which Universal owns outright are included in the deal along with eight other houses under lease to Universal. Seven of the eight are in Milwaukee and the other house is the Kisko, Racine. The Altamaha, first run Milwaukee house is not a part of the purchase. Universal will retain the house for its own use.

Fred S. Meyer, general manager of the Milwaukee Theater Circuit, it is learned, has been in New York for the past week working on the deal with Universal executives.

Lew Kaplan to Mexico
Lew Kaplan, RCA Photophone installation engineer who recently returned from a nine-month stay in the Philippines, has gone to Mexico City.

A Digest of Current Opinion

A MESSENGER from Fox just dashed in breathless with a notice: "Marjorie White arrives Saturday on the Advance Twentieth Century. Can you spare a man to cover her arrival?" So we called for volunteers for this hazardous mission. The entire Coast stepped forward to a man. Thanks, boys; see you there. "If Marjorie looks as good as she, we'll go ourself!" Harry Richman was advertised to take tickets at the door of the Rivoli for his show, "Puttin' On the Ritz," but failed to appear, so Herman Goldsmith of the theater staff subbed for him. Believe it or not, the female fans didn't know the difference, and Herman now has a fine collection of new telephone numbers.

PRODUCTION IN THE EAST

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S WHAT IN GREATER NEW YORK STUDIOS

Paramount L. T. Studio Fully Transformed

The difficult process of turning a large plant, designed to make silent pictures, into a modern sound studio, is one of the major accomplishments of G. Edwin Stewart, chief engineer of the Paramount Long Island studios.

With the coming of talking pictures, the studio was reopened in June, 1928, and the first sound channel put into operation July 16, 1928. Production was started one month later with an Eddie Cantor short. The following October the first all-talking feature went into production. This was "The Letter," starring the late Jeanie Eagles.

The second sound channel was installed Jan. 2, 1929, and production had increased to such an extent that a third was added one month later. Since then, five and six sound tracks have been installed, the latter being used for dubbing and scoring. The original sound staff of 10 has been increased to 57 persons.

In less than two years, 100 short subjects have been made, plus 17 features, six foreign language shorts and over 600 screen tests. Besides this, 22 features and 33 shorts have been dubbed in wax, besides synchronizing three features for foreign release.

The first portable camera booth ever built was developed by Stewart and put into operation at the Long Island studios last October. The model is now being used generally. The old monitor rooms have been converted into stages 50 ft. square.

New Union Formed by Eastern Make-up Artists

With the idea of fostering closer cooperation among make-up artists working in the East, a union has been formed with Fred C. Ryle as pres., Morgan Jones, vice pres., and Willon Fields, sec. and treas.

Classes will be held to train junior members of the profession at headquarters yet to be chosen. Social events throughout the year are also planned.

The make-up artists will be subject to the same working conditions and rulings as Sosic Artists Local No. 829. A proposal covering this phase of the matter will be submitted to producers on May 1.

Larry Kent's Assistant

Max Haynes, former agent, who has been connected with the Paramount Long Island Studios for the past two months, is now assisting Larry Kent, head of the short subjects department.

Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

LEE MORSE, a little girl from Tennessee, who has been a popular radio and recording star for the past eight years, has just completed a Vitaphone musical sketch entitled "The Song Racket." Leo Donnelly and June Clayworth are in the supporting cast.

Swiss cheese on rye bread is the invariable luncheon order of Maurice Chevalier, according to Neil Dory, manager of the Paramount studio luncheon. Walter Wanger courts health with bran flakes and milk. Helen Morgan likes a double portion of white meat chicken. Monte Ball has a yen for peanut butter sandwiches while Sam Cowan finds a hot roast beef sandwich the ideal lunch for a busy man.

Walton Butterfield, of the Warner Vitaphone writing staff, is author of the George Bancroft sketch in "Paramount on Parade," now appearing on Broadway.

"Mother Goose Parade" and "Candy Caper" were the titles of two juvenile one reel shorts just completed at the Paramount Long Island studios, under the direction of Bert Blumenstock and Lewis McDermott.

George F. Kaufman, co-author of several Broadway hits including "Beggars on Horseback" and "The Royal Family," wrote "The Still Alarm," a comedy sketch featuring Clifton Webb and Fred Allen, which will be filmed at the Warner Vitaphone studios during the coming week.

A welcome home celebration was accorded Pat Donehue, script girl at the Paramount studios here, upon her return to work after an eight weeks' illness.

"The Body Slam," one of the newest of Vitaphone Varieties, is a fast moving comedy built around a wrestling match. The cast includes Eddie Lambert, Gene Lutax, 268 pound wrestler, and William Irving.

A specially designed modernistic set was executed by Scognanillo, of the Paramount Long Island studio art department for a two reel comedy, "Neighborhood Neighbors," starring Lulu McComb, which Ray Cosme directed.

"Soup to Nuts," a comedy dish directed by Jack Portington, has just been completed at the Paramount studios here with the vaudeville team of Alan and Caron featur Burret Hershey, staff writer at the Eastern Vitaphone studios, claims to have written the first article predicting the evolution of talking pictures in Feb., 1928, and authored "The Cinema Acquires a Voice," for the Refex magazine.

Pierre Collings and Morris Ryskin are doing the script on "Animal Crackers," Marx Bros. vehicle which Paramount will make.

Brock Busy on Three RKO Star Comedies

Louis Brock, recently placed in charge of RKO short subjects production in the East, has three reel comedies in various stages of production. W. C. Fields will start his first talking picture at the Ideal studios on Wednesday under the direction of Monte Brice. This will be based on his vaudeville skit, "The Golf Game," and will have Shirley Gray, John Dinsmore, Jack Tracy, and Jack Sharkey in support.

A new vehicle is being prepared for Clark & Mccullough by Mark Sandrich, director, and Rube Welch, with production scheduled for next week. Brock is now editing "Who's Got the Body," starring the Italian comedy team of Nick and Tony, which will shortly be seen on Broadway.

Paramount Planning First Color Feature Made Here

The first all-color feature to be made in the East will probably be "Heads Up," which Paramount is planning to start at their Long Island studios in about another month.

Just what system will be used has not yet been decided although it is understood that one of the three methods now under consideration by Paramount technicians will be employed.

VAUDEVILLE SHORTS CUT IN FAVOR OF ORIGINAL

Shots producers here are no longer in favor of standard vaudeville acts. Original stories, with a comedy angle, acted by picked casts, is the present system being followed. As a result of this, both Paramount and Warner Bros. are adding to their writing forces, the latter having recently put two new writers on their studio in Flatbush.

Shots production in the East has taken up a regular pattern. Paramount's schedule calling for three shorts each week, with Warner Bros. also turning out about the same number at their Eastern Vitaphone studio.

Clarke and Sheehan Expected at Opening

Harley Clarke, newly appointed president of Fox Film Corporation, is expected to make his first public appearance in New York, since assuming office, at the formal opening of the Red Star Music Co. offices, at 729 Seventh Ave., next Thursday.

Winfield Sheehan, vice-president, and other officers of the company are also expected to be present at the reception which is open to all members of the trade. Pat Flaherty, general manager of Red Star Music Co., will act as host with entertainment and refreshments promised for all who attend.

Cameramen Assigned

Larry Williams has been assigned to photograph "The Sap from Syracuse," George Fossey will turn the crank on "Animal Crackers" and William Steiner, who just finished "Queen High," will be first cameraman on "Heads Up," at the Paramount Long Island studios.

Reed Keeping Busy

Daniel Reed, formerly of the stage, who directed dialogue on "Young Man of Manhattan" and "Leave It to Lester," at the Paramount Long Island studios, has been assigned to act in the same capacity on "The Sap from Syracuse," which starts Thursday.

A Little from "Lots"

By RALPH WILK

JOE E. BROWN will do some college capping in his next F. N. film, which is based on Rex Beach's 'Going Some.' From what we understand, Joe will be given an excellent opportunity to disport his comedy wares.

After Dolores Del Rio goes through the last stages of "Reurrection," so pun intended, she may be starred in 'The Passion Flower,' which, if so decided, will after her a splendid chance for some real dramatic acting. With George Fitzmaurice linked as the director, great things are expected from that wistful star.

Al Rogell, who recently formed his own producing company, pulled a fast one the other day. After taking a peep at the galleys of "Old Clothes Lines," the story was purchased immediately. Again we repeat no gag intended since good stories are very much in demand and Al ought to cut the pie is the first one to know how good it tastes.

Lucille La Verne, whose performance in "Sun-Up" has gone down in picture history as well as the stage album as one of the finest of its kind, will appear in her second then in a featured role in "Penny Arcade."

Dorothy Gish Expected Back in Film Activities

With the signing of James Rennie, husband of Dorothy Gish, by First National for a long term, it is reported that Miss Gish herself may shortly return to film activities, probably under the First Niam Haines. She is expected to arrive here in a week or so.

St. Clair Returning to M-G-M

Mal St. Clair, whose last production for M-G-M was "Montana Moon," will return to that company's Coast studio under a new long term contract with "Remote Control" as his next assignment. William Haines, last seen in "The Girl Said No," has been given the starring role of "Remote Control," based on the Broadway stage melodrama of the same name.

M-G-M Buys "Tampico"

M-G-M has acquired screen rights to "Tampico," the play by Bartlett Cormack and Joseph Her- geshimer, which John Adolphi is directing for Warners.

Frances Upton is among the latest glorified Broadway girls to crash the cinema. She will be leading com- pany in Eddie Quillen's next, "Night Work," in which Sally Sturby is the heroine. Russell Mack is directing and the roster also includes John T. Murray, George Duryan, Addie McPhail, Virginia Coine, Bill Bennett, Kit Guard, Arthur Hoyt, William Holden, Tom Dugan, George Hill, William Haines and the child actor, Wally Albright.

May McAvoy, though happily married to Maurice Cleary, has felt the lure of the screen so strongly that she will stage a comeback. She is studying music, voice and French and Spanish.

George Barnes, in signing as first cameraman on "What a Widow!" Gloria Swanson's forthcoming talking and singing comedy drama for United Artists, is filling his third successive engagement with Miss Swanson. With Gregg Toland as associate, he filmed the "Trespasser" and prior to that a major portion of "Sadie Thompson."

Robert Edeson was inveigled into acting while producer of the Park Theater in Brooklyn.

D. W. Griffith Finishes Abraham Lincoln Film

After 31 days of hard work, D. W. Griffith has finished the shooting of "Abraham Lincoln." A total of 120 players took part in the production, and it is planned to have the Broadway premiere before fall.

Joan Peers for "Rain of Shine"

Following the completion of her engagement as the feminine lead in Columbia's "Around the Corner," starring Charlie Murray and George Sidney, Joan Peers will immediately go to work in "Rain or Shine" under the direction of Frank Capra. Joe Cowan, who created the starring role in the stage production, will make his screen debut on the Columbia lot in the same characterization, while Tom Howard and David Chasen, who also were in the original company, will enact their respective roles before the camera.

Alexander Gray May Free Lance

Alexander Gray is reported leaving First National to free lance.

ROY J. POMEROY STARTS FIRST PICTURE FOR RKO

Roy J. Pomeroy starts directing his first Radio picture, "Inside the Lines," at the RKO studio this week. Betty Compson and Ralph Forbes enact the featured roles. W.ard Adamson, working under Pomeroy's supervision, adapted "Inside the Lines" to the screen. John Farrow wrote the dialogue. The story is based on Earl Derr Biggers' popular stage success and much of the plot is laid in Gibraltar. Pomeroy, noted for his successful direction of "Interference," another English stage play, is expected to score a directorial triumph in "Inside the Lines," according to studio executives.

ADVANCED PRINCIPLES IN AIR BLOWER SYSTEM

Economical operation, slow speed and silent performance are the essential features outlined by the Supreme Heater and Ventilating Corp., in describing the new type Supreme Multiblade cooling blower. Claiming that it is strictly a scientific product, designed in accordance with the advanced principles of fan engineering and conforming to the laws governing air flow, the company declares that this blower is constructed of heavy gauge steel with all-ribbed wheel running on heavy duty Timken bearings. It requires no attention other than an occasional oiling. Each system consists of the above type multiblade cooling blower, 5 H. P. 5 speed 3 phase A. C. motor and speed controller, endless cable control, and automatic oscillating air diffuser.

Anyone can install the complete system without the possibility of error, the company claims.

Robert Dunlevy Manager of Typhoon Fan Co.
Philadelphia — Typhoon Fan Co. has opened an office here at 1339 Vine St. Robert Dunlevy, who has been in charge of the company’s sales in this territory for the past year, has been named manager of the local branch. Recent installations in this city include the Alhambra, Capitol, Keystone, Harrowgate, Fairmount, Karltion, Orpheum, Poplar, Strand and Liberty. In addition to these houses contracts have been signed for installation of cooling systems in the Cameo and Becker Bros. theaters.

Schanez’s Improved

Baltimore—About $3,000 has been spent by E. A. Mathews for new decorations and improvements to the Schanez’s here. The work was done at night so as not to interfere with daily performances. Among the improvements are mural design rose, cream and gold; new horns, new lighting fixtures, new draperies and carpets.

FRENCH DESIGN THROUGHOUT Warner Bros. New Hollywood

Aside from expert sound acoustics the Hollywood, new Warner Bros. New York house, will be able to boast of numerous other artistic features, the past few weeks. In the house, which was designed and erected under the personal supervision of Thomas W. Lamb, architect, its entrance on Broadway through a lobby in modernistic French design with mirrored walls enriched with bronze, marble floors and plastic ceiling. The lobby leads to a grand stairwell which takes one into an oval rotunda serving as the grand foyer.

In the foyer the decorations are in French Baroque. The grand stair-case winds to a mezzanine overlooking the grand foyer. The floors are carpeted in a deep red; the seats somewhat brighter, and the paneling in another shade of red which blends with the balance of the decorations. Murals in gold leaf cover the ceilings of the auditorium. There are 12 of these, each representing a month of the year. Returning to the grand foyer one descends to the lounge. Here again is the French Baroque in an oval-shaped room. Off the lounge are the retiring rooms. The ladies’ cosmetic room is decorated in Louis XVI period furniture and is adjacent to the ladies’ retiring room, which is done in a Noveau Arte tempo. The men’s smoking rooms are done in Spanish style. The stage is equipped to accommodate any type of production or presentation, it is claimed. Heating, refrigerating and lighting systems are the most up-to-date. All in all, the company is said, the advancement of perfect reproduction of sound pictures with a beautiful atmospheric surrounding is completed in the theater, which opens April 22.

Projection quarters of the theater were made spacious and a ventilating system has been installed, the air being washed before entering the booth. Back of the room are dressing compartments and in addition there is a shower bath in each room.

SPREADING SOUND FILM NEEDS CAREFUL ATTENTION

Splicing of sound film makes for bad reproduction unless the operator takes every necessary precaution in watching the missing frames. Some projectionists are still employing the old method of painting out splits on film bearing photographic sound records with black lacquer and many are not using anything at all. An irregularity in the sound track will be noted and in the right light transmitted by the film passing the light.

It is essential to gradually mask the splice in all cases. A number of sound records where a splice is made, otherwise a foreign noise will be heard which will ruin the product of the record and Applied Lacquer with a brush of film and waiting for it to dry is a very slow method and many times unsatisfactory. A very simple method is to cut a small piece of black film to the desired shape of the marking off the sound track gradually and apply over the patch after making the splice. Projectionists should keep a quantity of these patches on hand in the event of a broken film that needs immediate splicing without introducing any noise into the record.

S. E. P. C. Opens Branch Office at Kansas City

Kansas City, Mo.—A branch of the Southwestern Products of Dallas has been opened here with R. J. Leffingwell, of the home office, in charge. The company’s sales and servicing of Powers Cinephone and Southwestern sound equipment will be handled by this office in addition to the distribution of Ray-tone sound screens, including the new flameproof type; Macy horns; Presto pick-ups; Ever Ready tubes and a complete line of acoustical equipment.

Schlicker Surprising

H. C. Schlicker is supervising production of all apparatus being manufactured by the Sterling M. F. Apparatus Corp., which recently moved from New York to Naugatuck, Conn. He is treasurer of the company.

Scientific Sign

A group of scientists from the American Institute of Electrical Engineers recently visited the new Warner Hollywood in New York and inspected the new Kink Color Control sign. Edward Silverman, electrical engineer appointed by Warner Bros., conducted the visitors to a vantage point and explained the operation of the sign.
THEATRE LIFTS MUST BE SILENT AND TIME SAVERS

Two important elements come to light when installing elevators in theatres, according to N. Richardson, field engineer for Otis Elevator Co. The first is that it is advisable to use self-leveling elevators which save time at the landings and also eliminate the stumbling hazard, both of which delay the service in making round trips in order to get patrons in and out of the house. The second is the noiseless operation of the machine with a hatching device that would disturb the audience during a performance, even though elevators may be off the main floor.

Theater elevator service is divided into two groups; one serving the lobby and the other for roof garages and offices in the structure. On the latter type, the speeds may be considerably greater than the longer and faster of advantageous use high speeds. In the former this is not possible because of the short duration. Examples of the short rise elevators are those in Rocky and Paramount. Higher rise elevators are installed in the Little and Japanese

Appication of Chemicals Can Make Wood Fire Retardant

With all precaution being advised by fire departmenst to have equipment fireproof, it may be more than a conjecture to an exhibitor to take cognizance in the fact that wood can now be made a fire retardant. Through a simple application of chemicals, woodwork in and outside of theaters can be made fireproof. For interior work ammonium phosphate and ammonium sulphate have been used but ammonium chloride, sodium borate and zinc chloride are other chemicals proposed. Most of these chemicals may be washed out when exposed to weather or used on fire

A combined soda borate and zinc chloride treatment has been suggested for use outside. A zinc borate, which is the resulting salt, is less soluble than the other mentioned. A sufficient amount of chemicals injected will make the wood fire retardant in that it will not flame at ordinary temperatures, although it will char and the volatiles will distill and burn at higher degrees.

Superior Vending Co. Installs Seventy-Five

Chicago—Superior automatic vending machines have been installed in 75 houses belonging to the Illinois Independent Theater Owners, which has endorsed the equipment.

Richblum Gets More Territory

Cleveland—Sam Richblum, formerly sales manager for General Talking Pictures, in the southern part of Ohio, has been appointed representative of the entire state with offices here.

Pickel's Builts Silent Coolers

Ponca City, Okla.—Fred Pickel, owner of the Ritz and Ponca here, is installing Buffalo Silex distributing units with air washer equipment. The silent coolings systems were purchased from the Buffalo Engineering Co. of Dallas.

“Cool” Hints

In the latest issue of “Now,” official organ of Fox West Coast theaters, a spread is given over to practical hints and drawings of signs suggesting cool atmosphere in theaters during the summer. Several tie-ups in the anti-heat campaign without cost to the manager are also recommended.

Tone-O-Graph Appoints Western Pa. Distributor

Pittsburgh — Wheeler & Zobelli, 1027 Boulevard of Allies, has been appointed by North American Sound and Talking Picture Equipment Corp. as the western Pennsylvania distributor of Tone-O-Graph.

Speed Indicators Popular

For accurately cueing pictures and synchronizing the music with the speed at which the film is running, the Speed Indicators manufactured by the Chicago Cinema Equipment Co. have proved quite popular with exhibitors. Where two machines are operated, three indicators are needed; one for each machine and one for the conductor’s table. These three speed indicators require two generators with the necessary brackets and pulleys for mounting them. All these accessories are supplied by the Chicago Cinema Equipment Co.

Ansell and Simplex Ticket Companies Merge

Short Subjects

SOUND

Conquest of the Cascades (Bobbie Nelson)

Time: 10 mins.

Pleasing Scenes

"Conquest of the Cascades," produced by General Electric, is a pleasant scenic short. While a constant delight to the eye in its picturesque setting, the film tells the story of the construction of the new Cascade Tunnel, the biggest bore of its kind in the western hemisphere. The tunnel, opened last year, is eight miles long, linking Scenic and Berne, and permits easier access from inland America to the northern Pacific coast. "Conquest of the Cascades" provides a useful ten minutes.

Oswald in "The Hash Shop"

Time: 6 mins.

Good Cartoon

Oswald this time makes his appearance as a waiter in a restaurant where all the diners demand service in a hurry. The little fellow doesn't know whom to serve first. He runs into some tough customers who become quite saucy when he proves a little slow in filling their orders. All in all, "The Hash Shop" is a filler film to consider for entertainment.

Audio Review No. 17

Running Time: 10 mins.

An entertaining filler nicely diversified, with music as its dominant note. Here is a spirited singing of the Dartmouth song "Men of Dartmouth" by the college's glee club, at some gay liming tunes played exquisitely on a pair of pianos, each provided with a double keyboard. A trench invention which brings out a quartet of songs in music, also a bit of aesthetic dancing. The women ought to get quite a kick out of that part of the Review which shows the Piermont Moraga collection of levels, in which is included the famed Hope diamond.

Western Whoopee

Time: 6 mins.

Fools Ape Fable

This Aesop fable ought to make the most attractive little filler. It is one of the best of the series out to date. It relates the story of a man who gets two goslings from the man who comes to greet the boys. The Western hero, the whole thing is couched in extraordinary invisibility.

Chills and Fever

Time: 20 mins.

Flat Comedy

In "Chills and Fever," everyone overhears makes a valiant effort to cut humor out of comedy material that is old and flavorless. The story centers on the experiences of a man and his wife in a mountain lodge being used by a group of amateurs rehearsing a show. The two are almost scared to death when they mistake the wildly costumed figures for spooks. Finally they are relieved when the actors doff their disguises. Handled in a frankly slapstick fashion, this comedy might have been productive of some real fun, but as it is it is an extremely pathetic affair. Al Shean is featured. Others in the cast are Evelyn Knapp and Mary Clark.

Fish, Fowl and Fun

Pathe

Time: 10 mins.

Grantland Rice Sportlight

While "Fish, Fowl and Fun" lacks much of the excitement that characterizes a film-Fish show, it succeeds in attaining a generally high level of entertainment. Again Dave Newell, the noted sportsman, is featured, this time leading his audience through a Florida forest on a quest of fish and feathered game. To the hunterman this short ought to prove a pure delight. The utter lack of self-consciousness on the part of Mr. Newell and the other figures in the narrative gives the whole film a most refreshing quality.

Sunny Jim in "His Bachelor Daddy"

Time: 20 mins.

Human and Amazing

Again Sunny Jim appears in a short that will please the family trade immensely. The little actor will win the sentiment of every mother who sees "His Bachelor Daddy," that with the tremendous human appeal that he creates in the role of a tot who attempts to attract the affection of a child-hating bachelor uncle who has been asked to look after him while his parents are abroad. All the child's efforts to seduce the uncle go for nothing, until the finally resort to the strategy of feigning illness, which captures the old fellows heart.

Sid Saylor in "Step Right Up"

Time: 17 mins.

Acceptable Comedy

In "Step Right Up," Sid Saylor succeeds in generally being funny but only "step right up" to just crazy about the circus. There's another reason why he wants to crash the gate—the beautiful bareback rider whose picture he sees plastered on the fence surrounding the circus grounds. He meets the little lady when he is put to work fetching water for the animals. The difficulties he runs into are good for a number of hearty laughs.

Bobbie Nelson in "Alias the Bandit"

Time: 17 mins.

Fair Western Short

Though familiar stuff, "Alias the Bandit" is certain of winning the enthusiastic young film-goers because it possesses a considerable quantity of exciting action. The story has to do with the attempt of the villain to take possession of a ranch on which he holds the mortgage. The money covering the final installment is delivered to him by a young messenger (Bobbie Nelson) on the day it is due, but the man refuses to give a receipt for it. Enter the hero at this point, and in the end the villain gets it in the neck.

Fox Gets Goodee Montgomery

Goodee Montgomery, niece of Dave Montgomery of the famous old comedy team of Montgomery & Stone, has been signed by Fox Films to a contract.

Manners Subs for Fairbanks

David Manners has succeeded Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in the cast of First National's "When We Were Twenty-one." The reason for the substitution is that Doug will not be able to finish his role in "The Dawn Patrol," the Richard Barthelmess picture, in time to start work in the new film.

Columbia Signs 4 Writers

Four writers have been added to the Columbia staff. James Whittaker, Jack Becholdt, Joseph Lilly and Edgar Waite are the men just signed.

Ruggles to Direct Dix

Wesley Ruggles has been selected to direct "Cimarron," for Radio. Richard Dix heads the cast.

Paramount

Time, 1 hr., 15 mins.

UNUSUALLY GOOD PRO-GRAM PICTURE OF NEWSPAPER STORIES, INTELLIGENTLY MADE AND SPLENDIDLY EN-ACTED. OUGHT TO ANYWHERE.

Based on Katherine Brush's current best seller. Story concerns marital experiences of young writers and his wife who write movies and fan-occ. Feature broken into short, independent segments. The story, although structurally original, has been skilfully adapted.

Norman Foster turns in a corking fine performance as the lead, with Walter Huston and Charles Ruggles doing an inebriate newspaperman as in past films, scores repeated. Claudette Colbert, Erna Tandy, Zita Johann, Frank Albertson, Walter Catlett, Richard Keene, "Young Jack Mack" Smith, Dorothy Kilgallen, Charles Judels, Una Casa, Elizabeth Patterson, William Tabbert, Lee Dalridge, Helen Morgan, John Loder, Bruce Mollison, Director, John Blystone; Author, Harlan Thompson; Editor, Harry Robinson; Cameraman, George Schneiderman.

with Sue Carol

Fox

Time, 1 hr., 11 mins.

DIRECTED AT THE BOX-OFFICE AND HITS THE MARK PRETTY QUARREL. CAN’T MISS. CONTAINS PLENTY OF PEP AND FUN.

There’s probably nothing written all over "The Big Party." Which is another way of saying that it will bring plenty of money to the box-office. There is enough pep and youth in this film to suit every devotee of flaying young in the films. "The Big Party" is another one of those pictures that purport to turn the light on the most of living of modern-day youth. Its youthful abandon is a bit overdone, and here and there the picture borders on the indecency through the director’s striving for realism. "The Big Party" has loads of funny lines and laugh-inciting situations. The cast gets into the spirit of the thing. Story is of the five-and-ten store girl who gets a job in a rizzy costume shop, is made ad-venturesome and finally returns to her boy friend penent and convinced that the poor but honest life is best after all.

Time, 1 hr., 20 mins.

MARRIAGE IN CONTEMPORARY DIVORCE AND UNDING LOVE. STORY, DIRECTION, ACTING, DIALOGUE AND PHOTOGRAPHY ALL TOP NOTCH.

Grippingly dramatic and fast-moving story of a modern couple who marry with no ill intentions be come divorced and divorced as a result of the husband falling for the double-moral standard, and are reunited after their shows prove to be of the eternal type. Based on the book, “Ex-Wife,” invested with intelligently clever dialogue, directed with keen appreciation of values in the story, the tempo that has something doing the time, and given some of the best acting that has come from Norma Shearer and Chester Morris; this picture is sure to click in a big way. Photography also has some unusual touches. A specially gratifying is the way the plot, which keeps the outcome in suspense and brings on the climax with a neat heart interest punch. Cast: Chester Morris, Norma Shearer, Conrad Nagel, Robert Montgomery, Florence Eldridge, Helen Milford, Robert Eクト, Mary Doran, Tyler Brooke, Zelma Sears; Photographers: John Meehan, Director, Robert Z. Leonard; Author, Robert Hoffhines; Editor, Hugh Wynn; Cameraman, Norbert Brodin; Monitor Man; Nature: Dusk. Direction, photography, exceptional.

Time, 1 hr., 9 mins.

FIVE DRAMA, INTELLIGENTLY PRODUCED AND SKILLFULLY PHOTOGRAPHED, BUT NOT BOX-OFFICE.

In “Escaped from Dartmoor” Pro Patria can boast of a distinct artistic achievement. The film, directed skillfully by Anthony Asquith, possesses a subtle but deliberate treatment of the silent technique at its best. It is an intelligent effort that will largely please discriminating audiences. The story of jealous passion that causes a barber to attempt the life of the man who comes between him and the girl he loves is rather a strange one, but the situations and the characters may find “Escaped from Dartmoor” a little too grim or perhaps a trifle slow in action. The acting, an outstanding feature of the picture, has been kept away from a gushy tear stage. The few titles the film possesses are among the best we have ever seen; and the camera work is remarkable. A satis-factory part of the picture which makes the film possess the charm of the style.

with Bessie Love, Raymond Hackett M-G-M

Time, 1 hr., 17 mins.

FAIRLY ENTERAINING BACKSTAGE STORY, INTERESTING “TOM” SHOW ATMOSPHERE IS ITS CHIEF ASSET OR PERFORMANCES BY BESSIE LOVE.

This is one of the first directorial efforts of Edgar Selwyn for the screen, and the stage performer has not done exactly 100 percent by the players and story. Nevertheless its outcome is sufficiently entertaining to satisfy the not too discriminating particularly those with a leaning toward backstage yarns. Background of the story, which deals with a “Uncle Tom’s Cabin” troupe, is somewhat off the beaten path and therefore of chief interest. Bessie Love as a tramp with a heart of gold offers the only, if any, one offering material comfort and the other only promise, gives an acceptance performance. Raymond Hackett, the fellow actor who is also in love, also plays her part well. Jed Prouty, as the rich country boy, and Sterling help in the comedy relief.

Cast: Bessie Love, Raymond Hackett, Ed-war, Fredric March, Erna Tandy, John Loder, Carl Barbour, Virginia Bruce, Lewis Stone, Nancy Price, Lucille Beason, Richard Carlyle, Alice Box, Frank Nelson, Jacob Schumachter, John Loder, Director, Edgar Selwyn; Authors, John Morley, Frank Fenton; Editor, Edgar Selwyn; Dialogue, Edgar Selwyn; Editors, Harry Reynolds, Truman K. Woold, Cameraman, Arthur Hurd.

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "High Society Blues"

FOX

TIME, 1 hr., 10 mins.

GENERALLY AMUSING AND WHOLESOME ROMANTIC
TINT WITH KUM STORY FRESHED
BY THE FARRELL-GAYNOR TEAM.

This romantic little story, although never striking an original note, serves nicely as a vehicle for the whole some love-making of Janet and Charlie. They appear in the mother-torn yarn of a newly-enamored family trying modestly to crash into neighborhood society. Director David Butler has used every sure-fire gag in em-bellishing the love theme and they make for comedy which is of a relatable brand. Farrell's dad sells his business for three million and the family moves into ritzy quarters, with Janet living next door. She's engaged to the w. k. French count and the end of it all is that she elopes with Charlie, horribly embarrassing exclusive mamma. No fault can be found with the players, who make a great job of polishing the gags in which they are placed. Ukulele fans will especially like this Farrell chafing of the demands made upon it.

CAST: Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, William Collier, Jr., Halda Hooper, Louise Fazenda, Lucien Littlefield, Joyce Compton,
Carrie Nye, Patricia Collinge, Lucien

GRAM BILL.

Melodrama. Not much to the story, but you can count on some good acting on the part of the principals. H. B. Warner again comes through with an excellent performance and Lois Wilson does some real job as the wife of the slain man.
At times the dialogue is stiffed at the refreshing heroics here and there. Sourceful H. B. Warner it is possible to overlook this shortcoming, the most innocent party is recalled the murder and the most suspected person is not responsible for the crime. The love story is a bit over-loady, but the telepHONE show has kept the audience in continual suspense as far as this element of the picture is concerned, and the final outcome is along the lines that was expected.

EDY WITH CLEVER LINES

LOWELL SHERMAN EXCEL-LENT.

In bringing S. N. Behrman's play,
"Second Man," to the screen the pro-cducers have deprived it of little of the brilliant sophisticated humor that made it one of the successes of several seasons back. Those who care for intelligent entertainment will find much to satisfy them in this tale of a writer of mediocre talent and parasitic nature who is faced with the dilemma of choosing between love without money and money without love. The lure of wealth being too strong for him, he decides upon the latter course.
Full of smart dialogue and bright military turns, "He Knew Women" provides some nice diversion. The film is a very dollars and cents extremely competent. Lowell Sherman gives a capital performance in the chief role.

The Capitol is running a fair stage show highlighted by Fred Keating, star of "Almanacs," who entertains between the other acts with his clever tricks of sleight-of-hand. His best stunt is the handcuff trunk bit, which scored heavily. The presentation is called "Varieties," and opens with the Chester Hale Girls in a nifty routine with fluffy costumes.
The Syndell Sisters did a thrilling apache and Rosemary, coloratura ward, did number. The spectaculars are wonderful, behind a screen, with the Chester Hale Girls in a boudoir setting of filmy drapes and colored lighting doing slow routine in a bedtime scene as they prepare to retire on an enormous bed. Another batch of Hale Girls dressed as male partners enter with lighted candles, and then A slow fadeout.
The Michon Brothers, the gob comedry acrobats, furnished the laughs with their clever tumbling acts on a spinning board. Ended strongly with a beautiful setting for the Hale
Girls in their final routine.

No growth of Warner Bros. is almost without parallel in business history. This growth, despite this firm has been regarded upon solid values, honestly earned. The means by which the position of Warner Bros. has been necessary to move swiftly in order to maintain conditions. That announcement of the completion of several deals, negotiations for which has covered many months, should have been made at the same time, was a coincidence. This has resulted in many rumors being set about concerning the future of Warner Bros. activities and plans, to which appear, on their face, to have been in spite of ulterior motives.

"There may or may not be misunderstanding of the conditions surrounding Warner Bros. but I feel it is my duty to our thousands of stockholders that your business associates, should ignore any statement, or his message, regardless of the firm which is not issued with the authorization of this man. I am authorized to state that Warner Bros. is not for sale, has never been up for sale, and that the information which is so placed that it cannot pass to others without the consent of one, more charge for whom I issue this statement."

In Step with the Times

THE trend in marketing today is to concentrate—to localize—to do intensive work where most sales can be made at a profit. Sales cost less and more goods can be sold!

In no other publication can you get localized advertising messages, localized editorial service—yet a national medium!

Here is a national service of 10 separate non-duplicating publications maintaining 10 strategically-located publication offices and in addition 21 field editorial representatives.

In each of these 10 different publications the advertiser can run a different advertising message, localized to the special needs of his different trade territories. Local copy in a national medium! A number of the largest national advertisers are taking advantage of this localized service.

The Associated Publications offer an unparalleled opportunity for intensive selling—all of the advantages of national coverage, without the disadvantages. No waste.

Editorially, each publication in the Associated Publications Group serves the sectional requirements of its readers in an intimate, practical way, which only a publication with localized circulation can hope to equal.

Producers and Agents to Formulate Code of Ethics

The Mirror
a column of comment

COLOR WILL be used with more restraint in connection with 1930-31 product. That's in the cards as laid down by production executives. During the past year color was flung into pictures to satisfy what was considered a tremendous demand and sometimes it was flung indiscriminately. The policies outlined or the new year are geared more cautiously. Scenes in which color naturally will be given color. Others that are more suited for black and white will get that sort of treatment. No doubt this more painstaking progress will result in more satisfied audiences.

ONE PIECE of evidence that the film industry is a lively, pulsating institution is its exploitation. Probably no other business in this wide and innumerable world can boast of such progress and of like degree. Comparatively, the stage has marked time. Picture exploitation, which never misses an opportunity to grasp public attention, is determined that the industry continues to ingrain heavy dates with that lovely miss known as Prosperity.

THE INDUSTRY is showing a commendable disposition to remember its leaders who passed on. At present two plans are under way to commemorate the memory of Marcus Loew and Sam Warner. In these efforts the sponsors are doing a service to the entire industry. The memory of such men of achievement ought to be kept fresh in the industry's mind as an example of initiative and courage.

plans for a Coast plant, Peck stated. Construction begins within 60 days. Both laboratories will be equipped to handle wide film, he said.

One advantage to be offered will be the spectrometer, color analysis device, which enables to determine true color values in sets and wearing apparel, Peck said.

Peck has perfected a new lamp which, he asserts, can be operated at one-tenth the cost of present lights used in studios. Utilizing this lamp a producer will be required to burn only one per cent more power in color production than he normally uses in making black and white pictures, Peck said.

Color exercises an important influence on human beings, declared Peck, and prophesied that in the future studios the heat intensity increased attention to it as it applies to their players.

Through printing the sound track by the Colorcraft process on the green side of the film, its volume is intensified two and a half times greater than on black and white, tests made by experts show, Peck said.

Through its invention a regular camera can be modified for either color or black and white film, he stated. The changeover process takes only 10 minutes, said Peck.

Colorcraft prints can average 2,000 showings, he declared.

3 More Illinois Towns Vote for Sunday Shows

Three more Illinois towns have been victorious in Sunday shows elections. Recent towns to have voted for the issue are Rushville, Mason City, and Vandalia. Rushville reversed its vote of two years ago while Vandalia had been offering Sunday shows despite a city ordinance to the contrary.

Sunday Shows for Evanston, Ill. Reformers have taken a kick. None here with Sunday shows approved by local voters. In a recent referendum the theater men won by a margin of 50 votes.

THINK of the funniest comedy you have ever seen—and then forget it. "Hold Everything" is funnier than that! It is positively the funniest comedy ever made—and when we say positively—we mean positively.

"Hold Everything" is based on the comedy which recently concluded a run of a year and three months in New York.

It has a great story, is full of heart interest, has a great cast of stage and screen celebrities, five real song hits, a chorus of seventy-two unkissed sunkist beauties and more laughs than a studio full of custard pies.

Joe E. Brown and Winnie Lightner head the cast of laugh-makers. You have never really seen either one, until you have seen them in "HOLD EVERYTHING".

"Hold Everything" is funnier than "Gold Diggers of Broadway". It's the best picture ever made by Warner Bros. and the best comedy ever made by anyone. Hold Everything for "Hold Everything"—because "HOLD EVERYTHING" Has Everything!

CONDENSING Plays For Screen
NEWS: Is Held Detrimental

I TAKE it that both directorship and play must suffer where you have to make an actor do in one hour on the screen what the stage star has two hours for. Some one has to go and of necessity the some one cannot be the chief character of the play.

Lennox Pawle, Actor

Says Condition Of Industry

WHAT the calamity-howers should realize is that the industry has pulled itself out of tighter positions than it’s in now; that panic talk makes the utter look a fool when his tales are proven to be untrue; and that the motion picture business will still be prospering when, by economic pressure, the misfits are weeded out and tossed into some other field, not of endeavor, but of self-stultification.

Gayne Dexter in
"Everyman," Sydney Australia

Television Won’t Mean Death
Of The Theater, is Belief

UNDoubtedly the radio has hurt the picture theaters in day. More would come were they able to receive radio programs. And yet the better theaters seem to be pretty comfortably full. The rather shabby or even the fairly elaborate neigh-brhood house may be half filled, but the downtown theaters are apt to be crowded. Television may have the effect of still further concentrating the business in the downtown amusement section, but it cannot completely put the theater out of business any more than the radio did.

"RANE WILBUR, who is with M-G-M, is represented by plays in various parts of the globe. His "The Man Who Plays in England," while his "Molly Malone" is playing in Sidney, Australia. "Romance, Inc." which he also directed, is now springing in New York by William Doyle.

By the way, "Romance, Inc." which is a story of talkies, is the first play dealing with pictures, that does not satirize the talkies. "Rane" Wilbur has also "The State Trooper," which will be produced in New York next fall.

Henry Sullivan, path composer, notes "There's Happiness Over the Hills," the theme song for "Swing High, Swing Low." Sullivan is also the music writer, the copyrights and the songwriting royalties from "I May Be Wrong, But I Think You're Wonderful," which is a big seller.

Columbia Considering Production of Stage Plays

A Film Census

—of information and why not?

— By JACK ALICOATE

JUST AT THIS time representatives of that rather comprehensive and far-flung business organization headed by Herbert Hoover and labeled the U. S. A. are making social calls here and there throughout the land. They ask the darndest questions and get away with them. How many children have you? The date of your first marriage? Have you taken a blindfolded test? What sort of radio bothers you most? etc., etc. As long as this census thing goes on in the air and becoming chronic why not one for the film business? We suggest it seriously. Every theater in the country, large or small, is reached by film salesmen who can act as emissaries for producers and casting agents could take care of the production end. Fostered by the Hays organization and backed by the producers and directors no end of accurate and important statistical information would be obtained. Censorship, public relations, background, patron likes and dislikes, in fact a hundred and one interesting questions might be collectively answered. However, its only a rainy day thought and we are going to say no more about it one way or the other.

A Good Sign

IF YOU BELIEVE in signs and omens, don’t give the merry up and down to the new one atop the Warner brothers Hollywood theater in New York where Broadway crosses Fifty-third street. Here, as far as this office is concerned is the champ sign (Continued on Page 2)

Would Back Legit. Shows As Likely Material for Pictures

Columbia may join the swelling ranks of film producers who double in Broadway stage productions. The company is considering plans for producing plays as a preliminary to converting them into talkers. Plays embracing screen angles will be acquired and providing they click before legitimate audiences they will be filmed. The Columbia program for 1930-31 largely comprises Broadway stage successes.

18 CAMERAS BEING ADDED TO TECHNICOLOR FLEET

Eighteen new cameras, one of the largest individual camera contracts ever placed, will be added shortly to the fleet of 35 already doing service for Technicolor, it is announced by Dr. H. T. Kalmus. Less than a year ago there were only 9 Technicolor cameras in existence.

Musicians, Dance Directors May Be Taken In by Academy

NO PATHE MERGER ON, SAYS JOSEPH P. KENNEDY

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood—Plans are being considered by the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences whereby musicians and dance directors would be admitted to membership in the organization. This step has been occasioned by the greatly increased importance of musicians and dancers in pictures.

Want to Unload

Independent theater operators are flocking daily to the B. S. Moss office in hopes of unloading their houses into units in the chain being formed. One estimate puts the exhibitors up to 150 daily. Moss, in a statement issued yesterday, said that he is only in the market for new houses, some of which he'll buy and others build.

French, Spanish, German Features to be Made Here

Paramount’s facilities for the production of talking films in French, Spanish and German are in such shape that the company plans about 15 features in those languages for export this year. The pictures will be made in Hollywood and at the Long Island studios.

rather direct and uncontroversial report as a whole releases films produced in Great Britain require more censoring than those made in other countries. This is not intended as a dig in the general direction of our production brothers across the pond but rather another answer to their continual query of why British picsiastically away from home.

Dear Mr. Meyer:

I have just screened "Journey's End" and I do not know when I have been so moved. In my humble opinion, it is a masterpiece. Every Englishman, as well as any other red-blooded person, will feel a thrill of pride after viewing it.

I sincerely congratulate you and everyone associated with the Company that is responsible for such a great picture.

Sincerely yours,

ALONG THE RIALTO

with

Phil M. Daly

IN ACKNOWLEDGING the fact that the Los Angeles division of the West Coast theaters has set aside May as Harold B. Franklin Month, the gentleman so honored said: "I know your activities for the month of May are going to be enormously successful, not because of the name you have placed on it, but because of the kind of men you are." Which helps to explain why Harold B. Franklin is where he is today....

Incidently, this circuit's house organ, "Now," edited by Eddy Eckels, contains a double page of summer "keep cool" stunts that every theater manager should consider.

DOUG FAIRBANKS springs a new one. He sez: "I want to make more pictures.".... Echoes from a million voices in Hollywood: "Me too!" Says, Harry Aiken wonders why the transatlantic lines are having trouble filling their sea-going gondolas.... probably the main attraction for "The Big Pond" these days is Maurice Chevalier over at Para's Longisle studio.... Arthur Caesar, out Hollywood way, has taken up polo, and several gents are much relieved, figuring Arthur will be too busy riding his horse to ride them.

HARRY TIERNEY, writing melodies for "Dixiana," telephoned a new tune to his lyric writer, Ann Caldwell, in Hollywood... would you call that wiring for sound?.... Little Billy, the midget, sings "Do You Think That I Could Grow On You?" in Pathe's "Swing High".... sounds like barber shop propaganda for whiskers.... Moe Mintz's company, Affiliated Sound Recordings, is clicking with a genuine idea... they are supplying small radio stations, which can't afford talent, with half-hour canned programs.

NOW WE have the current Broadway shows in story form: The vagabond king was singing the rogue song under a Texas moon, thinking it a song of the west, when along came a free and easy young man of Manhattan puttin' on the Ritz and yodeling high society blues until maam swooped down on 'em like the furies and told 'em to hold everything while she sang sway to my heart as Paramount on parade passed by.... a free excursion trip on the Weehawken ferry to any bright boy or girl figuring out the 13 shows herein mentioned.

ROD LA ROCQUE is co-inventor with Robert Frazer of a self-answering telephone, and we asked the boss to put in our order right away.... When Harry Beaumont, directing "Our Blushing Brides," took over a Los Angeles department store for the interior sequences, all the girls in the cast automatically lined up at the bargain counter.... Now we will see a real color artist at work, when Flo Ziegfeld employs technicolor in "Whoopie".... for sound, he should use a coloratura soprano.... or we don't care much for it, either.... Have you a problem better? (challenge)...}

THE OLD job of location-hunter is in a fair way to be killed.

With talks today, outdoor scenes must be safeguarded from interruption by noisy touring autostopppers, keeping on the highway to watch the company work. So King Vidor has taken his location for "Billy the Kid" on the Porter estate far from a highway.... Now if they want to take those popular Times Square scenes they'll have to put gates up at both ends....

J. Louis Geller, the demon handball player, has taken his hand out of bandage, and the other two Jays of Consolidated Theaters, J. Arthur Hirsh and J. J. Rosenthal, are again betting their choc soda money on him.

No Pathe Merger, Says Joseph P. Kennedy
DAILY yesterday. He made it clear, however, that this does not mean that the company may always steer away from affiliations.

What is considered the most pretentious picture on the Pathe 1930-31 program of 20 features has just been placed in production at the Coast, he said. It is "Beyond Victory," a war picture which John S. Robertson is directing. Color will be used sparingly in new year product, said Kennedy.

Al Fourmow Now Heads Publix Abilene Houses
Abilene, Tex.—The three local Publix houses are now under the management of Al Fourmow, who has succeeded Milton Overman, recently transferred to Denison, where he is in charge of his chain of theaters. Fourmow will also have supervision of the new Paramount which opens some time in May. Present houses under his management are the Majestic, Rex and Queen.

Jerome Kern and Otto Harbach also are working on an original musical play.

Studies Oppose Fire Rule
Due to Expense Involved
Contending that the expense of applying fireproof coating to draperies and other studio fabrics, as called for in a new fire department regulation would be so great that most studios could not operate under such conditions, Paramount, Warner and other companies producing in the East are preparing to oppose the new order.

$7 a day pays for Western Electric Quality

The smallest theatre can equip profitably with Western Electric.

New equipment—new plan—new prices—starting as low as $2950, no down payment, average weekly rental $42.28, including service—bring the highest quality sound within the reach of every theatre.

Western Electric's new equipment upholds the same standard for quality and uninterrupted programs, set in theatres now giving 150,000 performances weekly.

Prices now in effect cannot be lowered unless quality is sacrificed—and this will not be done.

Don't be misled into waiting. Get your share now of the increased attendance Western Electric Sound Equipment brings—as proved day after day in 5500 theatres.

Warners' New Hollywood Makes Dazzling Debut

BACKSTAGE PROJECTION BEING DEVELOPED

Seven Eastern Studios Alive With Productions

Warner Bros.

By JACK ALICOTE

As distinguished an audience as has silk-hatted its way into a Broadway playhouse opening in many a moon. An ultra-modern theater is a picture of size, location and importance. A roll of some, big, all-around bit of entertainment in the technicolored musical "Hold Everything" and ast, but of unusual significance, an evening consecrated as a beautiful and fitting tribute to the memory of Sam Warner. The foreshadowed pictures in headings are but highlights of the doings around Broadway and 51st St., last night.

The Theater

It is appropriately called "The Hollywood." The theater is eye-wrestling. The color scheme is dull gold with overtones of red and blue skillfully blended into a background of the French Baroque period. The stage is enormous and could easily house the biggest of legitimate attractions. The foyer and grand staircase are distinguished. The theater is not large, seating only 1,608.

The Audience

Seldom does one find as select and distinguished a first-night gathering. Those high in cinema circles from as far away as Los Angeles and London were on hand. The city and state of New York were officially represented. A complete list of those attending would read like a who's who in motion picture, stage and official circles.

The Picture

"Hold Everything" was the picture. It was the first teaming up of Joe Brown and Winnie Lightner and is not only good entertainment but sure box-office. The story is slight but it discharges laughs like

Activity on the Increase Among Studios in New York Area

Eastern production has reached its highest peak in a number of years, with seven studios, including such major company plants as the Paramount New York and the Eastern Vitaphone, operating at present. Array of Notables Attends Opening of Broadway House

Before a brilliant audience and with brief but fitting ceremonies the new Hollywood was formally presented to Broadway last night by Warner Bros. Built in memory to the late Sam Warner and designed to combine the utmost in luxury and the last word in practicability and the most elegant appointed showhouse won the enthusiastic admiration of the premiere crowd.

ARTHUR IN ADVISORY POST WITH FOX METROPOLITAN

Harry Arthur, Southern California district manager for Fox West Coast, is joining Fox Metropolitan in an advisory capacity, Harold B. Franklin told THE FILM DAILY yesterday upon his arrival from the Coast. Charles Cabellero, head of the West Coast purchasing department, goes with Fox Films and Fox Theaters as general purchasing agent. Franklin, who said he came East on routine business, asked if he would change his duties owing to the move. Franklin said he (Continued on Page 9)

SOUND-ON-FILM DEVICE DEVELOPED BY PACENT

A new all-frequency method of sound-on-film recording, said to combine the best features of both area and variable density recordings now in use, has been developed by Pacent, it is announced by Louis Gerard Pacent. The heart of the new system is a revolutionary lamp. Other features include great reduction of background and extraneous noise, and it is claimed that, from the theater standpoint, the new device represents a great step forward in effecting lifelike reproduction.

New Developing Machine Invented by Roy Hunter

A new developing device for negative and positive film, described as an improvement which greatly clarifies sound, has been invented by C. Roy Hunter, director of sound (Continued on Page 9)

A Beautiful Tribute

THE EVENING was dedicated and given over as an inspiring, fitting and beautiful tribute to the memory of Samuel Goldwyn, by a friend, the writer, always the same, in wealth or adversity. He was a dynamo, but filled with human understanding and sympathy, a driving force, but carried forward by the milk of human kindness. It is the sincere and not clouded opinion of this writer that M-G-M coast and Warner, more than any other individual, was responsible for the irresistible international success of the talking picture of to-day.

WARNERS DICKERING FOR SIX MORE PENNA. HOUSES

Warner Bros. is negotiating for the Columbia Amusement Co. houses in Pennsylvania. Houses included in the chain are: Columbia, Erie, Penn., Westleyville, and Library, Warren and Columbia, Warren. The Columbia in Sharon, part of the Oil City and Sharon Amusement Co. but controlled by Columbia Amusement, also is mentioned in the deal. O. W. Potter, manager of the Columbia in interests, arrived in New York yesterday from Erie to confer in the matter.

Mrs. Kalmus Improved

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood—Mrs. Natalie Kalmus, head of the Technicolor art department, is gradually improving at the Good Samaritan Hospital, where she has been for two weeks following a breakdown caused by overwork.

Wodehouse in New York

P. F. Wodehouse, author, arrived from Europe on the Majestic yesterday and will soon leave for the coast studios where he will write original stories for the company.

Pathe Speed

Pathe News delivered first pictures on the Ohio penitentiary disaster to Broadway theaters, including the Paramount and Palace, at 3 o’clock yesterday afternoon, less than 24 hours after the fire took place.

MAKEUP, SCENIC ARTISTS DEMAND FIVE-WEEK DAY

Demands for a five-day week, made by the makeup artists’ union and the Allied Scenic Artists, are under consideration by producers working in the East. It is extremely unlikely, however, that they will be granted. Makeup men are also asking for a minimum of $25 per day and would effect this rate, along with the proposed five-day week, on May 1. At present makeup men are receiving from $15 to $25 per day in the East.

Academy Picks Committee for ’29-’30 Merit Awards

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood—A committee consisting of Helen Ware, Roy Pomeroy, Walden Young, Reginald Bickford and Harry Rapf has been picked by the Academy of M. P. Arts and sciences to select the merit awards for the year ending July 31, 1930.

Vitaphone Turns Out 18 Shorts in 10 Days

Eighteen Varieties have been turned out in the last 10 days by the Vitaphone studios, which have been operating at an unusually rapid rate. Murray Roth, chief of the Eastern plant, has Arthur Hurley and Harry Mack assisting him, while Bryan Foy, in the West, is being helped by Artie De Haven and Herman Raymaker.

U. A. Sales Meeting

Second sales meeting of United Artists will be held at the Stevens Hotel, Chicago, beginning April 26 and ending April 28. District, branch and offices managers, as well as salesmen, of branches east of Denver and Canada will attend. At Lichtman will preside.

A Digest of Current Opinion

Unlimited Power of Screen & Diffusing Thought

WHETHER discussing silent or talking films the thing that should be considered is the unlimited power of the medium offered us for the representation of life and the world and for the pictures of thought. Today it is through the films that one is taught history; it is through the films that one comes to understand human nature; it is through the films that one learns geography and the sciences; the suffering of the spirit, like the stream of the spirit, shall more and more be sought there.

—Jean Mourot in "Le Cinéaspe," Paris

Allies Will Increase Scope of Theater

TALK is added to pictures, and the effect not to create a likeness to a stage production, but to emphasize a difference. In other words, the talkies will not supersedes the plays. It is more than likely that they will increase the popularity of the theater, while increasing their own, just as broadcasting conferred a blessing on the gramophone.

—Kinematograph, London

Influence of Films in Children

I THINK it is a very serious mistake for parents to allow their young children to go to the average moving picture show or to see any picture which they themselves, or people they trust, have not seen beforehand. Forty or fifty per cent. of the feature pictures today have some intentionally indecent scenes in them.

A FILM FACT A DAY

The initial picture directed by D. W. Griffith was "The Advenchures of Sally," shown at the old Biograph studio at 11 E. 14th Street, New York.

One of these pages were placed in each Liberty Magazine and delivered to the homes and newstands in Cleveland.

Monster Telegrams for "Show Girl in Hollywood"

ONE of the most effective exploitation stunts at the Olympic, Boston, was the enlargement of a telegram sent by Alice White to the Boston Chamber of Commerce congratulating the people of Boston on obtaining the world premiere of "Show Girl in Hollywood." Through an arrangement with the Postal Telegraph, enlargements of this wire, 12 feet high, were carried by forty boys through the main streets of Boston to the Chamber of Commerce. All the Boston newspapers carried stories and pictures of the boys carrying the telegram enlargements.

“For the Defense” Gives Powell New Type Role

William Powell’s next film for Paramount will be “For the Defense,” in which he will have the role of a former district attorney who rallies to the defense of criminals after he sees his only son imprisoned in an electric chair. The film is based on a story by Charles Furthmann, associate Paramount producer. John Carradine will direct it and Kay Francis will play opposite the star. Oliver H. P. Garrett is responsible for continuity and dialogue.

Synchronizing Griffith’s “The Birth of a Nation”

The Triangle Film Co., owners of the rights to “The Birth of a Nation,” are understood having the old silent version of the D. W. Griffith masterpiece synchronized with sound effects. This is believed the first of the Griffith series to be modernized for present day distribution.

Sidney Blackmer in “The Bad Man”

Sidney Blackmer has been given a prominent part in First National’s production of “The Bad Man.” Other members of the cast are Walter Huston, Dorothy Revier, James Rennie, O. P. Heggie and Marion (“Peanuts”) Byron.

Brent in “Silver Horde” Lead

Evelyn Brent has been given the lead in RKO’s “Silver Horde,” the Rex Beach story.

Warners Signs Leon Janney

Leon Janney, boy actor, has been signed to a long-term contract by Warners.

Columbia Signs Jason Robards

With the signing of Jason Robards to the cast, Columbia’s production “Sisters,” starring the two sisters in real life, Sally O’Neil and Molly O’Dwyer, goes into production under the direction of James Flood.

“Good Bad Girl” as Talker

Talking picture rights to Winifred Van Dusen’s “The Good Bad Girl” have been obtained by Columbia.

“All Quiet on the Western Front”

Universal’s “All Quiet on the Western Front” made a very favorable impression on its Coast premiere. It is a powerful docu-drama of the first world war with moldering direction by Lewis Milestone, some of the most realistic battle scenes yet screened, with effects heightened by sound, and excellent acting by a cast headed by Louis Wolheim, Lew Ayres and John Wray.

A Little from “Lots”

HUGH TREVOR has established a little record of his own. During the past three years, he has played the featured lead in 31 pictures. He is under contract to RKO.

Possible Hollywood conversation.

“What do you think of the new pictures?”

“Ooh, I’m between dailies.”

* * *

Harry Green was still smiling ’ofter. He had just read a trade paper, which had given him credit with being the father of Mitzi Green, Paramount’s clever child actress. Mitzi is the daughter of Joe Green of Keno and Green, a standard vaudeville act. And to keep the record, we must further state that Harry Green has no children.

* * *

En route to Hollywood, Frances McCoy, Broadway actress, stopped off to see the Grand Canyon. “Gee, they do everything in technicolor out here,” said Frances, as she peered into the canyon.

* * *

Owen Marks, who has been editing for Warners for the past nine months, is doing the cutting on “Sweet Kitty Bellairs.” He also edited “Disraeli” and “Mammy.”

* * *

Do you remember when Joe Schenck was a drugstore clerk? When Harry Brandt was a sporting editor; when Sam Taylor worked for Vitagraph; when Thornton Freeland lived in North Dakota; when Warner was a reporter; when Arthur Zeller was in charge of the viola Duna and Alice Lake units at the old Metro studio, in New York?

* * *

Irving Berlin’s refrain, “Oh, how I hate to get up in the morning,” does not apply to Michael Viaroff. Easily the bigger writer in the unit, he received a rush call from the Universal studio to play the role of “Grand Duke Dimitri” in “The Flame of the Flesh,” which Sam Taylor is directing.

* * *

A few Lewys—Lipton, Schreiber, Leslie, Cody, Maren, “Honolulu,” Tis a wise producer, who “no’s” his own relatives.

* * *

F. Hugh Herbert, the seerist, is the proud father of a baby girl. John Stone and Howard J. Green are the other writers who recently became fathers.

* * *

Lee Zahler, musical director for Larry Darmour Prods, wrote the score for “The King of the Cowpens” and the music for its theme song, “Love Thoughts of You.” He also wrote “Crazy Melody,” which has been associated with M-G-M, Tiffany and Universal. He will write the music for the Charles Murray and George Sidney series of comedies, which will be directed and produced by Nat Ross.

* * *

Emile de Recat, head of the Pathé studio’s foreign department, has entered a sketch, which will serve as a prologue to the Spanish version of “The Grand Parade.” Fred Scott, Helen Tuveltreenes, Rachel Haywood, who handled the original sketch, which was written and directed by de Recat, who also directed the Spanish version of “Grand Parade.”

* * *

Our Passing Show—Jack Eaton, Al Mannan and Elmer Clifton confer at one-stick; Ralph Murphy, Broadway playwright and stage director, busy at Pathe; Endre Bohem motoring to the fox studio.

* * *

Paul Detlefson, one of the magicians in the camera, is a busy member of the production department. Detlefson, who has been with United Artists, Pathé and First National, did the miniature work on Douglas Fairbanks’ “The Iron Mask” and also did some of the trick work on “The King of Kings” and “The Volga Boatman.” He also handled the special photographic effects on “The Lover’s Oath,” which was Raman Novarro’s first important picture. Ferdinand Huene Earle was the producer.

* * *

Ned Waghurst, noted stage producer and dance director, is considering an offer to stage talkers. He directed the dialogue, staged the numbers and provided the continuity for a recent 600 profit production and amateur productions he produced. He was the director of the Ziegfeld “Follies” for several years.

* * *

Gene Towne is all smiles these days. He sold his original, “The Pajama,” to the James Cruze organization. For his next director he will also write the picture version and dialogue. He is now completing the screen play of the dialogue for “The Little Accident,” which will be made by Universal. “The Pajama” will serve as a starring vehicle for Lola Lane.

* * *

William de Mille has been chosen president of the tennis club formed by members of the film colony. Cedric Gibbons is vice-president and Crawford Kent secretary. The initial tournament will be held at the Los Angeles Tennis Club, starting May 25.

* * *

George Rosener is writing the screen play and dialogue for “Penny Arcade,” which will be made by Warner Bros. Rosener’s play, “She Got What She Wanted,” was the picture story of the Rosener’s play, “The Love Omen.” The picture was made by Fox. “Lola Lane’s Laches” was also written by Rosener, which was produced on the Coast.

Nat Ross Signs Writers for Sidney-Murray Series

A number of important comedy writers have been gathered by Nat Ross to produce a new series of comedy plays which Universal is to release. Among them are Dick Smith, Gil Pratt, Edward R. Luddy, James Milhase and Nat Carr. All dialogue and continuity will be done by Hamilton Del Ruth.

Fox Signs Georgia Caine

With the signing of Georgia Caine, the cast of Fox’s “Good Intentions” has been completed. William K. Howard is author as well as director.

Walton Tully Expected Soon

Richard Walton Tully, playwright-producer, is expected in Los Angeles soon to arrange for the production of “The Bird Paradise” for the screen.

“Manslaughter” Begun

Work has begun on “Manslaughter,” in which Claudette Colbert has the lead under direction of George Abbott.

Churchill Lead in Fox Film

Marguerite Churchill has been awed as the leading romantic role in “The Oregon Trail,” which Raoul Walsh is directing for Fox.

Collier for “Rain or Shine”

William Collier, Jr., will make his first picture in a 1930-31 production in Columbia’s “Rain or Shine.” Collier has been signed for the juvenile role in support of Joe Cook.

“Dancing Mothers” as Talker

Edmund Goulding is preparing a talk version of “Dancing Mothers,” previously made by Paramount as a silent.

Warner For Two Fox Films

H. B. Warner will appear in two Fox pictures, the first with Irene Rich in “On Your Back” and the second in “Road House.”

Belmore and McClatchie Cast

Paramount has cast Lionel Belmore and Claude McClatchie for parts in “Ladies Love Burtles.” Ernest Lubitsch will direct.

Hobart in “Lilion”

Rose Hobart arrives at the Fox studios today to begin work in “Lilion,” under direction of Frank Borzage.

Begin “Inside the Lines”

Work has started at Radio on “Inside the Lines.” All star cast will be featured.

Get Roles in “Road House”

Frank Albertson, Frances McCoy, Bobby Callahan, Joyce Compton and Richard Keene have been assigned feature parts in Fox’s “Road House,” in which Sharon Lynn will have the feminine lead.
“THE HIGHEST HONOR THAT OUR INDUSTRY CAN BESTOW”

Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, representing the entire industry, picks “The Broadway Melody” as the year’s Finest picture.

THIS TROPHY GOES TO METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER!

and here’s a prophecy—
THE LOGICAL CONTENDER FOR NEXT YEAR'S "FINEST PICTURE TROPHY"—

Norma Shearer

THE DIVORCEE

AGAIN and again exhibitors of M-G-M product recognize that this choice of service is unfailing! Again and again the high honors and the high grosses go to theatres playing M-G-M. Box-offices which have just thrilled to the clink of Greta Garbo-Anna Christie business will now know the delights of another towering triumph, Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee." No other company may point to such a consistent year-after-year record of hit-delivery!

WARNERS' HOLLYWOOD MAKES DAZZLING DEBUT

By HARRY N. BLAIR

VITAPHONE sales executives are highly enthused over the fancy spring product Sam Sax is sending them from the Eastern Vitaphone studio. The staff of the old Sax office is working its box-office magic.

"The Sap From Syracuse," now a production at the Paramount New York studios, was adapted from the stage play of the same name, by Monte Katterjohn and Jack O'Connell.

Roy Mack has just completed his second directorial assignment at the Eastern Vitaphone studio, this being "The Stall Alarm" a hilarious sketch introduced in "The Little Show," with Clifton Webb and Fred Allen enacting their original roles.

Lucille Browne, a blonde beauty recently signed here by Fox, received first picture press notice in this last Fall at which time we mentioned her as being most promising of a group of extras then preparing in an R-I-O comedy, at the Granamery studio.

Another youngster who will bear watching in Lew Fields, is his caption, who has just completed a one reel short entitled "The Duel," at the Eastern Vitaphone studios, under the direction of Arthur Harter, Lew has only been in the business forty years and says he still has a lot to learn.

Mort Blumenstock is preparing to direct Smith & Dale, stage comedians, in a two-reel comedy, "La Schnapps, Inc." which will have a large supporting cast besides being elaborately mounted.

Directors may come and directors may go, but Phil Quinn, the staff assistant director at Warner Bros. Vitaphone studio here, goes on forever. In the past year or half, "Phil has assisted over 300 talkie shorts and proudly asserts that he hasn't had a fight yet."

Assistant directors are kept stepping as illustrated in the case of Sam Bloomfield who has helped turn out a round dozen of short subjects since coming to the Paramount New York studio last October, from Chicago.

New Executives at Sound Studios

Two new executive appointments have been made at the headquarters of New York, Inc., by president A. J. Kendrick. John Valentine was installed as Assistant Sales Manager and Charles Hathaway, Account executive.

Grief Over Titles

Producers are experiencing much difficulty in clearing titles to be used for pictures, owing to the fact that many plays are being acquired for tailor purposes. This situation will eventually lead to the increased use of the original story, in preference to produced material, according to one big company executive.

on the sound reproduction possibilities of machines installed on the stage, with a view to eliminating the horns. The cost of installing the wide-angle lens and new daylight screen is nominal and will be a money-saving proposition for the FILM DAILY. January 26th, "Fire hazards are controlled by taking a 16x22 inch screen, and the new daylight screen will permit showing pictures in fully lighted theaters, eliminating the sex question which has become so disturbing to many exhibitors."

Furher also said that the new screen will be appropriate for houses with 16 foot screens, or less, and is not particularly suited for the drive-in house. He said it will eliminate distortion because there is no need for enlarging the pictures in present day projection. While he does not claim the machine to be perfect, he does state that it will be an advanced step to that end.

The new screen and wide-angle lens will not be available until demonstrated in Furher's privately owned 16x22 inch studio, he said. However, an 18 x 22 inch screen installed at the RKO is ready for testing and, when necessary, Furher claims, there is no eye-strain and a more pronounced picture. A better definition is given to color films with this Trans-Lux screen, according to the company, because of its green and blue composition.

Big Market for Equipment and Pictures in Educational Field
Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY
Washington—A vast market for projection apparatus and for pictures to be used in visual education is indicated in the school field, with preliminary reports of the Department of Commerce showing that there are about 15,000 schools in the U. S. having auditoriums seating an average of 500. The growing interest in the use of both talking and silent pictures for classroom purposes is looked upon as placing all schools in the position of potential users of equipment and films.

Is hanging 'em on the chandeliers at world premiere, long run engagement Rialto, N.Y.
AL LICHTMAN decided he wanted a vacation to get some of that alleged California sunshine. So Al went into a mental huddle with himself. As a result, he emerged after a week with a plan which he sprung on his fellow-members of the Motion Picture Club (formerly the Market Players Club, title abandoned when they discovered it was easier to play pictures). Al’s plan was for an Annual Flicker Frolic to be held on May 11 at the Liberty for the benefit of the M. P. Relief Fund. So he gets himself appointed president, and goes to Hollywood to secure a pre-view picture as the main attraction for the event. Yesir, ideas count in this biz...but the plan is a wow, and already May 11 looks like a gala night.

THAT POPULAR scout exhibitor, M. Louis Machat of Chi, was here in New York recently and introduced a new Scotch comedian. When anybody hear “the” cigarette from him,成熟 lit it...and took several puffs himself...just to make sure it was properly lit, as Louis explained. Theater equipment note: The new theater in Bombay of the Pathé India Theater, maintains in back of the lobby...In “The Fall Guy,” a scene calls for Tom Kennedy to throw Ned Sparks right through a closed door. After several tries, Ned crashed the door off its hinges. “Fine,” sez the director, “let’s get a new door and play it over more;” pleads Ned as they carried him out on a stretcher.

AL ZIMBALIST and Sid Rechtenik are editing the Warner Club “News,” and they also handle layout, scout for news, work up publicity and chisel the ads...so they have deep respect for us trade paper fellers...and Mrs. Isabel Turner, supervising the co-op buying system for Warner employees, was given three cheers and a huzzah for landing a 10 per cent discount to members on General Motor trucks...Another understudy was disappointed when Rin-Tin-Tin showed up for the Palace performance while Lo-Bo, the police dog, was all set to go on.

REMEMBER WHEN—M. Whitmark & Sons published their first song, “I’ll Answer That Question Tomorrow,” written by Isadore Whitmark for Mlle. Renée, popular star of the early nineties...she became the wife of William A. Bradlee, the mother of the famous Alice...Then came Whitmark’s phenomenally successful “The Picture Turned Toward the Wall,” a sentimental ballad that had everybody weeping...Since then the Whitmarks have published a few other hits, a few hundred...so in celebrating their 45th year in the music pub biz, they have something to reminisce about.

AT THE Hollywood opening, the Warner boys set a record for modesty by refraining from coming on the stage and taking a bow. Real silk-hat night, handled just that way...outside of the brief dedication by Hizzoner Jimmy Walker and a few words from Mayor or Stickey of Philby, there was no stage pyrotechnics...with so many celebs in the audience, any on the stage would have been excess baggage...and wotta night it was for A. P. Waxman...Albis: In a scene in Para’s “Follow Through,” Zelma O’Neill required to be repeatedly doused with perfume, and a married gent in the cast was so saturated he was afraid to go home to the missus...so the director obligingly issued him a card stating: “This is to certify that Soando was at work on sound stage No. 2 and that the perfume you smell was contracted in proper line of duty.”

FIVE FLOWER-LIKE Japanese young ladies, here as ambassadors of good-will, called on us and extended good wishes from Jiji Shimbo...“Thanks,” we sez, nonchalant like, “and tell Jiji, the old scout, to send us some gags for the column.” So the morning postet a copy of a Tokio newspaper...it is called “Jiji Shimbo.”

W/HY DOES an assistant director live in the past? Because his days are all yes-terdays.

Lonsdale to Supervise Dialogue for Paramount

Frederick Lonsdale, the British playwright, has been placed under contract by Paramount to supervise the dialogue of “Spring Cleaning,” and “New Morals.” The latter, to be produced first, will have Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook in the chief roles.

Stahl to Resume First at Universal Studios

John M. Stahl, who has been given a long-term contract by Carl Laemmle, Jr., will be the first director to start work after Universal City resumes operations. Stahl has been assigned to direct the talkie version of John Erskine’s book, “Sincerity.”

Cyril Maude in Hollywood

Cyril Maude has arrived in Hollywood with Mrs. Maude and started preparations for his first talking picture “Grumpy,” adapted by Vincent Lawrence and Doris Anderson. Richard Arlen will play the leading juvenile role.

Roles for Friderici, Boteler

Blanche Friderici and Wade Boteler have been signed to important roles in “Soldiers and Wives,” which Edward Sloman is directing for Columbia.

Rex Lease in “So This Is Mexico”

Rex Lease, Tiffany player, will make “So This is Mexico,” before the “Balloon Buster of Arizona.” Music and lyrics are by Will Jason and Val Burton. Richard Thorpe will direct.

Two Signed by Warners

Warner has signed Betty Lawford and Reginald Sheffield to appear in next year’s productions.

Dot Janis to Tour Orient in Play

Dorothy Janis is giving up picture work to tour the Orient, in the Harry Garson play, “Ourang.”

Frances Dade Gets New Contract

Samuel Goldwyn has taken up his option on the services of Frances Dade, the young Philadelphia girl whom he sent to Hollywood last September for a screen test.

M-G-M Signs Betty Healy

Betty Healy, musical comedy star, has been signed by M-G-M to appear in “The March of Time,” which Charles Riesner is directing.

Frances McCoy Opposite Healy

Frances McCoy will play the leading opposite Ted Healy in the story written especially for the comedian by Rube Goldberg, titled “Soup to Nuts.” Benjamin Stoloff will direct.

A Little from "Lots"

FLORENZ ZIEGFELD, now in Hollywood, recalls that his first visit to the Coast was in 1893 and was made in a stage coach. At that time, he was presenting Sandow, the strong man, his initial theatrical venture. At a recent press party tendered in his honor, the producer entered into the spirit of the affair. He, Howes sang a song, and a few practical jokers had no trouble in inducing Ziegfeld to tender Hal a “contract.”

Tom Patricola, Paul Page, Louis Mann, S. N. Behrman, David Kirkland and Lee Tracy were among those who might have gotten a contract, so that they might gain vantage points, at the Easter services in the Bowl.

Hollywood fable—Once upon a time a press agent wrote an article, which did not include any adjectives.

Johnny Grey, Larry Darmond scenarist, is an enthusiastic polo player. He is also coaching the University of Southern California polo team.

Roy Pomeroy has started the direction of his first RKO picture, “Inside the Lines.” His cast is headed by Betty Compson and Ralph Forbes.

Howard Estabrook, who recently completed the screen play and dialogue for “The Bad Man,” is now writing at RKO. During the past two months, he wrote an original, “Under Western Skies,” for which he wrote the picture version and dialogue, in addition to writing the screen and dialogue versions for “Kismet.”

Joseph Santley is mighty pleased over the audience reaction to “Swing High,” his feature of direction for Pathé. It was previewed the other night at San Bernardino.

Ralph J. Dietrich, who edited “Crazy That Way” and “Cheer Up and Smile,” for Fox, will also cut “On Your Bark.”

Katherine Wilson, who attracted much attention by her work in “American Tragedy,” will play the role opposite Ralph Bellamy in the story written especially for the comedian by Rube Goldberg, titled “Soup to Nuts.” Benjamin Stoloff will direct.

Two Musical Features
Completed by Tiffany

Two musical features have been completed by Tiffany. They are “Under Montana Skies” and “Hot Curves.” Violinsky and Harry Tobias wrote the music for both. Kenneth Harlan, Dorothy Sullivan, John Summerville, Nita Martan, Ethel Wales, Harry Todd, Christian J. Frank and Lafe McKee are in the cast of the first, while the players in the second include Benny Rubin, John Ince, Moe Donlin and Natalie Moorhead. Earl Snell is responsible for the adaptation of “Hot Curves.”

Pollard to Direct Crawford

Harry Pollard, recently placed under contract to M-G-M, will direct Joan Crawford in “The Great Day.” Production is by William Cary Duncan and John Wells, with a Vincent Youmans score. The adaptation is by James Montgomery.

Vitaphone Finishes “So Big”

Vitaphone has completed the two-reel talking short of Edna Ferber’s “So Big.” Beatrice Van made the adaptation and Richard Weil wrote the dialogue. Bryan Foy directed. Helen Jerome Eddy has the role of Selina and John Litel that of Dirk (So Big) her son. Gardner James is cast for the part of Rool Fred. George Irving is the Gen. Goguet. Marilyn Morgan is the Dallas and Isabel Keith the Paula.

Gershwin Start Film Work

The Gershwins, George and Ira, have started work on their first production under their contract with Fox.

Beery Gets Long Contract

Wallace Beery has been placed under long-term contract by M-G-M.

Film Title Changed

“The Solid Gold Article,” which marks Chandler Sprague’s debut as a director, has had its title changed by Fox to “Not Damaged.”

“High Road” Now “Lady of Scandal”

“The Lady of Scandal” is the final title for M-G-M’s adaptation of Frederick Lonsdale’s play, “The High Road,” starring Ruth Chatterton, with Basil Rathbone, Cyril Chadwick and Ralph Forbes in important roles. Sidney Franklin directed.

Nancy Carroll, Coming East

Nancy Carroll is coming East soon to test talking picture parts in the Paramount Long Island studio. It will be “Laughter,” an original by Harry D’Arrast, who will direct the production. Fredric March also will leave Hollywood to be Miss Carroll’s leading man in “Laughter.”

William Reinhart has completed camera work on an industrial at Macey’s.

Lester Neilson, assistant director, at the Paramount Pictures, can’t understand why the stage play “Uncle Vanya” is going over so well since it is the first Jed Harris piece in which he has appeared.

Victor Heerman will call rehearsal for “Animal Crackers” on M-G-M’s stage, the second talking picture made for Paramount by the four Marx brothers, their “The Coconuts” have cracked box-office records.

Veree Teasdale, who has appeared in a number of Paramount, Pathe and M-G-M shorts made in the East, will be appearing in various Broadway productions, added William Byrner, her director, by appearing opposite Lew Fields in “The Dye at the Eastern Vitaphone studio.

Our list of gastronomic preferences of the Paramount force has been verified, and John Fingerlin confides he freely a mile for a piece of cheesecake; Arthor Cozine likes nothing better than to dance around the ham omelet while Will Sautner in Heath both look forward to Friday and the inevitable shad roe.

Ray Foster, cameraman at the Eastern Vitaphone studio, was very much in evidence at the opening of Warner Bros. Hollywood theatre last Tuesday where he was kept busy photographing the arrival of the numerous celebrities who attended.

Staunton Smith in role in “Queen High” completed at the Paramount New York studio, left for Hollywood yesterday.

Norman Taurog has been placed under contract to direct shorts on features for Paramount at the company’s New York studio.

Nancy Carroll Coming East

Nancy Carroll is coming East soon to test talking picture parts in the Paramount Long Island studio. It will be “Laughter,” an original by Harry D’Arrast, who will direct the production. Fredric March also will leave Hollywood to be Miss Carroll’s leading man in “Laughter.”

Reverse Opera
West Coast Bus, THE FILM DAILY
Los Angeles—Although the prevailing tendency is for operatic stars to go into pictures, Fred Scott, Pathe's sensational tenor, has reversed the order by going from films to opera. Without interfering with his screen work, Scott will sing opposite Maria Jeritza in a special production of "Salome" by the Los Angeles Grand Opera Co. here and in San Francisco.

Audio-Cinema, Inc., Sees Good Field for Operas
A good field for film versions of operas, due principally to the international appeal of this musical form, is seen by Audio-Cinema, Inc., which has just finished a full-length presentation of "Pagliacci" in association with Fortune Gallo. Joe W. Coffman directed this production, which was selected because of its popularity. Among the prominent operatic singers who appear in the cast are Fernando Bertini, Alba Novello, Giuseppe Internante, Francesco Curci and Mario Valle. There is a chorus of 100 and the orchestra was directed by Carlo Pernoi.

Lighting Manufacturers Seek to End Union Jam
A year between the electrical workers' and the stagehands' unions over a question of jurisdiction in the manufacture of lighting apparatus, according to F. H. Bliss, of Kiegl Bros. Due to the dispute, Bliss says, the manufacturers at present are operating under a state of virtual boycott on certain types of theatrical lighting fixtures.

Officials of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers are said to demand that men employed in wiring work must be members of the union and that the lighting equipment or wired shall bear the label of Local No. 3 on all labels which are refused when it is sent to a theater for installation. Officials of the Stage Employees Local No. 1 contend that the electrical workers have no jurisdiction over the shops which manufacture the theatrical lighting fixtures and that each shop must have electricians who are members of the stagehands' union, also that the fixtures must be stamped with the label of I.A.T.S.E. Local No. 1.

Both unions have conceded that each has its sphere of action in which it is entitled to be there, and adds that there are defined classes of apparatus over which each has jurisdiction, but it has been impossible to reach an arrangement whereby workmen from each union may work together in the same shop making both classes of apparatus.

Just Predictin'
An old-timer in the business falling into a "just predictin" mood yesterday, made the prophecy which are destined to be, to occur in future:

Houses will seat from 1, to 1,750 persons and no less.

Read will be recorded on strip of film separate from that on which the image is recorded.

The entire technique of projection will be altered.

The single closeup will obsolete.

Pictures which now take three months to make will be produced in three days.

Steroscopic pictures will be shown in general house within months.

Flexibility—Efficiency PLUS

THE flexibility of the circulation of the 10 Associated Publications should appeal to all advertisers. Our plan permits the use of only the publication or publications that best fit particular requirements. For example, a special drive in one particular territory can be made through the publication in our group that covers that particular field—or a special message of interest only in one certain territory may be similarly handled—and thus save the difference in cost between 20,000 circulation and two or three thousand, as the case may be.

There is no waste circulation in the Associated Publications Group—no duplication through overlapping coverage—you can buy complete concentrated coverage of forty-five states down to circulation in only one state. You buy what you want and get what you buy!

Chicago Censorship Upheld, but Seizure Declared Invalid

Chicago—A motion picture censorship ordinance of this city has been held valid by the Supreme Court of the state in so far as it provides for censorship of films to be exhibited and requires a permit before the exhibition, but invalid with respect to confiscation of prints, films, rolls and other apparatus without notice to the other persons interested. The ruling is in connection with the action (Continued on Page 4) than at this time last year. Many of these pictures and show folk are now in Los Angeles. We know of no more convincing nor dominant argument than the above to assist in convincing hopeful ones that Hollywood, and the territory connected thereto, is no place whatsoever for he or she prospecting for a job, and without a contract signed, sealed and delivered.

You Can't Trustify Brains

The Council of the People's Commissars of the RSFSR, after hearing a report of the present state of the cinema industry in Russia, has decided upon the formation of a union, united All Union Center for the production and distribution of motion pictures. Every film organization working in Russia must, without exception, become included in this Trust Organization. We are of the not entirely original opinion that you cannot trustify brains. Without constructive aspect, art is not gone... we believe that it Russia carries this thought to practical termination it will mark the beginning of the end of what promised to be an inspirational school of cinema art.

Big Turnout at AMPA

for Byrd Cameramen

One of the largest crowds ever seen at an AMPA function was on hand yesterday to greet William Vaughn Vee, Joseph Gubler, the Paramount cameramen and Commander Byrd on his historic South Pole flight. President Louis Klein introduced Emanuel Cohen, who described the part the men took in the arduous work of the expedition in addition to their newsreel duties. Vee and Vee gave a graphic recital of the highlights of the adventure and were met with an account of the more technical phases from the camera standpoint. Both men proved fine talkers, and they were pelted with questions at the close. Perry Charles, radio announcer, was among the many prominent guests, as well as a delegation from the theatrical press representatives organization.

Eclipse in Sound

LEWIS MILESTONE SEES WIDE FILM AS MENACE

With enlarged pictures, Milestone pointed out, cutting from one shot to another will not be feasible, and as the camera will be frozen to one angle, the tempo of the picture will be considerably faster. Photoshop has already suffered from the adoption of stage technique due to the birth of the talkers, he said, as their speed has been lowered. Too much dialogue has also helped to slow up their tempo, according to Milestone.

The film industry has a difficult problem in the making of dialogue product for the foreign markets, the director declared. Hollywood French is not acceptable in France and so down the line of languages and countries, he said. Production abroad is the only solution.

Milestone believes that there is a definite trend towards more serious pictures, towards ones principally concerned with character studies. Color, he thinks, means little to him entertainment.

Code of Ethics Will Aduce Criticism of Industry

"The new code of ethics adopted by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., and subscribed to holeheartedly by all of its producer members is a decided step forward in this industry's desire to govern itself and self-censorship. If it is strictly adhered to it should have a great tendency to do away with automatic censorship boards and many ill-appointed critics of the industry.

Educational Melts L.A.

Los Angeles—A record has been hung up by Educational for the first three weeks in downtown theaters in Los Angeles, known to distributors as the toughest market in the country. Within one month the leading houses in this city, including Grauman's Chinese, have booked Educational's subjects to run from one to 12 weeks which is the finest tribute possible to Educational's product.

A Little from "Lots"

By RALPH WILK

Members of the film colony had a busy time last Saturday and Sunday morning. At 9 p.m. Saturday, John McCormack's "Song of My Heart" was ushered into Hollywood, at the Grauman's Chinese, while at midnight, "The Song of the Flame" had its première at the Carlen Brother Hollywood theatre. At 5:30 a.m. Sunday, Easter services started at the Hollywood Bowl. "Song of the Dawn" might have been an apt title for the ceremony.

Work on Radio Pictures' new Spanish is well under way. About $5000 is being spent in wild flowers and ornamental shrubs according to Max Ree, RKO art director, who is supervising the project. The set adjoins the new administration building and is 200 by 16 feet.

Nick Musuraca is in charge of the cameras and photography on "Inside The Lines," Roy J. Pomeroy's current production now being filmed at the RKO studios.
New York—Rita Hayworth, currently starring in "Forever," will appear in "The New York Trilogy" at the Playwrights' Center. She will be joined by Jack Albertson, who will play the role of a detective. The play, directed by Peter Shaffer, is set in New York City and explores themes of love, betrayal, and redemption.

Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

HELEN MORGAN, who turned in two corking talkie performances in "Applause" and "Roadhouse Nights," both made at the Paramount New York studio, was among the several celebrities who headed out programs at the opening of Warner Bros. new Hollywood theater. After Morgan sails shortly for an extended trip abroad and expects to resume picture work upon her return.

Harold Levey has established a salon at his studio apartment on West Tenth Street where his Sunday evening musicals are attended by the musical elite.

Monte Brice has just completed his first two reel talking comedy for RKO. It is entitled "The Golf Specialist" and with W. C. Fields is stared with Shirley Greer, John Dunsmuir, Howard Gibson and Bill Black in support.

Sure signs of Spring. The Paramount studio lunchroom is installing a soda fountain and the Vitaphone studio cafeteria is painting up. Theo Leroy, manageress of the latter canteen, has just sold her recipe for making home made cakes to a large baking concern, for a tidy sum.

Talkies require a more careful selection of extra people than in the days of silent pictures, according to Sam Tupper, assistant casting director at the Paramount New York studios. At the same time, extra never had a better chance to show their abilities than at present, he declares.

"No go for sleep" is the invariable remark given with every order, at the Ideal studios, while a Louis Brock RKO comedy is in the making. The phrase originated with Tony Marone of the team of Nick and Tony, Italian comedians, and immediately "caught on" with all the studio workmen.

"Boys Will Be Girls," a two reel comedy with college background, will go into production at the Eastern Vitaphone studios on Monday, with Olive Shea featured.

Frank Zucker, who has photographed many of the biggest stars in the business, has added W. C. Fields and Clark & McCullough to his list through their having been signed to each make a series for Louis Brock RKO productions.

Short-Changing Your Patrons!

Don't advertise a Talkie and serve a "Coughie"—blasts in the front rows, squawks in the "dead spots," mutterings and mumblings at the sides and rear.

Don't take the money for a "100% Talking Picture" when you know that some of your audience will hear only 50% of the talk.

Unless every patron can hear every word from any seat, you aren't giving them their money's worth!

Probably you've done the best you could... Maybe you've tried out some of the many makeshift methods to improve acoustics and have made things a little better.

But now there is no longer any excuse for not having PERFECT acoustics. The Berliner Acoustic System, remarkable new invention of a world-famous scientist, provides a perfect, even distribution of sound for any theatre, new or old, of any size or construction!

Its amazing and complete success in every installation is indisputable evidence that the last great problem in talking picture exhibition has been finally and perfectly solved.

Already the showman rush to install Berliner is on. Soon houses without Berliner Acoustics will be as far out of the money as unwired houses.

Don't get caught short! Remember the early days of talking picture installation! Don't delay!

Remember these 10 Features

1—Officially certified as FIREPROOF.
2—Proved performance.
3—Easy to install.
4—No mechanism—fool-proof.
5—Economical.
6—Permanent.
7—Amplifies without distortion.
8—Invented by the greatest "sound" scientist.
9—Adaptable to any theatre.
10—First cost is the only cost.

CASTIC AND seemingly unnecessary fire regulations are being implied upon Eastern studios by the department authorities. No doubt the film workshop is willing and anxious to take all reasonable precautions against fire hazards, but one of the new requirements is good reason. A number of producers, including three major companies, find that the East has sufficient advantages to warrant their being here. For one thing, acting out all descriptions are quickly identifiable. These producers spend thousands of dollars annually and play thousands of people. They try to this Eastern spot part of the prosperity of the fourth largest industry in America. Unreasonable hands along the line of fire regulations, however, will certainly not see the East more attractive to the producers whose activities are to be fostered rather than disregarded.

WIDE FILM Lewis Milestone is another influence to put the kites on film tempo. Whether or not enlarged images will have this effect on screen entertainment is nothing for the future to determine. One positive fact, however, that American pictures have gained is world-wide popularity, to a large degree, through their fast tempo and thing should be done to impede it need.

ROPOS TO the spring cleaning, it has occurred to us that something doubt to be done about these professional moralists who so generally give of their time and energy to keep the screen lily-white. Perhaps they would start the day under influence of better judgment provided they would read a copy of recently-adopted production code their coffee and cereal.

Producers After Players To Meet Big Demand for Humor

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood—To meet the heavy demand that has cropped up lately for robust comedy, producers are scurrying the country for talent of the humorous type. The legitimate stage, vaudeville and other fields are being searched for ‘lively material, and a fairly good array already has been corralled and put to work.

will make their debut in "See Naples and Die." The work of the comedians has been so satisfactory that they have been signed to a long term contract with Warners. Warners also are assembling much material for Joe E. Brown, who did so well in "Hold That Bird," and William Larned will be an important figure in the Warner plans.

Paramount is expecting Leon Errol to be a big drawing card in the talkies. The company is also grooming Stuart Erwin and Richard (Skeets) Gallagher for important roles.

Columbia will introduce Joe Cook, Broadway star, in "Rain or Shine," his footlight vehicle, while Samuel Goldwyn has made lavish plans for "Whoopie," which will star Eddie Cantor.

ALONG THE RIALTO

with Phil M. Daly

BIG DOINGS over at Universal, with their annual sales con- vention in full swing at the Savoy-Plaza, and a lot of the boys including five of the big directors, have a real legitimate excuse for staying away from home that no married man can afford to pass up. . . . and wotta banquet served in the Crystal Room Sunday night, with a lotta stars and other celebs there. . . . and the big wind-up at the Central Tuesday when they stage the premiere of "All Quiet on the Western Front" . . . . but they're making a lotta noise about it here in the East. . . .

OUT in California there is much excitement over making a sound film of the total solar eclipse at the Brackett Observatory. . . . these Californians should be used to it by now, with all the silent screen stars who have done an eclipse in sound films. . . . Thones Worth While: Granlland Rice on the Coca-Cola radio hour Wednesday eve. . . . and while you're listening to him, sez the company's ad, 'sit back in the easy chair and uncork a bottle of Coca-Cola for your guests' . . . . now wotta surprise we'll have in store at our next radio party for Merritt Crawford and the rest of the Old Guard. . . .

TERRY RAMSAYE was surprised when his armored car stunt for conveying the Wurlitzer classic violin collection to the studio broke a column in "Ton Notes," the conservative musical periodical. . . . but isn't the Pathe Rooster a ton-note? . . . . now you can learn to fly, for Visuaphonic Pictures has made "Anywhere by Air," which demonstrates the art of soaring up and staying there. . . . Gus Coats broke a new record in at the Rialto the other day—one other than little Miri Green, . . . . and the Green stunt blocked traffic and kept the house from going in the red. . . .

AT a showing of the African picture, "Stampede," at the Cameo, the wild animals stampeded in a jungle fire, and finally a queer snake-like animal on legs comes leaping toward the camera . . . . a stunt alongside us moaned and burriedly made his exit, dropping a pint flask on the floor. . . . we found it pretty good. . . . the picture, we mean. . . . Henry Ford has issued orders to discharge men coming to work at his Detroit plant with whiskies on their breath. . . . but suppose a guy only kissed his wife who has a whisky breath? . . . . Don Hancock thinks that all these trade rumors come from gents used to sitting in rumble seats. . . .

HELEN KANE is again boon-a-dooping at the Paramount theater with her first love, Paul Ash. . . . . but when we caught the show, Paul seemed to act indifferent. . . . feeling, no doubt, that Helen has been booping so much of late in Hollywood pictures that she has doomed him. . . . . Channille Pollock, the playwright, goes nesseristic and sez that the theater is being winded out by the film which require no effort to think on the part of audiences. . . . but probably the truth is that so many stage plays require too much effort to think. . . . endeavoring to figure out what the playwright is trying to say, but doesn't. . . .

GEORGE T. BYE, the well known literary agent, is giving all you fellers with a scenario masterpiece hidden away in the moth balls another chance for fame and fortune. . . . he is opening a special M. P. bureau at 535 Fifth Avenue. . . . Helen Harrison sez the Pathe rooster leads a simple life down on a Pennsylvania farm. . . . we dunno about that. . . . hasn't he been farmed out to play opposite more chicken flappers than any other screen actor? With Phil Goldstone's re-appointment as general manager of Tiffany being refused by the company, this has started something. . . . a life-terminer up at Sing Sing now has banded in his resignation, but the warden courteously refused it. . . .

A gent with a nervous twitching that keeps his head nodding easily landed a job as assistant director.

been faithfully preserved. Lillian Gish is remarkably well cast and she acts with intelligence and restraint.

Marie Dressler is happily cast and does excellently. Much credit is due Paul Stein; he has done his work with intelligence and feeling, and has made of 'The Swan' more than I imagined could be made of it as a talking picture.

"An exquisite picture. The spirit of that lovely creation has been preserved. Lillian Gish’s diction is excellent, her laugh a delight. She is warm and sweet and lovely. Stein has managed to veil his story in delicate beauty, tender and dainty and affecting. Romance sings through its scenes. Rod La Rocque looks splendid and acts with much passion. Conrad Nagel makes the tutor a very likeable and handsome man. Marie Dressler does wonders and O. P. Heggie is admirable."

—CHRONICLE
Here's a picture that bids for the highest box-office honors. With a great cast of big stars, it brings to eager millions the talking voice of the beloved favorite of "The Birth of a Nation," "Way Down East," "Broken Blossoms," and "The White Sister." "One Romantic Night" offers you guaranteed entertainment and audience satisfaction, being based on New York's stage sensation "The Swan," by Ferenc Molnar. Everybody's interested in the new, the smart, the daring spirit of love today. That's what you give your public in this smash attraction. Book it NOW!

ANNE CALDWELL, who wrote the book and lyrics for “Dixiana,” starring Bebe Daniels, predicts Miss Daniels will make as great a success on the operatic stage, as she has in musical films. Miss Caldwell created the role of the Charles Dillingham productions since 1912. Her musical collaborators have been Victor Herbert, Vincent Youmans, Jerome Kern and others of national note.

Lora Lee, who has been put under a one-year contract, Hal Wallis at the F. N. studios, will play opposite Joe E. Brown in “Going Some.”

Dorothy Mackaill is taking a needed rest and Sharon Lynn will assume her role in “Roadhouse,” which Fox is producing.

Louis Wolheim has been signed for “The Silver Horde” after he finishes “The Railroad Man” for RKO.

Having completed work in the “Don Pavloff” for First National, R. C. Barthelmess will begin his mounting cruise next week. Miss Barthelmess will accompany him.

Ray J. Pomeroy, director of Earl Derr Biggers’ famous and successful stage play, “Inside the Lines,” now in its first week of production at the RKO studios, has reproduced the majesty of the Governor of Gibraltar with minute accuracy, according to stage technicians. Pomeroy, an Englishman by birth, is thoroughly familiar with the locale of the story, having spent some time in that district.

Lynn Riggs, who is now working for Pathé, is not a complete stranger to this Culver City studio. Ten years ago he did extra work on this same lot, when it was occupied by H. W. Ives. He was not a professional extra, but appeared in several pictures so that he could tell his friends about it.

$30,000,000 TO SWITCH TO WIDE FILM
Paramount to Produce in Foreign Countries

Just Chatter—on what's going on
—By Jack Alicoate—

Perhaps it's none of our business anyway but we will gladly join any movement and contribute our dollars in dues that will force timidate or cajole producers to giving a little more time to it. When talk and other noises me in the front door, artistry background apparently went it the back. Appealing to the through the use of speech, music and realistic effects is all the merry and we'll vote a right ticket all down the line for the talkers, their past, present and future, but, not one out 100,000 paying customers are ind and it is our rather naive thought that people interested in seeing the result of Hollywood inspiration and genius as well as hearing it.

Smut Doesn't Belong

There is rather a growing tendency screen musicals to become suggestive. This may be all right for the Loop, Broadway and a few other lanes, but we question their inclusion in communities not quite so sophisticated. There is absolutely no room for smut in the production of this industry. To date the suggestion has been mild, but, like kitten playing with a ball of wool, if further it goes the worse it gets. Good comedian never resort dirt for laughs. Semi-nudeness never replace artistry. The great minds of the legitimate have all been clean, wholesome stories. The idea of Mr. Hays is a tremendous in the right direction. They spirit

Zukor and Lasky Reveal Plans for Making Films Abroad

Paris (By Cable) — Following a meeting here attended by Adolph Zukor, Jesse L. Lasky, Albert Kaufman and principal European executives of Paramount, it is announced that this company will go in for production of talkers in the countries where they are to be shown. First step in this direction will be the expansion of the Joinville Studios here.

No "U" Merger

"I have no thought of merging," Carl Laemmie told THE FILM DAILY yesterday when queried concerning reports about Universal's future. Laemmie plans to spend a few weeks in New York and then go to French Lick. After that he will attend the Derby at Louisville, then return to New York for a brief stay and later go to the Coast.

May Withhold Talkers from Houses With No Music License

Theaters which have not taken the license required of them by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers for the use of copyrighted music are likely to have talking pictures withheld from them, according to action under way by John G. Paine, chairman of the board of the Music Publishers' Protective Ass'n. Paine also is agent and trustee for the copyrights of practically all the important music publishers and copyright owners in the U. S. This trusteeship is for the purpose of granting licenses to

Cost of changing-over the industry to accommodate wide film will be approximately $30,000,000, THE FILM DAILY is informed by an authoritative source who requests that his identity be withheld. This figure is understood to have been reached after surveys made by companies in an effort to determine the expense involved in general use of enlarged films.

RKO's First Quarter Shows Big Rise in Net

In the first three months of 1930, RKO and subsidiaries made a net profit, after taxes and preferred dividends, of $1,607,622.30, which compares with $384,749.92 in the first quarter of 1929, an increase of more than 400 per cent, and is just slightly under the $1,669,564.25 net for the first quarter of 1929.

Loew's Half Year Net Increased 55 Per Cent

Net profit of Loew for the 26 weeks ended March 1 was $1,669,564.25, $84, after taxes and depreciation, an increase of $2,991,626 or about 53 per cent over the similar period last year, according to a financial statement issued yesterday by David Bernstein, vice-president and treasurer.

Champ Singing Film

With a total of 18 song numbers, the Warner picture, "Swell Kitty Bellairs," claims the record to date for a singing film. O'Keefe and Dolan wrote every song in the picture.

No Bull! "The Dude Wrangler" is the freshest outdoor comedy of the year, with Lina Basquette, George Duryea, Clyde Cook, Francis X. Bushman in the hilarious story of a pansy cowboy. Sono Art-World Wide.—Adv.

of its intent should be strictly en-

The Selling Season

Spring is here. It is the season of sunsets, house cleaning, flowers and the settled nature of next season's product to exhibitors. We know of no selling season, and we have spent half our life in pictures, offering as much in the way of product, opportunity or future to the theater owner.
He has a clientele rejuvenated through the introduction of talking pictures. He has probably the greatest array of product ever offered to choose from. He has his rights protected better than at any time within the past 10 years and he will have nobody but himself to blame if he does not do his bit in making the coming fall and winter season the greater this industry has ever known.
The usual turnover of press and campaign books will soon be blowing lather and yon. Trade papers will carry unusual and comprehensive announcements. Trumpets will flare at conventions, and salesmen, with the spirit of spring in their veins, will visit each other in bands.
To the exhibitor who will sit, and analyze carefully, choose his product with reflection and then present the same to his patrons with aggressive decision, there is more gold in them that hills like little Xell ever dreamed of.

Harry Richman to be M. C. at First "Flicker Frolic"

Harry Richman will be master of ceremonies at the First Annual Flicker Frolic of the M. P. Club to be held at the Uptown, May 11.
Among the headliners to appear will be Paul Whiteman and Valerie Valerin with their bands. From all indications, the event will be a sell-out a week in advance.

LAYERS FROM FEATURES
SLATED FOR RKO SHORTS

Hollywood—RKO will produce shorts with stars who have been appearing in feature productions, according to an announcement by Lee Aarsen. This decision is the result of recent conferences between the RKO executive vice-president and Larry Darmour, producer of Dar- pur shorts for the company. Plans already have been made for six two- reel comedies starring Karl Dane and George Arhur and a similar number with Louise Fonda.

This policy marks a departure in short picture production and indicates RKO is determined greatly to enlarge its expenditures in this field. While stars of the legitimate stage have appeared in short features, the size of the screen have been notable by their absence in the two-reelers.

Erone Safron, general manager of short subjects, announced these shorts will be created along lines such as govern the production of major pictures. E. V. Durling, chairman of Supervision of Darmour-RKO, has run a search for new talent, particularly comedians with feature production experience.

Adresses by ERPI Heads highlight 'U' Sales Confab

Universal's international sales conference at the Savoy Plaza was highlighted yesterday by addresses by J. Otterson, president, and Whitliff Dale, vice-president, of Electrical Research Products, Inc. Lou B. Heiger, general manager, gave a detailed analysis of Universal's 1930-31 product and announced an average cost of $400,000 on each of 20 pictures.

Among those present in addition to the sales force were: Owen Davis, J. Paul Whiteman, John Murray, Douglas Boles, Graham McVee, Mabel Wayne, Herman Bisse, Frank Goodman, Ivan St. John, James Gillespie and John Dray. All will be present tonight for the premiere of "All Quiet on the Western Front" at the Central.

A Little from "Lots"

BY RALPH WILK

HELEN GRACE CARLISLE has completed the treatment and continuity for "Mother's Cry," her book, which will shortly be published at First National. She will devote May to completing her third novel, following which she will return to scenario work.

One hundred executives, actors, directors, writers and other members of the Paramount studio attended the bachelor dinner tendered David Selznick. Leon Errol presided as toastmaster and the speakers included B. P. Schulberg, Henry Herz-brun, M. C. Levee, Herman J. Mankiewicz and Sam Jaffe. Others at the speakers' table were Benny Zeidman and William Goetz.

In several scenes for "The Fall Guy" Mae Clarke is shown mending Jack Mulhall's socks. After the scenes were taken A. Leslie Pearce, the director, chanced to pick up one of the socks. "We got his big black bump for him," he inquired, "padding for a bunion?" The bump was Mae's mending job.

The verdant Santa Ynez Canyon, 30 miles from Santa Barbara, is serving as the location for "Eyes of the World," which Henry King is directing. King heads a company of 140 players and technicians.

The dinner for Marlene Dietrich, Paramount's acquisition from Germany, established a little record of its own, as M. C. Levee noted. Three speeches were made, with the speeches making only three minutes. The speakers were B. P. Schulberg, Josef von Sternberg, who discovered Miss Dietrich and used her in a Ufa picture, and Miss Dietrich.

In addition to appearing himself in "Fairway Favorites," Grantland Rice has enlisted Glenn Collet, Tommy Armour, Johnny Farrell, Alex Morrison, Clarence Gamble and made his talker debut in a Vitaphone comedy called "The Mattie Idle," just completed at Warners. Eastern production studio, under the direction of Arthur Hurley.

What must certainly be the most elaborate sets ever built in the E. have just been completed at Paramount New York studios, for the direction of William Beaudine and Ernest Fegele, of the art depart- ment. The upper stage is almost entirely taken up by a complete Long Island estate, the setting of "Animal Crackers" while the lower stage contains an ocean liner, complete even to the bar, which is so realistic that "The Skip From Rascus" claim that they can smell the salt air.

Neville Fleeson, staff composer at Warner Bros. Eastern Vitaphone studio has composed a one act op to be sung in English. Flee hopes to offer to uplift American music. Those who have heard predict that his composition will come a national classic.

Marie Carolin, secretary to F. Heath, casting director at the Paramount New York studios, has an marvelous memory for faces a phone number that her boss rely on her as the "human encyclopedia."" George Folsay has worked a special system of lighting the huge set built at the Paramount New York studio for "Animal Crackers." The problem in this o is not to let the set overshadow character and Folsay has solve perfectly.

Getting to the Eastern Vitaphone stage by nine A. M. has prepared to rehease for the Broadway stage people, who are used to breakf eat on time.

Ernest Zanotors has been spend his Sunday afternoons at the Br Zoo in preparation for his assen as commentator man on "Animal Crackers," the Marx Bros., second starring picture, which goes on puction this week at the Paramount studios.

Mark Sandrich and Monte B are among those who week's list, both being laid up with seas cold.

When you see Paramount's musical, "Queen High," don't to note the sideburns worn Charlie Ruggles in his role of "Red.

Spencer Bennet is busy at the Metro-Tropolitan studio, where he is directing Pierre D'Argent in the role of "J.B. Craven," Bennet's veteran cam- raman, Eddie Snyder, is in charge of the photography.

Short Shots from New York Studios

BY HARRY N. BLAIR

WHEN Homer Mason, who writes short material for the Eastern Vitaphone studio, recently visited Hollywood to look over some lots he purchased there ten years ago, he had to call on a real estate man to guide him to the place since all sorts of buildings had sprung up all around the plot, in the meantime. Needless to say, the value of the ground has increased many times over.

Vernon Duke, of London, who is well known on the Continent as a composer, has become temporarily attached to the staff of Paramount New York studio's music depart- ment, writing musical material for forthcoming productions.

Henry Hull, star of the Broadway production, "Michael and Mary,"

Rube Goldberg for a near round of golf action in this sport series.

Benny Rubin is one of the screen favorites who refuses to accept money for his photographs. He insists on returning the quarters that are sent to him for his pictures.

George O'Brien, who is a basketball and football enthusiast, is showing much interest in tennis. He is having a court built at his new Malibu Beach home.

Arthur Hagerman, Tiffany studio bosscell, has induced Prof. Owen C. Coy, head of the history department at the University of Southern California, and Dr. Pa. exchange professor from Russia, who also teaching at the U. S. C., to lecture on "Journey's End.

Stuart Erwin, Paramount comedian, has returned to the Coast. He will play opposite Clara Bow in "Palom Beach." While in the East, he worked in "Dangerous Nan McGrew," at the Paramount New York studio.

Do you remember when Pat Dowling attended Stanford; when Joe Swearing was a Chicago newspaperman; when Al Boasberg lived in Buffalo.

Joseph Cawthorne celebrated his 51st birthday during the filming of "Divauna," in which he plays an important role. Incidentally, his birthday marked his 51st anniversary as an actor.

Spencer Bennett is busy at the Metropitan studio, where he is directing J. B. Craven, the title character of "Rogue." Bennett's veteran cameraman, Eddie Snyder, is in charge of the photography.

When you see Paramount's musical, "Queen High," don't forget the sideburns worn by Charlie Ruggles in his role of "Red."

PROJECTORS MUST KNOW THEIR PICTURES

The functions of the projection room are not confined to mere mechanics. The operators have to know their pictures thoroughly in order to get the cues for the changeover from one reel to another, and to signal the stage crew at the right moment for the drawing of the curtains. This necessitates a fair knowledge of music, since the cue at the end of a reel may occur in the musical score. Under ideal conditions a new picture is given a preliminary rehearsal before it goes on for the public, but oftentimes, and in the smaller houses especially, the films do not arrive until a half hour or so before the scheduled performance. In that case the operator gets the blame when things go wrong. All in all it's a ticklish profession, and one that fully justifies the pride which its practitioners take in it.

What the Talkie has Accomplished

The "talkie" projects and enlarges the lives of all human kind beyond the confining boundaries of a narrow provincialism of thought and experience. It brings to everyone, everywhere, at prices all can afford, the finer things of life—the beauty of the God-given voices of famous artists; the world's great symphony orchestras; the bewitching artistry of trained dancers; the dominating spell of skilled, finished actors; the joy and happiness which the genius of comedians brings.

Wilbur O'Brien in Bausch & Lomb Magazine

At the Lamb's Gambol there was a sketch by John Hobble, "The Bubble Party," that added to the general enjoyment . . . . A spot party for Mr. and Mrs. William R. Temple, who were one of those refined tea parties at their Greenwich Village studio Sunday afternoon. . . . Rosalie Stewart was there, and Neville Plaxton, Harold Levey, Stuart Stewart, Arthur Hurley, Roy Mack, Pierre de Ronan, . . . and we all went home together, tripping more or less lightly hand in hand up Fifth Avenue, singing—well, what matters, just so long as we were singing—

Harold Belford, counsel for Warners, back from a European trip, says the English like singing pictures, the Germans go for tragedy, while the French like farces . . . . and Al Jolson's "The Jazz Singer" is going big in all three countries . . . . so figure that one out . . . . An old-time East Side exhibit tells us there is nothing new about these color processes . . . . he recalls the time before they started using tooth brushes around Delancey Street when color-on-film was in everybody's mouth . . . . Jay Emanuel and Charles E. Goodman have taken over that sophisticated Philly weekly, "The Town Crier" . . . . have they started a weeping column for independent exhibitors? . . . .

And now we learn from Sidney Skolsky that Peggy Hopkins Joyce's hobby is collecting beautiful bottles . . . . oh, well, we're not so fuzzy about how beautiful they are, just so long as they're bottles. . . . Theodore Stears is back from a three years' trip to Germany with a trunk full of musical manuscripts and is trying to make some use of 'em . . . . we suggest he establish a reference library in Hollywood for theme song writers. . . . Leslie Abrahamson of Brixton Hill, London, just dropped in to say hello . . . . he told us that he runs a theater called the Clarence, patronized by coal miners. . . .

Leo Diegel, golf champion, who is co-starring with Walter Hagen in "Match Play," Mack Sennett-Educational picture, will be interviewed by Mike Simmons over WOR tonight at 8:30 Eastern daylight saving time and will relate his experiences of breaking into the movies under the auspices of Mack Sennett. A short subject specially designed for Mothers' Day, "Songs of Mother," produced by Van Beuren and released by Pathé, has been booked by RKO for all its metropolitan houses for the week of May 11. . . .

Probable the oldest news cameraman of them all is Brady, the veteran who took Civil War photos behind the Union lines. . . . he has been helping David W. Griffith get technical information for "Abraham Lincoln." . . . no matter what color cameras may be perfected, they will hardly produce more colorful pictures than Brady's old wet-plate equipment . . . . And these Hollywood cameramen who think they have a tough time should give a thought to the trials of Van Der Veer and Rucker, the South Pole newsmen . . . they say at 50 below zero, the film stuck to their fingers. . . . When "Show Girl in Hollywood," starring Alice White, opens at the Winter Garden on Friday, J. P. McEvoy, author of the best-selling novel on which the picture is based, will be present with a party of friends.

Mass Reader Interest as Well as “Class”

In an interview published in the New York Times in September, 1926, Mr. Sidney R. Kent, executive of the Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, is quoted as follows: “He (Kent) said that his company was serving 10,000 accounts, and that 70 per cent of the firm’s income was derived from towns with a population of 15,000 or over. ‘Hence,’ observed Mr. Kent, ‘30 per cent of our business is derived from 8,800 communities which represents our profit and more. On a big production the average profit is nowhere near 30 per cent.’ ”

In short, then, profits accrue from the flood of small rentals—the fifty dollar bookings, the twenty-fives and the tens.

The 1,200 accounts of the 10,000 from which 70 per cent of rentals are obtained are comprised mainly of Paramount’s own theatres and other large circuits. These houses buy from 52 to 100 pictures a year. And, selling to them, must mainly be done to perhaps a score or more buyers, each one of whom buys for a number of houses. But the remaining 8,800 “profit payers—and more” buy as many as 364 pictures a year and all do their own buying. Consequently trade paper advertising that reaches these individual buyers and is READ by them is most effective and productive. And here is where the regional papers are of greatest service, for with their intimate contact, through their pages of news that is largely local, the Associated Publications have a strong reader interest, not alone with the “8,800” accounts, but with the other “1,200” as well—mass buying power as well as class!

film companies to use the copyright works which Paine controls in synchronization or timed relation with the silent pictures. As Agent and Trustee for these copyright works, Paine has held the presentation rights with which the Trusteeship was formed, Paine has entered into arrangements with RCA Research Products and with RCA Photophone by virtue of which these companies are empowered to use the copyrighted works in Paine’s controls, and they are empowered against the other companies to use of these copyrighted musical compositions.

This license generally known as a synch reputation license grants to a motion picture company the right to arrange the musical film, transpose it, together with the film, to mechanical reproduction it either on discs or on film, and the right to use it for the public performance of the sound synchronized musical film, provided that the value as the public per-formance is concerned the picture may be performed only in those theaters which have a performing license from the American Socie-ties.

Provision means that any motion picture company furnishing sound pictures to a theater that has no license from the Society not only guilty of a breach of contract with Paine is liable under the provision as a co-infringer with the theater for giving public performance of a copyrighted musical work.

Paine states that while the American Soci-ety has reported to him from time to time that there are about 2500 theaters that have no out license and are at the same time showing motion pictures, he has never been requested by the Society to notify motion picture companies that they could not supply pictures if the American Soci-ety in a clear statement of the facts the theater be quite sufficient to cause the theater realize the necessity for taking the Society’s license. Recently, however, several very flagrant cases have been brought to Paine’s attention, and unless these theaters promptly comply with the requirement of the Society be compelled to notify picture companies that they cannot supply pictures with sound synchronized pictures with.

The revenue derived from the Motion Picture Society (from RP) is estimated by Mr. Paine to about $100 for the world rights to ex-clusive supply of a camera for $50 and $50 for export use, with each company guaranteeing certain amount and also making regular returns of all equipment used, if they comply with the rules with respect to rights and guarantees, $150 for full use and $75 for part use compositions.

—a column of comment

AMERICAN FILM doughboys are invading Europe. This time the move is to make foreign pictures with dialogue that rings true to the diversified population of that continent. The chances are that no barrier will be raised to keep out this fast-increasing contingent of producers with authentic bankrolls. The situation's ne of mutual benefit. American producers, by making talking pictures with foreign talent, will no doubt put themselves in a position to ordainly shake hands with continental theaters. European production people, all the way from actors to producers, will corral a lot of good old U. S. A. dollars for their Jean Sockets. It would seem that a con tinental association of this kind would somewhat smooth over whatever an gonism the European industry feels or America.

THE EAST AT the present moment is providing room and board for an exceptionally large number of production folk who ordinarily get their nail in Hollywood. Such visits to New York serve as a stimulant and dynamic to their work. They represent in excellent investment in time and money, taking them out of the Holly twood routine and transplanting them into a different and new-idea-produc ing atmosphere. It's within reason to expect that such trips will happily reflect in their studio efforts.

WORTH JOTTING down on your calendar is the date of May 11, which, by the way, will be generally observed as Mother's Day. There's enough screen material on the schedules to enable any exhibitor to set in a show in keeping with the day.

Sensational

Of the thousand and one books that came out of the war, Erich Maria von Rare's "All Quiet On The Western Front" is universally recognized as the greatest. Last night at the Central Theater, Universal formally presented it, in talking picture form, to a distinguished Broadway audience. It is sensational. The direction of Lewis Milestone is inspirational. Hardly a comma of this grim, frightful, gruesome but withal honest narrative has been left unlimned. If the feminine portion of a cosmopolitan first night audience can be taken as a criterion, women will not like it. It is decidedly not fare for children. Whether it makes a dollar or a million this much is certain. It will be shown in every country in the world and Universal should be congratulated for giving to this genera tion as well as posterity the most sensational and compelling argument against war that has yet been spoken, printed or filmed.

At last somebody has done something real constructive about this problem of proper supervision of sound film to insure its reaching the exhibitor in good condition. Jack MacLeod, manager of the exchange maintenance department of M-G-M, has written a manual that every theater and exchange manager should read.....it covers the subject from every angle: inspection.....continuity sheets.....splices.....replacements.....censorship seals.....waxing prints.....replacement of equipment.....if you have noticed a high standard of quality in M-G-M prints circulating around the theaters, "Mac's Manual" is the main reason.....it's a classic.

* * *

Right up front with the progress parade is the new modernistic professional studio of the Robbins Music Corporation......by the way, George Fantasia has become professional manager for the concern......and their song, "Moon Is Low," sung by Joan Crawford and Cliff Edwards in "Montana Moon," looks like a natural for a big summer pop number. Harold Short is back from Talkie Town with a swell idea for an intimate revue featuring two prominent picture stars.....the main problem will be to divide the "spot" between 'em satisfactorily.

* * *

These Stars of United Artists are afflicted with an epidemic of change-of-mind.....first Warren Nolan tells us to disregard the notice that Doug Fairbanks will arrive at the Grand Central as Doug decided to sight at Harmon.....now Ronald Colman is reported to have arrived in New York yesterday after telling Sam Goldwyn a week ago he was on his way to Honolulu.....so the newspaper reporters are having a merry time playing hide-and-seek.....now if the reporters should hide and the stars seek 'em, THAT would be a story.

* * *

Russell Holman has heard from Julian Johnson that he is on the last lap of editing the miles of the Byrd Antarctic film.....so Russell thinks it quite safe to start issuing the broadsides, which he has done.....Crowds on Broadway jammed the sidewalks to catch the sun's eclipse Monday through the reflection in windows.....and Billy Ferguson, the demon M-G-M exploiter, sez: "Now why didn't I think of that eclipse tie-up stunt for window displays".....Billy was probably mooning around.

* * *

Merritt Crawford will soon be Ottawa-bound for a two-weeks' trip, so we gave him our nice silver hip-hooraay and told him to bring it back with some ammunition inside.....It's going to be a sellout for the first annual Fllicker Frolic of the Empire Club, May 11, at the Liberty, with Harry Richman to do the emceeing.....and why not? two headline bands—Paul Whitman's and Rudy Vallee's—will make it some party.....Jerry Beatty again crashes "Collier's" with a pip of a comedy short story about a dumb western star.

* * *

I Schwartz, of Advance Trailers, has been doing a little personal trailing the last month, playing second on the bill to a Great White, but he's out in front again.....and please don't misinterpret that last.....The society deba had their fling at the mike Tuesday over WMCA.....the National M. P. League sponsored Frances Marion and Patricia Byron, playing "Paramount on Parade" and "Song O' My Heart," with Red Star furnishing the melodies.....Elizabeth Wilson, the fan writer, has hit on a clever key that explains the individual charm of the various feminine stars.....It's so good that she could explain the stars to themselves, which is SOME explaining.

Believe it or not, through an error an exhibit got a double refund from a producer.....Check, and Double Check.

Ran Irving Berlin Memory Contest
To exploit "Puttin' on the Ritz" at the Uptown, Toronto, a radio broadcast was arranged from Station CKGW to conduct an Irving Berlin memory contest. All the old songs composed by Berlin were broadcast to an audience which consisted of over 2,000,000 listeners. Those guessing the names of the different numbers won prizes. Over 2,242 replies were received.

Marquee Stunt for "Paramount On Parade"
The idea for the large star to be mounted on the marquee can be adapted for advance lobby display. Make up the large star from bender-board. Make the star heads in cut-out form to be mounted on the star, thereby giving a relief effect. If you have a cut and machine it is advised that you cut out these letters to be mounted as you do the cut-out heads; "The Singing, Dancing Festival of The Stars."

6 PARAMOUNT EXCHANGES
NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION
Paramount at present has six exchanges under construction in various parts of the country. It is indicated by reports reaching New York, that buildings now under construction are located as follows: Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis, New Haven and Des Moines. An addition is being built to the exchange at Salt Lake City. Paramount is understood to be planning new exchange buildings in six other cities.

Although the new vaults are being equipt for Technicolor, and practically every case, their capacity is being doubled. In event of general adoption of wide film this will simplify the changeover.

To the same reports, is only around.

The large number of dark houses in the East is not regarded as likely to have any serious effect on aggregate receipts, it being figured that the local wired houses, as well as big city theaters, are drawing a good percentage of the customers who attended the houses now closed.

Going Somewhere — and arriving on time

By JACK ALICOA —

T WAS ONLY about 18 months ago that the first seeds of sound were universally sown. Today, but a mastic lot later, we see not an occasional golden flower but fields and fields of entertainment posies so brilliant, smart and wondrous as to bring big shiny dollars in bushel baskets to box-office counters everywhere, and varied in theme and treatment as to please every taste.

there still be a skeptic within that fold let him but glance over the current Broadway menu to convince himself that the talkie picture, now ex-novelties, is the best bet on the amusement bo and will continue for years to come as the leader in the amusement market.

Having Everything

If there is still doubt as to the solvency of this noisy amusement enterper, try this on your zither: and in the shadow of the Times building and throw a stone in any direction and if you do not hit the equal, celluloid form, of anything ever in the legitimate, we will see at you receive, without charge, a clip of the monthly bulletin issued from the Motion Picture Club. For instance, within air-rifle distance, we have: John McCormack in one of the most charming and delightful enigmas of fantasy and song ever printed. As sophisticated a bit of true material as ever graced the ill-lit lane in "Paramount on Parade." Food for thought, the beautiful of the make-believe in its best form and honesty of presentation in that great film document, "Journey's End." Lawrence Tibbett, an ambassador from the Metro-

In a political, charming audience in the delightful "Rumble" for unseasoned columnists like the writer, as well as tired businessmen, that rather hot bit of nonsensical stuff, built up and vaguely and sort of by the carload, labeled "The Cuckoos."

Afterthoughts
This is not to be construed as a free advertisement for the above-mentioned productions. They are but a few blooming buds from a garden of many. It is rather an observation of reaction on a thought shot at this so-called writing stage, especially in the larger cities, would enjoy both a financial and an artistic renovation. This as it should be. Each can and will be a financial executive, who should have known better, that sound and talking pictures could never completely cover the amusements field.

And lest we do not make our selves perfectly clear, let us again say here and now that we positively and with finality believe the speaking stage a thing of the past. Quite the contrary. This has been proven by the past three months of rising legitimate box-office receipts everywhere. It is not at all unlikely now, with the novelty of the talkers a matter of history, the speaking stage especially in the larger cities, will enjoy both a financial and an artistic renovation. This as it should be. Each can and will be an inspirational help to the other. That this thought is recognized is manifest in the present activities and elaborate plans of several of our larger picture outfits in invading the legitimate field.

However, what we started to say in a paragraph, and which has already taken a column, is this: Any way you look at it, the talking picture has proven itself. Artistically, esthetically, financially and happily, from the standpoint of versatility. And—last, but certainly not least, as the greatest and most effective first-aid kit to slightly damaged and injured box-offices that any industry has ever known.

Diversified Field for Talkers

As evidence of the diversified field open to talkers, General Talking Pictures reports on the installation of De Forest equipment in Bing Sing Prison, a High School in Lansing, municipal theaters in several cities, state conservatories of music, city clubs, colleges, labor temple lodges, women’s clubs, and two theaters conducted by Bishop Thatcher of the Mormon Church. Logan, Utah.

6,500 U. S. THEATERS WIRED IN 12 MONTHS

More than 6,500 sound devices were installed in the U. S. last 12 months, bringing the total wired houses as of April 15 up to 9,975, it is indicated from weekly charts kept by one of the major film companies. There are now more than 11,000 different types of reproducers, including about 25 home-made machines, the statistics show. Western Electric is in 45 per cent of the theaters equipped, with Packard second on the list, and RCA Photophone following. Less than 1 per cent of the proprietors now equipped with sound-on-film machines and all other types of apparatus, chiefly due to the great reduction recently effected by several reproducer manufacturers, is in stalled in 47 per cent of the theaters, while only 3.5 per cent of all the theaters have no equipment at all.

The East is highest in the percentage of equipped houses, with 45 per cent. The West is second with 40 per cent, and the South last with 15 per cent.

According to the reports, 441,284 theaters in the United States operating today in the U. S. than for several years back. The reason given is that the great demand for heat has not kept pace with the closures during the last year and sound has been in demand by the exhibitor in many cases. Of the houses not wired, exhibitors who are not taking their time before buying equipment due to the stiff prices and payments required. These houses are mostly of the smaller type.

Louis Brock RKO comedy mas-bles, turned out a new gag the other day by acting line when suddenly called up on to impersonate an irate golfer in a talking comedy, "The Golf Specialist," just completed under the direction of Monte Bric.

Special Note: Dorothy McCarthy, of the McCarthy Sisters, who is out from California for a visit, spent the weekend in Spark Hill as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dal Clawson.

A heavy veil of secrecy guards the Warner Vitaphone studio during the making of "Boys Will Be Girls," featuring Joey Ray, Olive Shea and New York. It was reported to be all new and different in the short subject line, no visitors were allowed on the set. Even the director, RoY Mack, had some difficulty in persuading the doorman that he be longed there.

Sidney Sydney, formerly assistant to George Weber, of the camera department, has returned to his former job in the trick department, where he expects to work out some original ideas.

Charles Ruggles and Betty Gard were "on location" in the making of "The Fakir," short comedy directed by Ray Corrine. Both the up and lower stages of the Paramount New York studio being occupied with bis sets, most of the action was taken in the studio yard.

Bankers Complete Plans for Fox Film Refinancing

000,000 is promised by all the noted banks as the initial public financing under the new regime. These temporary securities are being issued pending readjustment of the company’s affairs. It is expected that a long-term loan can be arranged later, on more advantageous terms. The notes will be secured by the 600,000 shares of Loew stock and the holdings in Casablanca.

General Theatres Equipment, which recently has obtained $33,000,000 in 6 per cent debentures, also is offering today $33,000 additional shares of common stock at 45.60. Steps have been taken in Supreme Court by Stanley M. Lazarus, attorney, to with the case on behalf of three minor stockholders who sought to restrain the new refinancing plan.

proper Maintenance of Fire Extinguishers
FOR positive results in the operation of fire extinguishers, those containing soda and acid, or foamite solution, must be re-filled every 12 months; this is also a requisite of the Board of Fire Underwriters and most cities or municipalities. Those extinguishers containing tetra-chloride solution are not necessary to refill once each year, but should be shaken up at intervals of every six months. Should only a portion of the content of any fire extinguisher be used, discharge the remaining content and refill. In addition, have placed on each contain a tag showing the last inspection or filling.

FOX "NOW"

Censoring the Screen and the Stage
THE question might well be asked as to why it is so necessary to exercise such a constant surveillance over pictures when the speaking stage is permitted to become as dirty as it has evidenced itself in recent years. Without exciting or ab- soluting in the slightest the stream of filth that has emanated from the speaking stage, it must be considered that the latter is patronized largely by adults, while the pictures are heavily patronized by the young, even by the children. For this reason alone more care needs to be ex- ercised in keeping the screen from the sins of the speaking stage, and the producers and distributors can do it if they set their minds resolutely to the task.

ALONG THE RIALTO
with
Phil M. Daly
IT is a pleasure to comment on a certain young man in this film biz who has just gone over in a Big Way......he has been razzed and criticized plenty merely for the crime (?) of being Young, but because he is the son of a man who has done big things in the industry, that made his job even tougher.......but the other night he had his vindication.......he supervised a big production......worked night and day for months to prove that he DOES know what this picture puzzle game is all about.......and the result shows in "All Quiet on the Western Front"......it's your 22nd birthday anniversary, Carl Laemmle, Jr., and you have every cause for joyous celebration........

HOWARD ESTABROOK, working quietly for years on scripts, has hit the Front Row with a zip.......He is in such de- mand that he'd have to be three writers to handle all the work offered him.......his latest is the picture version and dia- logue on Edna Ferber's "Mormon"

Has anyone here seen Ronald Colman?.......either Ronald is very modest in hiding out this way from us reporters, or else he's hit on a brand new idea for getting talked about.......And now they have put a fox hunt in the Fox opus, "Are You There?".......after all these years they have decided to capitalize the company's name........

HIS FRIENDS will be glad to learn of the testimonial dinner to J. J. Fitzgibbon in honor of his promotion as Director General of Paramount in Canada.......the Tea Party will be held at the Somerset Hotel, Boston, May 6.......Lillian Roth is on the way from Talkie Town to take the femme lead in feeding "Animal Crackers" to the Four Marx Brothers.

DAVE A. Epstein, loud speaker for a list of Hollywood celebs as long as a congressman's speech, but far more im- portant, is tarrying at the Algonquin with enough stories to fill all the Metropolitans m. p. columns.......he's just gawd's gift to us typewriter-tinkers........

THE MORMON pageant celebrating the founding of the Mor- mon religion was photographed by Pathe Sound News at Salt Lake City.......here is something for the Pute Rooster to crow about......his ancestors were specializing in multi- tude wives long before Brigham Young started the propaganda.......but the Rooster is still getting away with it.......Gilbert Golden of First National has made a pip of a layout for the "Song of the Flame" program cover.......And have you cast your dazzled eye over Russell Holman's 32-page hand- book on "Paramount on Parade?".......it has eight pages of Exploits that exploit, if you follow us........

THINGS WORTH While: Horace Heidt and His Californ- ians on the Paramount-Publix program to be broadcast May 3........And will you permit us to hazard the thought that trying to squeeze all the letters of "All Quiet on the West- ern Front" into the Mazda bulbs on the marquee is going to give a lotta exibits serious sins trouble?........

CATHERINE DALE O'WEN was guest of honor for the Old Gold hour the other evening.......the radio fans sat at their receiving sets blindfolded and tried to guess what ciga- rette she was plugging.......and if this radio craze keeps up, producers will soon be hiring their stars from the broad- way studios.......Eddie Klein, in announcing that May 6 is Ritz Night, sez: "For the first time in AMPA history there will be no charge of any kind to the members......although this is the first time the organization has given anything away, there is a rumor that the individual members have occasionally tried to give away press notices to the newspapers.......but you can't believe these rumors......."

A Clearing House for Tabloid Exploitation Ideas

Made a Novel Lobby for Lo Pictures
GIVING a brand new twist to a not so new idea, A. H. Vincent put over "Sarah and Son" at the Public-Sterling, Greeley, Colo., with local photo- graphs. He had two frames, one containing photographs of prominent married women and the other pictures of their sons. A pair of seats could be claimed by any mother discovering her picture in the display, so most mothers came down to the the- ater and got sold on the picture even if they did not find their maps on display. A credit card to the photographer will swing this without cost, but look up the law. In some states it is not legal to use portraits for advertising purposes without consent.

Jazz Band for "Puttin' On the Ritz"
A JAZZ band was especially engaged to visit four leading department stores in Youngs- town, Ohio, prior to the opening of "Puttin' on the Ritz" at the Paramount. They played hit numbers during a twenty-minute concert in each store. Announce- ments of the event were advertis- ed in the windows of the dif- ferent stores and in news ad- ves.

Fox Film Corporation
Secured 6% Gold Notes
Due April 15, 1931
Price 100 and interest

A letter from Mr. W. C. Michel, Vice-President of the Corporation, is summarized as follows:

Company: Fox Film Corporation is one of the largest and most prominent companies in the world engaged in the production, distribution and exhibition of motion pictures. Its product is distributed throughout the world.

Fox Film Corporation has acquired from Fox Theatres Corporation the latter's holdings of common stock of Loew's Incorporated.

Security: These Notes, in the opinion of counsel, are a direct obligation of the Company and are specifically secured under a Trust Indenture by the pledge of 660,000 shares of common stock of Loew's Incorporated and all the capital stock of United American Investing Corporation, which has a substantial stock interest in Metropolis and Bradford Trust Company, Ltd., owners of 65% of the ordinary stock of Gaumont British Picture Corporation, and represents an investment on the part of Fox Film Corporation of $20,000,000.

Equity and Assets: As at December 28, 1929, the pro forma consolidated balance sheet of Fox Film Corporation and wholly owned subsidiary companies, as prepared by independent auditors, reveals net tangible assets, without deducting this Issue, of approximately $157,208,511 (including over $9,800,000 of cash), an amount equivalent to $2,850 for each $1,000 of Notes.

Earnings: The consolidated net earnings of Fox Film Corporation and subsidiary companies, available for interest requirements on this Issue, after maintenance, taxes (other than Federal income), depreciation, amortization and other deductions, including profits applicable to minority interests and interest requirements on the mortgage and funded debt of subsidiary companies, for the two fiscal years ended December 28, 1929, as reported by independent auditors, are given below:

Hays Office Formulating Advertising Ethics Code

The Mirror
—a column of comment

LOCK BOOKING, once a topic at furnished power for much industry fireworks, is gradually losing popularity in some quarters. New sales policies indicate this decline is not attributable to any qualitative shots such as its opponents would like to have fired back. Instead it is principally due to the influence of sound on the industry. Good story material, which is the basis of good entertainment, has a shorter career than ever before. Consequently it is becoming increasingly difficult to devise saleable product which may, by the time it actually goes into production, lack originality in theme. Another factor in the situation is the recent numbers of pictures to be made by major companies which lightens efforts. Individual buying of pictures is likely to result in a free adjustment of rentals for all RAUDULENT M. P. stock promotions, although substantially eradicated through such agencies as the Hays office and the Better Business Bureau, occasionally pop up to take red-earned dough away from the illusive. Exhibs everywhere can help to counteract the constant clean-up campaign. I doubt if it can do much toward reflecting credit upon the industry's reputation in your own mite if you keep a sharp eye for propositions which savor of the tony and tip off the prospective vultures.

HERE OUGHT to be a law against slobbery just being a place for people to buy tickets and wait for seats, ought to serve as the well-dressed slob window with that come-on-in-e. What's your lobby doing?

Producers, Distributors Are Holding Secret Meetings

A code of ethics governing advertising, especially as it applies to newspapers, is being prepared by producing and distributing company advertising managers. Second in a series of secret meetings on the subject was held yesterday at the Hays office. The code is particularly inspired by recent difficulties in Chicago. In that city alone, Will H. Hays told the advertising men the other day, censorship has cost the industry $300,000 in one year.

SAYS NON-DIALOG FILMS ARE NEEDED FOR EUROPE

Non-dialogue pictures, synchronized with music and effects, seems to be the solution of America's distribution problem in Europe, according to Al Szekler, general manager for Universal in continental Europe. Universal, he said yesterday, has no plans at the moment for producing abroad. Szekler believes that Germany will provide a number of valuable inventions in connection with pictures and points out that much

Fast Censoring

Richmond — Virginia claims one of the speediest censorship services in the country. Many films are shown in theaters almost immediately after they are reel off in the State office projection room. Richard C. L. Moncur, one of the censors, sometimes gets on the job at daybreak, and recently the board viewed 43 reels in a day.

Negotiations for Walter Reade Houses Also Under Way

Purchase by Publiix of the Comerford Circuit was the big news circulated unofficially along the main stem yesterday. Sam Katz, queried on the deal, denied knowledge of it, but added that when these matters get into the hands of the legal department, it sometimes takes couple of weeks for official notification to come through to him.

Frank Walker, representing Mike Comerford in New York, also said he knew nothing of a deal having been closed, but admitted that negotiations were in progress.

From another authoritative source THE FILM DAILY learned that one of the big circuits had concluded arrangements for all

Maurice Chevalier left today for Hollywood to make his next Paramount picture under the direction of Ludwig Berger. Over at the Para stude in Longisle they certainly will miss the genial Frenchman who has been the life of the party. Radio has decided to let Richard Dix revert from his recent farce characterizations to hero roles, his first being the part of Yancey Cravat in Edna Ferber's 'Cimarron.' And a press notice from Radio states that the company is "enclosing within a gilded cage of the studios a host of songbirds," tweet, tweet.

MASH NOTES are now being received by song composers, Al Dubin and Joe Burke having received several. This information should give the screen stars a lot of relief. An epidemic of marriages has hit the widows of screen stars, the latest being Dorothy Dwan, widow of Larry Semon, and Mrs. Eleanor Ince, widow of Thomas H. Ince. Dainty Marie, the physical culture beauty, is now rebuilding and beautifying womankind through an original method of rolling exercises. Another case of roll your own.

Fred Scott, who sings "With My Guitar and You" in "Swing High," had to sing it all over again at the studio on the playback the melody came out: "With My Catarrh and You." It's a very neat number, this song, also, "Shoo the Hoodoo Away," which have been well spotted in the production. Ted Todd, exploiter, has built up a snappy press book for the one-reel cartoons of "Bongo," the funny puppy, exploiting like a feature.

A SERIES of weekly radio talks called "Looking at Life" will be broadcast over WMCA by Louis Nizer, sec of the local Film Board. Zarah Haven of Para's short subject department, got a nice i/1 ticket for speeding. They are telling a good one about Will Osborne doing a press stunt for Loew's State, trying to sell $5 gold pieces for $4, and he only had two takers... so this stunt cost Loew's exactly two bucks. John Green, staff composer at Para's Long Isle studio, is now honeymooning with Miss Carol Falk at White Sulphur Springs.

Jay Emanuel, of Emanuel-Goodwin publications, all hopped up over a notice we gave him, writes: "What ardor! What enthusiasm! What shafts of roses from you! The day begins anew. The bluebirds sing. The sun shines, and all is happy and gay..." and when we read that, we went dancing down Broadway, scattering violets hither and yon.... till a traffic cop stopped us with a queer look.... The mag, "Books of the Month," lists "Young Man of Manhattan" as one of the best sellers of the month.

* * * *

We know you are going to get very excited when we tell you that Frank Albertson, featured in Fox's "Road House," collects railroad time-tables as his hobby.... now if he collected railroad tickets, that would be something worthwhile.... Stepin Fetchit, the negro comic, has been driven to write a book in order to support three autos, a wife and two chauffeurs.... and Stepin denies that his name is a plug for Parisian negresses.

New Code Means a Gain for Art

That some danger lies in a too rigid application of this or any other prohibitory code goes without question. Some masterpieces of literature have ridiculed man-made laws and moral codes, and we know of no reason why the movies should be denied the field of satire. But there is a vast difference between intelligent satire and a dangerous sentimentalization of crime and criminals such as has been seen during the past few seasons in picture dramas of underworld life. If Mr. Hays' new code can spare us that, both art and our national standards of conduct will gain by it.

New Production Trend a Good Plan

Announcements of producers thus far of production schedules for the coming season augur well for the industry. The "fewer and better" trend seems to gain momentum with each succeeding year and it is a good plan to follow through. We note that all-color features will not be as prevalent as was earlier expected. The cost of color photography is one reason and the fact that it has not yet reached a complete state of perfection is probably another. Doubtless, color sequences will be used in a number of pictures—the scenes will thus be well chosen and assure a better reception by the public through contrast with black and white.

WHAT MEN WANT

with PAULINE STARKE

PAULINE STARKE, the living answer to “what men want”; Ben Lyon, the sensation of “Hell’s Angels”; Barbara Kent, Harold Lloyd’s choice for his latest and next pictures; Hallam Cooley, charming comedian of “Paris Bound” and dozens of other pictures; Robert Ellis, polished villain in “Broadway.” That’s what you get in this picture built for the B. O.!
Now you can Make Every Seat Your Best Seat!

These last rows in the balcony of the costly new 4400-seat Stanley Theatre in Jersey City, N. J. are ALMOST A CITY BLOCK from the stage.

Although this theatre was specially planned at great expense for maximum audibility, talking pictures were almost inaudible in these rear seats!

Then the BERLINER ACOUSTIC SYSTEM was installed. Now every occupant of these seats can hear as perfectly as in the front row!

The Berliner System will do the same thing for your theatre—for any theatre, new or old.

The Jersey City Stanley is only one of more than a dozen advance installations that prove the 100% success of this sensational new discovery.

With the Berliner System your theatre will have far better audibility than a brand-new theatre without it.

The experiments of centuries prove that special construction will never solve the acoustic problem. The Berliner System has solved it finally and definitely because it is based on an entirely different and scientific principle.

Not only rear seats, but side seats and “dead spots” as well are made as good as your best seats by Berliner... And even your best seats are made better—for you can cut down your volume, eliminating surface noises and excessive volume in front rows, and still reach seats you’ve never reached perfectly before!

Let us tell you how—how cheaply, how easily, and how quickly. Write today!

Talking Picture Epics Forming Theater Circuit

Houses Being Lined Up to Present Pictures of Adventure Type

Formation of a circuit of theaters devoted to the showing of adventure, travel and exploitation talking pictures under the direction of Talking Picture Epics is being undertaken by this company among a group of capitalists who believe each of the larger cities has a sufficiently largeumber of people interested in subjects of that type to make the circuit profitable. The houses are to be known as "Adventure Theaters.

Negotiations already are under way for the acquisition by lease or purchase of small houses in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis and San Francisco. Later, houses are to be included in New Orleans, Los Angeles, Seattle, and Portland.

(Warner reported after Eight Baltimore Houses)

Baltimore—Warner Bros. are reported acquiring the Durkee chain of eight houses here.

At the Warner New York office today it was announced that purchase of the circuit had been considered but statement was made that the company at present is not "seriously interested."

Chicago Taxation

Chicago—Seizure of local theater unions by the Al "Scarface" Capone racketeering crowd is being attempted, according to report. Among the groups over which domination is being sought are the M.P.C. Machine Operators, Chicago Theatrical Protective Union, Film Chauffeurs and Carriers, Bill Posters and Billers, Stage Hands, Treasurers' Assn., Engineers, Janitors and others.

Chicago Exhibits Plans Move for Producer Co-operation

Monta Bell Resigns From Paramount Studio Post

Monta Bell, associate producer and director on the staff of the Paramount New York Studio, has resigned. Bell who has been confined to his home under doctor's care for the last two weeks, leaves Sunday for the Coast and probably will go to Honolulu to recuperate.

Talkers Eliminate Amateur Scenarists

Talkers have eliminated about 80 per cent of the amateur scenario writers, and the number of unsolicited scripts have dwindled down to a fifth or less of the amount formerly received, according to the scenario department of several big companies. Necessity of writing dialog has stumped the majority of would-be scribes.

FOX FILM RESTORES $4 ANNUAL CASH DIVIDEND

By declaring a quarterly dividend of $1, payable May 20 to stockholders of record May 12, directors of Fox Film have restored the $4 annual cash dividend on the A and B stock of the company. Thescript issued in lieu of cash for the payment due Jan. 15 will be redeemed according to Harley L. Clarke.

Loew Net for This Year May Reach $15,000,000

Estimates of a $15,000,000 net for Loew in the current fiscal year, based on the earnings already reported for the first 28 weeks, are being made in Wall St. and have been partly responsible for recent new highs in Loew stock. This estimate would be equal to more than $10 a share.

10 FEATURES IN PROCESS AT FIRST NATIONAL STUDIO

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY
Hollywood—Arriving at the peak of its spring production, First National has 10 features in process at the Burbank Studios and several others ready almost to shoot. Gen. Theaters Equipment Has $110,389,212 Assets

After completion of the present financing, General Theaters Equipment will have assets of $110,389,212 and a total surplus of $13,565,435, according to the pro forma consolidated statement of the company. Current assets are $10,521,352, and liabilities $2,307,652.

Sam Katz Outfit Expected to Launch Expansion in Quaker City

Philadelphia—A serious theater war between Warners and Public-Lux looms on the exhibition horizon with the reported acquisition of the Comerford chain by the Paramount organization. Warners at present are endeavoring to dominate the Philadelphia territory and up to the moment Public has kept entirely out of this field. Indications now, however, are that the Sam Katz outfit will launch a big expansion program here.

Warner, through ownership of the Warner Stanley and Warner Equity chains, is ahead in theaters. (Continued on Page 12)

J. R. Grainger Elected Fox Vice-President

James R. Grainger has been elected vice-president of Fox Film in complete charge of sales, distribution in the U. S. and Canada, it is announced by Harley L. Clarke. At the same time Grainger signed a five-year contract, replacing his former contract as general sales manager.

Paul Whiteman in "King of Jazz"

Your patrons will go a long way to get more for their money than in Universal's "King of Jazz," now standing 'em up at the RKO and marking the celluloid debut of Paul Whiteman. "King of Jazz" is at times the biggest thing ever done. What it lacks most is a little more skill in its construction, for it runs from the ultra artistic to the commonplace, and the patch work suit clumsily sewn together, for it has everything, including trick photography, exquisite color, a cartoon sequence, some good laughs and the most stupendous sets shown to date in a screen musical. The whole affair is a real success and Grainger centered around King Paul himself and his merry musicians. It should please everywhere and is the biggest bargain in screen entertainment, especially as to quantity, that the big street has to offer.

Timely Topics

A Digest of Current Opinion

Slight Difference Opinion

HERBERT BRENON has arrived back from abroad and reports that the sound and dialogue pictures have not supplanted the silent films in Continental Europe. "In Spain, France and Germany," he says, "we find the populace will not accept Hollywood Spanish, German and French. As a result, the Hollywood talking pictures in these countries are a complete failure." Mr. Brenon's remarks are interesting. They will be surprising to the motion picture producers in Hollywood, and specially so to the sales departments of the various large companies, who already, I learn, are unable to keep abreast of the demand for American talking films. There seems to be a slight difference of opinion.

Quinn Martin

American Films Spent British

The annual report of the Australian Film Censorship Board should be a matter of serious consideration. It is certainly ather depressed by the fact the influx of talkies from the U. S. is hastening the Americanization of the Australian people. Australia, an enormous new continent still in the throes of development, assimilates transatlantic modes of thought and speech and living much more readily than an old and thickly populated country like our own, where tradition and the habits of one century are so strong. America has stepped in, where we, in pite originally of better facilities, have either through lack of courage or want of imagination cared to tread.

"Film Renter," London

glenn allvine has cut short his Hollywood trip to look over the Fox lineup, and will be back Tenth-avenoeing in a Monday. These loud-speaker boys, officially known as the Radio Manufacturers' Ass'n, hold their ninth annual shin-dig at Atlantic City, June 2, and, 30,000 invitations have been sent to the banquet-wotta party! they will probably have to feed 'em on the air.

Claude Ezell, Warner's sales chief, has gone to Toronto on a brief business trip.

Leo McCarey, directing "Road House," was a practicing attorney originally, specializing in writing briefs. He should make a good director of shorts.

Bradley King went to Hollywood for a vacation, and has been there writing for the screen ever since, having written nine scripts for E. Lloyd. Lloyd's most ambitious (500,000) picture is a she) has achieved an ambition in writing Dick Barthelmess's next picture. Jeanette Loff, who queens it so delightfully in King of Jazz, once sang in a church choir in Seattle.

Passing the Strand on Broadway, we spotted Zeb Epstein peering out from his new box-office containing two beautiful coin-snatchers.

自动

vivienne Segal's golden voice has been insured by Lloyd's for $250,000, which forces her to give up her chief sport of yelling in high C at the Hollywood boxing bouts.

for there is a clause in the contract that forces her to refrain from "abnormal exercises.

Helen of Troy may have launched a thousand ships, but Lon Chaney's mag has launched a thousand faces.

now he is going to play his own face straight, and some fan will probably write to tell him it is his best disguise.

Bill Cadarot, player for the Comerford circuit, when visiting the Astor for the past 15 years, in all that time he has never been able to snap a seat in the crowded lobby, but the other night his luck changed, and he dropped in a big feather chair with a sigh and dogged the leg of the chair didn't fall off...

Celeste Levy, who has been secretarying for Warren Nolan, is flashing a sparkler on her main typewriter finger, which means that Warren will soon have to dig himself up another boofal blonde see... And that was quite a reunion when Emil Harris, the first cameraman to be hired by Carl Laemmle, Jr., had a chat with his ex-boss at the opening of "All Quiet."

The First vacation in 24 years must be desired... so Tony Gaudio, cameraman extraordinary, sailed for Italy yesterday, feeling just that way about it... The sardine packing industry, now in session, should appoint a committee to study the m. p. circuits, they could furnish some good pointers on packin'. "em in... Mike Simmons announces some co-operative tie-ups for Ruth Roland in "Reno"... and we always thought people went to Reno because they wanted to be untied... Maury Ascher, production manager for the Warner Bros. film division, is getting four Screen Master of Ceremonies featuring Dan Healy... through force of habit he almost led off with trailers.

A BRITISH mag, commenting on a screen star's involuntary bankruptcy, states: "one cause of her bankruptcy was not having the support of the public..." well, why mention the other cause?... PRESTIME STORY: Alice took a gentle knap and Sue sang a carol at her dresser while they waited for a koder diet from the marshall who was searching for Claudia in the dell to warn that a he-woof was after her... just another way of listing nine Warner stars... Among the sans lunching at M. P. Club yesterday were Rorke and Eckerman, both back in the big burg after absences.

Attractive Throwaway for "Son of the Gods"

An inexpensive but effective throwaway was circulated on showing of "Son of the Gods" at the Wellmont, Montclair, N. J. It carried a Chinese lettering in red at the top, followed by "Don't Miss Richard Barthelmess in "Son of the Gods," with Constance Bennett. More brilliant than 'Weary River'; more throbbing than 'Broken Blossoms'; from Rex Beach's latest novel, at the Wellmont Theater." Hooked Up Raincoats to Cohen and Kelly

When "The Cohens and Kellys from Scotland" played Keith's Theater, Washington, D. C., a hook-up was effected with "Scotch Mist" raincoats, the name being a copyrighted property of Rogers, Feet & Co. It got plenty of publicity without great effort and at no cost. The smaller towns can probably get the handles to use a special advertisement.

Jim Tully is collaborating with Laurence Stallings on "Make Way for a Sailor," the next starring vehicle for John Gilbert. Leila Hyams will play opposite Gilbert. Wallace Beery also has an important part in the picture.

Paramount Signs Thomas Jackson

Paramount has signed Thomas Jackson for "For the Defense," in which William Powell has the chief role.

H. E. Rogers Adapting "Dove"

Howard Emmett Rogers is adapting "The Dove," in which Dolores Del Rio will talk for United Artists.

Polly Moran in Hospital

Polly Moran has been laid up for several days in the hospital, but is expected to be all well again shortly.

Eddie Foy, Jr., Replaces King

Eddie Foy, Jr., will replace Charlie King as the lead in "Present Arms," which is being made by RKO.

A Little from "Lots"

By RALPH WILK

BUSBY BERKELEY, who is directing the dance numbers for "Woopee," established a record when he directed the dances and ensembles for 15 consecutive New York musical comedies, operettas and revues in 18 months.

Lowell Sherman will make his debut as a director of features, when he plays "Lawful Larceny" in production at RKO. He will also star in the picture. Lowell Sherman will work with Sherman on the direction. Sherman has directed shorts for M-G-M.

Villains usually are not popular, but Harry Woods is a popular "heavy" with casting directors. He appeared in FBO pictures and is now working opposite Buck Jones in "Man from Hell's River," being directed by Louis King.

Crane Wilbur tries out his plays before members of the California Society for the Blind. He reads his plays to them and they get a mental vision of his characters.

Al Dubin and Joe Burke, whose "Tip Toe Through the Tulips" and "Painting the Clouds" were heavy sellers and add material to the success of "The Gold Diggers of Broadway," will expect their "Dancing With Tears in My Eyes" to be a popular seller. They are now working on "The Life of the Party."

Our Passing Show: Harry Niemeyer gathering material for his St. Louis paper; Arch Oboler, Sidney D. Mitchell and George Myers conferring at First National; Frank Joyce visiting Paramount on business.

SHARON LYNN, who enacted the role of a cabaret entertainer in "A Very Practical Joke," also appears as a night club performer in "Road House," which Leo McCarey is directing for Fox.

Famous Jacks—Gilbert, Warner, Oddie, Sparr, 'Diamonds, Mint,' and of all trades, the Giant Killer Townley.

George Hawkins of New York has joined the Samuel Goldwyn unit, which is making "Woopee."

Our Passing Show: Eddie Cantor and friends dining at Paramount; Lester Cowan motoring on Hollywood Boulevard; Jo Swerling busy at Columbia.

B. P. Schulberg played host to 250 guests at the Beverly Hillshire hotel, in honor of David Selznick. Elsie Janis, Eddie Cantor and David Bennett's dancing girls were among the entertainers.

Joe Traub, former title writer, is now an emergency "gag man" at the Columbia studio.

Not only did Helen Grace Carlisle write the novel "Mother's Cry," but she also wrote the dialogue and adaptation for First National.

Luther Reed, Freddie Fleck and J. Roy Hunt are en route to points in Louisiana and Mississippi, where they will "shoot" exteriors for "Dixiana."

Goodie Montgomery's first role with Fox is expected to be in "Soup to Nuts," an original screen story by Rube Goldberg, for which he has also written the dialogue and the gags.

HERBERT STOTHART GETS LONG M-G-M CONTRACT

As a result of his consistent success in turning out the musical scores for "The Rogue Song," "Devil May Care," "Madame Satan" and other pictures, Herbert Stothart has been given a long-term contract by M-G-M. The composer has been there for a year and the New York stage, where he formerly flourished, is not likely to see him again for some time.

ANOTHER WHITMAN FILM IN PROSPECT AT UNIVERSAL

Universal officials are so chuffed over "King of Jazz" that it is possible another musical revue with Paul Whiteman again started will be made, with John Murray Anderson again directing.

Judith Barrie to Be Starred in "Party Girl," "Tiffany picture, has brought the announcement that Victor and Edward Halperin will star this player in a forthcoming picture.

SCREEN OPERA IN ENGLISH HAS CHANCE, RAPEE SAYS

That grand opera will be a commercial success on the screen if it is done in English, is the belief of Erno Rapee, general musical director for Warner Bros. and First National.

"Sound-on-disc is the best method for recording grand opera," said Rapee. "It would not be surprising if the first opera for the talking screen will be an original creation."

Rapee has eliminated "stock" or choral numbers for the recording and is using special atmospheric or choral effects.
PRODUCTION IN THE EAST

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S WHAT IN GREATER NEW YORK STUDIOS

EASTERN PRODUCTION KEEPS MANY EMPLOYED

Increase in production in the East since the advent of talkies has resulted in a great increase in employment in practically all lines. Paramount's Long Island studios lead the list with a total of 558 employees, with Warners keeping a force of 150 people busy at the Vitaphone studio in Flatbush. Other producers, such as RKO and Audio Cinema, easily swell the total to approximately 750 people now engaged in motion picture production in the East. These figures do not include the actors, which would bring the total over 1,000. With additional production planned, this number is bound to be increased.

"Sap" Under Way

Production on "The Sap From Syracuse," which was delayed for three weeks last Monday, at the Paramount New York studios, with Jack Oakie starred, under the direction of Eddie Sutherland.

Coffman Active

Joe W. Coffman, president of Audio Cinema, Inc., is chairman of the papers committee of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers convention, to be held May 5-8, at the Wardman Park Hotel, Washington.

Paramount Signs Writer

W. R. Laidlaw, Jr., author of numerous short stories, has joined the scenario department at the Paramount New York studios.

Puck and White Short

Eva Puck and Sammy White, comedy team of the "Show Boat" stage production, have been signed to appear in a comedy short at the Paramount New York studios, under the direction of Norman Taurog.

Short Portions

Audio Cinema is providing a feast of fun for Broadway this week with "Hot Turk," a comedy playing at Loew's State and "Swiss Cheese" at the Globe theater.

Colorcraft Ready

Colorcraft Corporation has practically completed its laboratory building on 35th St., near Washington Ave., Long Island City. Machinery is now being installed and operations are expected to begin not later than May 15.

CREDIT Ed Dupar, chief cameraman at the Warner Vitaphone studio, with the unusual and effective camera work which makes "Yamekraw," a study of negro life, one of the outstanding shorts subjects produced since the introduction of sound.

Mort Blumenstock is preparing the scenario for "The Mixup," a two reel comedy featuring Raymond and Coverley, shown to vaudeville fans for the past 20 years as "Weiner and Schatzel."

Last week was the busiest ever spent by that world-famous team, Clark and McCullough. Besides rehearsing and assisting to write the story for their first Louis Brock RKO production, Bobby and Paul were giving their usual matinee and evening performances in "Strike Up the Band" and also had time left to help out in the acting and staging of "The Lambs Gambol."

Irving Kahal and Sammy Fain, who compose snappy tunes for Paramount features, has just completed a novelty number entitled "Where the Cook-Eyed Susies Grow," which they feel would be a great asset to a Ben Turpin opus.

Ouch! The season's first sunburn has made a red hot debut. Director Murray Roth, cameraman Ray Foster and the Vitaphone staff resembled the w.k. best on the return from a location trip to the Westbury polo field with Bob Roebuck, the rodeo star.

Talking shop is second nature to the Hill family with Emma cutting features at Paramount, Edna a RKO cutter at Audio Cinema and Margaret in the foreign dept., of M-G-M. Edna's husband, Charles Wolfe, also edits the Apex Fables for Van Beuren.

Mark Sandrich, having recovered from his slight illness of the last few days, is hard at work preparing to direct his next Louis Brock production for RKO in which Clark and McCullough will star.

By special arrangement with Paramount, Jay Gorney and E. V. Harburg, of the New York studio music staff, have been commissioned to write music and lyrics for the next edition of Earl Carroll's "Vanities," opening in June.

Thar's music in them thar shorts. Neville Fleson and Harold Levy, Vitaphone's song writing team, are all peped up over a new chane they have in "The Varsity Show." It's "Worshiping You," which, in itself is a right smart selling title.

Ray Cozine forsook an art career to become a film director, records showing that he used to illustrate the "Brooklyn Life" and sport page for the "Newark Star" while still attending college.

They were making "Scotch Love" at the Brooklyn Vitaphone plant and Louis Arthur Harley claims that with the Scotch jokes flying all around they had to air the set several times because it was getting so "close." To which we might add that we suppose it will make a "tight little short."

Max Manne, chief of sound effects at the Paramount New York studio, has the distinction of having a dessert named after him. It is "Max Manne Delight," a combination of sponge cake, ice cream and strawberries.

Talk about your lucky breaks. Roy Mack is using Oliva Shea as the only girl in the cast with 30 or 40 boys in one of the Vitaphone Varieties he is directing.

George Dias, chief electrician at the Paramount New York studios, started in picture business at Hal Benedict's studio at College Point, with Rubye Remer, then the bright particular star of that outfit.

TECHNICAL DEPARTMENTS ARE WORKING ON SOUND

Geo. Popovici and Geo. Lewin of Paramount's New York sound staff, have designed a photo electric cell photometer for film recording machines. By means of this, it is possible to check exposure within much closer limits than has heretofore been possible. It also gives more constant sound track density, thereby eliminating variations of sound quality and volume.

Registering of both camera and sound as the model by means of a new slate developed at one of the daily conferences held at the New York studio between George Folley, chief cinematographer, and his staff.

Eastern Production Keeps Stage Comedians Stepping

Broadway comedians are finding plenty of talky engagements here without going to Hollywood. Charles Ruggles has been kept busy at the New York studios since being signed by Paramount some months ago, the Four Marx Brothers are filming "Animal Crackers," their second for the same company, with Clayton, Jackson and Durante scheduled for further Paramount activities here.

The Warner studio in Flatbush provides occasional work for such comedians as Lew Fields, Joe Frisco, Eddie Buzzell, Bert Lahr and others equally well known.

W. C. Fields and Clark and McCullough are both making a series of short comedies here for RKO, using the Ideal studios, pending completion of remodeled Gramercy studio.

PORTABLE SOUND RECORDER

Experienced cameraman, owning the finest portable film recorder on the market, now available to independent short subject producers, in the East. (Weight of recorder 400 lbs.) A good proposition for high class scenic novelties or industrials. If interested in most modern photography and sound, at reasonable cost, write

Pointers in Film Handling Contained in New Manual

This is the first of a series of articles reprinted by arrangement with Messrs. B. & H. Special Lens Company, New York, N. Y., compiled by J. S. MacLeod, manager of the company’s exchange maintenance department. The articles are written with special consideration of the physical handling of film and discs.

Film Inspection Instructions

1. Inspection Department employees are under the supervision of the chief inspector and will perform their work accordingly.

2. Tables, splicing machines and all other equipment used by persons in the inspection department are to be used for none other than the purpose for which they are intended.

3. When splicing machines become dull or out of line, or when any person’s work becomes unsatisfactory or defects, the chief inspector is responsible for the section of the room.

4. White cotton gloves need to be removed before inspecting film to prevent any foreign material from being introduced into the machine.

5. In order to secure the fluid for this cleaning process, lengthy searches were conducted both in the Bell & Howell laboratory in this country and the Taylor-Hobson Scientific Research division in England, it is stated. Complete and careful instructions accompany the kit.

Says Turbine Ventilator will Work in All Weather

Detroit—Operation under all weather conditions, unhampered by snow, sleet or rain, is claimed by the Allen Turbine Ventilator, which is constructed of “Armco” iron galvanized metal and does not permit any down drafts. Its powerful suction force of the rotating turbine is said to make downdrafts a mechanical construction in the industry. It is noiseless in operation and once installed requires no attention, care, or adjusting other than lubrication.

Bell & Howell Makes Special Kit for Lens

Bell & Howell has introduced a B. & H. Special Lens Cleaning Kit which is an important item in every projection booth as well as for camera users. The kit consists of a scientifically prepared fluid for cleaning lens surfaces, a piece of specially tanned and hand-chamois leather for removing stains which cannot otherwise be removed except by regrinding and repolishing the stained surface. There is also a piece of selected, washed, lintless linen made from Irish flax. Extreme care has been exercised in securing a type of linen which would be thoroughly free from fillings and starches and at the same time leave no lint. Also there is a camel’s hair brush for removing dust before applying the liquid.

In Order to Secure the Fluid for This Cleaning Process, Lengthy Searches Were Conducted Both in the Bell & Howell Laboratory in This Country and the Taylor-Hobson Scientific Research Division in England, It Is Stated. Complete and Careful Instructions Accompany the Kit.

ORTHWEST EXHIBITORS OFFERED FOWLER AD REEL

Minneapolis—Exhibitors attending the Northwest Theater Owners recent annual meeting were familiarized with the Fowler Advertising Reel consisting of three acts and ads on 1,000 foot reel. In showing the reel, the merchant is editted with presenting a specified act. The exhibitor gets the act free of charge but the merchant pays for it plus expressage charges.

enkins-DeForest Plan to Pool 500 Patents

East Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Washington—In making application for a construction permit for a television station at Passaic, N. J., Allen B. Du Mont, chief engineer of the DeForest Radio Co., told the Federal Radio Commission that the enkins Television Co. and DeForest are considering pooling of about 50 patents which both companies own. Expressing his opinion of that strides in television within the next few months, Du Mont stated that the company was handicapped making television tests because of the license although DeForest has an experimental station at Passaic.

Telechron Clocks Now Ready

National Theater Supply is now distributing Telechron clocks which operate direct from electric circuits the usual voltages, or from a small electric motor. They are said to be no winding, cleaning or regulating and yet give an accurate check running time.

Going Movie

In the May issue of "Popular Mechanics" almost 19 pages are taken up with scientific information about motion pictures. Six pages are devoted to MagnaFilm and keeping out extraneous noises while recording; one and one-quarter pages have to do with Noiseless Shoes and Jewels for talkies; one page is given over to a cartoon on a Duplex Theater; four pages explain a ten-cent Store Edison; on the first and second pages of a page information is given relative Portable Sound Movie Outfit for School or Business, and "Camera 1." Feeding the Newsreels is explained with photos and text on nearly six pages.

Individual Room Refrigeration Possible Through New Process

Hartford, Conn.—Ammonia refrigeration through individual room control is possible by using special apparatus of the Automatic Refrigerating Co., which has a back pressure regulator, thermostat expansion valve, thermostat, solenoid valve and motor operated valve. This apparatus is set to shut down the machine at the highest suction pressure possible and obtain the desired temperatures. Highest efficiency is claimed when the thermostat valve is located in the liquid line just after the solenoid liquid valve. The amount of ammonia fed to the expansion coils is controlled by a thermostat chamber placed in the outlet from the last coil fed by the valve.

A thermostat is placed in the cold storage room and connected to the solenoid valve. When the room warms up to a certain temperature, the thermostat will open the solenoid valve and allow ammonia to be fed to the expansion coils. When the room has been cooled to the desired temperature, the thermostat will close the solenoid valve and shut off the liquid supply to the coils.

The solenoid valve is electrically operated and controlled from a thermostat located in the room. The valve is so constructed that it closes in the case of failure of electric power. This stops the flow of ammonia to the expansion coils until power is restored and normal operation is again resumed. A solenoid valve can be located in the main liquid line from the receiver to shut off the supply of ammonia to the expansion valves when the machine shuts down. Motor operated valves can be furnished in place of the solenoid operated valves where they are preferred. These can be used for either A.C. or D.C., 110 volts, the company states.

Felt Lined Walls

Across all the walls in the new Warner-Hollywood are stretched panels of heavy damask, lined in felt, which, it is said, insures better sound reproduction. Neither the damask nor the felt touches the walls, in fact, there is a two-inch space between fabric and wall, so that sound, when it reverberates through the house first hits the felt. This precludes the slightest distortion or "bounce back" of sound.

34-ft. Screen Installed

Newark, O.—The Midland here has installed a 34-foot silver screen in anticipation of large width film attractions. A complete refrigerating-cooling system was recently installed by Carrier Engineering Corp. and is now in operation.

Demonstrate DeForest Device

Minneapolis—After exhibitors attended the Northwest Theater Owners' convention at the Nicollet Hotel, a demonstration of DeForest equipment was given at the Ideal here. Fred Cubberly, new Northwest sales head for the DeForest firm, was on hand with engineers to demonstrate and explain the machine.

Claude General Neon Takes Over Four Films

Following organization of the Claude General Neon Lights, Ltd., with headquarters in London, the company has absorbed the Buro Sign Co., Ltd., Atomlite, Ltd., Neon Lights, Ltd., and Illuminated Advertising Co., Ltd., of London, the last two of which previously manufactured electric displays under the Claude patent rights. Board of directors of the newly organized company comprises the following:

Wilson and Fletcher, representing the General Electric Co. of England interests, Julian Siess, representing the German interests, and W. T. P. Hollingsworth, president of Claude Neon Lights, Inc., of New York, with H. Marryat, M.I.E.E., M.E. Mech., as chairman of the board. Mr. Moyle will be general manager, and Mr. Higgins of the engineering staff of the General Electric Co. of England will be manager of the plant.

Props Doubled

Sydney—Amalgamated Pictures, Ltd., doubled its profits last year. The company's balance sheet for the year ended Feb. 28, revealed earnings of $107,000, compared with $52,000 the preceding year.

220 HOUSES IN FRANCE ARE WIRED, REPORT SAYS

Paris—There are now 220 wired houses in France, according to a check-up conducted by "Cinematograph Francaise." This figure is higher by 52 at the end of last year and represents an increase of about 30 per cent.

10 YRS. NEEDED, TALBOT SAYS, TO FORM VIRILE BRITISH UNIT

London—Establishment of a virile production and distribution organization in the United Kingdom would require about 10 years and the investment of at least $7,000,000, according to Haydn Talbot, American screen writer.

"The British Film Rentier" in connection with the amendment of the films act. Talbot says:

"I write with interest a cable dispatch announcing proposed revisions of the British quota act. Of especial interest to me is the proposal to limit the use of alien scenario writers. I am wondering, however, whether the lessoning of the frightful handicap which the legislative enactment has imposed on the British film industry will ameliorate matters to any extent while widespread.

"Can anyone reasonably expect any British film producer to offer any alien scenario writer a job on the following terms:

"An iron-cloth contract with a minimum life of three years;

"The writer to have the right to refuse to work on any story which does not appeal to him;

"The writer to be free to do his work either in his office or out of it, and be answerable to no one for his movements.

"The writer to have equal authority with the director during the preparation of the scenario, and to act in an advisory capacity, on the understanding the actual shooting of the picture;

"The writer to be guaranteed a place and recognition in all forms of paid publicity;

"The writer, at all times and under all conditions, to be guaranteed recognition by the producer as the sole and equal importance with that of the director.

"Before any American scenario writer of any standing can be attracted away from Hollywood to London these terms must be offered, as they are so well established here as to be taken for granted.

"I have purposely omitted reference to the matter of talking films. But, if it is a fact that a well-known British writer was paid twenty pounds a week while he was turning out for a leading British studio, it should be said that the most modest American screen writer, who would elsewhere expect to appeal the most reckless spendthrift amongst the film moguls, would refuse even one picture will continue to draw paying crowds."

15 Cologne Houses Wired

Cologne—This city today has 15 theaters equipped to show audible films.

Sid Saylor is in "Sid’s Long Count" Universal. Time, 20 mins. Fair Comedy

Sid Saylor appears here as a tentative pug who, with his manager, aims to selling electrical reducing machines after he has been knocked out in a fight. The job brings him good shaking but little else. In one scene he’s helping the hands of a cop who discovers him demonstrating the device to his life. Fairly entertaining as a whole, with moments now and then which are extremely hilarious.

Arthur Lake in "Peek A Boo" Universal. Time, 20 mins. Mild Comedy Antics

"Peek A Boo" is a mild affair only because its material is time-worn and presented with little imagination. The leading player is Arthur Lake, who has the role of a bell-hop ill of the ambition to become a detective. A robbery in the hotel gives him the opportunity he is looking for to test out his knowledge. He becomes a partner in the arrest of the culprits and wins the daughter of the owner of the hotel. There are moments when the film is rather amusing, but there could have been more of them.

“Street of Mystery” Pathé. Time, 12 mins. Corking True Crime Show

"In Streets of Mystery" Tom Terriss has produced a film record of certain aspects of life in India that is every bit as good as the first of his Vagabond series, "The Golden Pagoda." It is a travel story that catches with startling fidelity, the mystery and drama forming so much a part of Hindu existence. Absorbing entertainment of the finer sort. Should meet with a big response wherever it is shown.

Pathe Audio Review No. 19

"Oh, How You’ve Changed" Pathé. Time, 10 mins.

This deserves to be listed among the best of the Audio Reviews produced up to this existence. Its beauty, compelling interest and instructive virtue in the subject of the story. Its highlights is a pictorial record of one of the most beautiful scenes in France. You are shown through the various stages in the production of the precious jewels from the vineyard to the storage vault. The rest of the interest is given over to striking views of the famed Torrey Pines of Soledad Canyon near La Jolla, CA, and a demonstration by Marguerite Agnel of her method of body exercises based on a study of animal movements.

"The Prisoner’s Song" Paramount. Time, 8 mins. Pip Song Cartoon

Max Fleischer has done an ace in making a song cartoon based on "The Prisoner’s Song." The comic travesty on jail routine is fitted very neatly to the popular ballad. Good for plenty of laughs.

"Buddy Traps" Vitaphone. Time, 7 mins. Good Musical Novelty

The performer in this musical novelty is a young man who sings a little, does some, and manipulates a pair of drum sticks all around the place. He taps harmony out of a wide assortment of objects, from regular drums to telescopes, skis, chairs and whatever. It is diverting particularly because it is unusual and also on account of the youth and versatility of the artiste.

The Potters in "Getting a Raise" Vitaphone. Time, 12 mins. Excellent Comedy

As the first of a series of short comedies, this is a very pleasant comedy of the average American family. The plot holds promise as well as giving satisfaction. Lots of humor and some sentimental interest is embedded in it. There is a quiet moment by a raise from his boss, who makes the faithful employees out of the more money idea. Lucien Littlefield impersonates Pa Potter in fine style. Others who help are Lucile Ward, Mary Hutchinson, Billy Saft, Dell Henderson, Junior Bailey and Dot Farley. Direction is good.

"Anywhere By Air" Visigraphic. Time, 18 mins. Airplane Stuff

This is a good subject for the aviation fans, being a personally conducted tour through some of America’s greatest schools and flying schools. It has been synchronized with an explanatory talk by the expert, Casey Jones, who describes the various details of solo flying, tail spins, and shows flying classes at their work. Views of the various Curtiss fields are given, but the film is essentially an industrial subject which the exhibitor must determine for himself if suitable for his screen. It has the elements of a popular subject, however, for everything is explained in popular terms.

Lucien Littlefield in "Big Money" Vitaphone No. 4009. Time, 14 mins. Plenty of Humor

"Big Money," one of the Potters series, is an extremely funny short in which Lucien Littlefield appears as a professional correspondent. He is hired by a lawyer to make a divorce to a client who is seeking a divorce. Mr. Potter makes it for them when she discovers him in the lady’s arms.

Roberto Guzman in "The Military Post" Vitaphone No. 3278. Time, 6 mins. Some Good Singing

Roberto Guzman, the Mexican tenor, shows in this short. This series, a two-attitudes number in the role of a love-suffering soldier. His voice is well-recorded and the Technicolor work is beautiful in its distinctness. Class audiences will find this a satisfactory entertainment.

Neely Edwards, Lou Brice in "The Window Cleaners" Vitaphone No. 3566. Time, 7 mins. Satirical Fun

Here is a bit of satire done in novel fashion. Two window cleaners find themselves looking in on two love affairs in suits adjoining each other. Each is a case of making love to the neighbor’s wife. The cleaners, played by Neely Edwards and Lou Brice, comment on the show in doggerel set to music. An entertaining little filler.

Robert L. Ripley in "Believe It Or Not" Vitaphone No. 1095. Time, 9 mins. "Not So Hot"

In this short, Ripley, the well-known cartoonist, reveals little that he has not revealed before. The result is that people in the big cities will find this number but moderately entertaining. He does show you, however, a thing or two that is hard to believe, though true.

"The Jazz Rehearsal" Vitaphone No. 3760. Time, 15 mins. Color and Music

"The Jazz Rehearsal" is a most entertaining musical short in Technicolor. It has some nice music of a popular note and dancing that is fast and clever. The coloring is at times rather striking and the setting has been lavishly done. The thing is executed with real feeling.
“Show Girl in Hollywood”

With Alice White, Jack Mulhall
First National Time, 1 hr., 18 mins.

AMUSING STORY OF HOLLYWOOD SHOW BUSINESS FULL OF LIFE AND COLOR GOOD WORK BY IMPORTANT CAST.

J. P. McEvoy's story of Broadway trying to crash the gates of Hollywood, where he has been transformed into a diverting talker. It is a film that young people in particular will enjoy immensely for it has snap, color and romance. To older people the picture will appeal chiefly because of its satirical quality. At bottom "Show Girl in Hollywood" is a satire, and a delicious one at that.

The production has been unfolded with much humor and has been in conjunction with magnificent settings. To this add the stunning effects in technicolor. Alice White and Jack Mulhall play the leads satisfactorily. Others are: Ford Sterling, Blanche Sweet, John Miljan, Miss White figures as a Broadway showgirl who goes to Hollywood and becomes a star after overcoming innumerable obstacles.

Cast: Alice White, Jack Mulhall, Ford Sterling, Blanche Sweet, John Miljan, Virginia Sale, Spence O'Dell, Lee Shumway, Herman Bинг.

Direction: Producer, Mervyn LeRoy; Author, J. P. McEvoy; Adapter, Harvey Thew; Dialogue, Harvey Thew, Editor, Not listed; Camera, Col. Polito; Monitor, Not listed.

Assessment: Good. Photography, good.

“Ladies in Love”

With Alice Day, Johnny Walker
Columbia Time, 1 hr., 11 mins.

NICE OFFERING WITH WHOLESOME, HUMAN STORY AND INTEREST MAKES STRONG FAMILY PICTURE. GOOD NEIGHBORHOOD SUBJECT.

Here is an independent production that is better than most to be found in that field. It has been very intelligently handled throughout, with restrained direction and acting. The story has a strong human interest slant, with a plot that holds the interest. It has a sweet love theme that will appeal to the popular mind. Alice Day as the girl is good, and so is Johnny Walker, who is ideally suited to the role of a young chap from the country who makes good in the big city. The story is very modest, but it has the atmosphere of the radio station running throughout the scenes. The theme song is exceptionally good, and it is to be recommended for the clean and wholesome story that makes it ideal fare for family trade. Edgar Lewis did a good job in directing.

Cast: Alice Day, Johnny Walker, Freeman Wood, Marjorie Kane, James Butts, Dorothy Gow, Elmer Flynn, Mary Carl, Mary Fox, Bernice Lanost.

Direction: Producer, Author, Charles Beahan; Adaptor, Charles Beahan; Dialogue, (Various), Editor, Not listed; Camera, Cramerman, A. M. Anderson.

Assessment: Good. Photography, okay.

Awkward Time, 1 hr., 14 mins.

FAST MOVING RUSSIAN PRODUCTION DEALING WITH PEASANT PROBLEM. TASTEFUL AND OBVIOUS INSTRUCTIONAL PURPOSE.

Because it deals with human fundamentals in a simple but telling way, this 14-minute short some would arrest the interest, this latest handiwork of S. M. Eisenstein rates a good mark as amusement fare notwithstanding its obvious Russian government effort to arouse and educate its suffering peasantry. The old methods of individual farming by the drudgery of primitive hand labor are brought into striking contrast with the new machine age. Brotherhood and cooperative satisfaction among the players stratified until even the longest and shaggiest beasts are obliged to give their approval to the story's theme. The action moves along at a fast clip. Particularly amusing is the cut-in, which sometimes run at a pace almost enough to make you dizzy. There is an occasional interlude, but the story, despite some of it probably was not intended to be funny. Photography is good and contains some unique touches. For the more keenly intelligent audiences, such as the intellectual clientele of art theaters, this will prove a real treat.

Pathé Time, 1 hr., 35 mins.

COLORFUL CIRCUS STORY OF EARLY NINETIES. WELL DIRECTED HELEN TWELVE TREES BEGINS SHOW BUSINESS ABILITY. FRED SCOTT SCORES WITH SINGING.

This is one of Pathé's most ambitious productions and is, accordingly, a pleasing. The story, which is laid in the early nineties and deals with life among circus performers, has been given a colorful production. Helen Twelvetrees is a pleasant surprise and does excellent work. Fred Scott is a convincing performer and has a good voice.

Joseph Santley has done well with the direction, his experience with stage musicals being of service in such a project. Once the newcomer from the stage, proves a very able comedian, and his "traveling salesman and farmer's daughter" number is a highlight of the film.

Cast: Helen Twelvetrees, Fred Scott, Double Bill, Maud Powell, George Fawcett, William Langen, Raymond Hatton, Alphonse Pelletier, Chester Conklin, Stepin Feicht, Robert嶝on, Mickey Bennett, Ben Turpin, Little Bolt.

Directors: Joseph Santley; Authors, Joseph Santley, Samuel Goldwyn, George M. Cohan; Dialogue, James Seymour; Camera, James Seymour; Camera, Henry Sullivan, Ted Snyder, Mort Harris, Abner Silver; Camera, David Abel; Monitors, Charles O. Loughlin, Somach-Ackerman, Day.

“Around the Corner”

With Charlie Murray, George Sidney
Columbia Time, 1 hr., 9 mins.

A SUREFIRE LAUGH-GETTER. CHARLIE MURRAY AND GEORGE SIDNEY DO WON DERS WITH A COMMONPLACE LAST SIDE STORY.

The comedy of Charlie Murray and George Sidney is about all that matters in this yarn of the New York East Side. Murray, in the role of a policeman, and Sidney as a pawn shop proprietor, keep the funny moving at a fast pace. The old ladies are the guardians of a young miss who falls in love with a millionaire's son despite their efforts to marry her off to another. When the wealth of minks makes meat of a professional tug, who is a rival for her affection, and a complete change of heart. Good work is done by the supporting cast, especially in the part of Delaney as the butler and Joan Peers as the maid.

The action has been directed by Bert Glennon with a fairly good eye to comedy possibilities of this crack, cxcr, and shows a number to have a lot of pretty jokes on the story and dialogue.

Cast: Charlie Murray, George Sidney, Joan Peers, Charles Delaney, Larry Kent, Jeff De Vorska and Fred Sullivan.

Directors: Bert Glennon; Author, Jo Swerling; Adapter, Jo Swerling; Dialogue, Jo Swerling; Editor, Gene Mitchell; Camera, Not listed; Monitor, Man, John Lividary.

Talking Picture Epic

Time, 53 mins.

HIGHLY INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE RECORD OF AN ALASKAN ADVENTURE. REFRESHING AND PICTORIALLY EFFECTIVE.

Those who like travel and adventure films should find in "The Break-Up" much to satisfy them. The picture is a pictorial record of a recent Alaskan expedition undertaken by a group of explorers headed by Captain Jack Robertson. It pictures life in the Alaskan wastes with remarkable fidelity and in a most effective manner. The film boasts some really impressive camera work, with an endless succession of shots of jagged ice fields, towering ice-sheeted mountains and forests deep in snow. There is a sweep and a freedom to the camera work, which is unusually made more interesting and powerful by a fine photography. And there are moments of tense drama, as is to be expected when man meets nature. Jack Robertson on more than one occasion is seen playing with death in his perilous trip over the treacherous country. For the girl, at the same time a fine record of animal life in Alaska, is accompanied by a description of Captain Robertson. "The Break-Up" should be ideal entertainment for summer days.

“Prince of Diamonds”

With Aileen Pringle, Ian Keith
Columbia Time, 1 hr., 7 mins.

SATISFACTORY LOVE TRIANGLE DRAMA EFFECTI VELY PRODUCED AND SCENICALLY PLEASING. AILEEN PRINGLE AND IAN KEITH GOOD.

In spite of a none too original plot, this picture has much to recommend it. Its photography is excellent, it is fortunate in a number of good performances, and in its suggestion of modern life in an English castle it leaves little to be desired. The story tells of a woman who is forced to wed a wealthy jeweller unfledged by her father to save the man she loves from being unjustly exposed as a thief. The fellow, unaware of the reason behind her marriage to his rival, escapes to the Far East, where he becomes rich through the discovery of a diamond mine. After he breaks the woman's husband by unmasking him, he returns to England to complete his revenge. Aileen Pringle and Ian Keith do good work.

Warner Oland in "The New Adventures of Dr. Fu-Manchu" with Neil Hamilton and Arthur Pyrman

Timed, 1 hr. 11 mins.

SPLENDID THRILL PRODUCTION WITH EXCEPTIONAL CAST. WARNER OLAND AGAIN GIVES FINE PERFORMANCE. A POPULAR NUMBER ANYWHERE.

Again Warner Oland as the clever and fiendish Oriental starts the spine tingle. He brings them till the end of the picture. Rowland Lee has done a strong directorial job, and the suspense is built up with mounting tension to the climax.

O. P. Heggie as the Scotland Yard inspector is fine, and offers a splendid foil to the masterful characterization created by Warner Oland of Dr. Fu. For the lovers of thrill and the mysterious, this will go over big. But Warner Oland has handled this stuff with a soft pedal so that the murders and other bedevilment of the sinister Dr. Fu do not register as too grizzly. Unfortunately he has little to do, and the honors are divided between Oland, Heggie and Neil Hamilton.

The Second Floor Mystery

With Loretta Young and Grant Withers

First National

Timed, 58 mins.

ENTERTAINING MEL O. DRAMA THAT HOLDS THE INTEREST THROUGHOUT. DIRECTING STRIKELY WITH DIRECTION AND ACTING WELL DONE.

Romance and adventure. Not a mystery in the exact sense of the word, but the plot is enjoyable and the principals, especially Miss Young and Withers, are patred out nicely. There is a certain charm in the telling of the story, in which Roy Del Ruth has injected a deft and clever touch. Based on "The Agony Column," Withers and Miss Young, while eating in a London restaurant, find this newspaper column grossly entertaining. He tries to become acquainted with the heroine, who is accompanied by her father. When he is asked to write her a letter a clever thrilling letter. He proposes a mystery that provokes her to call the police. In revenge, she gives him a little stunt, that of putting her mischief maker temporarily into prison.

Cast:
- Grant Withers, Loretta Young, H. B. Warner, John Lodge, Clare McDowell, John Litel, Mary Forbes, Lila Lee, Ralph Morgan, Hugh Herbert, Harry Cording, John M. Lowry, Sidney Bracey, Crawford Kent, Enid Bennett, Paul Cavanagh, Richard Travis, John Carradine.

Warner Mackaill in "Strictly Modern"

With Sidney Blackmer

First National

First National Time, 1 hr., 3 mins.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT WITH GREAT CAST AND ACTING, DIRECTING AND DIALOGUE CREDITABLE. MACKAILL AND BLACKMER DO A LOT TO PLEASE.

Based on the play, "Cousin Kate," and presented by a cast of selected players, entertainment reigns supreme. The action is bright, the dialogue is clever, the acting is fine. The plot holds the interest with Miss Mackaill and Blackmer meeting under peculiar circumstances, falling in love, their identities unknown and only revealed while they are having a tryst affair in the hero's cottage. The heroine happens to be a novelty artist but acts as liaison in order to reconcile the parted lovers. True to form, she gives up the hero when she learns that he is her cousin's lover. When she gains knowledge of another secret amorous affair going on between her cousin and the hero, she takes matters into her own hands, concocts a plan, and serves it to those intended. Things begin to happen just when the cremen plot begins to end with the judge collapsing to the satisfaction of all. Nicely directed by William Seiter.

Cast:
- Dorothy Mackaill, Sidney Blackmer, John Wray, Marion Byron, John Dugan, Hugh Herbert, Robert McWhee, John M. Lowry, Sidney Bracey, Richard Travis, John Carradine.

Director: William A. Seiter; Author: Max Davis; Adapted by: J. M. Fisk; Costumes: Gene Towne; Dialogue: T. Morris, Gene Towne, Mabel Leighton, Margaret Wells, James Caven, Charley windshield, Lottie Wilson.

"JAPANITES" IS SWELL STAGE SHOW AT CAPITOL

Artistry and vaudeville-flavored entertainment, together to make "Japanites," current stage show at the Capitol unusually fine audience stuff. Outstanding in the show are the "sensational Kikutaras," Japanese troupe of acrobats, which perform a number of original and thrilling stunts. An excellent number, this, far removed from the familiar acrobatic turn.

Personal Ted Claire acts as master of ceremonies, sings and dances, the boy and girl stunts in a style that clicks. The stage is walled with Japanese screens and panels which are removed late in the show to reveal a garden effect.

PAUL WHITEMAN PROGRAM MUSICAL TREAT AT ROXY

Paul Whiteman is the big show at the Roxy this week. The members of his orchestra and his band, with the conductors of his own band and the Roxy Symphony Orchestra in a combined ensemble of 125 pieces. Facing his men in the orchestra pit, Whiteman stands with a huge black-and-white caricature of himself staring down upon him from the center of a curtain on which are outlined figures of musicians executed in modernistic style against a background of dull gold.

It is a musical program of generous proportions that has been devised by the Roxy management to celebrate the opening of "King of Jazz." As if the presence of White- man and his orchestra were not enough, George Gershwin has been brought in as principal soloist in "Rhapsody in Blue" number that is beautifully done. This is the highlight of the performance. Another Gershwin composition on the program is "Strike Up the Band." Other numbers on the program are the "Three Tangoes" of Nocetti, Hickox and Dupont; the "Sing, You Sinners" of Harling and Coslowi; Rodgers' "A Ship Without a Sail," and selections from the works of Victor Herbert.

The show gained entertainment value through the singing of Mildred Bailey, Ethel Pepsi, Laura Lu and Santiago and the Roxy Chorus. Orchestral arrangements are by Ferdie Grof, Roy Barby and Leonard Hayton. Max Herzberg is responsible for the choral arrangements.

Reduction in Costs

THE era of economy that was started in the motion picture business some years ago with the merging of producing, manufacturing, distributing and exhibiting interests was directed toward the elimination of duplicated costs. And, while all of the benefits of this industry-change have not yet been realized, it has moved gradually toward perfection.

Since trade paper advertising is a vital and necessary part of selling effort in this business the film trade group of the Associated Publications, Inc., was formed to further along the economy program by serving its industry through the reduction of advertising costs and the increased efficiency and quality of regional trade publications, which, naturally, brought about greater advertising results.

By printing all of the papers in our own plant in Kansas City, the geographical center of the country, and by eliminating the duplicated cost of printing national and general trade news, which runs throughout the entire group, we have been able to make a saving in our production costs that has been passed on to our advertisers using our entire group, in the form of a liberal discount off the regular rates of the individual publications. An additional saving is afforded to our advertisers through the requirement of only one printing plate. An advertiser can now reach 20,000 exhibitors and film trades people for almost half the former cost and through papers that are immeasurably of greater service to the industry than the regional trade press of the past has ever been!

PUBLIX SEES BIG REVENUE FROM SCREEN AD SERVICE

Big financial benefits are expected to accrue to Publix as a result of the contract entered into with William Johnson, President of the Screen Service Corp., whereby screen advertising will be shown in Publix houses, it is stated. The agreement relates to houses which are now at least 90 per cent owned by Para- mount, directly or indirectly, or at least 50 per cent owned by Para- mount and operated by Publix. The films will be in two classes, one being style films in music and color, and are to be played in all theaters except those under an existing contract, and the other being general advertising films. These films are to be shown primarily as trailer advertising. They will be put out in complete units of minimum weekly rental.

Publix will have full control of the choice and presentation of the screens. It is planned to make the productions of entertainment value, so that the circuit will be getting a program number at no expense. The public is to be educated to the fact that revenue thus derived by the theater company will be to give better programs and service.

Johnson and Publix officials now engaged in selecting the cities with the largest potential, including Kansas City, and Kansas City, and will give definite orders to the theaters to cooperate in the showing of these pictures.

Although the agreement just signed will not apply to houses that are already under contract to other companies, arrangements are to be made, if possible, to have these other companies furnish the theaters with the same type of service as that provided by Johnson.

DRASTIC ACTION PLANNED IN KANSAS BLUE LAW DRIN

Topeka—Drive to enforce Sabba blue laws in Kansas has taken a added fervor with the threat that drastic action will be taken against theater owners who insist upon giving Sunday shows. "We are prepar ing to get out an injunction against theater owners and to direct court attorneys to take similar steps," say William A. Smith, state attorney general. "Every prosecutor in counties where shows operate on Sunday has been warned the law will be enforced."

Straight Talk to Showmen

The public is fickle... easy to please for the moment, but a constant repetition soon tires and your patron starts to shop for entertainment. Business will go where it is most intelligently urged... where its entertainment wants are satisfied and where courteous attention prevails. The intelligence of the urge is paramount. Consider today what you are going to do tomorrow. We are a success today, not because we bask in the sunshine of that success; take advantage of this good fortune by thinking of the new show world that may be just around the corner.

Talking Pictures Shown in Chile

CHILE'S first "talkie" has recently been successfully shown in Santiago's downtown theaters. The theater, which was formerly a second-run house, was the first to install up-to-date American sound equipment. The picture shown was a musical review, the singing and speaking being in English with the Spanish translation superimposed on the picture, and Chilean patrons who understand no English said that they were able to follow the picture quite easily. The theater, which has a seating capacity of 1,000, was filled, and the performance well received. Under the present plan of showing, with speaking parts in English and superimposed Spanish dialogue, the musical-review type of picture is best adapted to this market. However, if any continued success is to be gained it is thought that it will be necessary to supply talking pictures in the Spanish language.

ALONG THE RIALTO

with Phil M. Daly

THESE columnists are certainly stepping out...first Mark Helliger goes on the air, then Walter Winchell is appointed judge of a baby parade in a night club (and what babies!) and now comes announcement that Heywood Broun has gone vaudeville......Hiram Brown states that Heywood will do his stuff at the Palace the week of May 17th and will contribute his salary to four stage and screen funds....first thing you know these chaps will have to hire columnists to write their columns if these outside offers increase......And we see by our own lil' paper (which our ad dept, tells us prints all the news FIRST) that Al Capone, the racketeer, is trying to seize the Chicago theater unions......no doubt these racketeer pictures gave Capone an idea.

WE see by the Hearst Metrotone News announcement that bullfighting has been made painless in France.....now if some day we will do a show which is held in Flatbush, it will become a nice place for tourists....Pat Flaherty, headlining Red Star Music Co., will soon head in to Movietone City to reorganize the layout and Harry Hoch has joined Pat's organization to handle commercial radio accounts.....Rian James, columnist on the Brooklyn "Eagle," wrote a film review stating: "You ain't seen nothing till you've seen this picture"... and a goof wrote back: "Yeah? And I ain't seen nothin' after seen it"...Lynde Denig, in between working on the First Nash yearly announcement, has sold several stories to the "New Yorker"......

JOHN WRAY, who goes over with a noisy bang in "All Quiet on the Western Front," will soon leave for Chattertown to start work in "Saint John's Day." In a scene very much like that for "Ladies Love Brutes," as George Bancroft knocked Stanley Fields through a packing case, he sez: "And that's for Realism"......so Stanley picked the soldiers from his epidermis, super- stratum, etc., to be in the picture, and handed them to George, saying: "And that's for Make-Believe"

J. P. McEOVY will be honored with "McEovy Night" at the Winter Garden Thursday evening when his "Show Girl in Hollywood" is the attraction......Those AMPAS, following the example of the trade itself, will be on hand for the occasion, and all the local authors, artists, etc., will be present. The show will be a complete picture show, with special attractiveness for the fans of the Fox stars, and there will be an appearance by the guest star, written especially for them. The program will be the same as that for "Paramount On Parade," with the exception of the musical numbers by the cast, which will be replaced by a special feature for the audience. The show will be presented by the Fox Studio Orchestra, under the direction of Jack Oakie, and will be broadcast over all the network stations.

DICK BARTHELMES is being considered for the lead in "Adios"......if they decide on him, does this mean that First National and Dick are saying farewell to each other?......H. Jerome Chazen has been made assistant to C. A. Hill, general booker for Fox.......Harrison Carroll of the Losange "Herald" notes that Dick Whiting has composed 151 sones in less than a year, among them the hits "Sweetie" and "Louise"......At a dinner party in Harold Lloyd's home, his English butler approached him and sez: "I'm sorry to disturb you, sir, but the house is on fire"......and Harold, busy in conversation, replies: "Please remind me of it later"......

AND now Arthur Caesar, the King of Razz, is trying to figure out if First Nash's racketeer story, "Little Caesar," is a subtle way of razzing him......They are opening a specialty sandwich shop in Hollywood exclusively for actors, probably specializing in ham sandwiches......Bernard Berenson, from Dallas, Texas, suh, is now assisting George Bilson at First National......Henry's Cafe in H'W'd has a new awning, and Jimmy Starr says it will keep a lotta actors from getting wet......oh, so they DO have weather in California?

4 Big Ones in 5 Months
Shot by George Barnes

Four of the biggest pictures within five months will be the luggage record of George Barnes, head cameraman for Samuel Goldwyn. The day he finished Ronald Colman's "Raffles," he was notified he would have to start the next day on Gloria Swanson's "What a Widow." The day after that picture was completed, Barnes started filming Mary Pickford's "Forever After." He will photograph Evelyn Laye's initial picture within a week after completing "Forever After."

Reginald Sheffield is becoming one of our best little New York-Los Angeles commutors. Alfred E. Green, the director, liked Sheffield's work in "The Green Goddess" so well that when he was assigned to direct "Old English," also starring George Arliss, he sent for Sheffield, who was acting in "Dear Old England" in New York.

By the way, Reginald's sister, Flora, who is a Broadway favorite, will follow in her brother's "air-step" and also the "lot". While here she will visit Ruth Chatterton and other friends of New York stage days.

Our Passing Show: Edward H. Griffith and Robert Ame chatting at Pathe; Arthur Zeller motoring on Sunset Blvd.

Emile de Recat, head of the Pathe studio's foreign production department, finds that his three trips around the world are proving of much benefit in his present work of producing foreign versions of American pictures. While globe-trotting, he made a close study of the life of the natives of the various countries he visited. He was the first man to gain permission of the French government to use the Chateau de Versailles for scenes in a picture. The picture was "Le Roi Soleil," which he made in 1911.

Josephine Loretz is vacationing at the Rancho Santa Fe, having completed two original stories with continuity and dialogue for Gloria Swanson. Miss Sarn is now finishing production on "What a Widow," one of the stories.

Well-known Owens—Davis, Moore, Marks, Seena.

"Hank," Arnold, the demon statistician of Santa Monica Blvd., has sworn to action again. He reports that Eddie Cantor, who is working on the cook house sequences in "Whoopie," has used up five cans of baking powder, three sacks of flour and 20 pounds of salt without producing even one waffle fit to eat.

George Crone has finished the direction of "Reno," his latest picture for Sona-Art. It is a fetich with this director to have a finger in the cutting of all his pictures and he is now supervising the editing of "Reno."

Short Shots from New York Studios

Resentment Grows Against Short Length Features

is brewing in the camps of motion picture owner bodies. The Oklahoman, the North and South exhibitors will take up the subject at their coming conventions, and several other organizations are giving it attention.

Chief among the complaints is the contention that shorter length features is resulting in a considerable increase in the cost of bills, due to the necessity of booking additions subjects. The shorts, it is claimed sometimes cost more than the feature. Some exhibitors have found it more economical to run double feature programs instead of a feature and a long list of shorts, but this policy, tried out on a big scale among Cleveland neighborhood houses, has not worked out well in most places.

FOR

FILM DAILY READERS
The Mirror

— a column of comment

EFFORTS SUBMITTED yesterday by the Society of Motion Picture Engineers to make it clear that its members are fully aware of the fact that there are complex problems to be solved by the industry and that it must adopt new developments. Both sound and color, although officially arrived, are still in need of doctors to make them 100 per cent excellent. This group of industry scientists will concentrate its fostering efforts on these two objectives. In the meantime, however, experimental work in television, wide film and stereoscopic effects will not come to a halt. The society, exercising its often-vowed common sense judgment, realizes that the industry must not move forward with a rapidity which has vitally important tasks unfinished. Its careful procedure at this revolutionary period no doubt will receive the hearty approval of every element of this picture business.

An idea worth entertaining has had its birth in Chicago with a plan for producers and exhibitors to sit together with object of lining up product for which there is a wholesale demand. Such a system, if properly administered, ought to inject a whole of a box-office appeal in pictures. There's no more accurate gauge in this movie-wide world than the men who rub shoulders with the pay-as-you-enter customers.

Australian Censorship fits British Films

THAT the talkies are permeating the American film idea in all directions is the substance of the annual report of the Commonwealth Film Censorship Board. ... The report also "de-"eployes an unfortunate tendency among British producers to depict scenes that are not elevating," British feature films it shows are subject to a greater percentage of eliminations and rejections than are American films. During the period under review, American films subject to cuts, are shown to have been 47 per cent, while 61 per cent of British films are classed in this category.

Australian Paper Defends Our Films

A WOMAN proceeded to tell the South Australian Housewives' Ass'n that the average American film had a demoralizing and pernicious effect; that pictures based on American standards were opposed to the British and Australian ideals of morality, law and order; that the British film was of a better standard, and if an agitation were made for British films, they would be forthcoming in large numbers. ... Any statement of British films being of a better standard than the American always receives newspaper space, but excites only the decision of the 2,500,000 people, who attend cinemas every week in Australia, and who know considerably more about films than the speakers at women's clubs. The opportunity for England is wide open this year, but by using the old tactics of villifying producers of other nationalities.

SONG O' MY HEART

A talking and singing movietone romance

9 th WEEK in NEW YORK
7 th WEEK in BOSTON
6 WEEKS in PHILADELPHIA
Los Angeles seconds the emotion!

Repeating unanimous verdict of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, a chorus of praise from press and public greeted the first showing in Grauman's Chinese Theatre of

John McCormack

in

SONG O' MY HEART

In New York:

It is something from which a reporter bounds with glee to write about—a huge success.

—Mandarin Hall, Times

Here is screen progress—thoroughly touching and effective. Next to the star, Mr. Kerrigan is the outstanding performer.

—Richard Watts, Jr., Herald Tribune

One of the best stories unfolded upon the screen in many a moon. This picture will bring happiness to millions.

—George Gerhard, Evening World

I enjoyed him via the movietone last evening more than I have enjoyed him in the flesh.

—John S. Cohen, Jr., The Sun

Rollicking comedy, heart-rending romance and superb singing.

—Irene Thier, Daily News

Noted Irish tenor's screen debut is excellent entertainment.

—Rose Pelswick, Evening Journal

Tender in its sentiment and something very near to triumphant in the recording and projection of the voice of its illustrious star.

—Quinn Martin, The World

Had audience in high glee.

—Regina Crew, The American

There is no doubt about it—a decided success—and see if you must.

—William Bohm, Telegram

Frank Borzage has done a splendid job.

—Bland Johanson, Daily Mirror

His a gift to warm the heart.

—Julia Shawell, Evening Graphic

The rare and priceless virtue of simplicity is astonishingly evident in John McCormack's "Song O' My Heart".

—Robert E. Sherwood, Evening Post

We take off our hat to director Frank Borzage.

—Life

"Song O' My Heart" should prove a perfectly fine matinee picture. If you don't like crowds of women, it is just as good at night, for McCormack's voice is one of the rare fine experiences that you will get from the screen.

—Los Angeles Record

Rarely does one picture have so many elements that are pleasing. It has heart warming appeal, that charm of direct simplicity in its tender story, and the fascination of sympathetic direction by the man who made "Seventh Heaven" and "Humoresque", Frank Borzage.

—Los Angeles Express

"Song O' My Heart" abounds with thrilling surprises for the fan intrigued by fresh faces. Maureen O'Sullivan has a fine future and Tommy Clifford captivated the first night throngs. Farrell MacDonald and J. M. Kerrigan are two of the richest comedians seen here in films.

—Los Angeles Daily News

It is written and acted with un fail ing good taste and a becoming air of reality and should please all McCormack admirers.

—Los Angeles Evening Herald

In Los Angeles:

"Song O' My Heart" is a genuine accomplishment. There was frequent applause at the opening for the McCormack songs and high praise can be bestowed for both the manner in which they were done and the recording.

—Los Angeles Times

If "Song O' My Heart" had nothing else to recommend it, "Little Boy Blue" would make it well worth hearing. The comedy couldn't have been put into better hands than those of J. M. Kerrigan. He and Farrell MacDonald are a grand pair.

—Los Angeles Examiner

In Boston:

An achievement of lasting memory.

—Boston Herald

As delightful a bit of entertainment as you could wish.

—Boston Post

A picture pearl of great price.

—Boston Evening American

The faithfulness with which the tenor's voice is reproduced is amazing.

—Boston Transcript

A splendid achievement, immense entertainment.

—Boston Traveler

In Philadelphia:

The screen has done exceedingly well by Mr. McCormack.

—Phila. Inquirer

Mere words of praise cannot commend the great appeal, the charm, the gripping sympathy, the uncloying naturalness, the humanness of John McCormack's performance.

—Phila. Evening Ledger

Faithful reproduction of a magnetic tenor voice.

—Phila. Daily News

In Foreign Press:

At no time in the short career of singing and talking pictures has one heard a voice so clear and natural as that of the famous Irish tenor.

—Jewish Morning Journal

A marvelous talking and singing picture.

—Il Progresso

One can well understand why John McCormack is the best loved singer in the world.

—Courrier des Eats Unis

This film is an unforgettable one.

—Staats Zeitung

by HARRY N. BLAIR

Arthur Cozine, asst. studio manager at the Paramount New York plant, is a typical outdoors man, proven by his activities at Rhinecliff last Sunday. Bright and early he hit horseback riding, in the afternoon played tennis and baseball and in the evening, topped things off by flying in an airplane ride.

In the other hand, Joseph Rutberg, cameraman on "Animal Crackers," does all his exercising at a studio getting in all sorts of positions for various assortments of New York shots.

J. H. Rogers, of Paramount's "Doc," has completed filming on "Queen High," under the direction of James Sweeney, chief cameraman, on "Animal Crackers," now in production.

ack Winick, chief projectionist for the Paramount New York studio, has added Dave Norrey, John Pross of George Doyle, formerly of RCA, Robert Millstein, formerly of Warner Bros., to his present staff.

employment among cameramen would be greatly helped if the various studios used a greater number of men instead of concentrating on the same few, in the opinion of W. Armand, who was formerly chief cameraman at the American Sound Recording studios.

elle Haskins, New York so-called girl, made her debut in Louis B. RKO's production of "The Golf Specialist," starring W. C. Fields. Though Miss Haskins had only a small role to play in this picture, Brock promised to give her a larger part in his next production.

ark and Mccoli, in collaboration with Mark Sandrich, director, have completed the script for the first Louis Brock RKO comedy. Most of the action takes place on an ocean liner. Production is expected to begin May 12 at the Ideal studios.

Scotch Love," one of the new Phonograph Varieties, boasts of a cast full of English stage stars including Cicely Court, Nora Swinburne and Beulah Collins. You must come over for tea some time . . . .we'd have a treat.

arry Fox, musical comedy star, who is a very fond of dogs until called upon to occupy the same bed with assorted mongrels in a scene for "The Lucky Break," at the Eastern Telephone studio.

he Marx Brothers, now making a film version of "Animal Crackers," at the Paramount New York studio, crew a specially built "hoosegow" for dressing. The contraption is mounted on wheels and has a regular cell block, with four separate cells, one for each brother.

Bob Roebuck, the 101 Ranch Wild West Show, is starred in "Horse Sense," a Vitaphone Variety, made on location at Westbury, L. I., by Murray Roth.

The Paramount camera staff held its regular monthly meeting in the studio restaurant last Thursday evening with George Fokas, chief cinematographer, presiding.

All the studios went over the top in the Salvation Army drive last week which netted a fine total of contributions for this worthy cause.

A bit of old England is transferred to the Paramount studio on Long Island each afternoon around 4:30 when Okenk Tours, head of the music department, and a native Loudover, has his usual cup of tea.

Leila Leibrand, who used to write scenarios for Ruth Roland, Baby Marie and other players of some years ago, is the mother of Ginger Rogers, now appearing opposite Jack Oakie in "The Sap from Syria".

J. E. Gorney Assigned

Jay Gorney, of the Paramount New York studio, who has just returned from a trip to Hollywood where he made a study of sound recording conditions on the Coast, has just been assigned the post of musical advisor on "Animal Crackers," the second Marx Brothers starring picture for Paramount.

Schartzinger Here

Victor Schartzinger is now at the Paramount New York studios preparing to direct "Heads Up."

Patience Rewarded

On the heels of the announcement that Len Chaney will use his own face in his next picture comes word from RKO that Bebe Daniels, for the first time in her talkie career, will speak her own language in "Dixiana." It will be news to a lot of folks to learn that Southern is a language.

Knipe, Finga Win Cash in "I" Accessory Drive

A cash prize of $100 and title of "Outstanding Accessory Manager" was awarded to C. C. Knipe of Kansas City at the Universal International national sales convention. John B. Finga of Cincinnati was given $50 for maintaining the most attractive exchange. Lee D. Balsby, accessory sales manager for the company gave honorable mention to Guy Cage of Dallas; William Rosier, Charlotte; H. P. Smith, Chickasha; L. T. Jagers, San Antonio; John Rowberry, Salt Lake; F. E. Uman, San Francisco; Phil Bates, Detroit; Simon Falls, Jacksonville; Joseph O'Leary, Oklahoma City; J. R. Brower, Philadelphia; E. M. Briggs, Seattle; C. Post, Portland; Ralph Olson, Sioux Falls; C. Dickinson, Minneapolis; Hillis Berry, St. Louis; J. Jogerst, Buffalo; Frank Hanley, Indianapolis; Sam Zipkin, New Haven.

Depkin, Jr. Now Handling Warner Wisconsin Houses

Milwaukee — Bernard Depkin, Jr. is now in charge of the II Warner house taken over from Universal on May 1. Contract of Fred S. Meyer has also been taken over by Warners. The Alhambra, only Universal house not included in the deal, is reported being sought by Publix.

drawn out battle. With an array of witnesses for both sides on hand, taking of testimony is expected to require several weeks and a decision is not likely to be handed down until fall.

The suit here is a forerunner to the action filed by DeForest in Wilmingiott, Del., against Western Electric, although the Canadian decision probably will not have any bearing on the U. S. case. However, the Northern Electric Co., Ltd., the Canadian counterpart of Western Electric, is involved in the litigation here.

8 Managerial Changes

Made in Fox West Coast

Los Angeles—Following appointments of Harry Arthur and C. A. Caballero to New York posts, Harry Hartman has succeeded Arthur as Fox West Coast division manager and Howard White, formerly Caballero's assistant, is now occupying the berth of general purchasing agent for the chain. Other changes effected are the promotion of Les Fountain, who has been in charge of all Long Beach houses to replace Hartman with Marshall Taylor, recently stationed at Ocean Park, now in Fountain's former position.

Lew Clarke has been transferred from Santa Monica to Ocean Park. Norman Sprowl has supplemented Jack Rance at Santa Ana. Stuart Carr leaves Glendale to go to Riverside and Ralph McGowan moves to Glendale.

Simon Roberts, vice-president of the London Section, told THE FILM DAILY yesterday that he was dropping in at the S.M.P.E. headquarters this morning, 65 minutes before returning to New York, whence he sails on the Majestic on Wednesday, next week.

Other Topics Discussed
Recent and Future Economic Changes in Projection Equipment was the subject of a paper, by Frank S. Irby of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, before the 63rd Annual Convention. The paper was presented by H. B. Tuttle of Eastman Kodak Research Laboratories, making a special report in Motion Picture Photography of the Vocel Chord. Under a new technique recently developed in the motion picture industry, the machine is a mechanism for the projection of sound. The papers were read by Robert J. Irby, Paul R. Heyl, H. B. Santee, J. F. Coflipman, Raymond E. Hindle, P. C. Tudor, and Mrs. C. J. North.

Irby Says Chains Will Own 50 P. C. of Houses by 1935

Irby, the biggest of the newer exhibitors, has started a drive for large chains, and this week his representatives are in the north, which contains many large towns in the country.

Irby's drive comes at a time when the small theatre is experiencing a decline in business, and the large chains are expanding their operations. The small theatre is facing stiff competition from the larger chains, and Irby is looking to take advantage of this situation.

Irby has already acquired a number of smaller theatre chains, and is planning to acquire more in the future. He believes that the large theatre chain will be the wave of the future, and is looking to take advantage of this opportunity.

Irby's representatives are in the north, which contains many large towns in the country. They are meeting with theatre owners to discuss the possibility of acquiring their theatres.

Irby is offering a large sum of money for each theatre that is acquired, and is looking to add a number of theatres to his chain. He believes that the large theatre chain will be the wave of the future, and is looking to take advantage of this opportunity.

ike a sailor who spends a shore leave rowing a boat in central park, we usually spend our moments viewing pictures. he other evening with a dozen or more of less promise fering diversion, we found ourselves viewing that irresistible and inciting "Journey’s End" for the second time. Here is a picture that apparently has little, but ill has everything. With no love story slapping one in the face, but still carrying throughout a reflection of a beautiful and sentimental romance, "Journey’s End" should be seen by every theater-goer in the country. It is deduced an industry achievement.

Concerning Mr. Clarke

Arley L. to be exact. A regular man that can look one in the eye and say yes or no and mean it. Never generalissimo of the fox forces is till this side of fifty and one of the youngest really big men in the country. Not unfamiliar with pictures or the show business and with no silly fusions. Graduate of Michigan, one of the biggest utility magnates in the country, and rated well up in the millions. That’s Mr. Clarke, formerly of Chicago and now of Fox Films, Inc. It is our guess that he does not seek publicity and does a minimum of talking, but, you’re going to hear plenty regarding this young man and his picture activities from now on.

"Charley’s Aunt" Is First on Schedule—Other to be Selected

Under a contract just signed, Al and Charles Christie will produce two features this year for distribution by Columbia as part of the 20 pictures planned on the latter company’s schedule. The first production, for early fall release, will be "Charley’s Aunt," from the famous long-run stage hit, and the other picture is to be selected later.

John Murray Anderson Signs Long ‘U’ Contract

John Murray Anderson, noted musical stage producer who devised and directed "King of Jazz," has been signed by Carl Laemmle on a long-term contract and will make two big specials for Universal this year, followed by two a year for the term of the agreement. After a vacation at his home in Newfound-land, Anderson will go West to begin work.

60 P. C. of Detroit Area Now Wired for Talkers

Detroit—Latest reports show that 386 of the 544 houses in the Detroit district now have sound equipment. The wired houses for this area average 60 per cent, which is much higher than for the state as a whole.

Joseph Kennedy Retires from Pathe Management

Joseph P. Kennedy has retired from the active management of Pathe and his duties are being taken over by R. T. Flower, C. G. Snedeker and Phil M. Reisman. Kennedy, who also retires from the Gloria Productions, Inc., is leaving today for the South on a vacation. On his return he probably will resume his association with Elisha W. banker.

"Song of the Flame"

Music lovers, whose numbers are being vastly increased throughout the world by the sound screen, will find a genuine treat in this First National epic about a Russian loan of Arc which opened before a responsive audience last night at the Warner for a Broadway run. It has the finest collection and blending of voices we have yet heard in a picture. Bertha Claire is fine as the girl. Alexander Gray makes a splendid romantic prince and Noah Beery is as excellent as the crooked revolutionists. Alan Crossland exercised unusual skill in directing a story that might easily have been ruined in less intelligent hands. There is robust swing to the action, romance in the plot, thrill in the scene, spectacular effectiveness in the group scenes and beauty in the Technicolor photography. Total lack of comedy is an outstanding weakness.

A Digest of Current Opinion

Projectionists Not Always to Blame

Experience has demonstrated conclusively enough that many of our large first-run houses are delivering an inferior quality of sound, not because of any neglect, carelessness or ignorance on the part of their technical staffs but because they are very badly suited to the showing of sound pictures. In any of the majority of cases the projectionists are getting out of their sound equipment about all that is capable of accomplishing. They are doing a conscientious job, but they cannot be expected to overcome the handicaps of bad prints and disks, excessive amplification, substandard equipment which has been installed in many theaters and the factor of reverberation, which is too often an almost insuperable obstacle. The projectionists of the country have done a remarkably good job in connection with the introduction of sound. They should not be compelled to defend themselves against wholesale criticism for results which are wholly beyond their control.

William F. Canavan

Bishop Praises Hollywood Morals

The talkies are only in their infancy. They are capable of enormous development, and they will undoubtedly, within the next ten years, bring the highest kind of music and dramatic art into the smallest towns of the world, where good acting and good music would otherwise never be seen or heard. The idea that the film people are all dissolute and immoral is entirely erroneous. I found there people of the finest character.

Rev. Bishop Deane

Along the Rialto
with Phil M. Daly

With all these sound engineers in Washington for the S.M.P.E. conference, it is reported that a lot of congressmen are attending the meeting, as bigger and better sound is the main problem, they should give these real sound experts a chance to tell what they know. That Sam Morris Month Drive is curling along at a merry clip, with 46,065 bookings to date. The top-notch is Charles Gilmore, Denver manager. And now they are transporting Paris to Hollywood. M-G-M has just imported three players from the Comedie Francaise—Marcel Andre, Andre Berley and Mlle. Tania Fedor. This means that our screen sounds will soon be full of oo-la-lahs instead of hoop-a-doons—another sock in the eye for Broadway.

Try as we will, we can't keep this Warner gang out of the spotlight. Their Coast studio reports 18,500 fan letters following the first Saturday evening broadcast over NBC which is by way of being SAME publicity for "Hail Everywhere". Frank Ditcham, Broadwaysing from Lummor with Jimmie Bryson, complains that he is getting sunburned on the roof of his mouth staring up at the tall buildings and Here McIntyre, "the tallest flim flam man in the world." Add Statistics. The costumes in the Capitol revue, "Japanites," required a total of 2,160 yards of material for the twenty-four costumes to dress, or not to dress, that is the chorus gal's question.

* * * *

You will be glad to learn that Ronald Colman has been discovered at last. He was safely stowed away on the "Homicide" for London. This will give the United Artists' publicity palpitators a shock, though—three sleuths report to us that they saw a dead-ringer for Ronald on Broadway yesterday. He probably seems back from Quarantine.

* * * *

John Barrymore has made a unique sound recording for the talking version of "Moby Dick" in one scene the star starts to address the crew: "Well men, etc." and as he raised his hand to speak, a rooster somewhere started crowing. "Well, men! cried John, "Do you hear that?"

* * * *

Among the tough news of the day is that of John Holland, screen actor, who has just inherited $500,000 in cash and $300,000 in real estate from his stepfather's estate. These "Our Gang" kids certainly get the breaks. Johnny Downs, a former Hal Roach protege, is now at the Hipp wowing 'em with a sing-dance act. Plo Ziegfeld is rapidly learning all about the grief of a film director. He sez: "Creating laughs in a cold and silent sound stage is disheartening—worse than getting laughs from a janitor at a dress rehearsal before an empty theater"...but think of all the laughs you get from the stage carpenters.

* * * *

The Vogue of Broadway is now tinted finger-nails... in the lobby of the Strand there is a beauty expert who will oblige....and when the ladies get dolled up, they are equipped with blue, black or pink fingernails to match their costumes...a gentleman had his nails done up, and the usher saw: "This way, madam." Following the stories about Earl Carroll trying to sign Alice White for his "Vainete," Ziegfeld is reported after Clara Bow for the "Follies"...now if you think this is just the press agent stunt of copying another press agent's stunt...well, who's gonna stop you from thinking?

724 Members

Membership of the S. M. P. E. reached 724, as of May 1, it is indicated by the semi-annual report of the secretary, J. P. Neale. The following颓 members were added during the society's past fiscal year. Active members, of which there are 350, have associated members 339 and five honorary members, who are: Thomas Edison, George Eastman, C. Francis Jenkins, F. E. Ives and the president of the French Photographic Society.

PROJECTON COUNCIL HONORS N. G. D. GOLDEN

Washington—In recognition of his contributions towards the improvement of projection, the Projection Advisory Council yesterday present- ed N. G. D. Golden, Division, Department of Commerce, with a medal. Senator David Walsh of Massachusetts made the presentation. Capitol, P. A. McGinty, represented Thad Barrows, president of the council, who was unable to attend. Pictures of the ceremony were made by Pathe News.

Ladies Entertained

Washington—Ladies attending the S. M. P. E. national convention last week were hosted by Mrs. C. Francis Jenkins at a luncheon yesterday. A sight-seeing trip around Washington will be followed.

Mrs. Walter E. Prosser is hostess during the convention and her assistants are: Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Ray- mond Evans, Mrs. N. D. Goldin, Mrs. C. J. North and Evelyn Glasser.

TELEVISION WON'T HURT FILM PATRONS

Washington—Like the radio, television, will have no injurious effect upon motion picture theater attendance, declared C. Francis Jenkins in an exclusive interview with THE FILM DAILY yesterday. Twenty thousand television sets are now being operated by individuals in the United States, he said, a great majority being in the East. Just how soon general use of television will occur, Jenkins does not care to estimate.

Station WJXK, owned by Jenkins' company, and located just north of Washington, broadcasts a television program nightly, Jenkins stated, in his office as far as the Coast, he said. Sketches are first recorded on film which is later broadcast from the studio, rather than broadcasting the sketch as it is being enacted. Jenkins believes television programs will be adopted when television reaches the commercial stage. Under this plan programs can be edited in the fashion of regular motion pictures, and pointed out to the public.

Television broadcasting companies will devote their resources to the filming of sets and the leading of receiving sets to theaters which will show television shows instead of film or stage entertainment, Jenk- ins said. Images will be in black and white at first, as the final result of such pictures, but color will be later used. Tele- vision will expand as the musical and spoken words are being carried out by the General Electric, Westinghouse and A. and T. Jenkins stated.

S. M. P. E. Sidelights

H. T. COWLING, chairman of the membership committee, is doing a 24-hour job in enthralling the conventioners to go out and bring in more names for the roster.

Clifford Brooke, director of the stock company at the National, has entertained a number of film industry friends through passing them in to see "The Wooden Kimono." Cliff did the dialogue direction on "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" and "Devil May Care" for M-G-M.

The Hays office is represented by Arthur Dickinson who, according to report, has several times been mistaken for a Hollywood movie star.

The first-to-register just before the opening session was J. A. Nor- ling.

The secretarial battery comprises Marjorie Prevost, Louise Mason and S. R. Renwick.

Earl Sponald is one former Foxi- atttending the sessions. At pres- ent he's free-lancing, see Earl.

Joe Coffman, chairman of the papers committee, is the only theatrical film producer attending. Happy over the job on his first feature-length opera, he's going to produce another one at Audino Cinema.

rend Is Away

rom Star System

T he old silent film was perfected on the personalities and to some extent on the good looks of the stars we exploited at great expense. But now that the spoken line is as great an element in production as pictorial value, as the story and the star were two years ago, we have come to value linguistic versatility in our players above the old requirements of beauty of face and form. Experience has taught us —as it taught the legitimate stage years before—the utter futility of casting favored contract players in any old roles that come at hand, just because they are assumed to have international popularity. In the silent days it would have been impossible to make a successful picture without an established motion picture star in the leading role. Many of us have tried and failed. Today, however, there are innumerable instances where unusual success is directly attributable to some new player who was chosen for his ability rather than his name.

Talkies Need A

New Story-Form

TALKING pictures? They should have the minimum of dialogue. The tempo of the silent pictures must be retained.

In the old days, Mary Pickford,

Charlie Chaplin gave us the method of acting and Griffith gave us the form of story telling.

Now with the talking pictures, the Mickey Mouse cartoons have given us the method. I mean by that rhythm and tempo. But no one has yet given us the form of story telling. I am looking for some young man who can do it. He'll probably be an engeineer. Eisenstein has some ideas about it, and he's an engieineer, you know.

Sills and MacKenna Teamed Again by Fox

By RALPH WILK

Hollywood

Milton Sills and Kenneth MacKenna, who were teamed in "Living for Love," have been in negotiations for another film in another Fox picture, "The Sea Wolf," an adaptation of Jack London's story of the same title. Alfred Santell will direct.

Hill to Direct "Dark Star"

George Hill's initial effort under his new M-G-M contract will be a direction of "Dark Star," in which Marie Dressler will have the principal role.

Warner to Star Lew Ayres

Lew Ayres, one of the leading players in "All Quiet on the Western Front," will be starred in Warner's "Handful of Clouds," under the direction of Archie Mayo.

Anita Page in "Little Accident"

M-G-M has loaned Anita Page to Universal for the feminine lead in the talkie version of the play, "The Little Accident." Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will play opposite her under the direction of William J. Craft.

Dorothy Lee Gets RKO Role

Dorothy Lee will be the ingenue lead in "Babes in Toyland," which Luther Reed is to direct for RKO.

Raoul Walsh's Wife Gets Role

Lorraine Walker, Raoul Walsh's wife, who retired from the screen upon her marriage to the director, will appear in "The Big Trail." Her husband is megaphoneing for Fox.

Stanley Signed for Two

Amedee J. Van Beuren, president of the Van Beuren Corp., has signed James Stanley radio and concert singer for "Deep South" and "Voice of the Sea." Stanley has appeared in "Mandaly" for the same company.

Huston Going East Soon

Upon the completion of Paramount's "The General," in which he has been cast for the lead, Walter Huston will return to New York to appear on the stage in "Born in Texas."

Bessie Love for RKO Talker

RKO has borrowed Bessie Love from M-G-M to appear in the leading role in the film to be based on the play "The Conspiracy," by John Emerson and Robert Baker.

Mulhall in 4 More RKO Films

Jack Mulhall's work in "The Fall Guy" has won him a contract to appear in four more RKO pictures.

New Role for Gallagher

Stage Gallagher, successful singer, will have a role in Paramount's "Topolosky of Notre Dame." Others in the cast will be Jack Oakie and Harry Green.

CONTINUOUS PROJECTOR EXPLAINED BY HOLMAN

Washington — Description of a continuous projector, eliminating the use of the shutter, was given by A. Holman of Brookline, Mass., in his S.M.P.E. paper on "Revolving Lens Wheel Projector." He illustrated his talk with screen charts and a Technicolor picture.

During the discussion period which followed, Holman said that through doing away with the intermittent, the machine will save the industry millions of dollars.

M. W. Palmer of Paramount demanded, if the system is adaptable to 70 mm. film, Holman replying in the affirmative.

or by the possibility of dispensing with pressure pads and thus avoiding the difficulties attendant upon accumulated dirt, grease and emulsion. The question arises: When a curved object is used, what should be the shape of the image gate in order that the image formed will not resemble raw stock? Assuming a lens with a flat field, the problem has been solved analytically, for the general case. It was found that a curved (circular) object gate is imaged as a conic section (ellipses, hyperbola, parabola) and that by making the curvature of the object gate develop in a curve, the projection magnification and the focal length of the printing lens, the conic section becomes a circle. In cases where it is impractical or impossible to adopt this value of the curvature of the object gate, an approximate method is outlined whereby a circular image gate, conforming very closely to the actual image curve, can be computed.

GEORGE BLAIR at Eastman Kodak is spending a lot of his day in shaking hands with old-time managers who bob up semi-annually at the S.M.P.E. gathering.

William Hoyt Peek of Colorolora bag and bagged into the Wardman Park Hotel Tuesday to lend ear to the proceedings and contribute some interesting ideas to discussions.

The conference took a new lease of life when pictures of Sen.

J. A. Norling and Arthur Gottlieb arrived at the hotel with their auto out of breath. Several motorcyle cops became interested in them along the route from New York but the two conventionists were too busy to stop and talk things over.

Franklin Ellis, Eastman Kodak's publicity-directing side and not temporarily working on S.M.P.E. propaganda, is the young man who invented the company's plan to give away half a million cameras free to 12-year-olds in celebration of the 50th anniversary of Kodak.

CONES VS. HORNS PROVES LIVELY "S. M. P. E." TOPIC

Washington — Comparative merits of cones and horns for reproducing equipment furnished material for something of an argumentative squall at the S.M.P.E. meeting. The warm discussion was provoked by a paper presented by Louis Malter of RCA Photophone on the subject, "Load Speakers and Theater Sound Reproduction."

Malter boosted cones which are used by RCA Photophone and found fault with horns, which are part of the Western Electric re-production equipment. In the discussion which followed, Harry Fletcher, J. P. Maxfield and D. B. Blattner defended horns.

is more uniform in good reproduction than that the disc is best. Exhibitors who favor the film system are frequently influenced by the absence of expressed charges which they miss on certain discs. Operation of a disc reproducer is simpler than a reproducer using film, he asserted, and expressed the opinion that eventually the cost of making sound-on-film will be reduced. J. Maxfield supplemented Evans' statements by saying that producers, in at least two Coast studios, according to his observations, find that the disc method is more satisfactory in recording music which, in many instances, they then dub on film, and that the film system is best for recording speech.

100 New Faces—within the coming year

By JACK ALICOATE

HAR'S HUMAN GOLD in em than new films, Nell. Of e haker's dozen of releases we ve seen within the past few days least as many new faces and personalities have been stand-outs their first bid for screen popu-larity. When first thesound revolu-tion broke with all its fury, it lent. it continu-ent. Us background, it make-out. We've been looking at the new fashions, making the talkers change. Most have fallen along the way. In their place is spring-ing up an entirely new strata of talent. That this new invasion will produce some outstanding pic-ture personalities is as sure as the days that come with the first of the month. Youth, more than ever, seems to be having its cinema day. We all are sentimentally regret see-ing of the old timers in this six-teen. On the other hand is our firm conviction that much of the financial success of our industry is due to the work of the new faces. It is a trend forward by sound. With-the-year a hundred names, as the coming, will be part of the billings of coming film fare.

“A Money Clicker”
Says
Arthur James

REGINALD DENNY is likely to stir the box office to the point of heavy receipts in his new picture, “What a Man!” which Sono Art-World Wide previewed yesterday. The play is smart, distinctive, of the highest class and downright absorbing. Watch this one for a money clicker!

‘ADDS PRESTIGE TO BUSINESS’—PETE HARRISON

“What a Man!” is the type of picture every independent producerreams of producing but usually fails, it is as good and as wholesome entertainment as one will find in the best pictures made by the big producers, the kind that add prestige to the picture business. The story is inspiring, laugh provoking, and holds the interest well throughout. And the hero is the type that could be held as a model to the young men of this as well as of any other country. There is subtlety both in the construction and in the acting, Reginald Denny has never appeared in a better advantage. His slight English accent and his good delivery make his talk pleasant. Miriam Seegar is a charming heroine. Harvey Clark, Lucille Ward, Carlyle Moore, Anita Louise, Norma Drew, Charles Coleman and others are in the cast. The sound recording is good. (Silent values excellent.)

In Spring, a young man’s fancy turns to thoughts of love. In playing “What a Man”, exhibitors turn handsprings when they count the receipts.

“A Commercial Sensation”
—Exhibitors’ Herald World

A surprise! It is Reginald Denny’s first feature with Sono Art under the capable directorial hand of a man named George Crane.

Every one in Hollywood is talking about the picture since it was given an unpretentious preview a few nights ago. It seems to be one of those pleasant surprises that makes the town happy and proud.

Denny gives you an insight into a character that is as different from the dumb, pratt falling dodo he used to portray as North is from South. He is an intelligent cultured Englishman who has the normal instincts of love, daring, common sense and ambition. He carries all those reactions off with a finished hand.

It’s a distinctive kind of picture that deserves a lot of credit. It also deserves attention because it is liable to turn out to be one of the commercial sensations of the year.

“Extremely Pleasant”
—Motion Picture News

At last Reginald Denny is supplied with a story. His first for Sono Art-World Wide makes extremely pleasant entertainment. The treatment and the successful play for comedy values get it by with a very comfortable margin. Denny’s pleasant English accent is delightful. The vehicle gives him a chance to display his flair for comedy.

Well Known Film Critics Unanimous in Enthusiastic Reception of Reginald Denny’s Newest Vehicle

That “What a Man!” would bring Reginald Denny to a new high level of fan popularity was the consensus of critical opinion expressed after a recent preview of this Sono Art-World Wide talkie. In the uniformly laudable reviews accorded the feature, critics placed especial emphasis on the absorbing interest in the story, the excellent characterizations provided by the star and the fine supporting cast, and the smart production value. Breaking “cold” on an audience of film experts, the picture created genuine enthusiasm, indicated in the accompanying notices. As a box-office entertainment rich, in novel exploitation angles, the talkie’s wide appeal to all types of movie audiences rates it 100 per cent in any theatre.

“In the Money”
—Film Daily

At a special showing yesterday for exhibitors and press, Sono Art sprung their latest which is worthy of a Broadway showing. The comedy is clean, clever and nicely acted and directed. Denny, who is starred, gives an excellent performance putting this picture “in the money.”

Slip-Ups in Picture Making

TWICE within the past week movie fan have called our attention to a slight error in timing "Anna Christie," the first Greta Garbo talkie, and we'll have to admit that, although we saw the picture twice, the thing got by us. The picture opens, as you will recall if you have seen it, in the back room of a water-front saloon before the war. Marie Dressler buys a drink of whiskey, hands over a quarter and receives change. Which means that at the time whiskey sold for 10 and 15 cents. Then, a few minutes later you are given a panoramic view of the East River waterfront, including a sight of the Bank of Manhattan Building, at Wall and William Streets, which was completed only a few months ago.

Change In Hollywood Styles

THE sudden shift in styles from daring to dignity brought about one of the most amusing sights Hollywood has seen these many years. Gowns once worn by movie stars and now antiquated because of this complete conversion of the feminine element to waistlines and long frocks, were auctioned off this week at one of the studios at the direction of Hal Wallis, an executive. Clothes aggregating more than $25,000 in value brought about $1,500 at the sale. But the most interesting thing about the proceeding was a study of the varying types who clamored to own a gown once worn by Billie Dove, Dorothy Mackaill, Alice White, Marilyn Miller, Lila Lee or Loretta Young.

Comic Strip to Boost Picture

A direct tie-up with "Show Girl in Hollywood" of definite value to exhibitors has been made possible through the Dixie Dugan comic strip now appearing in many of the leading newspapers throughout the country. During the showing at the Stanley in Pittsburgh, street cards were used to inform the public that the adventures of Dixie Dugan might be followed in the Pittsburgh "Press" and later viewed on the screen of the Stanley. The "Press" published a display advertisement featuring a picture of Alice White announcing that Dixie Dugan steps on the screen in "Show Girl in Hollywood," portrayed by Alice White. This is a natural tie-up in cities where the Dixie Dugan strip is being syndicated.

MEMBERS of the motion picture industry have been added to a committee formed for modification of existing fire laws as a result of action taken by Cameramen's Local No. 644, through their business representative, Francis E. Ziese. In a recent letter to May Walker, complained that many of the rules now in force suggested an ignorance of true conditions with the result that production here was threatened.

The "S. S. Astoria," on which most of the action in "The Sap from Syncrat" occurs, awaits launch at the Paramount New York studio, pending the recovery of Jack Oakie, who is suffering from a throat infection.

"Casey" Jones, president of the Curtis-Wright Flying Service, in the principal role in "Anxiously Air," sound motion picture just completed here by Visigraphic.

Employees of the Paramount New York studio are treated to a free show every Wednesday night in a highly modern projection room seating 100 persons. Here the recent product of the studio is shown, preparatory to being offered on Broadway.

Audio Cinema studios here have just completed four cartoon trailers for the Aetna Life Insurance Co., to be used by their agents throughout the country. "He Auto Knows Better" illustrates the value of liability insurance, "Father's Day at Home" plays up accident insurance, "The Family's Night Out" shows that one should be insured against burglary and "A Desert Dilemma" illustrates the value of an Aetna card in case of collision.

Irving Kahal and Sammy Fain, those youthful song-writing dreamers, have broken all records by turning out three lifting melodies for Paramount pictures, in the short space of three days. It's a gift.

Washington—World motion picture theater attendance is now 250,000,000 weekly, will H. Ray says to the S.M.P.E. at its spring meeting.

LOW BALCONIES SEEN AS ACOUSTICAL PROBLEM

Washington—As a rule low balconies should be avoided in theater design. They annoy a problem in acoustics, said Dr. Paul R. Heyl, senior physicist, sound laboratory of the Bureau of Standards, said to the S.M.P.E. This type of construction he declared, causes the sound intensity to be diminished at the rear of the balcony and may be so low that they will be difficult.

Echo is always a bad feature in a hall; reverberation, on the other hand, is desirable up to a certain point, Dr. Heyl said. Of the two, echo is the most difficult to remove; prevention by foresight in construction, aided by expert advice, is the best plan. Dead spots and sound 'shadow' areas occur as a result of producing conditions, according to Dr. Heyl.

Louis Pacent Expects 2,000 Installed by 1931

Washington—With approximately 1,500 Pacent recorder installations already made, expectations are that the total will reach 2,000 by Jan. 1, 1931, said Louis Pacent, attending the S.M.P.E. meeting.

Cutts Pessimistic Over Britain's Film Future

London (By Cable) — Declaring that the British film industry's future is anything but promising and that directors here must work for "pocket money" salaries, J. H. Graffenreid, manager of the A.E. Cutts British Film Corporation, said, "We are running in the same direction that a single Geneva pulled down in the same time."

Discussing the topic, "Operation of Projection Arca from Motion Generator Sets," Mr. Graffenreid, of the British Electric Co., Cleveland, said in part:

"When series of generators were introduced, a number of requirements were placed on the film projection equipment. However, the requirements were usually satisfied by the time the lamp requiring the amount of current of 100 milliamperes was introduced and used they were usually the intermittent type using a voltage relay, the coil of which is connected across the arc, in connection with an operating motor. The operation of these lamps was successful with the series arc generators and as no ballast resistance was used in the circuit, a maximum converting efficiency from alternating current supply to direct current for the lamps was obtained."

A Shapiro of Ampco Corp., Chicago, offered a paper on "A New Method for 14 mm. Projectors." Storage of Valuable Motion Picture Film was the theme of a paper by Cranbrook and Ives. It stated that storage film darkened by the usual light and film requires cleaning between entries. The paper was to be published in the American Cinematographer.

The shape and pitch size of the film perforations are discussed with a view to insure an unbroken transverse, as well as longitudinal, control.

The necessity for providing three bearing points—supported and free—on both the sound and the picture records is shown that under certain conditions the voltaire is made in regard to the dimensions of sound and picture area with due consideration to complete utilization of the whole of the film surface.

A new power amplifier system was exhibited by Bristol Talking Pictures Corp., Bristol, Conn. Associated with "A New Idea for Down Movement for Motion Picture Apparatus" F. Tuttle of Kodak Research Laboratory described a mechanism for used for moving film intermittently in motion picture apparatus can be run at a speed considerably higher than normal operation by careful control of the film.

Since the time occupied for the actual movement of the film is the two parts of the shutter cycle, it would be advantageous, if at all possible, to have the film speed increased in the useful part of the cycle, without affecting the overall movement of the film.

A "New Buffing Machine" was the subject of a paper by J. S. Vanos of Durosky Machine Co., Long Island City. A modified film waxing machine was described in full. The waxing machine is used to return the film to the normal width and maintain it at that width. A long period can be shortened to about 11 of the amount normally taken to film. In a sense, the key to this device is the speed increase in the exposure period.

A "New Method for 16 mm. Projectors" was the theme of a paper by Cranbrook and Ives. It stated that in the past, every roll of film has been a valuable negatives in every roll is rolled, from every roll, the same roll can be completely destroyed by the others being harmed. This has been accomplished in the universal machine which contains a cabinet in each of which the lamps are placed into the cabinet, containing sheet metal drapes each of which is connected to a lamp. Each drawer is fitted into a unit and which is connected to a control switch. A low temperature (around 50°F.) is maintained in the storage compartment to reduce to a minimum the gradual changes which occur in the film."

"The Cinematography of Brownian Movement with the Film Camera" was discussed in a presentation by R. Fawn Mitchell.

Characteristics of sound screens were listed by Robert P. Ramsden of Beaded Screen Co., New York. Characteristic of the M.G.M. studio, Culver City, consisted of the back of the lamps, giving the film results Resonance by the Absorption Method. A new concept, "Developments in Sound Screens for Computers."

L. E. Clark of the Pathes studious, Culver City, was also present, T.D. DeForest of Phonofilm was analyzed by C. Tappan of the Eastman Kodak Co.

Talking pictures as a great international attraction were discussed by Richard B. Franklin, who was unable to attend the conference. Through talks with Franklin, it is evident that our own programs will depend on what we can produce and we will have a cosmic understanding of that seems wild and impossible now.

Swing High is a Whiz Bang!

By O. C. Connors

Predicted good and we took satisfaction that we have not all the 18 stars in the most absorbing masses and we have enable melodrama, circus color, with music of the engaging circus type, with panoply and palpitating performance—you see, we are already in the circus—"Swing High" swings along.

There is enough of comedy, there is splendid melodrama, tense, exciting and absorbing, and "Swing High" is our notion of a big bang-up box office satisfier. And—it's good for children from six to sixty, something the picture business needs badly, right now.

Pathé makes good on the prophet's prediction and you can spell the word prophet either way.

Sales Executives Expect More Popularity for New System

Percentage playing of pictures will make a record increase in popularity during the 1930-31 season. This is indicated in a survey made by THE FILM DAILY, canvassing sales chieftains of every important distributing company. Some feel it is too far as to prophecy that during the new year the number of percentage deals will double as compared with 1929-30. A great majority, however, declined to go on record as far as the amount of (Continued on Page 9)

A Digest of Current Opinion

in Chaney Talks a Make-Up.

DURING the past two years they have upset just about every tradition known to the movies, Chaney's makeup among them...."The talkies necessarily will limit my characterizations," Chaney told me, as we stood back of the cameras watching Lila Lee go through a short scene. "Characters such as I played in The Hunchback of Notre Dame,' Phantom of the Opera', and others will be impossible to do now, as I can't put anything in my mouth which will interfere with my speaking. Other characters which I had to forego now will be those that would require a dialect. Speaking with a dialect is one thing I won't do. There is too much chance of doing it wrong and offending some persons. I am going to speak in my own natural manner in all my pictures, which I guess means that from now on my roles will have to suit my natural personality."

—Dan Thomas, in N. Y. "Telegraph."

American Music

We Talked Much.

THE talking picture is going to be the most important influence in American music within the next few years. Even today, after a bare year of awkward experimentation, it is certainly the most powerful influence in popular American music. It even surpasses the radio in widespread influence, and the practice of creating music for every picture has started this new form of art out on a path that will inevitably lead it into experimental channels that will bring out and exploit every new musical idea that grows out of the American people.

Radio Tieup Gets Newspaper Space

A SPECIAL tie-up was arranged by the Strand, Albany, with the Stewart-Warner Radio Corp, who ran a full page ad in the Sunday paper, where a large picture of Bessie Love and Charles King, leaning against a radio cabinet was used, with the copy reading: "Stars of 'Chasing Rainbows.'" The copy had contained names of the six retail dealers of this brand of radio, and the stunt was tied up further by obtaining full window displays in each of these stores.

Actors’ Committee Rouses Interest

ADJUSTMENT COMMITTEE ATTRACTS WIDE NOTICE

The actors’ adjustment committee, to which is submitted grievances and disputes arising over the minimum standard contract for free lance artists, is attracting national interest. It is the first time in the history of relations between capital and labor that the setting of disputes is left entirely to a committee consisting solely of employees.

Producers and actors who desire to appeal from the decisions of the committee can submit their grievances to the conciliation committees of the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences. The conciliation committee consists of a representative of each of the five branches of the Academy and only one of the committee members is an employer.

Talkers Trend Away From Star System, Says Lesser

Talkers have caused a decided trend away from the star system, according to Sol Lesser, of Inspiration Pictures, who has made an extensive survey of the matter. The producing executives point out that the audible films have created a new screen aristocracy of ability alone.

F. N.’s “Bad Man” Also in Spanish

First National will make a Spanish version of “The Bad Man,” with Antonio Moreno in the chief role. Other players will be Count De Segurola, Jean Torena and Rosita Ballestro.

A Little from “Lots”

By RALPH WILK

John Holland has had a colorful career. He was at one time in the navy, but served with the Canadian forces during the war. He ran in Vladivostock when the war ended. He attended an engineering college in North Carolina, but tired of that. Henry King chose him to play the leading male role in “Eyes of the World.”

Our Passing Show: Harry Carey, Ted Reed, Bussy Berkeley, Joe Walker, Frankie Darro, Eddie Baker, W. Scott Darlim, that Chicago Blackhawk note out a victory over the Boston Bruins in an exhibition hockey game here; William C. de Mille, Carl Fleiby and George Amy at “June Moon.”

Richard Boleslavsky, who won fame as director of “The Vagabond King,” on the stage; as co-director with Max Reinhardt of “The Miracle,” and director of three Otis Skinner successes, has decided to remain on the Coast. He is under contract to Pathé. “Boley,” as he is familiarly known, does not confine his efforts to dramatic work, having also staged the ensemble numbers for Flo Ziegfeld’s “Three Musketeers” and other musical shows.

More Passing Show: Konrad Bercovici, Eddie Buzzell, Alexander Gray, Louis Closer, Hubert Voigt, Wallace Macdonald, Crane Wilbur, Carroll Dunning and Ralph Hammeras at the Writers Club entertainment; Tom Lennon and Mauri Grashin conferring at Pathé.

Barbara Bennett, the third of the Bennett sisters to seek a motion picture career in Hollywood, has been signed by Paramount for an important role in “Palm Beach,” starring Clara Bow. Miss Bennett will portray the sister of Clara.

Well known Bills—de Mille, Haines, one dollar, Blochey, Gibbs, Woolfenden, Farnum, “Hello,” Robson, Goetz, McGann.

PRODUCTION IN THE EAST
WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S WHAT IN GREATER NEW YORK STUDIOS

INDEPENDENT ACTIVITY FORCES BETTER STUDIOS

Increased activity of independent producers in the East has led local studio owners to improve their properties to allow for more efficient production facilities. The Metropolitan Studios has just equipped its Fort Lee plant with several hundred thousand dollars worth of sound recording apparatus after a complete survey of the independent field showed such an investment worth while. More than 30 films have been shot on its stages in the past two months, including both features and shorts. Among the smaller independents engaged in shooting in the East are Chesterfield, Louis rock, Empire, Fitzpatrick, Raytone of Richmond.

BULK OF PARAMOUNT SHORTS BEING MADE IN NEW YORK

With Paramount concentrating its production of short subjects in its New York studio, a heavy schedule has been outlined by Larry Kent, manager of the short subject department. One and two reelers set for early production include Eugene Pallette and Walter Hirsch in "Who's Who in the Backwoods" and "Four Ring Racket" in "By Appointment," Lee forse in an untitled original, "The Tart," with Lynn Overman, and a comedy in which the famous Von der Linden and Orson Underwood Orchestra will be featured.

LABRADOR SOUND UNIT DUE BACK

The company unit, which spent the past three months in Labrador, filming an original story, with the hazards of seal hunting as a background, under the direction of George Melford, is expected here early next Thursday. The following Monday, interior scenes will be started at the Audubon Studios on Long Island, who are in back of the enterprise. The picture will be known as "Vikings of the North," and Charles Sterrett and Louise Huntington are featured.

CAMERA OFFICIALS GOING WEST

Kathryn Reese, Australian singer and dancer, who has appeared in several Photocolor short subjects made here, has just been added to the cast of "The Sap from Syracuse," starring Jack Oakie.

Leave it to the talkies to be timely. "The Hard Guy," latest of the Brooklyn Vitaphone Varieties, is built around the unemployment situation. A swell cast appears in this one. Katherine Alexander of Hotel Universe and Spencer Tracy of "The Last Mile" were co-starred, supported by Pat Kearney, Arch Hendricks and four-year-old Valli Roberts. Arthur Hurley directed.

Eve St. John, whose looks suggest an unstudied resemblance to Greta Garbo, will make her debut as script girl on "The Sap from Syracuse," with Peggy Quis, Helen Kane's double, acting as mentor.

Harry M. Baldwin, who has been Monte Bell's right hand man for the past year, has returned to the office of James R. Cowan, chief studio executive, Bell having resigned his position as supervisor on account of ill health.

Frank Zukor is preparing to "shoot" Clark & McCullough in their first RKO comedy which will be made next week at the Ideal studio. Mark Sandrich will direct.

RANK AMATEUR FINDS LITTLE CHANCE HERE

Although activity in the East is better now than it has been for years, there is little opportunity for the unused amateur to break into films, according to Frank Heath, casting director at the Paramount New York studios.

"In talkies we find it essential to get people who can speak lines," said Heath. "Talkers are a very expensive proposition and we must use people of proven ability. Your left can't reach them with an independent studio. That's why we depend so much on the stage.

According to Heath, the best way for newcomers to break into films is the stock route. He believes that producers will ultimately subsidize stock companies at various points throughout the country as a clearing house for potential screen talent.

Max Hart's New Office

Max Hart's booking office has been moved to 1550 Broadway. Herbert Hoey continues in charge of the motion picture division.

"Sap" Finally Set

"The Sap from Syracuse," which has been delayed for several weeks due to first story changes and later to the sudden illness of Jack Oakie, will be shot at the Paramount New York studios. Besides Oakie, the cast now includes Ginger Rogers and Kathryn Reese.

PORTABLE SOUND RECORDER

Experienced cameraman, owning the finest portable film recorder on the market, now available to independent short subject producers, in the East. (Weight of recorder 400 lbs.) Fired White Glass Used for New Marquee Letter

Appelman-Krystal Co. is offering an improved marquee letter which is made of fired white glass instead of the usual opal glass. The edges are square, permitting light to come through on direct focus and producing a clear outline of letter instead of a mass of light. This latter feature allows for easy reading of the separate letters from a distance.

In addition, color panels have been developed in red, blue, green and amber which, when inserted in the back of each letter produce a brilliant colored light. Al Green is New York representative for Appelman-Krystal.

Vallen Modifier for Changing to Wide Films

Akon, O.—Following two years of experimentation, the Vallen Electrical Co. has developed an Automatic Screen Modifier for changing the screen surface in connection with enlarged pictures. Vallen Modifier consists of a metal screen frame, rigidly designed but not excessive in weight, and inside of which the screen is laced. To this frame is attached the equipment for handling the block velour curtains which modulate the screen surface to any desired direction and any desired extent. Of vital interest is the fact that no additional space is required beyond size of the frame.

The device is a complete unit. In other words, the various parts are all attached to and a part of the metal frame. Without any change, the unit can be made to “fly” when desired. All driving or movement is accomplished by means of chain, thus eliminating all possibility of slippage or irregular modification of the screen surface. Operation may be manual or electrical.

DA-LITE BEAD SCREEN
GIVES MELLOW EFFECT

Chicago—Enlarging of the present regular size screen for a 21x28 picture without spending hundreds of dollars for new lamps, generators, lenses, etc., is claimed possible by using the Da-Lite Bead Surfaced sound screen. It can be had in materials that are fireproof and composed of millions of tiny, perfectly round, clear glass beads—every one of them a reflector of light and producing soft, mellow picture that is pleasing to the eye.

RCA Portables for 562 Stores

Cleveland—J. W. Rafferty, assistant general sales manager of the RCA industrial and educational department, announced that 562 stations of the portable RCA phone equipment are being made in Montgomery-Ward stores throughout the country. Leading ocean liners have also been equipped with this type of apparatus, he said.

Y.M.C.A. Sound Course

So that operators may take the sound course at the West Side Y.M.C.A. on West 64th St., New York without loss of time from present employment, instruction is being given mornings on Monday and Wednesday, or Tuesday and Thursday from 9 to 12. In the evenings of the same days, courses are given from 7 to 11 p.m. The term consists of 60 laboratory and classroom hours and is under the personal supervision of Louis L. Credner, principal.

Berliner Outlines 10 Features For Installing Acoustics

With 10 primary factors set down as highlights of every installation, Berliner Features Inc. report great satisfaction from exhibitors for overcoming many of the most difficult problems in equipping theaters for sound. So important has the matter of acoustics become to drawing patronage that it is regarded as vital to the b.o. as a cooling system in the summer time. The 1o specific Berliner features are set down as:

1. Officially certified as fireproof, proved performance, guaranteed installation, no mechanism — foolproof, economical, permanent, amnifies without distortion, adaptable to any theater, first cost is the only cost, and invented by Emil Berliner, who made the telephone, phonograph and radio practical. Installations are now being made at a rapid rate throughout the country.

Berliner Shutter Gives 25 to 50 P. C. More Light

Minneapolis—Globe Reliance Corp. is distributing a triple shutter for projection machines that is said to deliver from 25 to 50 per cent more light on the screen, with a minimum loss of light; a three-sided aluminum housing in which is located the three sprockets run together by a fine high grade chain, all of which are driven from the regular machine shaft. Saving in light relieves the increase in voltage and consequent increased danger from heat, the manufacturers state, and the much brighter and more distinct picture eliminates the flicker.

New Seat Idea Offered to Illinois Exhibitors

Chicago—Replacing the veneer and squab seats with spring cushions, and a velour panel for the backs is a new service being offered by the Illinois Theater Seat Exchange Co. Here the company allows a liberal allowance for old veneer seat bottoms and squab seats, it states, and can supply any style or design of upholstered chair parts irrespective of make now in use.

Claroostat Sound Resistor for Starting Projector

An adjustable resistor for sound projection machines is now available and being manufactured by the Claroostat Co. of Brooklyn. The Claroostat may be set for any satisfactory value to insure the low, positive starting of the motor, minimizing the strain on the projector and sound equipment, it is said. A three-point snap switch is employed for turning on and off the motor.

Says Golde Unilens Keeps Film Always in Center

Chicago—National Theater Supply Co. is now marketing Golde Unilens Method, which it is claimed, will play an important factor in projection. By installing the lens on a Simplex machine and putting in the lens you now have assured a constant, positive, clear, bright picture, it is said. Move the lenses closer together and go from Movietone to Vitaphone to standard at will in less than a second. Both lens and aperture are always on center line of film.

Handling Amplitone in Cleveland

Cleveland-Royal Amplitone will be distributed in this territory by Independent Pictures, Inc., and will be sold outright. There will be no serv- ice, the company added, included in the cost of operation. There are two models, one for houses up to 800 seats and the other for houses over this number.

Despite composition of the photovoltaic cell, its use has been declared as not presenting any particular fire risk. Although the interior wall of the bulb has a thin deposit of alkali metal; potassium, sodium, caesium, etc., and that alkali metals are liable to spontaneous combustion in contact with water or air on account of the affinity of the hydrogen, liberated by rapid oxidation of the alkali metal, for free oxygen, it is considered perfectly harmless. Not only is the quantity of alkali metal deposited within the cell so small as to be negligible from the point of combustion, the circumstances in which a cell is likely to become broken in any circumstance conducive to fire risk are difficult to perceive.

Blue Seal Has Device for Cleaning Lamp Jaws

A new device for use on the re-winder shaft for cleaning high intensity lamp jaws is now being marketed by Blue Seal Products of Brooklyn. The work is done by applying a piece of rough emory cloth through the slot and allowing it to revolve through the contact surface of the jaws. This, it is said, removes all corrosion and assures perfect contact to the carbons.

ELL & HOWELL DEVELOPS ELL EWER FOR EXPOSURE

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY—A new Photometer exposure calibrated for Filmo and 35 cameras has been developed by the Bell & Howell Co., according to an abstract presented at the S.M.P.E. meeting here. This photometer is based on scientific principles and has been simplified in rm and manipulation so that its operation is easy and accurate for all practical purposes. The basis of measurement with the photometer is the direct comparison of the brilliance of a known source of illumination with that of the subject. A low intensity image is superimposed in the field of view, and with a rheostat control, its intensity of illumination varied to match that of the subject. A direct reading is obtained on a scale graduated in lens diagram openings (F ratings) or exposure time.

Other models for still and both matal and professional motion picture cameras will follow, it is stated.

Neumade Products Offers Synchro Dual Rewinder

Neumade Products is now offering Synchro Dual Rewinder which has been developed on a major company to meet the exacting requirements of handling sound film. It is tall enough to take the largest reel in general use and has a shaft length for two reels. A friction clip high ride the shaft between the reels and a leather-faced friction hub riding the knurled nut are on the end of the shaft to hold the reels in position. The friction device insure even tension and pickup.

Vestfelt Absorbent Withstands Fire Test

Vestfelt sound absorbent used a fire test recently conducted at the Columbia University Dept. of Engineering Testing Laboratories, and it is declared that during the application of the fire the material showed no tendency to flame. Charring increased gradually until the material was embrittled and removed by the force of the flame. The torch flame penetrated through the material after 24 minutes of application. During the fire application a white slightly acrid smoke was evolved. The sample, approximately 18" x 48" thick was marked "T.H." indicating that it was selected by representatives of the Bureau of Building Research, N. Y. C. A piece approximately 12" x 2" in area was cut from the sample in the test.

U.S. FILMS FEEL GERMAN COMPETITION IN PORTUGAL

Washington—That American pictures are beginning to feel the competition of German films in Portugal is reported to the M. P. Division of the Dept. of Commerce. Russian films are also coming into greater favor with the Portuguese. Attendance at the country's theaters was better in 1929 than ever before, with six more theaters placed in operation during the year. In 1929, 1,056 films passed through the booking hands in Portugal, with only one rejection. Of this number $45 were American. The year saw the production of three feature pictures in the country.

Germany Wires 460

Berlin—There are 460 sound houses in Germany, according to the latest statistics. At the present rate at which theaters are being wired in the country, it is estimated that this figure will be increased to 900 or more by autumn. The rapid growth in the number of talking picture houses is attributed to the fact that exhibitors cannot find enough silent films of box office caliber.

A.B.C. Plans to Expand in Rivalry with Gaumont

London—Rivalry for supremacy in the British theater field is daily growing keener between the Gaumont-British Theaters Corp. and Associated British Cinemas. The latter company, which acquires Gaumont-British is the largest circuit in Great Britain, with more than 130 houses under its control, is planning an ambitious expansion program in the London district. The British-Gaumont chain comprises some 350 theaters.

$95,000 Loss is Reported by United Chain in Britain

London—Earnings of United Picture Theaters, Ltd., recently taken over by the Gaumont-British, suffered a loss last year of some $95,000. The company attributes the decrease in profits chiefly to the greatly increased cost of booking, consequent on the introduction of talking pictures on the basis of the film renter receiving a percentage of gross takings in the theater instead of, as previously, with silent films, a flat rate.

Cinestudio to Make Series of Spanish Talking Films

Paris—Cinestudio Continental, the company recently organized by Robert T. Kane with Paramount backing, plans to produce a series of talking pictures in Spanish. As the first step in this direction the company has engaged the services of Benito Perojo.

African Duty Raised

Cape Town, South Africa—South African legislation has increased the duty on films to three pence a foot on talkers and two pence on silents. Films intended for exhibition without commercial gain are exempted.

Potophone Adopts New Sound on Film Recorder

A new model studio recorder, which differs particularly from its predecessors in that better means are employed to give uniform motion to the film, has been adapted by A Pho- tophone, it was stated at an S.M.P.E. meeting in Wash- ington, by Edward W. Kellogg of the A Victor Co.

The machine acts as a smooth drum to move the film past exposure light. In this respect it is its predecessor, but, in that it carries a flywheel, and with the exception of a copper flier which may be used in the film shrinkage. The drum is formed as a thin drum, and attached to the film to the roller, in which the film is driven by means of the drum. This serves the purpose of driving the flywheel to a speed to sufficient to overcome friction. The result is that the flywheel is able to do its job in helping or retarding the drum. It is driven with a number of speeds on the drum, and no levers are used and from this equipment, and the most recent tests fail to indicate appreciable varia- tion in speed. Tests show that con- tinuity is not dependent on precision, nor exact allowance causes it to provide consistently satisfactory performance.

New York, N.Y., June 15--The National Baseball League has been completed teams representing various con- necticut.

“Asphalt” (Synchronized)

Alied
Time, 1 hr., 25 mins.

INTELLIGENT AND REALISTIC GERMAN SILENT DRAMA OF DUBIOUS BOX OFFICE VALUE; ACTING AND PHOTOGRAPHY FINE.

Intelligence is the distinguishing mark of “Asphalt,” a Ufa production made under Erich Pommer’s supervision. Carefully developed and presented with a keen eye to dramatic effect, the film, based on the novel of Rolf E. Vanlo, offers an unusual story told simply and realistically. The film boasts of splendid camerawork and good acting. Betty Annam, a New York girl playing in Germa films, brings a charm and vivacity in her role that is quite different from that of the maid’s lady’s in the arm’s. The film suffers from an almost complete lack of comedy and a tendency to slow up for no apparent reason.

Cast: Gustav Froehlich, Betty Annam, Else Solter, Albert Stellmacher, Hans Adob, and others.

Direction, good. Photography, splendid.

SATISFACTORY WESTERN CONTAINING THRILLING ACTION MINGLED WITH HUMOR. Hoot Gibson does good work and receives excellent support.

The story follows Hoot Gibson as he travels along with a group of outlaws, looking for a way to elude the authorities. The film is filled with action and humor, keeping the audience engaged throughout.

Director, Hoot Gibson; Editor, William Ziegler; Art Director, Howard White; Music, Jack J. Garfunkel; Cast: Hoot Gibson, Jane Lombard, William Fawcett, and others.

“Golden Call”
with Jack Mulhall, Sue Carol, El Brendel
Fox
Time, 1 hr., 6 mins.

AGREEABLE LIGHT FARCE SUFFICIENTLY SPRINKLED WITH EL BRENDEL COMEDY TO MAKE IT SATISFACTORY. HAS SPECIAL EXPLOITATION POSSIBILITIES.

With Jack Mulhall, Sue Carol, El Brendel, Joseph Keene and several other sure-handed performers in the cast, in addition to its highly exploitable story, which has to do with the frantic search conducted by an artist for the perfect leg, exhibitors should be able to do very well with this picture. It's particularly notable for warm weather entertainment because it is light but agreeable. Made solely for entertainment and hits the target. Brendel turns up along with Keene to make it worth while. Marjorie White and Dick Keene also help the fun-making considerably, while Keene is the artist, and Sue Carol, as his old-fashioned secretary who turns out to be the possessor of the treasured limb, carry the love interest acceptably.

Cast: Jack Mulhall, Sue Carol, El Brendel, Marjorie White, Joseph Keene, Paul Page, Olive Jessie Pringle, Wade Boteler, Laura La Plante.

“Wedding Rings”
With H. B. Warner and Lois Wilson
First Nat. Time, 1 hr., 14 mins.

HIGHLY ENTERTAINING DOMESTIC DRAMA. NICELY BALANCED CAST WOULD TAKE OUT NEAT PERFORMANCE. DIRECTION AND ACTING GOOD.

Taken from Ernest Pascal’s novel “The Divorce Swam,” and ably acted by H. B. Warner, Lois Wilson, and Olive Borden, this melange of an unscrupulous girl who is out to take advantage of his last is highly entertaining. H. B. Warner has here his role as the unsophisticated sister who is commendable work, as Olive Borden does well in her characterization of the dapper little girl, and by whom her heart is concerned. The story pivots about the man of a girl who falls in love with a picture collector and her sister steels him away from her and marries him. She sets out to re-enact the same role in her husband and succeeds. Direction: William Beaudine.

Syndicate Pictures Time, 52 mins.

SMASH - BANG WESTERN, FURIOUS IN ACTION, WELL FILMED AND ACTED WITH A VENGEANCE BY BOB STEELE. JUST THE STUFF TO MAKE WESTERN FANS HAPPY.

This one is sure to make the lover of western films happy. It sets a furious pace from the outset and holds it to the end. With a big bunch to boaster and a story that is properly romantic, “Western Honor” should find the going a cinch. Bob Steele plays for all he is worth. He goes to it with a bang and never rests for a moment until he puts all the villains where they belong. He plays a young ranchman who refuses to give in to a gang that is seeking to divide his partner’s contract for supplying cattle to a construction company. At the head of the gang is a fellow who has his eye on the girl he loves. The girl won’t believe in the man’s villainy until the young lover brings about his unmasking.

“The Big Fight”
Sono Art
Time 1 hr., 9 mins.

CORING PRIZE-FIGHT STORY THAT LOOKS LIKE A NATURAL. HAS FAST ACTION, GOOD TRICKS, PORTRAYALS AND COMEDY.

Based on the Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor stage vehicle, but emerging much better in its talky adaptation, this picture as this prize-fight yarn, produced by James Cruze and directed by Walter Lang, has all the earmarks of a fast trolley for any house. Its action moves along swiftly, the characters are well drawn, and there is a good strain of comedy by Stepin Fetchit. “Big Boy” Gunn Williams delivers a swell performance as the “Tiger,” and Ralph Ince, forsaking the directorial meg for acting, also gives an excellent account of himself as a heavy. Lola Lane delivers as the girl. The prize-fight sequences are as good as anything of this kind ever done on the screen. Plot revolves around the efforts of a night club racketeer to make the champ up to par by bringing pressure on him through a band, whose brother has been marked for a ride by the gang.

Cast: Big Boy Gunn Williams, Lola Lane, Stepin Fetchit, Edwin Bennett, William Meade, Ralph Ince, James Eagle, Larry McCarroll, Leon Feeney, Herbert E. O’Connor, Alexander Butcher, Howard Powell, Marjorie Dill, Ann Leonides, Josephine Loder, Donald Meade.

Fox
Time, 58 mins.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT. WOODY WOODKRAMA FULL OF SUSPENSE, CAPTIVATINGLY PHOTOGRAPHED AND AIDED BY GOOD ACTING.

“Temple Tower,” H. C. McNeile’s sequel to his “ Bulldog Drummond,” provides good entertainment for the melodrama fans chiefly because it has the most sordid sort of suspenseness as is rarely encountered in pictures of its genre. The suspense is well sustained at all times and the plot is never for a moment given away. The mood of story has been well caught by the camera. It all makes for a most uncanny feeling, who in now and then by flashes of humor.

Donald Gallagher reveals some interesting directorial touches, and the cast does well. Kenneth MacKenna, Henry Walthall, Marceline Day and Cyril Chadwick in particular.

This time Drummond (MacKenna) concerns himself with the capture of a notorious criminal who, hidden under a mask, goes about the business of murdering certain members of his gang who have double-crossed him, but fails.

Cast: Kenneth MacKenna, Marceline Day, Henry Walthall, Cyril Chadwick, Ivan Linow, Frank Lanning, Orso Yap, and others.

Director, Donald Gallagher; Author, H. C. McNeile; Dialogue, Mrs. Ralph Ince, Llewellyn Hughes; Editor, Clyde Caruth; Cameramen, Charles G. Clark; Costume, Man, Frank MacKenna.

“The Devil’s Holiday”
Paramount Time, 1 hr., 15 mins.

SPLENDID DRAMATIC STORY, REVEALING NANCY CARROLL’S TRUE LIGHT. FINE DIRECTION GOOD STORY AND IMPORTANT CAST.

It has taken “The Devil’s Holiday” to show where Nancy Carroll’s talent really lies. Cast in strong emotional role, she reveals she is a dramatic actress of real quality, and her genuine performance is in keeping with the sincere and honest quality of the film itself. Edmund Goulding has written the story as well as directed it. He has created a tense narrative possessed of gripping dramatic moments. Miss Carroll appears as if in her own element her spare time works as a come-on girl for salesmen with doubtful prospects. A meeting with a young chap from the wheat lands is followed by a strange romance and a machine which is taken on a serious turn. She becomes his wife to spite his brother for insulting her. Finally she surrenders to her true love, and Here’s the absorbing entertainment.

Ryan and Lee in "Websterian Students" Phone 986 Time, 7 mins Fun With Words
The skit by Ryan and Lee is along same lines of the comedy antics put them across in vaudeville for a time. They do a little murder of the dictionary, and the girl also gets a good bit of a laugh in her tough and making the lad do giving her orders. Popular place on that will get a rise out of the three.

For Children
The story of "The Wolf's Fangs" is palapably unbelievable, but young film-goes may enjoy the trite and far-fetched incidents and it should win favorable of virtue of its fast pace and rough-and-ready quality. The villain of the piece is a robber who evades capture through a clever disguise. The Royal Mountie who is after him is spurred on by the certainty of promotion, when he has to win so he can marry the girl of his heart.

Owldred in "Prison Panic"
Universal Time, 6 mins. Mild Animation
The latest in the Islawah series of animated cartoons is hardly up to the standard of its predecessors. It seems flat and lacking in the rhythmic quality characteristic of the others. SPLENDID BALLET SHOW
CLICKS AT THE CAPITOL

A short but very elaborately staged presentation is at the Capitol, a good example of the current trend set by Arthur Knorr, and it is one of the very best things he has done to date. It is ideal summer fare, with the scenic effects suggesting cool forests, and the white costumes of the ballet carrying out the atmosphere of native woods. Madame Nesta Coots, and the Arnaut Brothers do their famous whistling specialty. Yasha Bunchuk directs the accompanying music.

Pathe Time, 10 mins.
In part this Audio comprises some good entertainment. It is best in its intimate glimpses of Havana. There is a tour of the city including some of the favorite "joints" patronized by tourists from the States. Then there is some music and the singing of "Anchors Aweigh," the Annapolis song, by a chorus of 1,500 midshipmen, assisted by the U. S. Naval Academy Band. Scenes of naval craft plowing through the waves accompany this subject. The rest of the Review is devoted to a study of frogs.

"Pick 'Em Young"
Pathe Time, 20 mins. Fair-to-Middling Comedy
Pick 'Em Young' just about makes the grade. An exciting freshness to its comedy and much of the dialogue is pointless. What is greatly to blame for the weakness of the film is the insistence of the producers to put on a song-dance number on the slightest provocation. The result is the comedy loses much of its effect. The cast is a great help to the picture. In it are Robert Agnew, Mary Hutchinson, Mona Ray, Carmelita Geraghty Fanchon Frankel, Vera Marsh and Charles Hall.

"Songs of Mother"
Pathe Time, 10 mins. Sentimental Music
To those who derive pleasure from music that appeals to the sentiment, this short should bring a great amount of pleasure. Mother will succumb to the sentimental spell cast by such pieces as "Songs My Mother Taught Me," "Oh, Dry Those Tears," "Hush A Bye Baby" and "Nursery Rhymes." These tunes are sung with appropriate feeling by Francis Luther and Elizabeth Lenox. The film has the further advantage of being splendidly photographed.

PARAMOUNT STAGE SHOW
GOOD IN SOLE ROMPS

The show at the Paramount this week is on the whole just routine entertainment. There is little to distinguish it and most of the performers gathered for it do little to help matters. Only in spots it is possible to point out anything better than the commonplace. Among those who rise above the general mediocrity of the show, which has been put together by Jack Partington under the title "Home Wreckers," are Billy and Elsa Newell in a travesty of the morals and manners of yesteryear and the comedy team of O'Donnell and Blair. The latter manage to produce considerable laughter in a slapstick bit in which they make a mess of things in trying to do a little plasting job on the outside of a building. Others in the cast are Andrew and Louise Carr and the Six Beverly Girls.

—a column of comment

THEATER-BUYING programs of record-shattering proportions are being carried out by several producers-distributor organizations. Independent chains and lone houses alike, many in the red and some out, are being forged into new links of mighty chains. In some instances, as always when speedy action overshadows slow and careful judgment, financial regrets are likely to ensue. Apart from this phase, however, there is a situation which may develop to the concern of the entire industry. Independent organizations, headquartering in the states which they operate, have done much to choke state legislation which have from time to time threatened the industry. Rubbering elbows with local legislators and politicians, they are in an extremely valuable strategic position. With the reduction in the number of theater concerns it would seem that something a hole is being kicked in the industry's legislative defense.

Talkies Create New Audiences

The coming of talkies has focussed public attention upon the cinema in a way that has brought untold thousands of new devotees of the screen and it has carried the art and the industry of cinematography to heights immeasurably greater than would ever have been possible with the silent product alone.

 Equipment Controls Talkies' Value

It has frequently been said that projection is part of the picture. And, in this new day of the talking picture, projection is an important part of its mechanics, too. Truly, the success or failure of a motion picture lies in the equipment that reproduces it upon the screen. A million dollar picture can be rendered worthless or it can be made doubly entertaining, if it is properly handled in the kiné-booth.

Made Garbo Slogan a "Christie" Seller

Tying up "Anna Christie" to "Garbo Talks," the slogan created by Frank Whitbeck for West Coast Theaters, Henry Marchant of the Saenger Theaters, Mobile, offered some pass prizes to those who wrote the slogan the greatest number of times on a Government postcard. The stunt run several days in advance and was closed the opening day to permit the results to be checked and the passes sent in time. About 500 replies were received, but that by no means indicated the interest taken in the stunt for the actual value of the idea. That's merely the number of persons who completed the job. To avoid cheating, legibility should be insist upon in all such contests.

Banner Ballyhoos "Puttin' on the Ritz"

A special streamer banner measuring 175 ft. long by 18 in. deep with jazz and ritzys wording was gotten up. It was extended from the Hotel Burlington to the Rialto, Burlington, la., which are on opposite corners. A book-mark tie-up with the public library was staged, tying up with "Alice in Wonderland" books. The book-marks had copy on both sides about "Puttin' on the Ritz."

Hollywood

VALENTINE MANDELSTAM is keeping busy to say the least. He is acting as general adviser on French pictures at Fox, M-G-M, Paramount and Warners. He has also handled assignments at Universal and United Artists. He advises on scenarios and production, and in addition to his work on French versions of American pictures, he advises on pictures with a French background.

Robert Ross, who was production manager on "King of the Jazz," the new picture released this week, has been appointed production manager on "Eyes of the World," which is being directed by Henry King.

George Cukor, who was one of New York's youngest stage directors, is now co-directing "Gumdrop," at Paramount. Among the men stage plays he directed was "The Constant Wife," starring Ethel Barrymore.

Tyrer Brooke has moved his make-up box to Paramount. Following his work in "The Divorce," at M-G-M, he was immediately assigned the important role of an Evangelist in "Hell's Island." At Paramount he is working in "Monte Carlo."

Ray June, ace cameraman at United Artists, has been loaned to Inspiration to take charge of the camera work on "Eyes of the World." June's most recent work was on "Brute 66."

Gwen Wakeling, costume director at Pathe, is very busy. She is designing the costumes for "Holiday," which is being directed by Edward H. Griffiths. She also designed the costumes for "Swing High," "Paris Bound" and "This Thing Called Love."

Lucien Littlefield is believed to be the youngest playwright of old men in the movie colony. Every picture in which he has appeared, with but one exception, has shown him as an aged man. The exception was "The Woman in the Cave," in which he played a juvenile.

Richard Thorpe is directing "So This Is Mexico!" for Tiffany. It is an original by Harry Fraser and is Thorpe's third directional effort at Tiffany.

Henry and Louis King have a little record of their own. They are the only brothers directing on the same lot. Henry is directing "Eyes of the World" at Tec-Art, while Louis is working on "The Man from Hell's River."

Neil Hamilton, who played in "The Dawn Patrol," at First National, is now working in "The Widow from Chicago," also at the Burbank studio. Neil's other recent pictures include "The Return of Dr. Fu Manchu" and "Two Black Crows in the A. E. F."

Percentage
—looks like the answer

By JACK ALICOATE

AFTER YEARS of theoretical discussion and but little direct application, it begins to look like a percentage booking will soon find its place as the logical, economic and sensible answer to the interesting and sometimes irritating problem of sales and distribution.

The more constructive minds from both the distributor and exhibitor ranks now seem to be for it. And why not? The producer of a picture as well as the exhibitor who displays it to the paying guest should each profit in extent based upon what the picture actually brings in at the box-office. This is but simple analysis and elementary economics. No amount of high-pressure salesmanship or super-advertising can replace the day-by-day figures of what a given production will do in any theater. When the percentage system functions smoothly it is not unlikely that 90 per cent of sales roubles will be ironed out.

After the Storm

Gentle tornado again hits Wall Street and vicinity and stocks that suffer least of all are amusements. This is interesting. Particularly in a few of the fact that but few years ago some investment and banking circles, picture stocks were considered as so much decorative wall paper. Amusing the peoples of the world is just as necessary as giving them food, clothing and transportation. The position now occupied by amusement stocks and their recent strength on the big board is a rather definite manifestation of this fact.

“True to the Navy”

(Previewed in Hollywood)

Another of the made-to-order stories for Clara Bow, and should prove satisfactory to the feminine set. Though rather slow in getting under way, it has a look of longevity. Most of the songs are due to the work of Ray Cooke, who should be groomed for future work. Harry Green, Eddie Dunn, Harry Sweet and Eddie Fetherston are among the other comedians, who are doing good work. Frederic March, an always dependable actor, does good work, but seems a little miscast as Gunnar J. McCoy, who steals women’s hearts. The story deals with a San Diego sodbuster girl, whom sailors cannot resist. When she seems to be in love with brick, Frank Tuttle directed.

Paramount launches production in Europe

$850,000, Lasky said. Robert T. Kane has become general manager. Primarily all of the foreign films will be made in six languages: French, German, Spanish, Italian, Swedish and Hungarian. It is intended to have all versions in production simultaneously, using European talent in every phase. Paramount’s foreign production forces also will exchange people with the British, New York and Coast studios, Lasky stated.

“Come and get me,” is now in production at the studio and following its completion “The Doctor’s Secret” will be made in six languages. Other Paramount re-releases scheduled at present include “Barak and Son,” “The Laughing Lady,” “The Letter,” “Return of Sherlock Holmes” and “Charming Sinners.” A number of originals and European plays will be tallied, including “The Hole in the Wall,” which is a different story than the one Paramount has already released in this country, and “Marias,” a play.

The foreign production program also provides about 100 shorts. Other films may be opened on the continent, the next to be in Central Europe.

With Lasky was his assistant, Albert Kaufman, and Serge Eisenstein, director of “Potemkin” and “Ten Days That Shook the World,” who has been signed by Paramount. His contract is for four pictures. Under its terms he will make one a year and then spend six months in Germany working on other projects. Eduard Tisse, Eisenstein’s cameraman, also arrived on the Eurama.

Lasky announced signing a Hungarian, Russian and a French, European, who has the Spanish comic turn of Maurice Chevalier. The agreement covers five years, he stated.

Under the exchange-of-talent plan, Louis Gasnier leaves the Coast May 20 to direct a comedy for Lasky, who has just been announced.

While visiting Paris, Budapest, Vienna and Berlin, he found that “operettas with synchronized songs and music were big in the public taste. “The Love Parade,” which has just run an 11 week run in the Paramount in Paris, grossed $32,000 the last week,” he stated.

Kaufman, who made a technical survey of Europe, returning numerous recommendations.

After attending the Paramount convention in Atlantic City, Lasky will go to the Continent in June. He will make 10 films in France.

Petrovich Arrives

Ivan Petrovich, who appeared in “Three Passions” and “Garden of Allah,” Rex Ingram productions, has arrived in New York yesterday, en route to Hollywood for a visit. He returns to England within a few weeks to resume work in his own productions, which are being released in England by Greenbaum.

A PERSONAL appearance will be made by Cartoonist Robert Ripley at the Winter Garden Wednesday evening in conjunction with his "Believe It or Not" short. He is scheduled to do a series of 25 under a contract which will net him over six figures. Believe it or not, these are the best figures Ripley will ever draw. Albert Margolies, of the Roxy publicity staff, is writing a series of articles on the mediaeval drama for "Theater Arts Monthly." Roxy has built a handball court on the roof of the theater for use of the staff.

A DINNER will be given Radio Pictures Coast-bound conventioners at the Blackstone, Chicago, Saturday eve. Amos 'n Andy in person will greet them . . . while this feast of the Titans is in progress there will be a feast of the tight hands across the hall, where the Scotch Golf Association will be breaking bread — so they can conveniently take it home to their families . . . but really, we shouldn't talk this way about the canny Celts, for almost everybody at times yearns to have a little Scotch in them . . . . oh, well, rye will do . . .

NANCY CARROLL arrived in New York Sunday, and will soon start work in "Laughert," with Harry D'Arrast directing. Frederic March is New York bound, to play opposite Nan. Lucky Strike's new slogan is: "It's the tobacco that counts. . . . and we always thought it was the toast. . . . Walt Lantz, cartoon creator of Oswald the Rabbit, has gone and married Doris Hollister. . . . we always knew Walter would lantz a nice girl some day.

ONCE MORE the AMPAS come in for a free racket, with a theater party at the Vanderbilt Thursday eve to see "The Photocrat." If this thing keeps up, the boys will soon be expecting free luncheons on Thursdays . . . . Louis Nizer has started looking at life in a series of radio talks Saturday afternoons over WMCA . . . . You may be surprised to know that Charlie Chaplin plays the piano, violin and organ as well as pinochle. . . . Charlie is composing his own music for his new film. . . . Gloria Swanson can imitate other stars imitating her. . . . but as she is imitable, this act can't be so hot.

AND THAT Flicker Frollic at the Liberty Sunday night proved a waw . . . . big house, finely balanced program of entertainers, and everything running as smoothly as if it had been rehearsed many times . . . . a bon ton audience was there, including Mary Duncan, Tex Guinan, Olive Shea, Jack Cohn and D. A. Doran. . . . Among celebrities on the stage hill, which followed a preview of Maurice Chevalier in "The Big Pond," were Harry Richman, Charles Richman, Rodd Vallin, Ginger Rogers, Smith and Dale, Lilian Roth, the Roxy ballet, Clifton Jackson and Durante, and some more. . . . Auresa well for this annual event. . . . A minister in Auckland, New Zealand, chose Warner's "Painting the Clouds With Sunshine" as the subject of a sermon.

JOHN McCORMACK in his estate near Dublin now finds that the sight-seeing houses have included him in their tour. John writes to a friend: "I'm about 20 per cent more popular than the new electrification project on the River Shannon and 60 per cent less interesting than the Blarney Stone." When John realizes that a lot of Englishmen kiss it, he should be happy he isn't the Blarney Stone. . . . At Zimbali set that Ann Gishel, one of the Warner operators, visited the Vitaphone studio to try and land a screen job, and turned around to find that she was being used as a prop . . . . not bad for a first try.

COLUMBUS CRITICS CHEER!

MUSIC

"Two songs are certain to be hummed and played for the next few months. They are 'With My Guitar' and 'Shoo The Hoodoo Away.' This is sung by the Negroes in superb chorus work, beautifully recorded and reproduced."

The Columbus (O.) Citizen

The Hoodoo Away, sung by the Negro chorus and given two different atmospheric settings, is superlative. Its instrumental and orchestral accompaniments are delightful. It has the unmistakable flavor of the old-time circus, and is a real show song. A low song a steal on the others.

Ohio State Journal (Columbus)

DRAMA—THRILLS

"As love interest, character development, dramatic episodes, action, crisp and interesting and the detail is thorough."

The Columbus (O.) Dispatch

"A big, colorful entertaining and costly staged romantic musical drama of the circus world of 1875. Here's one circus you can enjoy without thought of rain, dust or buying balloons and pink lemonade, yet it contains all the thrills, faithfully transcribed to the screen."

The Ohio State Journal (Columbus)

"You'll find 'Swing High' a peach of a picture. Joseph Santley has caught the lilt and glamour of the old-time circus day. There's still a streak of the kid in all of us, and personally nothing lifts us up like that rousing rhythm of a good circus band."

Another of the made-to-order stories for Clara Bow, and should prove satisfactory to her following. Though rather slow in getting under way, it has a flock of laughs. Many of the laughs are due to the work of Ray Cooke, who should be groomed for future work. Harry Green, Eddie Dunn, Harry Sweet and Eddie Petherston are among the other comedians, who do excellent work. Frederic March, an always dependable actor, does good work, but seems a little miscast as Gunner McGoy, who steals women's hearts. The story deals with a San Diego sodden-out girl, whom sailors cannot resist. When she meets Gunner McGoy, she falls like the proverbial ton of brick. Frank Tuttle directed.

Used a Novelty Trailer that Clicked

ADVERTISING a good picture, the title of which was not so hot for his neighborhood, gave B. E. Lober of the Fox Glendale, Glendale, Cal., a chance to use a little ingenuity. Running all the letters together so that it read like this Suchmenadarenous, he made a trailer that said it in English and a rather misleading title for one of the greatest pictures of the year, "Such Men Are Dangerous." He then incorporated the opinion of the local picture censor, saying "A magnificent production. A supreme triumph in talking films."

Hold First of Five Fox Theater Meetings

First of a series of five divisional meetings of Fox Theaters was held yesterday at the Japanese Garden, with Executive vice-president Oscar S. Oldknow and general managers Harry Arthur addressing all department heads, district managers, supervisors and managers of the Metropolitan circuit. The next meeting is to be held in Utica, N. Y., this week and will be followed (by confabs) at New Haven, Chicago and Milwaukee.

Educational Sales Meet for N. Y., Chicago, Denver

Educational will hold sales meetings in New York, Chicago and Denver. The first regional convention will be held, on Saturday, May 19 and 20, at the Hotel Statler in Chicago. New York and the Pacific Coast will be followed by a second at the Palace Hotel in Denver and will last two days. Branch managers and home executives will attend the meetings.

Zanft Will Supervise Operation of Roxy, N. Y.

In addition to being vice-president and an executive member of the board of Fox Theaters Corp., Major John Zanft has been given supervisory control of the Roxy in New York. He will also personally direct the Fox theaters in Washington, D. C. and Philadelphia as well as the Academy of Music and Audubon in New York.

Joe SeidlerIncreases Long Island Circuit to 11

Increasing the Long Island chain to 11 houses, Joseph M. Seidler has acquired the controlling interests in three more theaters. They are the Granada, 700-seat Paterson, New Jersey; Edwards, 1,100-seat Easthampton, N. Y., and the Hampton Star, 600-seat Westhampton Beach house.

China Plans Censorship

Washington, D. C.—Government censorship of foreign and domestic films is planned in China, according to a note received by the M. P. Department of the Ministry of Education.

Learnin’ English

Hoping to land roles in English talker versions, French actors are seriously taking courses in English, says Terry Turner, just back from Europe. The French film world, including the American bars in Paris, are getting a big play from French professionals, who formerly kept away from these spots. Turner returned after setting his next act, the Siamese Twins, into Paris’ Luna Park.

J. V. Bryson Taking Back $5,000,000 in Negatives

James V. Bryson, managing director for Universal in England, took back yesterday on the $5,000,000 worth of negatives in the prints of “All Quiet on the Western Front,” “King of Jazz,” “Czar of Broadway,” and “White Hall,” Al Zeeck’s “Us,” general manager for continental Europe, and Dave Bader sailed on the same boat. Here McIntyre also leaves this week for Australia, and Monroe Isen will depart Friday for Buenos Aires.

COMING & GOING

SALLY O’NEIL and MOLLY O’DAY arrive in New York today on the 20th Century to play in R-K-O roadshow.

J. H. SEIDELMAN, of Paramount, is aboard the Olympic bound for Europe on a business trip.

YVON NOYES, Ruiy Maudy and Susanne d’Este have arrived from France en route to Hollywood to appear in foreign language talkers.

ARTHUR LEVY arrived yesterday from England and is staying at the Chatham.

SCREEN SNAPSHOTS No. 4 (One reel Columbia.) Everyone liked this. Recording fine and natural. We want more of these. Sun., yes. Film, good. — A. C. Russell, Iris Columbus, Ohio, N. D.

A Knockout!

SKELETON DANCE, 1.—A knockout. Try these "Silly Symphonies." (A. F. Botaford, Royal Theatre, Amersworth, N.Eb.)

They Get a Kick

KRAZY KAT COMEDIES, 1. — "Canned Music." Our patrons get quite a kick out of these sound cartoons. Reading on disc good, Parkside theatre, Canarsie, 12.

Darn Good Short

MY WIFE, 1.—Darn good short. Good reel. Plenty laughs on this one. A song helps out in this one. (J. B. Glaser, Orpheum Theatre, Grenora, N. D.)

We Are Sitting Jake

SKELETON DANCE—This is the first of the "Silly Symphonies" and the rest are as good we are saying. Little thing only about 500 feet hard laughs than any two reel comedy we saw. Sure good and the sound perfect. (C. A. Spanbourgh, Twilight theatre, Cumb. Kan.

Best Short Yet

IN DUTCH, 1.—The best little yet. All done in color with some quaint settings and music. Record is disc excellent. (E. E. Mosher, Orpheum theatre, Rockford, 1a.)

Fitzmaurice to Direct
Evelyn Laye's First Film

George Fitzmaurice has been engaged by Samuel Goldwyn to direct Evelyn Laye in her first talking picture, based on a story by Louis B. C. Bremfield and Sidney Howard. The film gets under way about the beginning of July.

Fairbanks May Borrow
Eisenstein for U. A. Film

Although Jesse L. Lasky has signed S. M. Eisenstein and brought him to this country to direct for Paramount, the Russian director may be borrowed later by Douglas Fairbanks for his production on the 1930-31 schedule of United Artists, according to an announcement from this organization.

Novelties in Technicolor
Are Planned by Tiffany

Three novel subjects in Technicolor, followed later by several series of shorts, are planned by Tiffany with the signing of Sig Neufeld by Phil Goldstone to head the short subject department. Work on the color novelties begins at once.

Stanwyck in Evangelist Role

Barbara Stanwyck will play the evangelist in the film transcription of "Bless You, Sister," which is to be called "The Miracle Woman." Carey Wilson is adapting.

Colbert, Foster Plan World Trip

Claudette Colbert is leaving on a world tour on May 20 with her husband, Norman Foster. They will do their traveling aboard a freighter.

New Name for Talmadge Film

Elise Ferguson in "Scarlet Pages"

"Scarlet Pages," the Samuel Shiman- John B. Hymer play which First National is filming, has a cast headed by Elise Ferguson, Marion Nixon and Grant Withers. Miss Ferguson has the same role she played on the stage. Walter Anthony and Maude Fulton have done the adaptation and dialogue.

Added to "Rain or Shine" Cast

Alan Roscoe and Adolph Miller are the latest additions to the cast of "Rain or Shine," which Frank Capra is directing for Columbia.

Hollywood

Jacques Cartier, who sprang into attention with his dance atop a huge drum at the opening of "The Rhapsody in Blue," in "The King of Jazz," has been signed as the leading dancer for "Whooppee." He spent two weeks in New Mexico, studying Indian dances in preparation for his new role.

Our Passing Show: Joe Schenck, Paul Block and Col. Knox vacationing at the William R. Hearst ranch at San Simeon, Cal.; Murray Feild and Lew Schreiber visiting the United Artists studio on business; Alex Trambitas motoring.

Nate Stein is busy, signing talent for the benefit entertainment to be given by the Second Division at the Hollywood Legion club May 26. Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor, Mrs. Mildred Harris Chaplin, Frank Fay, William Haines and Polly Moran are among those who will appear. Eddie Schaefer heads the arrangements committee.

Nate, who is mascot of the Second Division, was brought to this country by the soldier boys. He was 14 years old at the time.

Benny Rubin, the comedian, and his brother, Eddie, an agent, will soon be entertaining their mother, Mrs. B. Rubin of Boston, who will be making her initial trip to the Coast. She will be accompanied by her son, Dave, who will remain in Hollywood.

By the way, Mrs. Rubin will get her initial glimpse of little granddaughter, Lila, who is the daughter of the comedian.

Solly Baiano, Wells Root, Martin Cornia, Oliver H. P. Garrett and Mrs. Gregory LaCava were among the members of the film colony, who participated in the annual tournament of the Los Angeles Tennis Club.

Phillips Holmes in "Grumpy"

Paramount has chosen Phillips Holmes for an important role in "Grumpy," starring Cyril Maude.

"High Life" All in Color

"High Life," which First National is making from the Rex Beach-Paul Armstrong play with Joe E. Brown in his first starring role, will be completely in Technicolor.

May Co-Star Kohler, Rennie

Fred Kohler and James Rennie may be co-starred in a picture by First National.

Russian Director Views Sound Technique

Sound is a two-edged invention. Probably its exploitation will follow the line of least resistance, i.e., that of satisfying mere curiosity. Here comes, first of all, the commercial exploitation of staple goods, and so we have the talking film. There are such films in which the sounds are produced in a natural way, the sound exactly coincides with the movement in the film and creates a certain illusion of talking persons, falling objects, etc. In the first method of sensational surprise this will not hurt the development of the film art. But it will be awful when the second stage of development has been attained, when the first surprises of the new possibilities will have become faded and in their place will have arrived an epoch of automatic exploitation of highly cultural dramas and photographic performances of a theatrical nature.

—S. M. Eisenstein

Screen Comedians Out Of His Element

Buster Keaton, trying to imitate a standard musical comedy clown, is no longer Buster Keaton and no longer funny. It is in the field of comedy that the motion picture has reached its highest peaks of artistry and also of individuality. Indeed, the greatest excuse for its existence has always been the "chase." No one of the greatest humorists or clowns of the printed page or the stage has ever been so gloriously funny as Charlie Chaplin, Harold Lloyd or Buster Keaton, when viewed in the act of escaping from justice. Why, then, should a member of this mighty trio consider it necessary to wear musical comedy makeup and costumes and sing silly songs for the getting of a laugh?

ALONG THE RIALTO

with Phil M. Daly

A SURE SIGN of a successful show is the invasion of the ticket speculators.......the pests became so abnoxious at the Central trying to chisel in on the clean-up for "All Quiet on the Western Front," that an ex-policeman who knows 'em all has been engaged to run the goon squads into the boosong...when all the jail cells were filled, one spec through force of habit tried to sneak out to the sidewalk to take advantage of the cell-out.

ETHEL BARRYMORE at last succumbs to the screen......she appears in an interview at the Embassy Newsreel theater........and opines that G. B. Shaw's ballyhoo for the talkies is because he's sold some of his plays for a million bucks........well, you could hardly expect him to cry over it.......A new diversion has started, with one press agent contradicting another........Warren Nolan sez Lillian Gish's "One Romantic Night" will follow "The Vagabond King" at the Rivoli........Ralph Stitt sez George Bancroft will follow in "Ladies Love Brutes"........now if these two p.a.'s can work the gag up into a national controversy like Prohibition, what a publicity stunt that would be......

NICK SCHENCK threw a party last night at his Palisades Amusement Park.......all the Capitol theater gang were invited.......and the barkef in front of the fancy show forgot his chatter-line when the Chester Hale Girls lined up in front of him.......The National M. P. League sponsored a Patriotic Peace Ball at the Mayflower, Washington, Monday night, with the U. S. Flag Association, of which President Hoover is head, and not George M. Cohan.......Now comes "Box O' Candy" week, plugging a Fanchon & Marco show of the same name, launched by Mayor Harry Clark of San Diego, with the National Confectioners' Ass'n in back of it.......a "sweet" tie-up, as Bert Adler truly states......

JACK LEVEL, basking in the rays of Pathe "Sun" as ye editor, ups and sez: "The Pathe Jersey City baseball team won its game from the Mutual Laundry......."Scoop" Ronan reports the Mutuals were all washed up........Sol Lesser of the Eighth Floor lost his front "gold" tooth he used to brag about, but he's still insisting there's gold in them thar mountings.......Frank Vagino is sporting an ice cream suit and so does the suit.......a gent named Schorr got a new safe cabinet, wrote the combination on a piece of paper and locked it in the safe.......is he schorr it is safe there?.......Tom North wants to know how some stories from managers' secretaries about the managers would get over if these secretaries open up, some managers will close up like a busted tent show......

JESSE LASKY, arriving on the Europa, comments: "The greatest thrill of the entire trip—getting back.".......Billy Lockwood, of the Roxy orchestra, had two songs—count 'em, TWO—sung over WAB last week, and Roxy will personally broadcast another next Monday.......Jimmy Bradford, of Affiliated Sound Recordings, lost his new Panama on the roof watching the airplane show.......he rushes down to the street on the elevator, and doggone if he didn't arrive on the sidewalk just in time to catch the bottem coming down.......fine elevator service in that building......

JIMMY STARR ups and sez: "Paramount has a director named Snider, and with a name like that he should be a supervisor".......or a sneric writer.......Stephen Kelen has moved his booking office to 1430 Broadway.......De Sylva, De Sylva, and Henderson have a new song called "Go Ask Hannah......."great idea here for a song cycle.......Fr instance, "Ask Hannah What?" "Hannah Dunt Ewwer," "Why Should Hannah Answer?" "Hannah, Spelt Backwards Spells Hannah," "Has Hannah One Here Seen Hannah?"........

50,000 Posters
Boost "Spring Is Here"

TWO weeks in advance 50,000 octagonal suns, with "Spring Is Here" in the smiling mouth, were plastered all over Newark, N. J. These posters hit one wherever one turned. The town woke up one morning to find out that "Spring Was Here" and everyone wondered what it was all about. Ten thousand of these suns were inserted in packages going out of the Imperial Laundry.

Special Invitations
For a Preview

ARRANGED for a special invitational showing of "Hallelujah" at the Castle, Chicago, to the members of society and stage celebrities on the night previous to the opening. Special artsy invitations were gotten up and delivered to each person by special messenger. This preview was attended by the elite of society and stage. Had newspaper photographers there to get some material of news value. Also arranged with Hearst Metrotone Newsreel representative for the placing of lights, camera and sound truck outside theater, giving the effect necessary for the audience that attended.

Liberty Magazine again singles out a United Artists winner for the highest rating possible—FOUR STARS! "One Romantic Night" is the type of entertainment showmen dream about. A wonderful story, a top-notch cast and perfect production make it a blue chip picture from every standpoint. Liberty Magazine says it's "a lovely romantic picture...entirely delightful."

And it brings to the talking screen the voice of Lillian Gish. As a speaking star she stands at the top of the list. As the leading player in Jed Harris's sensational Broadway stage success, "Uncle Vanya", she has won unstinted praise everywhere. Read the critics' raves below.

Lillian Gish Takes New York Stage by Storm

Lillian Gish is perfect, a rare and charming personality.—Daily News.

Lillian Gish is a strong, earthy actress—a delightful eye-catcher.—Hearst's Magazine.

In many ways she is like Duse. In a single night Lillian Gish has made herself the number one actress on the stage.—Theatre Magazine.

Miss Gish returns triumphantly to the talking screen. Her performance has led the critics to declare her the greatest actress on the New York stage.

Supreme Court Rules Against Attaching Negative

Production Menu
—Looks delightfully appetizing
—By JACK ALICOATE

OMETHING IN the neighborhood of $200,000,000 will be spent by Hollywood studio chefs and their Eastern correspondents during the coming year in daintily preparing the utmost in amusement food and then garnishing it with the very latest in modern and appetizing surroundings for serving to an entertainment loving world. This is quite some frogs neither added by pencil or adding machine. It means for one thing that the producers themselves think other well of the talking picture and its prospects and intend to serve Mr. Customer and his family the best and costliest material that can be gathered from the four corners of the earth as its amusement menu for the next 12 months.  Wonder what has happened to the old fashioned fellow who used to tell us this business was still in its infancy?

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY
San Francisco—Resumption of the legal war between local theater interests and the musicians' union is expected to get under way shortly, according to Nat Schmulowitz, representing Nasser Bros. and other theater men. The dispute, which has a national bearing, involves alleged violation of a two-year contract when the theaters replaced the musicians with mechanical music. The Superior Court recently ruled against the union, which then went to a higher court and won a decision, and a petition for rehearing of the appeal court's ruling has been filed by the theater interests.

Sartorial Note and Advice

That incorrigible Mr. Weil of the Universal Film Exchange, after a bit of travel, sends us through the mail a new necktie. Listen. "This is a 'King of Jazz' necktie," says he of the silver tongue. This one was developed by a leading manufacturer, the background design being symbolical of the picture. The color even ties in. It is "Rhapsody Blue." If Paramount, Metro, United Artists, Fox, etc., etc., will only send along a suit, hat, spats and cane to match the picture, some of our chronic ennui against press agents will be at least temporarily forgiven.

 Beware of those things you get for nothing. A gentleman once gave us a pony for our kids and we almost went through insolvency feeding the darn thing.

Pathé Now Plans to Hold Four Regional Confabs

Sales convention plans of Pathé have been revised so that four regional-meetings will be held instead of three. The eastern confab will be held in the new Chanin Bldg., New York, May 19 and 20; mid-western sales division meet at the Blackstone Hotel, Chicago, May 21 and 22; central and southern at the Corazon Hotel, St. Louis, May 23 and 24, and western division at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, May 28 and 29. Phil Reisman, J. Alloon and Ed. Ballantine will attend all meetings.

A Digest of Current Opinion

Concerning Technique of John Murray Anderson

UNIVERSAL gives its answer to criticisms of John Murray Anderson's methods of film production by signing the gentleman for a term of years, the contract calling for two special pictures a year. The first two will be made this year. Several film reviewers were of the opinion that Anderson adhered too closely to stage tenets in producing Paul Whiteman's "King of Jazz." There isn't a doubt that the former producer of "The Greenwich Village Follies" did follow along established lines, but he really showed enough in this picture to prompt Universal to retain his services. He should do a lot better in his next effort, now that he knows something of the difference between stage and screen.

Pictures Have Their Own Standards

Don't be whining about the pictures you see and try to force them to your standards, or it can't be done. They have their own excellent standard and must stick to it or be lost in a maze of censorship or something. If you want different pictures, you'll just have to have them made to order specially, or something like that. From now on pictures are to be pictures per se and you'll just have to take em or leave 'em. That's all.

AT LAST they have invented a moving picture sideline, being nothing less than animated photos. Al Woods, reputed to be a theatrical producer, got peevd after three flops this season, and went out and grabbed this invention called Movie-o-U... three photographs can be taken on the same negative, one on top of the other, and by jigging the photo in your hand it becomes a movie.... Mister Woods thinks it would be nice if every theater lobby installed his machine and allowed the patrons to make movie tests of themselves... and there are a lotta Hollywood stars who would also like to direct their own movies.

JOE WEIL is passing out musical neckties as a plug for "King of Jazz"... they put the neckin' on a jazz basis... A press representative, about to introduce an unknown screen actor to a director, sez: "This bird is a ringer for Valentino, and if he was a dame he'd give Ethel Barrymore a run"... what you might call a strong build-up for a knock-down... "Bride of the Regiment" will open May 21 at the Hollywood, following "Hold Everything," for an indefinite run... "Cheer Up, Good Times Are Coming".... this is not the slogan of the independent producers, but a new song of the Robbins Music Co.

Old-Time Coach for Ballyhoo

REGINALD SMITH, managing director of P. D. C. Ltd., conducted a corking good publicity campaign for "Grand Parade" at the Capitol Haymarket for its British premiere. One of the outstanding features of the campaign was an old-time coach drawn by six horses, carrying a ten piece orchestra playing the hit songs from "The Grand Parade." This coach was driven all around London town.

The Mirror
—a column of comment

THE SALES convention season is string along the 1930-31 highway when all entrants geared for perhaps the hottest race in film history. Naturally, box office product will be the principal factor in determining the popularity of each brand. But, additional salesman will count as usual before. During the new selling season it seems likely that the hold of salesman will pass in the discard. With competition at the present high altitude, a salesman will have to be more than an ordinary peddler of film. His knowledge will have to extend beyond the product he is handling and the mechanics of closing a contract. Salesmanship of the 1930-31 will require thorough familiarity with conditions prevalent in the industry. With this new order of business promised, there is no reason to know why the coming season should not be just about the highest ever.

BRADWAY is proudly displaying a double of Hollywood-made products of intelligentsia appetites. Mean-while "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "Journey's End" such entertainment ought to satisfy the vast of that group of individuals that condemn the monopoly of present presentations. JUDGE RULES AGAINST UNFAIR THEATER PICTURES

Second decision in favor of Al Harston, operator of the Regent, 116th St., New York, against Operators' Local 306 has been handed down by Judge Frankenthaler in regard to picketing the house. Harston recently took over the house and employed operators of Empire State M.P. Operators Union, Inc., of Brooklyn. Former owners, Manhattan Play-houses, had been hiring Local 306 men, and when they learned of the change, picketers began appearing with signs that the house didn't use union men. The case went to court and Local 306 was told to change copy. Sandwich men then appeared with signs that the house wasn't affiliated with that particular organization which is a member of the A.F. of L. A second reprimand was handed out by the Judge, who ruled that if picketing must be done, it should be without misrepresentation. All signs were in English and Spanish due to heavy Latin population in district.

M-G-M Receives First of Foreign Contingent

Tania Feder, Marcel André and Andre Berley, noted members of the Paris stage, have arrived in Hollywood. They are the first of a group of leading French and German stage and screen players being brought to America by M-G-M to appear in talking films intended for distribution in France and Germany. The trio's first appearance will be in a French version of Molnar's “Olympia.”

Larry Darmour Signs

More Names for Shorts

Larry Darmour has added to the list of well known players who will appear in his comedy shorts by signing Yola d’Avril and Danielle Bollard. The former will appear in “Men Without Skirts,” the latter, in “Broken Wedding Bells.” Previous signees are Karl Dane, George K. Arthur and Louise Fazenda. The first two Dane-Arthur comedies are now in production under the direction of Lewis R. Foster.

Tyler Brooke for Lubitsch Film

Tyler Brooke has been signed by Paramount for Ernst Lubitsch’s new production, “Monte Carlo.”

Fox Signs Brooklyn Girl

Rosalind Cassell, 16-year-old Brooklyn girl, has been signed by Fox. She leaves for Hollywood on May 20. Miss Cassell is a discovery of Gus Edwards.

Kohler, Rennie Get Roles

Fred Kohler and James Rennie will have prominent roles in “Adios,” in which Richard Barthelmess is being starred by First National under the direction of Frank Lloyd. The story has been adapted by Bradley King from the play by Lanier and Virginia Stivers Bartlett.

Ivan Linow for “Just Imagine”

Ivan Linow will play a dual role in Fox’s “Just Imagine,” which David Butler will direct.

It’s Still “Queen of Main St.”

Title of First National’s “Queen of Main Street” has not been altered to “Main Street Princess.”

Dot Farley in Pathe Comedy

Dot Farley has been signed for an important role in “Swell People,” a Pathé Producer comedy which Wallace Fox is directing.

Clarence Muse in “Rain or Shine”

Clarence Muse, the colored actor, has been selected for a role in Columbia’s “Rain or Shine,” starring Joe Cook.

New Names for 2 F. N. Films

The title of “Mlle. Modiste,” the Victor Herbert operetta being filmed by First National, has been changed to “The Toast of the Legion.” The “Devil’s Playground,” starring Billie Dove, has been changed to “The Lady Who Dared.”

A Little from “Lots”

By RALPH WILK

JOE E. BROWN, the comedian, has blossomed forth as the sponsor of the Joe E. Brown Stars, a baseball team which will make a strong bid for the championship of the San Fernando Valley league. Joe was a baseball player for 16 years.

By the way, Buster Keaton and Eddie Sedgwick, his director, are sponsors of the M-G-M Lions, a team playing in the Bay District league. Buster plays second base, while Eddie, who is an old catcher, guides his players from the catcher’s position.

Arthur Carew’s work in “The Man from Main Street” is drawing much attention. It is his initial comedy role on the screen. Carew also appears in “Sweet Kitty Bells,” and will work in “Captain Applejack.”

While directing abroad, Denison Clift met E. Phillips Oppenheim. The novelist induced the Prince of Monaco to allow Clift to use the Prince’s gardens as a location, and at Monte Carlo for exteriors for his picture. It was the first time the Prince had ever granted such permission. Clift is now writing the screen play of Oppenheim’s “The Great Impersonation,” for Paramount.

A roster of foreign stars gradually is being lined up by Paramount, which already has Maurice Chevalier of France, Ernst Bole of Sweden, Marceline Dietrich of Germany, Nina Martini of Italy, and Roberto Rey of Spain.

Bruno Granichstaden, Viennese composer, has arrived in Hollywood under contract to Samuel Goldwyn. Nacio Herb Brown, Granichstaden and Edward Eliscu worked on the music for Evelyn Laye’s operetta, which will be laid in Budapest.

Wallace Smith will write the picture version and dialogue for “The Silver Horde,” Rex Beach’s story, which will be produced by RKO.

“Bad Man” in English, Spanish at One Time

First National is making two versions of “The Bad Man” at the same time, one in English with Walter Huston in the title role, the other in Spanish with Antonio Moreno in the lead. Huston’s supporting cast includes Dorothy Revier, James Niren, O. H. P. Rundgren, Elizabeth Bulkmer. Playing opposite Moreno is Rosita Ballestero. Another in the cost of the Spanish version is Delia Magana.

Bernice Claire Ill

Bernice Claire is suffering from a severe attack of influenza which has temporarily interrupted all studio work on her part. Miss Claire had been engaged in making several new M-G-M pictures, including the screen version of “Top Speed,” which is now practically complete. It is expected that she will return to the First National studio within a fortnight.

Roles for Monica Rico, St. Polis

Monica Rico and John St. Polis have been given featured roles in “Sez You, Sez Me,” which Irving Cummings will direct for Fox.

Start on “Broken Dishes”

“Broken Dishes,” from the stage comedy by Martin Flavin, is now in production at First National. The adaptation and dialogue were written by Francis Edward Faragoh. Merlyn LeRoy is directing. The cast includes Loretta Young, Grant Withers, J. Farrell MacDonald, Emma Dunn, Richard Tucker, Lloyd Nell, Virginia Sale and O. P. Heggie.

Irene Rich Engaged for Fox

Irene Rich has engaged for Fox, for the role of a modiste in “O Your Back,” based on a magazine story by Rita Weiman.

Ready to Shoot “Sweethearts”

Frank Walsh, who was making the stage, is ready to go before the cameras at First National.

George Walsh Helping Raoul

George Walsh is again working with the films—not as an actor but as technical director to his brother, Raoul Walsh, who is megaphoning “The Big Trail” for Fox.

Frank Richardson; Charles Winninger, musical comedy comedian; Geo. You Back, based on the hit of Dave Montgomery, and Robert Buro and John Swor, blackface comedians.

Helen Grace Carlisle, who has complete charge of the adaptation and dialogue writing of “Mothers Cry for First National. The story is being specced closely. The authors solved all his own technical problems and won the approval of Hal B. Wallis and Edward F. Kienlen. Mr. Carlisle’s charge of production at First National. “Mothers Cry” is Miss Carlisle’s first continuity, and also his first attempt at writing screen dialogue.

THE film version of "Journey's End" is a meticulously faithful reproduction of the successful stage play, for which the score by H. V. Darmest had been written. The stage production took place in the Duke of York's Theatre, London, and was directed by James Whale. The cast included Colin Clive, who created the leading role of Captain Stanhope, as well as James Whale and Dame May Whitty. The film version, directed by Henry V. Darmest, was released in 1928 and was highly praised for its accurate portrayal of the stage play. The film was nominated for an Academy Award for Best Picture. The story is a poignant tale of soldiers in the trenches during World War I, and the play is known for its powerful portrayal of the absurdity and horror of war.

Best Season in History is Predicted by Zukor

Atlantic City—The season 1930-31 will be the greatest in the history of motion pictures, declares Adolph Zukor in a cablegram to be read at the Paramount Publicity convention today. The message is from Berlin, where Zukor is visiting.

The progress made in sound pictures during the past year has greatly enhanced the entertainment value of motion pictures, says the cablegram, and declares that there will be a reflected in the increased attendance in theaters throughout the world.

Legality of RCA Pool Will Be Tested in Suit

Wilmingkton, Del.—A suit to test the legality of arrangements existing between the Radio Corp. of America, the General Electric Co., the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., and the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and six other corporations has been filed by the Attorney General, William D. Mitchell, in the district court here. The suit is concerned chiefly with the legality of patent arrangements made between the defendants, which has resulted, it is alleged, in placing the control of the radio business and its development in their hands. It is also alleged in the petition that the proposed reorganization, recently submitted to stockholders of the Radio Corp., would have the effect of perpetuating this control.

Bud Rogers on Tour to Arrange First Runs

Bud Rogers, of Sono Art-World Wide, leaves tomorrow for a swing of the exchanges in the middle West to close first runs for "What a Man," "Cock O' The Walk," and "The Dude Wrangler." He will be gone about two weeks.

Paramount Eastern Meet Starts in Atlantic City

George J. Schaefer, Eastern division sales manager, will preside as chairman. He will present Jesse L. Lasky; Sydney R. Kent; Sam Katz; E. B. Shuster; Emanuel Cohen; Ralph Kohl; Joseph E. McCarthy and other company officials. The initial day's program comprises the announcement by Lasky of a feature picture for the new season. Short subject and newsreel plans will be revealed by Cohen. The highlight of tomorrow's program will be a talk by Kent on sales, policies and future plans.

The program for Sunday provides brunch and district managers' meetings. That night a meeting of the officials will be held for San Francisco and a talk on the convention.

The detailed program follows:

Today—Roll call, G. B. J. Frawley; advisor of welcome, George J. Schaefer; remarks, S. R. Kent; foreign department, E. D. Shuster; news and short features, Emanuel Cohen; production department, Jesse L. Lasky; foreign production, Mel Shuster; screening.

Tomorrow—Public relations, Charles E. McCarthy, 100% club prizes; sales policies, S. R. Kent; branch and district managers, S. R. Kent, Ralph Kohl, Sam Katz, George J. Schaefer; short features, Miles Coburn, Stanley Waite; meeting—Salesmen, Bookers, Ad Sales Managers; screening.

Sunday—Branch and district managers, S. R. Kent, George J. Schaefer; salesmen, bookers, John Hammel; ad sales managers, James A. Clark; branch managers, bookers, John Hammel, Frank Meyer; district meetings, George J. Schaefer; screening.

15 Foreign Men Present

Fifteen members of the Paramount Publicity, foreign department, including representatives of the Australasian, English, French and Mexican organizations, are attending the convention. At the same time continental Europe representatives are assembling in Paris for their own convention with Adolph Zukor and J. H. Seideman attending.

The foreign contingent at Atlantic City comprises: John W. Hicks, Jr., and John E. Koennek; both of Sydney, Australia, managing director and sales promotion manager, respectively, of the Australasian organization; J. Collins of Newcastle, England, district manager; Oswald Cohen, branch manager at London; D. Gilpin, branch manager at Leeds; and Norman Wilde, manager of the British organization; Andre Ullman of Paris, manager of the Paramount theater, and Clarence M. Margos of Mexico City, general manager of the Mexican and Central American organization.

Columbia Gives Sharkey District Manager Post

Pittsburgh—After managing the local Columbia exchange for the past two years, Jim Sharkey has been promoted to district manager with supervision over Washington, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh offices with headquarters at the last named. Joe Wolf, manager of the Kansas City office succeeds Sharkey here while George Ross assumes management of the Minneapolis branch. Changes become effective June 1.

Virginia Governor Told of Blue Law Violation

Richmond—Complaints that the blue law is being violated by the operation of motion picture theaters in the Virginia seashore on the Sabbath have been received by Governor John Garland Pollard. The chief executive has been asked to see that the law is strictly enforced in places of amusement.

A Million Dollar Insurance Policy in Bell & Howell Cinemachinery!

Bell & Howell master craftsmen using optimizer and Johannson gauge blocks in measurement of a 35 mm. Bell & Howell perforator punch, the precision of which is held to within .00005 of an inch.

Grave responsibility inspires the skilled workmen in Bell & Howell factories. They realize that, annually, millions of dollars worth of movie productions are entrusted to the dependable operation of Bell & Howell cinemachinery.

One law prevails... "Make it right!" one question is constant... "Can it be made better?" How costs might be cut by substituting this or that? Slighting that is never considered.

From the first shot on location to the splicing of the trailer on the last print, the use of Bell & Howell precision machinery has always been a kind of insurance against mechanical troubles. For every hour it takes to make Bell & Howell Standard Studio Cameras, Printers, Splicers, and Perforators right, an extra year of superfine service is built into them for the appreciative members of the industry who have so long depended upon them.

Gentlemen:

I have the privilege of seeing a screening of your picture, "LADIES IN LOVE." In my opinion, this is as fine a picture as I have seen in some time. The story is natural, the action moves smoothly, and the humor is so spontaneous that it cannot fail to please any audience.

Alice Day is perfect in her rendition of her part, and she is certainly good to look at.

This picture should be a good box office bet in any theatre.

Very truly yours,

fold after much persuasion. Now, however, a Warner representative is understood to be on his way to New York, where it is expected the home office will back him up in favor of daylight saving.

All other exhibitors including the Loew Circuit, are standing pat against the new time, and due to the large number of houses controlled by Warners throughout the state, it is planned to take steps to bring pressure to bear on the Warner people to fall into line. The mayor and the school board are among the factions opposed to daylight saving, while the stores, manufacturers and public utilities favor it.

Thomas D. Goldberg, who constitutes a committee of one of the theater interests, fixed up against a chance in time, declared that there are other principles besides day-light saving "in the wind." If he warns others and others don't stand with us, and we lose," he says, "we can't expect to win over Sunday legislation or anything else, and all theater operators will be made to suffer together. If necessary, we will even go so far as to introduce legislation making it difficult for us to accommodate the millions to have shade with modern time.

WHAT the smart magazines for the current changes in the advertising mode. Get something beside fiction out of the next magazine you read...the men who are laying out the ads and writing the copy for the ads...probably get as much for the wonder for the authors of the stories that are printed. Advertising copy should be as interesting to you as fiction—the reading of advertising will probably pay a better return on your time than the reading of fiction. Concerning Hollywood
Razzing by Writers

IT has been a habit for years for novelists, playwrights and short story writers to pan the movies, particularly after the panning writers have had a session in Hollywood. Razzing this was indeed surprising to read this week in the Saturday Evening Post Ben Ames Williams's defense of Hollywood producers. Williams, who is one of the greatest short story craftsmen in the country, has had several sessions in Hollywood, a good many of his yarns having been transcribed to film. So he ought to know what he is talking about. But instead of jumping upon Hollywoodites with both feet, as so many other writers have done, he admits that, perhaps, there is a brief to be held for them—that, doubtless, they have a habit of being right about stories more times than they are wrong.

NAT SALAND of Craft Film Lab is telling the prize story of the week, with the joke on Al Rogell and also Rudolph Flothow......the gang was seeing these two off with Abe Meyer on the Brotman Limited. Rogell framed a joke with the boys to kid Flothow, a nervous, fidgety gent......as the train pulled out, Rogell lingered on the platform with Flothow yelling frantically to him to hop aboard......Al was figuring to hop on the observation platform at the rear.......and dog-gone if the train didn't have a "blind" end.......Rogell stood with his mouth open as the gang gave him the razzbery.......Flothow was hanging out of the window of the fast-moving train, waving his arms and going knuts.......Rogell jumped the next train and caught the Limited at Pittsburgh.......now he is nursing the delirious Flothow all the way to California who keeps raving: "Oy, lookee, lookee, dot Rogell has gone meshuga!"......Rogell woes back to New York: "One of us is crazy—maybe both."......

THE AMPAS had a swell time at the special showing of "The Plutoscat," at the Vanderbilt......with Billy Fay in the cast, they felt right at home.......Billy has been in the films 12 years, and sure put over a slick performance as "Doc" Taylor.......A press sheet on Sonor's "Reno" in the form of a tab paper has a notice to editors: "Permission is hereby granted to copy all or part of this newspaper".......first thing you know, editors will get to expect free stories from press agents. Walter Wingart's publicity department tried to tie-up with a railroad on Chevalier's chewing gum picture, "The Big Pond," on the ground that they were both choo-choo's......."ah-choo!"—oh, sneeze if you must, and show your ignorance.......

Signed for "Worldly Goods"

James Kirkwood and Merna Kennedy have been engaged to appear in "Worldly Goods," which Phil Rosen is to direct for Continental Talking Pictures at the Darmour studios.

A Little from "Lots"

By RALPH WILK

ERWIN GELSEY, formerly at the Paramount home office, has been named scenario editor at the New York studio of the company.

John Wayne, who plays the leading male role in Fox's "The Big Time," is being taught the art of knife throwing by Steve Clemento, Mexican actor who has been soldier, cowpuncher, railroad and circus performer. Clemento is an expert knife thrower, sharpshooter, rider and clown. Knife throwing is required for Wayne's part in the film.

Marjorie Leets, featured player in "The Big Trail" recently made an airplane trip from Yuma, where the company has been on location, to Phoenix to be married to John Cheatham Hunter of Memphis, Tenn., a Yale grad. The young bride will quit pictures when the film is completed.

O. P. Heggie is appearing in two pictures simultaneously at the First National studio. He has a role in "The Bad Man" and another in "Broken Dishes."

As his first assignment since his appointment as an associate producer he will assist in the production of "Scotland Yard," from the stage play by Dennis Clift. William K. Howard will direct, with Edmund Lowe in the featured role. Block will also act as associate producer on "Time Out," which was written by Owen Davis, and will be directed by Sidney Lanfield.

Mary Pickford has received a wire from A. H. Woods suggesting that she leave the films to return to stage work under his management and on her own terms. The producer is eager to present the screen star in Henri Bernstein's "Melo."

Robert Miller, who is now connected with the production of screen comedies, has just completed the first commercial showing of talking pictures more than eight years ago, at Town Hall, in connection with the showing of D. W. Griffith's "Dream Street." He also helped develop Geo. K. Spoor's "Phonodigraph," back in 1914.

Save for the leading role the cast of First National's "Mother's Cry," from the novel of Helen Grace Cartle is now complete.

EDUCATIONAL FINISHING SIX COMEDIES FOR JUNE

Four two-reel comedies and two Terry-Toons will be completed by Educational for release next month. The comedies are Mack Sennett's "The Chisellers," featuring Majori Bleebe, Andy Clyde and Nick Stuart "French Kisses," a Taxedo production with Monty Collins and Betty Boyd; "How's My Baby?" a Merman comedy with Monty Collins, Edie McPhail and T. Roy Barnes and Lloyd Hamilton's "Honk You Horn." The Terry-Toons are "Swiss Cheese" and "Codfish Balls."

RKO Starting Erection of Photography Building

Construction is about to start on the RKO property on a two-story building to house the company's camera and still departments.

Lucien Littlefield Cast

First National has placed Lucien Littlefield in the cast of "The Queen of Main Street," which has Lilac Lewis and Ben Lyon in the leading role William Beaudine is directing.

Harry Woods in Buck Jones Film

Columbia has signed Harry Woods for an important role in "A M. From Hell's River," the first of series of Buck Jones pictures to be made by the company.

Long Contract for Whiting

First National has signed Jack Whiting to a long-term contract.
PRODUCTION IN THE EAST
WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S WHAT IN GREATER NEW YORK STUDIOS

SHORTS NOW ON HIGHEST PLANE, PRODUCER CLAIMS

Short subjects require better story rules for two years, in the opinion of Louis Brock, Eastern shorts producer for RKO.

"I aim to make pictures of feature quality, only shorter," says Brock. "The best of acting, directorial, writing and technical talent should be applied to the short comedy field."

The 'Broadway Headliners' series, which I am now producing will mark a new epoch in short subjects." SULLIVAN STEPPING

Wallace Sullivan, former Broadway columnist, has been turning out original and original material once joining the Warner Vitaphone studios. Among his recent scripts are: "The Master Sweeper" with Chester Conklin, "Knock 'Em Down," with Ruth Etting, and "Everything Happens to Me." TALKIE CINDERELLA

Margaret Breen, who has appeared in a several of the Schwab & Mandel stage musicals, has been given the lead opposite Buddy Rogers in "Heads Up," which Victor Schertzinger will direct. Victor Moore and Helen Kane will have the principal comedic roles.

VIRGINIA M. BUSY

Virginia May, creator of animated subjects, has just started the "Fourth of July" episode for Fitzpatrick's American Holiday series, photographed by A. Hall.

ARMETTA BECOMES "TONY"

Henry Armetta, recently signed by Louis Brock to appear in RKO comedies for the next year, will be one of the featured team of "Nick and Tony." Armetta will play the role of "Tony" throughout the remainder of the series. He is expected here July 1.

METROPOLITAN'S SOUND TRACK

The Metropolitan Studios, Fort Lee, N. J., have just purchased a sound track, with specially designed only mounted on a Ford chassis. Fred S. Asch, assistant chief engineer, is responsible for the design, which allows a larger and roomier only with a reinforced roof built to accommodate two cameramen and all camera equipment.

COLORCRAFT'S PLANT

Colorcraft Corp. is preparing to start production at its newly completed plant in Long Island City. The facility has practically all been installed and camera equipment ordered, according to officials.

Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

RUBE WELCH, who collaborates with Mark Sandrich on all of the stories directed by the latter for RKO, is not going to be taken unaware. Welch has four stories ahead now and is already at work on a fifth.

Herbert Fields' "The Social Lion" has been made into a two-reel short with music for Vitaphone Varieties. Harry Fox and Beatrice Curtis are featured with a large supporting cast headed by Stanley Jenson, Frederick Roland, Louise Macintosh and Donald Kent. Arthur Hurley directed.

The elaborate double desk now used by Max Hayes at the Paramount New York studio, once occupied a prominent spot in the White House, Washington, D. C.

Charles Harten and Buddy Harris had the exciting experience of filming exterior shots of Broadway at night while traffic whizzed by all sides of them. This action will be used in "Our Blushing Brides," starring Joan Crawford.

Jack Cooper, who gave up song writing to become an actor, is doubting for Harpo Marx in "Animal Crackers," at the Paramount New York studio. Cooper looks so much like the real Harpo that visitors frequently rush up and shake his hand thinking that he is the original.

Walter Wilson, one of the principals in Clark & McCullough's first comedy for RKO, appeared in the first five reel feature ever made in the United States. The producer was Selig and the place, Chicago.

Lee Morse, recording artist, has just completed her second short for Paramount. It is called "Song Service" and is by Norman Tanrog and Walton Butterfield. Taurog also directed.

Lillian and Ann Roth, who played in vaudeville for five years as a sister team, are still playing together since Ann has a part in "Animal Crackers," the Marx Bros. starring picture, in which Lillian has the feminine lead. The sisters look enough alike to be twins and are inseparable both on and off the set.

The wealth of negro talent in Harlem was drawn on to supply a colored chorus for "Temple Belles," a Vitaphone short, just completed at the Warner studios under the direction of Roy Mack. Eddie Green and Teddy Buckman are featured.

Hal Thompson, who appears opposite Lilllian Roth in "Animal Crackers," is kept busy traveling back and forth between the Paramount studios on Long Island and the John Golden theater where he is playing juvenile lead in "Ada Beats the Drum," with Mary Boland.

Talk about keeping busy! How's this for one day's work, as reported by Ruth Etting? Warner Vitaphone studio all day, broadcasting over Station WCBS from 7:45-8 P. M., then to the Ziegfeld theater to make her regular nightly appearance in "Simple Simon" after which to sing at a private function given by Mrs. Gurmetic Muth, society leader.

It's a great break for Marjorie Ward, script girl at the Paramount New York studios, that her first assignment after a severe illness is to go on location for a week aboard a luxurious yacht, with the "Heads Up" company. Marjorie figures those sea breezes will put her right back in shape again.

At the suggestion of Arthur Cozine, asst. executive studio head, free parking space for over 100 cars has been provided across from the Paramount New York studios, for the exclusive use of employees.

OF REVOLVING LENS SYSTEM

The revolving wheel projector has been found to meet with the most exacting requirements for clear and efficient projection that efforts or supplant this method have not brought any practical results, Arthur J. Holman stated recently at the S.M.P.E. convention, in discussing which he spoke on the "Advantages of Non-Intermittent Projection by the Revolving Lens Wheel Mechanism." His abstract on the subject follows:

"Exhaustive comparison tests, conducted by men thoroughly familiar with the performance of intermittent projectors, have proven conclusively that the revolving wheel projectors, properly adjusted and operated, produce screen images which are equal to or better than those of any intermittent projector, and that the blanking effect, together with the elimination of the intermittent movement are the principal advantages of this projector."

The advantages of the revolving lens wheel system of projection reside in the elimination of the intermittent movement and the shutter. The uninterupted flow of uniform light from the screen produces a clear, bright, and extremely pleasing picture, which is less free from scintillating effect in the highlights. Due to the continuous movement, the quality of a film frame is maintained, and the appearance of graininess is further reduced and the action is smoothed out. These factors materially reduce eye-strain and fatigue, thus enabling the observer to enjoy the film to the fullest extent the improved tone quality.

The rolling film has been likened to motion pictures of old masters. Here, in short, is the "Renewal of the Intermittent Movement and the Introduction of a ScientificallyDesigned Takeup Control," and Holman made it possible to get several thousand exhibitions from a single film without accurately gauging the sprocket and dial over the picture area. Moreover, since the sprocket pin, which is normal for the film strip, is subject to very little heating effect. The aperture and gate design effectually prevent "bucking." The optical system, easily and instantly adjustable for variation in shrinkage of film, is very simple: it contains no mirrors or prisms and does not require a lens or variable velocity devices for its operation. The system may be adapted for any desired film frame size and is equally effective for the 16 mm. camera width film. This model used at the S.M.P.E. spring meeting is equipped with improved safety devices including a foolproof fire shutter and effective magazine valves."

CARE OF SYNCH. MEASURERS
EXPLAINED IN SERVICE BOOK

This is the third of a series of articles reprinted by arrangement with M-G-M from "Film Service" the official monthly magazine of the technical manager of the company’s exchange maintenance film department. THE FILM DAILY feels that these articles held have been inserted and the footnote one connected with the physical handling of film and discus.

One of the most important and useful mechanical devices in the exchange is the synchronizing mechanism. When the film and sound are properly matched and synchronized by inspectors it is imperative to assure successful handling and inspection of sound pictures. These machines are very expensive and must be handled carefully to protect our investment. In using the equipment it is advisable to check it in the same location to another, pick it up by the base: never lift it by rollers or sprockets. The lifter or lever which supports the disc counter is the only part of the machine that is to be used for lifting the upper rollers. Never lift them in any other manner as the entire mechanism may be damaged.

The following are the uses of the machine:

A. Determining the number of frames of an entire print.
B. Measuring individual scenes to determine the accuracy of same.
C. Checking one print against another print to ascertain the accuracy of continuity sheets or detect suspected film shortages or omissions in one of the prints.
D. On disc prints where black frame-line leader is used, serial numbers cannot be read, the synchronizing mechanism may be used to check scenes which are indistinguishable using the continuity sheet as a guide.

The following is the correct method of using the machine:

Set it in between the reedings with the foot-print counting devices away from the operator. Pass the film over the sprocket wheel closest to the countiing device and under the guides of the roller closest to the foot-print counting device. The film should be placed over the sprocket wheel so that the film is always at the start frame line will be between the start mark and the first frame of the picture. Repeat this process for the end of each print. The sprocket-wheel nearest the operator. When the film is placed so that the start and end frame line will be between the start mark and the first frame of the picture. Repeat this process for the end of each print.

Assemble the exact length of scene No. 1 by reading the continuity sheet. Turn the right end of the film to look for a reference mark. If the reference mark is not on the film no subsequent a photo is taken of the leader counter and the same point. If they do, if the scene and the footage and the sequence be connected, therefore, with the length called for by the continuity, the first scene is correct.

If both prints register the same, but both measure either shorter or longer than the length called for by the section continue and examine the other or incorrect error made in the continuity sheet. This error will be due to the fact that by misplacing the index foot print with a pencil and inserting the correct foot print in the correct position. Continue through to the end of the reel, stopping whenever required to check the measurements of sound pictures. Continue.

Except in an emergency, never remove the film from the sprocket wheel while operating the machine, as the exact count will be lost. The end of the film is brought in to a minimum, and the film is brought to a finish mark. After this finish is reached, the machine after making the film and is brought to a proper position.

Keep the synchronizing measuring machine in a dry place. Cover it carefully at night with a light if it is exposed once a week. There is also a hole in each of the six rollers into which a few drops of oil should be placed each week.

Splices

The liability of film to damage makes it essential that splices be made carefully and uniformly. This will aid in preventing the most troublesome and annoying defects and in preventing projection troubles which often arise due to inferior film. If the film is properly handled, it may increase the fire hazard during projection. Poor splices include those that are improperly made, splices which cause irregular motion and those which overlap too much or too little. Any sort of damage to the film should be repaired as soon as it is observed.

Grasseld film Splicers have been supplied, and are always to be used, for making film splices. Film may become stiff or may buckle through excessive stretching or too liberal application of cement, or it. To make a perfect splice, the emulsion must be thoroughly scraped on the sprocket wheel holes as well as the surrounding surface, otherwise, weak film will separate. Reels must be spliced from top to bottom, so that the film is placed in the projection machine it will not get off. Splicing is done to remove the emulsion and properly to prepare the film to the visibility of the film.

Importance of Ventilation Cited By Rudolph Kramar

Importance in keeping theaters well ventilated for the enjoyment and comfort of patrons is stressed by Rudolph Kramar, division manager of the Bronx, Manhattan and Westchester for Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, in an article in "Fox Progress." His advice to managers follows:

"You can offer the best attraction of the year and build up a program of unequalled entertainment value, but, if the ventilation of your theater is not what it should be, the patron will not enjoy the show."

"Many fine programs have been spoiled by a manager's neglect of ventilation. It takes more than good entertainment to assure complete amusement satisfaction to the patron. He must also be comfortable."

"Many thousands of dollars have been spent to make the motor picture theater a pleasant place of amusement. Courteous service and personal comfort have been among the biggest factors in the success of the motor picture business. But, while the efficiency of the uniform staff is important, there is nothing that contributes to the satisfaction of the patron so much as an atmosphere of freshness in the theater. Without that everything else is so much good effort gone to waste."

"In the morning, when cleaning the theater, the workers should throw open all the windows and doors, creating a draft and removing the odors of dust and cleansing materials."

"During the summer months, all the fans should be running to insure an ample and even circulation of pure, clean air at all times. Keep open all the windows that do not admit light that might interfere with the proper projection of the picture."

"If your theater closes during the supper hour, open every window and door and refreshen the house with fresh air."

"Great care must be exercised in avoiding drafts during the performance."

"Now is the time to inspect the air shafts and steel the ventilation system to remove any debris that has accumulated and is interfering with the free entry of air."

"The exhaust fans must be conditioned daily. The stage shaftways should be opened daily during the morning and in the intermissions."

"Every manager should immediately inspect his ventilation system and institute a regular routine of daily inspection."

"The Manager has to be on the lookout for any conditions that limit or alter the ventilation of the theater. And right now, during the first warm days of summer, the performance of the exhaust fan that duty is the test of a manager's dependability."

FRANK NETSCHERT, Inc.
61 Barclay Street
New York, N. Y.

Based on the musical farce by the same name. Schwab and Mandel have produced a talker which looks like one of the biggest picture promises on the Paramount list. The plot is sure-fire and Director Fred Newmeyer hasn’t overlooked a single laugh. According to the story, a pair of squabbling partners. Some of them to end their association, compromise by a game of show-down. The loser for one year agrees to play servant with the partner. The situation is to have charge of the business. Ruggles loses but upsetting the morale of his partner by taking love for his wife. The wonderful thing is the partners discover that their attorney tricked them and the contract is illegal. Frank Morgan gives an ace performance, the players are fine. The music is okay.

Direction, cooking. Photography, good.

Dolores Del Rio in  “The Bad One”  with Edmund Lowe

United Artists  Time, 1 hr., 15 mins.  TELL ME LOVE, TELL ME TALE, ALL KINDS OF IT.” FULL OF ACTION, SKILFULLY DIRECT-ED AND ACTED WITH ZEST.

It is a plucky story about a girl who falls in love with a man of guts. After several reversals of fortune, it plunges into a strong dramatic vein as a result of an accident. The girl, played by Del Rio, was executed in the directing of The Woman who is about to marry. The lad, played by Lowe, had been circled, and the girl grows to love him in a natural way.

Dolores Del Rio, Edmund Lowe.

Direction: George Fitzmaurice; Author, John Carrow; Adaptations, Carr, Edmund Lenol; Photographers, Edmund Lenol; Directors, Karl Scrase; Monitor Man, not listed.

Direction, top-notch. Photography, excellent.

George Bancroft in  “Ladies Love Brutes”  Paramount  Time, 1 hr., 11 mins.  TYPICAL BANCRFOIT VEHICL CARRIES STRONG PUNCH WITH STIRRING ACTION AND BIG HEART INTEREST IN THE MONEY.

This one will please all the Bancroft fans, and should add consider to his following. Taken from Joe Akin’s story, “Pardon My Glove,” it tells a typical Bancroft tale of a rough gent who tries to ape the manners of the man he should love. It is a poor job of it. It is a very human and appealing characterization in the star’s best manner, and George’s voice records fine. As a wealthy sky-scraper builder, Bancroft works on his own construction jobs, Bancroft meets a society woman and falls hard. There is some clever under-world stuff and the plot that develops very tense situations. Mary Astor is charming as the support. The picture has some good direction, is well paced and balanced, with a generous sprinkling of laughs. Looks like a popular number.

Director, Rowland V. Lee; Author, Zoe Akin; Adaptations, W. D. Wilmot, Young, Herman J. Mankiewicz, Dialogue, not listed; Editor, not listed; Monitor Man, not listed.

Direction, very good. Photography, fine.

“Soldiers and Women”  with Aileen Pringle, Grant Withers Columbia  Time, 1 hr., 13 mins.  TENSE DRAMA OF DOMESTIC COMPLICATIONS IN MILITARY LIFE OF HAITI, DRESSED INTO A MURDER MYSTERY WITH SOME HUMOROUS TOUCHES.

Starting out as a romantic mix in which two wives of Marine Corps officers in love with a single man, who in turn loves one of the women, this capably directed military life in Haiti tumbled into a fairly suspenseful story over who killed the no-account husband of one of the women. Why. Intensity is pretty well maintained and the business is punctuated by a generous amount of humor through the efforts of Emmett Corrigan, as a command general, and his own deductions in solving the crimes. Aileen Pringle does a consistent piece of work, and the story teems with the merits suicide after turning out to be the murderer. Helen Johnson, another woman in the tangle. gives a fine performance, while Grant Withers does work as the bachelor captain. A picture program picture.

“The Burning Heart”  with Mady Christians, Gustav Froelich  (Synchronized)

Harold Arlen Time, 1 hr., 25 mins.  FAIR GERMAN DRAMA LIT UP BY MUSICAL ACCOMPANIMENT AND GOOD PHOTOGRAPHS.

This German-made drama, which is a sequel to the background, directed by Ludwig Berger, is interesting only in spots. As a whole it is a deliberate and heavy-paced with wide popular favor. It is the story that is imaginative and of unconvincing situations, it is forced to depend upon its for much of its attraction. Its chronized score is pleasing and there is some nice singing by Mady Christians. The acting is generally poor, but it is the story that is artificial. The photography in occasion extremely effective, the shots are realistically done and the acting is commendable. A man, a woman and a true Christian plays a young singer is forced by the death of her work as a church girl. She is a devoted and loving woman, a lover, a composser, who upon the truth breaks with her. They patch matters up.

Cast: Mady Christians, Friedel von Steudel, Friedrich Kayseler, Friedel Kayseler, Otto Reis, Ida May; Editor, Alfred Heineking; Director, Ludwig Berger; Author, Muller; Camera, Curt Courant. Direction, all right. Photography, fair.
* Runaway Bride ****
With Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes in the title roles.
**
Corking melodrama sprinkled with plenty of comedy that makes for good entertainment.
Principal and supporting cast does fine work.

There is plenty of excitement for Mary Astor in this one and she handles her role in major fashion.

While she carries most of the burden, Lloyd Hughes comes in for a good share of the honors.

Natalie Moorhead, as a hotel maid and accomplice of the gang who later double crosses them, delivers a good performance.

Paul Hurst, in the role of a detective, is a sure bet for characterizations of the George Bancroft type.

The better, Maurice Black and Francis McDonald are good in their respective parts.

As she is about to run away from her future husband, the heroine unwittingly becomes embroiled in a robbery when a string of necklaces are deposited in her bag. She looks lovely.

Time, 1 hr., 20 mins.

Average College Yarns Over With Benny Rubin Pulling the Aughts. Will Please the Lappers, As Well As the Rowds Who Like to See College Life Travelled.

With the usual college yarn material, Mr. Rubin is a seasoned performer, and Touro succeeds in keeping it fairly entertaining, and with his Rubin as the freshman with Jewish accent, the laughs come readily and generously throughout.

His Rubin person has a personality of his own, and just to look at him sufficient to start the laughs coming.

The cast gives him good support, and Marceline Day gets by on an attractive personality. The good hokum is generated generously, with hero making the last minute dash win the game for good old alma mater, and also the girl. It essentially light summer entertainment with its appeal to the younger elements.

“The Haunted Ship”
Time, 6 mins.

Aesop Fable Gem

Set down as one of the finest, if not the finest, Aesop Fable to be turned out by the Van Beuren people, and the travesty conceived here is pure entertainment, imaginative, capably recorded, musically pleasing.

A neat piece of work any way you look at it. The story concerns the experiences of two characters who, flung into the ocean when their airship is destroyed, find themselves on a sunken ship inhabited by strange denizens of the sea. One of them hopes to marry a piano, setting all the creatures occupying the vessel on a dancing and singing.

An Ill Wind or No Mother to Guide Her?
Time of 12 mins.

Fair Miller Burlesque

As a burlesque on the melodrama of the old school, this show is passable, though it would have been more acceptable had the recording been better. The material is adequate and the travesty is done in good style, but the voices of the players at times are badly muffled.

The story is that of the heroine who refuses to wed the villain who holds the mortgage on her home, is trapped in the saw-mill and is about to be cut in two when the hero arrives to save her. Among the players are Edna Hubbard, Theodora Lorch and Eddie Graham.

The Royal Fourfours
Time, 16 mins.

Amusing Comedy

An entertaining comedy in which Eddie Buzzell appears as a modern man set in a mythical kingdom. He finds himself having quite a hectic time of it. While pursuing one of the king's beautiful subjects, he is himself captured by the queen, who forces him to make love to her. His fall from royal favor comes when he playfully slaps the king, mistaking him for the queen. Cast into a dungeon, he escapes with the aid of the girl he loves in time to avoid being beheaded.

A Holiday in Storyland
Time of 9 mins.

Kiddie Musical

Real entertainment for the children is found in this colorful act that provides a variety of musical comedy fare. The children are talented and deliver the parts and deliver performances that will appeal to the whole family trade with great satisfaction.

The story is based on "Mother in the描述", and is done in all-Technicolor.

The Cave Club
Time of 9 mins.

A Cabaret Cycle

Beginning with night club life in the stone ages and changing to our present day, the cycle has been more entertaining if a trifle more energy was injected into the performances. Everything seems to be done in such a perfunctory manner that it fails to hold interest. It just ambles along with some fairly good routine numbers by the chorines. The rest lack the fire and pep for a real, fast and entertaining short of its type.

Money, Money, Money
Time of 8 mins.

Good Dramatic Sketch

A dramatic sketch that makes good diversion. It is rather well done in terse and simple style. The time is New Year's Eve. The place is the apartment of a wealthy real estate man who has an engagement to dine with a lady. When the girl fails to appear he calls in a down-and-out from the streets to share the meal with him. The fellow bears a mercenary woman for his plights. When his host's friend finally turns up at midnight, it develops that she is the same woman referred to by the stranger. There is nice work by a cast including Bobby Watson, Rudolph Cameron and Wilbur Mack.

Father's Day at Home
Time, 5 mins.

A Mirthful Musical

Opening scene of this cartoon comedy shows father curled up in a chair enjoying his pipe and sporting secure in the fact that he is safe from such accidents as he has been reading about. His peace is disturbed by an insurance solicitor who tries to sell him an accident policy but is sent away. Willy calls him to help fix the roof and, while perched on the top of the ladder, he takes a steep fall, landing in the water barrel. Insurance solicitor has been hanging around and signs him up while the need of such protection is apparent.

This industrial short is produced for Aetna Insurance Co. and provides good entertainment.

VALLE and BOLGER TOP
PARAMOUNT STAGE SHOW

A well-balanced stage show providing excellent popular entertainment has been brought to the Paramount this week. While Rudy Vallee at the head of his Connecticut Yank-ees is offered as the main drawing card, it is Ray Bolger, that fine comedian, who gets the biggest hand. And deservedly, too. Bolger completely wins his audience not only through his comic ability, but also through a style of dancing that is as much a part of himself as the comedy he puts over. His mad humor and senseless antics are productive of no end of fun. He also reveals a remarkable flair for impersonation. When he presents his own impression of an adagio dancer, later to follow with one of Bill Robinson dancing, he brings an enthusiastic response from his audience.

Rudy Vallee's boys play some popular tunes softly and melodiously. No harshness is to be noted in their performance. Rudy makes sure not to disappoint the ladies. He supplements his work on the saxophone by singing several popular tunes through the megaphone.

Another feature on the program is the Brox Sisters, who croon a medley of popular songs. Other entertainers are Helen MacFarland, a versatile miss; the Fred Evans Tulip Girls, who execute a dance symbolic of the advent of spring, and Emilie & Romaine, an adagio team that does creditably. The show, a Boris Petroff production called "The Blue Mill," has a Dutch setting of windmills rising against a deep blue sky; it is an effective background.

DIVERSIFIED BILL AT ROXY HAS COLOR AND NOVELTY

This week's stage presentation at the Roxy opens with "The Garden of Dreams," a beautifully staged number showing a garden with white marble figures which come to life as Patricia Bowman sits and dreams. She dances with the main figure, Leonide Massine, and returns again to her dreaming. The Roxy Ballet corps goes through some graceful movements in its usual finished style. The Roxettes follow in abbreviated blue costumes with enormous plume headdresses which are employed effectively in the maneuvers. The Dumbar Carillonneers play a number with their silver bells, while behind a scrim the figures in the dim background lend atmosphere to the theme of the music. The final bit is "Up Among the Chimney Pots," a novelty number, with the chimney pieces coming to life and dancing on the housetops. This number is very elaborately done, using the entire ballet and chorus. The lighting effects in the windows of the houses is cleverly handled, and the bill proves to be well balanced and sufficiently light for the summer season.

Further expansion has been proposed by Charles Burrell, who suggests AMPA become members of the Society of M. P. E. producers because of the revolutionary developments that are being worked out by this organization. Burrell mentioned a cinema projection of 16 lines and an automatic viewfinder device for continuous projection which will increase the life of film 600 per cent. Today a film can be shown 60 times before it is junked, but with this machine it can be shown 600 times. The inventor, A. Helman, of Brooklyn, Mass, has been working on the device for 10 years. It operates without shutters and noise, and may replace one part of the present apparatus. Burrell also said Russia is an excellent field of opportunity for press agents.

highest figure, Emanuel Cohen announced the shorts, totalling 178.

A change in Paramount's sales policy was outlined by Sidney R. Kent, who said that pictures today are a style business and productions must be made to the cinema and rapidly changing taste of theater patrons thereby making it impossible for producers to announce and live up to every detail of films to be delivered as much as a year later. For this reason, Kent said, Paramount not attempting to give definite details of its entire program, and the program announce ment becomes a part of the exhibition contract only as far as it covers definite pictures announced at this time.

Exhibitors who prefer to buy new only the portion of the product announced, and take a chance on obtaining the remainder as it is finished, will be allowed to negotiate on that basis, Kent said.

Sam Katz was among the speakers at the show. He talked on public tastes in film entertainment and stated that 35,000,000 persons entered 1,151 Poliex theaters each week.

90 Gold Street, New York
THE New York Daily News and the Chicago Tribune, each with the biggest circulation in America's two biggest cities, have both overwhelmingly demonstrated the popularity of Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell.

Each has conducted a movie star popularity contest. Gaynor and Farrell have won in both by a wide margin.

In New York:
- Janet Gaynor: 40,417
- Nearest competitor: 24,162
- Charles Farrell: 37,075
- Nearest competitor: 29,041

In Chicago:
- Janet Gaynor: 8,202
- Nearest competitor: 5,420
- Charles Farrell: 5,950
- Nearest competitor: 4,625

Exhibitors will not be surprised at their victory. They know that the names of Gaynor and Farrell on a house front bring capacity business.

Before these youngsters came to the Fox Studios five years ago they were unknown. Fox pictures and the great Fox organization have brought them to the top.

The King and Queen of the Movies will be together again in "Oh, For a Man!" following their sensational success in "Sunny Side Up" and "High Society Blues".

Style Changes—An up-to-date observation

By JACK ALICOATE

ID KENT, keen analyst and head man in Paramount sales councils, speaks right out from rostrum in convention assembled in Atlantic City and says notion pictures are now a style business. That productions must be made according to current tastes that change constantly. New faces and voices are continually coming to the fore and should not be denied immediate distribution because of casts announced months previously. In typical Kential fashion he points out that his company will be willing to negotiate with theater owners on the basis that the exhibitor definitely booking product announced and taking a chance on the remainder of the Paramount program as it is finished. Here is some good old-fashioned hard common sense. Too many quarrels have already arisen regarding substitution. The industry reaction to Mr. Kent's straightforward observation will be interesting.

Coming and Going

The business, art, or industry of book publishing is flourishing, but only so far as its connection with the motion picture industry is continued. The day of the independent publisher is rapidly fading away. Some idea of how pictures are cut into this once happy, independent, and prosperous field can be gleaned from the fact that Warner Bros. alone published 308 songs during the past year. One way, if you leave out Tuesdays, some songs.

Metre Releases for Next Season May Be Increased to 52

115 Shorts Planned by Educational for 1930-31

Short Weight
—or quality vs. quantity—

By Jack Alcicote

If one thing we can be sure, and that is when opening our morning mail we will at least one letter from an exhibitor condemning the length of features since talkers became style. That this problem is a sensitive as well as economic one is shown by many exhibitors is established fact. Personally we have always preferred quality to quantity but that won't suffer as an argument to an irritable and juggling customer who has been used to hours of amusement or his two-bits and feels cheated turned out minutes earlier. Formerly a small exhibitor could his gang along, and frequently did, by slowing down his machines 60 or 70. Now with machines used to run 90 that simply can't be done. Today a 60-minute feature runs just that and no more, or a two-hour show the little feller needs plenty more film or another feature. This, they write us, a burden they cannot shoulder under existing conditions. To us the answer looks like lower prices features, with more shorts and one-reeler to balance the bill. At my rate we're telling you producer furnishes what these exhibitor affairs are writing us, so take it leave it for what it is worth.

are legion. This step will be hailed with universal approval. The kids of today are the grown-ups of tomorrow. Given screen fare that is entertaining, amusing and sometimes instructive, this vast army of youngsters can be educated early in the fact that despite the criticism directed toward it, mostly unjust, the motion picture is the most wholesome and satisfying amusement in the world.

That 5-5-5 Business

Lost, strayed or stolen, one slightly damaged but easily repaired 5-5-5 Conference. Last reports from the front line trenches, now being covered by our sports editor, are that this once highly thought of gathering is getting no place, quickly. And because of what? A highly original production idea- to gross somewhere in the neighborhood of three million, a dark old Public house that ain't much good anyway, and a monthly magazine to be edited, sold and otherwise distributed from Washington, D. C. Of course, there are a couple of fellows calling a couple of other fellows a couple of so-and-sos, etc., and we believe there is an apology demanded somewhere along the line. May we take this opportunity to point out that through all this childish and silly mess, and we take no sides, the critical eye of filmdom public opinion is focused upon the entire situation. If the 5-5-5 conference that promised so much is allowed to blow up as the result of petty political trickery, it will do so with the industry having a pretty general idea of the approximate cause and reason.

Educational Convention Sidelines

Earl W. Hammons started the ball rolling by opening the eastern confab with a welcoming speech which was followed by a general outline of new product.

Incidentally, few introductions were necessary on the part of Hammons as every branch manager was present at the convention last year.

Second to make an address was A. S. Kirkpatrick, assistant general manager. He told the boys some interesting things which were scribbled down for future reference.

Stanley W. Hatch, sales manager, who has been with the company only a few months, made his first appearance before the boys. His little talk was well received by the eastern contingent.

All that there was to know about advertising, so to speak, was told in about 10 minutes by Gordon S. White, advertising and publicity director. White hasn’t yet made a record of the speech and hence will accompany the home office group to the Chicago and Denver meetings.

Among the youngest branch managers was Arthur Greenblatt, who is in charge of one of the most important offices in the new exchange. Greenblatt has been with the company a little over four years.

True veterans in the sales force line-up are J. H. Morgan (Albany), Howard F. (Daddy) Brink (Buffalo), H. R. Skirholl (Cleveland), and Joseph Kasten (Pittsburgh). Most of these men have been with the company since its inception. Some record, and something to be proud of.

While F. G. Silter (Boston) and J. H. Beaver (Washington) are the most recent additions to managerial posts, each attended the sales confab last year.

Sitting next to each other at the round table were Johnny Bachman, formerly of Washington and now in charge of the Philly branch, and J. H. Beaver, who succeeded him at the Capitol post. Bachman, you bet, was reminiscing about former days and how many times he visited the White House.

J. A. Bachman, Philadelphia: Arthur Greenblatt, New York; L. J. Klar, New Haven; were presented with laurel wreaths, or something, for the outstanding showings made in Educational’s May Drive.

After an absence of three years, Charles Christie’s smile graced the bench as an old friend of sessions of yesterday’s meeting. Mack Sennett was represented by his eastern representative, W. B. Frank, who almost pulled Mr. Christie a prank; in fact, is the new non-stop smoker. We could, but won’t, add that being associated with Mack Sennett is enough to make anyone smile.

James Travis is also looking like a Peacock ad. The past year was his first year as Canadian General Manager, and it was also Education’s best year in the Canadian territories, so of course Travis is all enthusiasm.

L. J. Klar, Cincinnati, and R. W. Dodge of the advertising and publicity department, are trying to show their superiority by discussing their colorful experiences as Mar-ines.

COURT ORDER STOPS SALE OF STOCK OF CORIANTE

Corianton Corp., 160 W. 44th New York, organized to promote talking picture based on the life of the first Mormon settlers, has been temporarily restrained in a suit filed by Supreme Court Justice John Johnston of Brooklyn from disposing of stock in the venture. Information is contained in an announcement given out at the instance of Assistant Attorney General Wallace Washington, who has charge of the State Bureau of Securities. The court charged the film still remains produced though it was agreed at one time the company was formed to work on it was to start more than April 6 of this year. The defendants have to show cause in May 26 why the order should be made permanent.

Eres Not a No Talkie System

The best news that we have heard is that the movie producers have agreed to apply ethics to their pictures. This is not a new system of ethics, they are a system of reality and good taste. Do you wonder that we are not a No Talkie System?

No Pathe Silents
Pathe production plans at present make it more probable that no silent version of a Pathe product will eventually determine whether or not some will be made.

Talkie Sales Talk
Sales confab messages have gone to talkies. At the current Pathe conclave, at the instance of Pathe President H. E. Smith, was heard the first of the series of reports on the features of this type of filmed enthusiasm.

Schumann, Urbansky

Though not a year old yet, the Paramount-Publix hour, broadcast over the Canadian network every Saturday night, can boast of two international programs and 14 transcontinental hook-ups from Hollywood.

Pathe Convention Sideline

Chalk up as the youngest Pathe branch manager Sam Leikof of Pittsburgh. He also happens to be one of the newest additions to the force.

General Sales Manager Phil Reisman and Bob Mochrie have no competition to the claim of "tallest men" honors.

These boys traveled the big pond for the conflag: Reginald Smith, managing director of P.D.C. in London and H. E. J. Spearman, general European manager on the Continent.

But of all the jays to attend was J. J. Jennings, Boston salesman.

The gavel was controlled by E. L. McEvoy, who held sway during the session.

He's down as Bea Brummel. Who? None other than Ed. Bollenb., of course.

J. J. Feller and Frank Drum, both of the New York exchange, had a debate on how many feathers the Pathe rooster had. And since neither wanted to start a puhcging contest, the result was a draw.

Russia has made little progress in talking pictures owing to mechanical difficulties partly attributable to insufficient equipment, says Serg Eisenstein, who has been importing by Paramount to direct at a studio. Practically nothing is being done with color and wide film that country, he states.

In directing for Paramount Eisenstein intends to keep action as close to keynotes of his pictures with dialog and settings being completed later. He remains in New York two weeks before going to the Coast, with his cameramen Edouard Tisse.

Crabtree to Name Board for Historical Picture
President J. L. Crabtree of the M. P. E. will appoint a committee of Chicago tradesmen to recommend to President Hoover's committee the names of certain historic news films. In accordance with the plan adopted in connection with recent S. M. P. E. session in Washington, this committee has approved the Archives Bldg., in that city.

Foley, Fla.—R. M. Callam is managing the Royal, which was moved from Eastport to the new home of the Brooks Scanlan Corp. here.

Springfield, O.—Paramount has brought suit against the Springfield Amusement, Inc., the Charmers and the Regent State Corp., for an order to compel them to arbitrate a dispute. Paramount’s contention is that the old contracts are valid and that the differences in question should be arbitrated, while the exhibitors claim exemption as a result of the Thacher decision.

Chicago—The Chicago Title & Trust Co. has started foreclosure proceedings against the Drake Theater Bldg. Corp. Among the interested parties are Ascher Bros. Theater Corp., Ambassador Theaters Corp., Dramon Theater Co., Chicago Electric Equipment Co., Albert Goldman, Peter Nikitas and others.

Toledo—Through the efforts of local theater interests, the passing of an ordinance against standing room has been forestalled.

Atlanta—Visualizeit, Inc., the film laboratories established the beginning of the year, are now located in new quarters at 148½ Walton St.

Lima, O.—The Royal, operated by Mallers Brothers, is closed indefinitely.

Findlay, O.—Frank G. Hellman has closed the New Royal for an indefinite period.

Cleveland—Ben Joel of the local Loew organization, has been transferred to the Loew home office in New York. Miss Veronica Stair, a Cleveland native, has preceded him as booking manager, succeeds him in the same position.

Milwaukee—James C. Keeffe, publicity advertising director for the Milwaukee Fox theaters, has announced the addition of Douglas F. George to the staff. George, who was formerly exploitation manager for RKO in the Middle West and advertising manager of the National Program Co., Chicago, will publicize the Merrill, Strand and Milwaukee, while Ben Katz will devote his entire time now to the Wisconsin.

Burlington, N. C.—Publix-Saenger is reported planning to erect a theater here to seat 1,100.

Vicksburg, Miss.—Monte Hance has succeeded Asa Booksh as manager of the Alama.

Cleveland—C. McKain, representative of Talking Picture Epics in northern Ohio, has been called to the home office. Bill Onic will succeed him.

Milwaukee—Incorporation papers have been filed by Famous Players-Lasky Corp., which will distribute Paramount pictures in Wisconsin. The authorized capital stock is $100,000, all common. Chauncey E. Blake is the local agent of the corporation.

Avon Park, Fla.—Avon has been purchased by Herbert Pitman.

New Orleans—Casino has been re-opened under the management of Mike Piscotta, who has completely renovated it.

Medford, Wis.—O. J. Blake, owner of the Cozy, plans to build a theater here with a seating capacity of 500 to be completed early next fall.

St. Worth, Tex.—Pantages here is to be re-opened in June as the Plaza by Leon B. Lewis, manager of the Queen Amusement Co.

Cabool, Mo.—Half interest in the Gentry has been purchased by Don W. Walker of Turley.

Sparta, Wis.—M. H. Thompson has installed the latest sound equipment in his theater here.

Cleveland—Having outgrown the exchange building which it built four years ago, Fox will either build a new structure here or will add another story to its present quarters.

Milwaukee—Rumor is current that Warner is contemplating the construction of a $350,000 theater in West Allis with a seating capacity of 1,100.

Clinton, Mo.—Bert Byler has been made manager of the Lee, succeeding Fern Gumm, who recently resigned.

Atlanta —W. C. Costephen, formerly with the Eaves Theaters, Inc., in Charlotte, N. C., is now with the Eltham Film Co. in the capacity of office manager and booker, succeeding George D. Jackson.

Camden, S. C.—Dixie has reopened after a year under the management of R. H. Matthews.

Bryson City, N. C.—S. T. Rankin has acquired the Swain, which he has rechristened the Yonah. The theater was formerly operated by J. R. Randolph, Jr.

Madison, Wis.—Eastwood Theater Co., is being reorganized and re-financed. Moneys here interest have acquired the majority of stock, and stockholders and creditors of the company will be paid in full and the company placed on a secure financial basis.

Foreign

London—Sari Marita's first role under her contract with Gaumont will be in "Bed and Breakfast."

Jerusalem—Talking pictures were seen in this city for the first time recently when Zion Hall opened with Western Electric equipment.

London—Carlyle Blackwell will be supported by Edna Best and Jack Raine in the next talker to be produced by him under the name "Repartition." The picture will be distributed by Paramount.

ONE OF THE 8 PATHÉ WONDER SERIES FOR 1930-1931

Collect the wages of humor! Pay off time on the Pathé lot—collect your share of the wages of humor! For here’s a new addition to the Pathécomedy family—Folly Comedies, all SIX away beyond par, even Pathécomedy par. Take “Two Fresh Eggs,” a huge gob of enjoyable nonsense with an all-star cast including Al St. John, Jimmy Aubrey, Helen Patterson, directed by Monte Carter. And “The Boss’s Orders,” in which a riotous situation is riotously handled by Gene Morgan, Addie McPhail, Arthur Hoyt and Gertrude Astor, with Fred Guiol directing. It’s folly to hold back!

ENTRIES FLOCK IN FOR FILM GOLF TOURNAMENT

(Continued from Page 1) learn that the tournament is to be held at the Glen Oaks Golf & Country Club. Those who were at the tournament last Spring know that these greens and fairways are ideal for golfers.

The stage for the big event is now set with the committee hard at work. Just a little less than a month to go, but that shouldn't prevent those who expect to attend from sending in their entries NOW.

Chain Competition is Made Lively Topic in Oklahoma

Oklahoma City—Since Hon. E. B. Howard, of Tulsa, candidate for governor, made his hot speech on "Chain Competition Menace" at the annual convention of the M.P.T.O. of Oklahoma, the matter of chains has become a lively topic among exhibitors, exchange managers and others throughout the state. Howard's talk received a unanimous vote of approval. M. A. Lightman and A. M. Nomand also spoke.

W. H. Lawrence, of Madill, is new president of the organization and Phil Ikeby, of Oklahoma City, is secretary.

No Talke

A FILM DAILY representative bumpted into Sam Katz in the Ambassador lobby, Atlantic City, during the Paramount convention.

"How many theaters has Publix got at present?" he asked in his quest for illuminating facts.

"No," was the reply.

West Coast Beres, THE FILM DAILY Hollywood—In an address before the Wampas, Charles C. Pettijohn of the House office deplored the growth of bad taste in picture advertising and urged press agents to get new ideas. Pettijohn leaves today for the East.

PLAN AMERICAN STUDIOS FOR FOREIGN COUNTRIES

On top of announcement by Jesse L. Lasky that Paramount has launched production activities abroad that eventually may lead to the company having a studio in every European country of importance, cable dispatches from London report that Fox is likely to be the next American company to start production on the other side. Gaumont British, the Fox affiliate in Great Britain, has studio facilities in the country which could be utilized by Fox. Several Gaumont directors, including William Oster, Inadore Oster and C. M. Woolf, now are in New York for conferences with Harley L. Clark, and the matter of Fox producing abroad is understood. Discussions are using the topics stated for discussion.

The Brandt, now abroad, also is intended to be investigating the possibilities for producing in Europe.

H. Price of the Smoky City has the name exhibitors talk about when buying pictures.

It just so happens that Ross Crop- per is from the bean city, Boston, but he has no appetite for them. Rooster is his meat.

Another salesman that knows his chickens is Ed. Carroll, no relation to the Brood rooster, who sells Pathe's output in New York and Jersey.

'Tis said that L. Garvey and his Albany boys took in the paramanic Hudson by way of the night boat. It's a little too early for that, we think.

A different suit a day keeps S. F. Kenneth (N. Y.) gay.

Max Fellerman, who hails from Brooklyn, took one peck out of the writers and found his home at first sight. This without glasses, too!

Rutgers Neilson in his spiel told the boys that they all should turn press agents and team with the home office crew.

Joseph O'Sullivan, feature ad writer, and Manny Lee, short subject ad writer, were the concentration of the meet—now watch the sales smashers in the trades. Charlie Ulrich, dean of the press book creators, was very much in evidence.

Art Goldsmith, Philadelphia Sales- man, sported a solid red tie (the first day of the convention only).

As elevator to 50th floor elicted off numbers, boys thought it was Pathe stock advancing.

Ross Cropper, Boston Branch Manager, will be last to get away. Ross will remain in New York for the week.

By HARRY N. BLAIR

Murray Roth's latest Broad- way invasion has netted the Brooklyn talking picture studio eight stars for Vitaphone Varieties. From musical comedy there's Ruth Etting of "Simple Simon," Betty Compton, Jack Thompson and Gertrude Mc- Donald of "Fifty Million French- men," Alice Boulden and Harry Fox. The stars from the legitimate stage are Spencer Tracy of "The Last Mile" and Katherine Alexander of "Hotel Universe."

Lucien Littlefield, who manages a baseball team as a hobby, is work- ing in a William Beaudine picture, as yet untitled. Littlefield recently finished work in "She's My Weakness," which Mel Brown directed for RKO.

Vitaphone built quite a realistic Pullman car for a scene in "The Social Lion." The set was so real that some of the extras fell sound asleep in the comfortable chairs. From which one might deduce that the train was bound for Philadelphia.

J. S. Winich, chief projectionist at the Paramount New York studios, leaves May 25 for a combined business and pleasure trip to the West Coast.

Olive Shea, radio queen of 1929, Joey Ray of Earl Carroll's "Van- ties," and Billy Taylor, musical comed y player, have the leads in the just completed Vitaphone Variety two-reel musical comedy of college life, "The Varsity Show." Bur- nee Hershey wrote the script and Harold Levy and Neville Fleeson the music and lyrics. Roy Mack directed.

Jay Garney, staff composer an musical advisor at the Paramount New York studios, is also a gradu- ate lawyer, having received his LLB in addition to a B.A. degree in mu sic, at the University of Michigan. His folks wanted him to be a lawyer but music won out.

The atmosphere of the Ideal studios suggested a poultry farm during one sequence of Clark & M. Callough's latest comedy, "Part of the action calls for Bobby Clark to swallow an egg, whole, which is sup- posed to contain a chick. The direc- tor, Mark Sandrich offered a bono to the extra who could best imitate the "peep peep" of a chicken as plenty of competition resulted.

"Temple Belles," a novelty sing- ing and dancing revue, has been completed as one of the Vitaphone Varieties. Roy Mack directed the subject with Eddie Green, Ted Blackman and a colored chorus created from the Harlem night club.

Educational Convention Sidelights

The convention couldn't end too soon for Arthur Greenblatt. He was expecting a telephone call from the hospital at any moment with the good news that he had become a father.

F. G. Slitter, who hales from the town where Heinz and his ST. Varie- lates his house, took time of last night by staying in town and taking in a Broadway show. Well, that's an exchange manager for you.

The last meeting broke up early in the afternoon. Some of the boys decided to take a squint of the grand Broadway canyon in broad daylight from the Paramount building. R. S. Kirboll of Cleveland claims that it is no comparison to Euclid Avenue in his home town.

L. J. Klar of Cincinnati wised wise. Can you imagine him telling the reason he only rolls with his meals that it is a "short" loaf? How about pretzels there old chap?

Johnny Backman, who crossed the Hudson to get here from Philly, compared town quite different. But he prefers conventions to all other trips.

Earl W. Hammons told the boys that there wouldn't be any change in the sales policy this year. And those bulldog pushers will continue to sell "short" all next year.

broadcast to the convention gathering through amplifiers, were the highlights of the second-day's session of the RKO convention at the studio here.

Sarnoff cited the rapid progress of RKO, traced the work of Joseph I. Schenck and William Le Baron and predicted greater things ahead. "What has gone ahead is as nothing compared to the opportunities before us," he said.

"In an industrial era that demands complete co-ordination to ensure success, and in an entertainment era where the laboratory and the studio must link the technician and the artist, where the invention of today may create the art of tomorrow, RKO stands as the first complete unit in the field of entertainment. We produce in our own studios, we record sound through our own system, we equip theaters with our own reproducing apparatus, and we are assured of a position in the theater field. Back of all these is the co-operation we may expect from our sales force; our expert radio electrical and phonographic laboratories constantly laboring to create and develop new forms of electrical entertainment."

Brown also emphasized Schenck, LeBaron and the entire organization and spoke on the expansion plans of the organization. "If we have reached the status in the morning and outlined the program of 34 fea- tures, 54 shorts and 300 short subjects the Le Baron and Luther Reed also spoke.

In 1899, Gloria Swanson, it is said, had a crush on a young Man in the audience. She married him.
G. Hawks, C. Gardner Sullivan, Monte Katterjohn and John Lynch worked forming producing company.

Reheits comedies to be released through Education.

Robert Harron Productions through Metro next season. Richard Barthelmess productions also to be released.
Dick Talmadge Completes His First Talking Picture

Richard Talmadge has completed "The Yankee Don," which marks his debut in talking pictures. He is supported by Lupita Tovar, Gayne Whitman, Alma Real, Sam Appel and Arthur Judd, and a Spanish version is planned. "The Yankee Don" is a story of the old West. Miss Tovar's work in the picture has won her important engagements with three of the leading production companies.

Many Cities to be Visited in Making "Railroad Man"

A score of middle West cities as far as Chicago will be visited by the K.KO troupe making "The Railroad Man," featuring Louis Wolheim, Jean Arthur and Robert Armstrong. George B. Seitz is directing and Myles Connolly is supervising.

Owen Davis Story for Fox

Fox will produce "Hot Numbers," from the pen of Owen Davis. Sidney Lanfield will direct from Russell Medcraft's adaptation. Dixie Lee, Joyce Compton, George Corcoran, Marjorie White, Richard Keene, Gus Howard, Rex Bell, Leslie Mae, Goodie Montgomery and Frank Richardson will be in the cast.

"Paradise Island" Completed

"Paradise Island" has been completed by Tiffany under the direction of Bert Glennon. Players include Kenneth Harlan, Marceline Day, Paul Hurst, Victor Potell, Will Stanton, Thomas Santschi, Gladden James, Betty Boyd. Music has been composed by Will Jason and Val Burton.

Tibbett Back in Hollywood

Lawrence Tibbett is back in Hollywood ready to start work with Grace Moore in the talker version of "The New Moon" for G-M-G.

Mary Brian for Warner Film

Mary Brian has been borrowed from Paramount to enact the leading feminine role in Warner's "Captain Applejack.""Tiffany Signs Anita Louise Tiffany has signed Anita Louise, chief feminine player in "Butterfly Heaven," to a five-year contract. The company has engaged David Newell to play opposite her. Another in the cast is Yola D'Avril.

"Broad Minded" Starts Soon

"Broad Minded" goes into production at Fox soon under the direction of Irving Cummings with Victor McLaglen in the leading role.

Berlin Title Changed Again

"Reaching for the Moon" has been selected as the title of the United Artists picture which has been variously as "Love in a Cottage," "Lucky Break," and "The Love Cottage." Bebe Daniels has the leading role.

A Little from "Lots" by RALPH WILK

ROBERT C. BRUCE, for 16 years a producer of outdoor subjects, has made his hobby profitable. His hobby is visiting out-of-the-way places. He has photographed subjects in every state in the Union, except Maine and Arkansas, and has taken his camera into every Canadian province, except Ontario and Quebec.

By the way, Bruce has been in half of Europe, Alaska and the British West Indies. He has spent much time in the Northwestern states and knows every trail in the Cascade Mountains of Washington and Oregon.

Fred Niblo is supervising the cutting of "Easy Going," although no ending has been shot. Incidentally, Niblo furnished many of the off-scene sounds in the picture.

Our Passing Show: Eddie Miller, newly arrived from New York, Bert Levy and H. Saunderstetten, picture talkers in Valley Fields busy at Paramount; Leonard Fields preparing for a vacation in Mexico.

Bodil Rosing is once more portraying the role of a German woman in "Compagniation," which E. Mason Hopper is directing for Columbia. Although Miss Rosing is Danish, this marks her fourth German characterization in recent pictures.

Raymond McKEE is versatile, to say the least. He has turned composer and his song, "Caribbo Sea," was introduced by Rudy Vallee over WEAF broadcast in New York.

Harry Langdon has completed his featured role in "A Soldier's Plaything," which was directed by Michael Curtiz. Langdon is considering several offers.

Eddie Brophy, long a unit manager and assistant director, seems to act in every Buster Keaton comedy. Edward Sedewicz, the director, is now using him in "War Babies." Brophy also supported Keaton in "Spite Marriage," "The Camera Man" and "Menage Easy."

Arthur Wener, Boswell par excellence, now managing the Fox uptown theater, with the cooperation of the Western Avenue Chamber of Commerce, will toss a big party for Harold B. Franklin tomorrow. The Fox West Coast president has been the honor guest at several affairs.

New 'U' Policy Starts with "Little Accident"

"Little Accident," the first picture to be produced under the 1930-31 production schedule of Universal and the new policy of 20 specials, has gone into production under the direction of William J. Craft. Featured in the picture are Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Anita Page, Sally Blane and Zasu Pitts. Also in the cast are Myrle Suddert, Slim Summerville, Rose Karns, Joan Marsh, Maude Turner Gordon, Albert Gran, Nora Cecil, Bertha Mann, Gertrude Short, Farley and Henry Armetta.

Marjorie White Gets Lead in Fox's "Just Imagine"

Fox has cast Marjorie White for the leading role in "Just Imagine," a musical production to be directed by David Butler.

Para. Signs Barbara Bennett

Barbara Bennett has been engaged by Paramount for a role in Cici Bow's new picture, "The Palm Beach Girl," which Frank Tuttle will direct.

Dillon to Direct Otis Skinner

John Francis Dillon has been signed by First National to direct Otis Skinner in his first talking picture, which will be all in Technicolor.

Paramount Signs W. H. Post

William H. Post, veteran of legitimate theater, has been signed for Paramount. Post has rived in Hollywood from London, where he has been making his home for the past two years.

Jillian Sand Opposite Baxter

Jillian Sand, English actress, will play opposite Warner Baxter in "This Modern World," which will be directed by Alexander Korda in Summerville, Ga. Barrie John Farrow and Lynn Starling will be responsible for the adaptation.

Laughter
—please let it live
By JACK ALICOATE

TAKE AWAY the bare legs if you will. Discard the enticing and enthralling music. Throw out the million-dollars scenes. You still have a combination of love scenes and thrills ever ematized, but don’t, please don’t, we are pleading with you, J.A., please don’t take away the laughs. What has happened to those laughs that should be coming from Hollywood probably makes you except the income tax collector. This much is certain: Eighty percent of the so-called current crop of cinema comedians haven’t enough punch to put a dent in a cup of jello, and their screen demeanor in most of the elusive chuckle is, in most cases, as humorous as an embryonic acrobat trying to sing love ballads on amateur night.

To Laugh or Not to Laugh

Surely cannot be our highest and artistically inclined production executives have entirely and selectively lost their sense of humor. Most of them have been in the picture business too long for that. It usually is not the lack of human material of proven laugh-making ability, Hollywood overflows with the best material the New York stage has to offer for, Oh, so many years. What is the trouble, then? In most cases big talker productions, and we name a dozen off hand, the comedy has been one of the most laughable, mayhem and murder, and let us gently suggest to you, Producer, just at this point, the following thought: Ninety percent per cent

Anti-Trust Action is Filed by Two Indiana Independents

Suit for $2,744,250 damages was filed in the District Court yesterday by the Frank J. Rembusch Enterprises and the Capitol Amusements Co. against the Hays organization for alleged violation of the anti-trust act through enforcement of the uniform exhibition contract. Rembusch alleges damages of $499,550 and asks that the exemplary damage clause of

Claim $25,000,000 Excess Extracted for Equipment

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington.—Motion picture theaters have paid or contracted to pay to the telephone and electrical monopoly more than $25,000,000 more than they would have had to pay for the same equipment from an independent manufacturer, it was stated yesterday by C. G. Colby, president of Samson Electric Co., Canton, Mass., testifying before the Senate patents committee. The same interests will require the theaters to pay an additional $50,000,000 for service during the next 10 years, Colby said.

14 FILMS IN PREPARATION AT FIRST NATIONAL STUDIO

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood—First National has 14 pictures being prepared to go into production within the next few weeks. In the list are “Little Cas sar” with Edward G. Robinson, Otis Skinner’s Technicolor vehicle, Rich ‘Bride of the Regiment’

We have a sneaking idea that if these screen operettas are just given a chance to grow up, they’ll have no trouble establishing themselves as stable film fare. This latest, produced in all-Technicolor by First National from the stage hit, “Lady in Ermine,” is the most sophisticated to date and had no trouble getting a good response from a blase Broadway premiere audience at the Hollywood last night. It has loads of swell comedy dispensed by Ford Sterling, Lupino Lane and Louise Fazenda, also fine singing by Vivienne Segal, Walter Pidgeon, Allan Prior and the soldier ensemble. John Francis Dillon directed and the production is on an impressively lavish scale. It’s a class picture with plenty of appeal for the masses.

Princeton's Favorites

Princeton, N. J.—Seniors at Princeton University, in their annual poll, cast the following votes for their favorites in motion pictures:

FILM—"Disraeli", 59; "Wings", 16; "Woman of Affairs", 7; ACTRESS—Greta Garbo, 65; Ruth Chatterton, 39; Norma Shearer, 39; Joan Crawford, 18; ACTOR—George Bancroft, 36; William Powell, 21; John Barrymore, 17. "Journey's End" was first choice among stage plays.

Laughter—please let it live of those who go pictures to go to be amused. They want and MUST have laughs.

Find the Trouble

It might possibly be that the main difficulties lie in the proper or improper timing of laughs for this new electrical entertainment. It has been suggested that writers of original laugh material are scarce. This hardly could be true as Hollywood is full of them and there are not enough golf courses in Southern California to keep them all at work. They can't all be away fishing.

Perhaps the directors of our latest barrie operas are respectively without a funny bone, but, ye gods, it cannot be that they would all go tragic and esthetic at one and the same time. Whatever the matter, we are likely registering their squawks alone with that of some 115,000,000 other Americans who believe in smiling and will gladly become a charter member of the "Bring Back the Laughs" movement and hereby and will to agree to our bit for the cause by devoting time, stamps and marbles, if necessary.

Lightman Explains

Explaining his part in the discussion of chain competition at the recent annual convention of the Oklahoma M.P.T.O., President M. A. Lightman of the M.P.T.O.A. yesterday said that he did not assail circuit competition but did deplore unfair circuit competition.

COMING & GOING

WILLIAM K. HOWARD is on his way to the Coast.

NATHAN BURKAN, accompanied by Mrs. Burkam, sails Sunday for a two months' stay in Europe.

FREDERICK LONSDALE, who has been in Hollywood writing an original for Ronald Colman, sailed last night on the Mauritania for England. He returns in July to direct the dialogue for the production.

WALTER STRENG, president of Cameramen's Local 602, Emajour for Los Angeles, accompanied by Francis Zieser, business manager, attended I.A.T.S.E. convention.

J. S. WITCICK, chief projectionist at the Paramount, New York, leaves Sunday for a combined business and vacation trip to the West Coast.

J. D. MEADORE, recently appointed business manager of Technicolor, has returned from Hollywood to look after the company's interests in the East.

NAT LEVINE leaves today for the coast.

Appointment of Charles J. Free- man, said that action also has been filed in New York against Fox Film for alleged infringement of DeForest patents for manufacture of sound recording equipment.

Deny Private Settlement in DeForest Patent Suit

Wilmington, Del.—Recent reports that a settlement out of court would be reached in the patent infringement action by DeForest against the Stanley Co., were discredited at yesterday's court hearing. The reports originated from rumors that Warner had bought a 40 per cent interest in DeForest.

While the DeForest suit involves patents for manufacturing equipment used in theaters, counsel for the company declared in New York against Fox Film for alleged infringement of DeForest patents for manufacture of sound recording equipment.

Frisco Musicians Win New Point

San Francisco—Another point has been won by the local musicians' union in its controversy with theater operators, the district court of appeals having denied the petition of exhibitors for a rehearing of the superior court's decision against the amusement men. The musicians, replaced by sound equipment, seek to enforce their contract.

FETTER & HOLLINGER, Managers
A TIP ON 1930-1931 ANNOUNCEMENTS!
The flood of annual product announcements are with you again. Read them all carefully. Then, as a smart business man, ask yourself these questions:

1. What company delivered week after week box office hits last year?

2. What company delivered consistently quality shorts to round out my programs?

   Again it's PARAMOUNT. With Paramount Sound News, unquestionably the leader in its field. With Christie Talking Plays, the class in two-reelers. With brilliant Paramount Acts. With Paramount Screen Songs and Paramount Talkartoons, the most popular single-reel novelties on the market.

3. What company is delivering the cream of its feature product between now and August, when I especially need strong attractions?

4. What company's trade mark is the industry's symbol for leadership, quality and fair dealing?

   PARAMOUNT'S, naturally.

5. What company will deliver the strongest product for 1930-31?

   Study PARAMOUNT'S announcement for the coming season when you get it. Study the productions, the star and player strength, the directors and others behind the hits, the reputation and resources that guarantee the line up. You're a business man. You'll choose

The Future of Hollywood

It is by no means certain that Hollywood will retain her unchallenged monopoly in the film industry of the nations. At the present moment she queens it in greater splendor than ever. Her sound films are believed in some quarters to threaten the very existence of the living theater. They have already drawn to the Coast much of the vocal acting talent of Broadway. But the signs of a reaction are at hand. American film producers now in London are reported to be engaged on elaborate production schemes for the British talkie market. Arrangements for the French and German speaking publics have already been made. English actors now employed with the Fox interests at Hollywood will go home to take part in the new program. The same thing has already been reported of French talent at Hollywood.

Hollywood, because of historic advantages, will remain the capital of the film industry for a long time to come. But her monopoly will not be so complete.

New York "Times"

Talkies Must Develop New Form

The talking picture must create a new form, for it will offer an utterly different combination of words, sounds and other elements such as can exist only on the screen. The addition of sound rather than dialogue is important because the dynamic effect of music is stronger than the optical impression. So far we have advanced from the classical triangle drama by means of the "mass idea" in films; our next step is pictorially to portray the abstract.

A FILM FACT A DAY

412 films were made in European studios in 1929. This is almost 100 less than in 1928.

ALONG THE RIALTO

Harley Clarke, high mogul of the Fox interests, has a strong notion that the American public does not want their film fare served with a rancid dressing and garnished with suggestive or questionable lines and situations. He has a hunch that a lot of American families who used to troop to the pictures en masse in the days of "family pictures" have been split by some of these modern, sophisticated talksies. Dad won't take me to a hot-toty picture, so if ma wants to see it she must sneak off alone and lead the kids home for fear they'll tell papa.

Harry Goldberg, general manager for Fox Theaters in this state, is back on the job after a gang of hooligans in a Ford juggernaut crashed his Isotta Fraschini—or is it only a Rolls Royce?...outside of stitches in his leg and an arm in a brace, cast for ten days, Harry is practically out of it new...Charging he broke a contract giving them exclusive rights to his services, Famous Speakers, Inc., is seeking an injunction to stop Robert Ripley, the cartoonist, from making pictures for Warner...the judge will be asked to believe it or not.

Benjamin Doniger of Mundial Films is up from Porto Rico...he sez the situation down there is rather tough, with big houses wired and practically no silent product for the small houses...if the natives get a film less than nine reels they holler murder...and with talkies running under length generally they holler so loud they can't hear the talksies anyway...Joe Deegan has returned from an unusually successful trip to Albany...it sounds fishy, but he swears he collected a debt from a politician.

Looks as if this sensational Stitt-Nolan bout within the industry is putting the Schmeling-Sharkey affair in the background...for the first time in history you are getting exclusively through this column the lowdown on press agents...you can sting that low...so listen to Ralph Stitt of the Rivoli tear into this Warren Nolan person: "Your expose was highlight of Paramount convenen...it staggered everyone...unanimous opinion this Nolan person merely seeking personal publicity...all gratified to learn of your return that "Ladies Love Brutes" was playing at Rivoli...I am VINDICATED...now I defy this Nolan person to say "One Romantic Night" will not be the next Rivoli attraction...does this give me one up on Mister Nolan?...heh, heh...that's who I am, Ralph Stitt"...We are billing Stitt and Nolan for what they consider these "free" notices at regular ad space rates...that gives us TWO up...heh, heh, heh...

Joseph Johnson, former Commish of Public Works of Tammanytown, now big Fox executive, has left for Hollywood where the works are of a public nature, too...here's wishing you luck, Commish...Onoele Jones, the juvenile actress, will be on the bill at the Martin Beck theater Sunday night for the benefit to aid the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital...Jeanette MacDonald did a dramatic scene in "Lottery Bride" so well that she made Joseph Schenck weep, also an electrician...and no doubt the sets for this picture were built in tiers.

N. T. G., the well known nightclubber and master of nifties, is still diverting 'em at the Hollywood restaurant with his girls in their "Frolics"...and if you like to travel for yourself or entertain yourself, try Madame Pinkert at 508 Rex on the Merrick Road the one over...food...with a capital F...

And now when a film gent is feeling low he sees he's out of sync.

Get Prize Western Song for "Song of the West"

One way to get free air outside of a service station is hook in to a radio station. H. B. Ashton did that for the Public Red, Greely, Col., when he played "Song of the West." The newspapers helped to give publicity to the fact that Ashton was searching for the most popular song of the West, and for a week in advance the radio station relayed seven songs supposed to be typically western. Listeners-in were urged to ballot on the song receiving the largest number of votes was declared the National Western Song.

Pathe Convention Sidelights

A LL the boys took notice of that new outfit Harry Lorch was wearing. He won it during the recent all-talking comedy contest.

It was like a team playing on the home grounds for J. J. Clarke and his men. The Windy City boys had no traveling to do, in fact they played host to a lot of conferences after the meeting broke up for the day.

The A-B-C of the local meet was—Alldan, Baldwin and Chapman from Milwaukee.

D-D-and another D were Decker, Delaney and Drake, all of Chicago.

A lucky boy indeed is E. A. Harms of Omaha who capped first salesman's prize in the Pathe comedy sweep.

Tom North, veteran Pathe salesman and now special mid-west representative for Van Beuren, was glad to see that "old gang" from the home office.

After the convention was over Phil Reisman, Jack McAlloon and Eddie Ballentine took a flyer for St. Louis where they made personal appearances. They will en train next for Frisco.

Now looking at Des Moines and formerly of the home office is Hank Kaufman. He attended the convention at the Blackstone and heard the latest of New York from first hand information.

It was old home week for Ray Nolan and T. Greenwald, who were salesmen attached to the Windy City office before being promoted to managerships at the Kansas City and Milwaukee exchanges.

Tom Brady and his men entering the convention hall looked like a squad of Canadian mounted police. They arrived from the Dominion and from what we understand passed many exciting nights at the thought of the inspectors coming through the train and examining their grips.

Splurge of Enthusiasm Closes M-G-M Convention

Feist, Loew, Roach, Dietz, Shearer, Hattrick Among Last Day Speakers

Chicago—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's annual convention wound up last night with a demonstration of enthusiasm that was in a fever of excitement over production and production plans for 1930-31 and made him eager to lay the details before his exhibitors of America.

At the closing day's session an important feature was the analysis of results obtained by M-G-M's sound engineers in the centralized service which M-G-M has for this purpose.

This activity, under the direction of Douglas Shearer, sound engineer at the M-G-M studios, will be intensified and developed in the coming season on the basis of success attained to by thousands of exhibitors from coast to coast.

Felix F. Feist, sales manager of M-G-M and the guiding spirit of the convention, gave the 290 representatives here a complete analysis of the new product representing 30 star pictures, and as 20 special productions based almost exclusively on thrilling novels and plays. An interesting feature is that approximately six productions out of 20 specials are original stories, the remainder being based on well-known novels and stage plays. This basis of story value is true of M-G-M's starring productions which in the same proportion feature outstanding novels and plays.

Among those who addressed the convention were: Arthur M. Loew, vice-president in charge of foreign distribution for M-G-M; who gave a review of activities in foreign lands; and Henry R. Saltz, vice-president in charge of foreign distribution, who outlined plans for the coming season.

Morty Spring, assistant to Arthur Loew, elaborated on M-G-M's foreign operations, Fred C. Quimby, short subject sales manager, spoke on shorts. Hal Roach, producer of M-G-M's comedies including Laurel and Hardy, Charley Chase and Our Gang, announced that his latest comedy series is "The Boy Friend," Ed Garb Hattrick, of Cosmopolitan Productions, made public the elaborate promotional, personal and advertising plans of the Hearst newspapers in the coming year behind Metro-Davidson pictures and Cosmopolitan pictures.

Howard Dietz, advertising, publicity and exploitation director of M-G-M, reviewed the vast activities of the past season and made the important announcement that M-G-M would amplify the national advertising campaigns which it has begun in the current season behind "The Divorcee" and "The Rogue

M-G-M Convention Sidelights

Felix F. Feist declares that never in his long acquaintance with conventions—and he's had a mighty long acquaintance with 'em—has he witnessed such pep and vigor. The boys are raring to get out and tell their accounts about "good news" which they saw in review Tuesday, as well as "The Singer of Seville," "The King of Seville," Ramon Novarro's next season production.

Bill Rodgers got one of the biggest receptions of any personality at the gathering of M-G-M boys. Bill is regarded by his boys as a square shooter and an all-around grand guy.

Arthur Loew arrived Tuesday morning together with his henchman, Morty Spring. They're going to tell the boys about M-G-M's operations in other lands.

Sam Ecken, M-G-M manager for England, takes time off every afternoon for tea. Som used to fear a mean herring at Lindy's when he guarded the destinies of the New York territory.

George Hickey, district manager way out West, is telling the boys about his fine new Los Angeles exchange. George maintains it's the finest motion picture exchange ever constructed anywhere on earth. But then he also maintains that his product is worthy of the finest housing possible.

Ed Schiller gave the boys the lowdown on what M-G-M pictures do at his theaters in competition with other product playing them.

Hal Roach is beaming all over the Boulevard. Hal brought his new "Boy Friend" comedy with him. It's a new series by the man who created the Laurel-Hardy, "Our Gang" and a lot more winners.

Song. "Si Seidler has been kept stepping getting all the dope on everything that's going on so he can turn it into stories for the papers.

The Mirror
— a column of comment

T LEAST $50,000,000 a year will be paid by motion picture theaters for servicing of their sound equipment, according to testimony presented before the Senate's recondition committee. Any way you figure it, this represents a lot of old, hard dough which has got to be spent somewhere in the exhibitors' pack. And, like ye old mortgage, it's got to be paid or else ye ole homestead will go dark and forlorn. One thing is certain: Exhibitors will have to be furnished with products which is consistently better than 1930, the dead silent days. As the exhibitors themselves will have to lug their coat on the rack, roll up their sleeves, and go seriously to work selling their proposition to the public. If exhibition is to keep on the up-grade, generally speaking, it's going to take much co-operative and concerted effort, perhaps with the electrical companies assisting a more imaginative invention.

CLOR WILL become associated with the newspaper family in some far distant city. But before that important appointment is kept a number of public improvements must be executed. One concerns a rapid method for handling prints. Just to wet extent color will envelope the screen and newspapers with an excellent opportunity for a guessing game. At that moment no one seems to know. Reduction costs will be one of the main factors. And, perhaps most importantly, audience looks and dishes in the matter.

S.M. EISENSTEIN, are Russian actor now visiting Manhattan en route to Talklewod, is somewhat non-conventional. Instead of nightshim and theater clothes, Big Eb Lane, he's digging under the grace for the low-down on American movies, from Coney Island to Now York. His setting up an excellent example to other foreign cinema makers who too frequently neglect their opportunities to get an insight into the American scheme of things.

Site Obtained for House of DeLuxe Type—19 Others Planned

Plans for the first short subject theater to be erected by Earl W. Hammone are practically completed, with a Broadway site already selected, THE FILM DAILY learns. About $1,245,000 will be spent on the structure, which is to include stores and an office building, as well as the theater of the de luxe type to seat from 1,500 to 1,400.

James A. FitzPatrick to Make Features as Well as Shorts

In addition to producing a program of 90 shorts, James A. FitzPatrick will expand into the feature field next season with three full-length pictures. The first of these will be "The Lady of the Lake," made by FitzPatrick in the highlands of Scotland with Percy Marmont as the featured player. Synchronized accompaniment to this film consists of a special Scotch symphony, composed by Nathaniel Shilkret, as well as some old folk tunes, and there is a male chorus of 40 voices with several vocal soloists.

Internationalizing

Another step toward internation- alization of films is noted in "Scotch Love," Vitaphone comedy, of German authorship (Stanley Raub and Nat N. Dorfman), directed by J. Leslie Hume and shot at a cost of $30,000. It is produced by the Ziegfield Co. and also is available in English version. It is about a Scotchman in the East. The role of the Scotchman is played by Bessie dependence, as the German is not adapted for American audience.

ON THE RIALTO

Winnie Sheehan will be tendered a Welcome Home dinner at the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood this evening...this is in line with the California idea of adopting their native sons from New York...Peter will be welcomed by a committee of other native sons originally from New York, such as Joseph Schenck, Louis B. Mayer and Harold Franklin...it certainly takes New Yorkers to give those Californians something to brag about...in the past five years Winnie Sheehan has created some of the greatest pictures, stars, and court-room battles in film history...and put 'em all over...

Terry Ramsaye has authored another fine film work—Pathe's current year book...drawings made by nationally known artists 'n everythin'...Nathan Burkan and his chief advisory counsel, Mrs. Burkan, said for a two-months trip abroad on June 25...our "coming and going" editor reported the date as May 25, evidently assuming that Nathan would be taking advantage of the witter rates...

The Latest style for film officials will be gold-headed canes...the Civic Associations presented one to Joseph Johnson, big public works man now a Fox executive, at a farewell luncheon at Town Hall...among the Commissioner's close friends presented were V. Clement Jenkins, S. Chrisly Mead, Thos. Hughes, Joe Deegan and Frank Prendergast...According to the M-G-M publicity department, the note on a canny is so high that it is almost impossible to record it...that's nothing...lots of film gents have notes in the bank that are so high that they're entirely out of reach...

And didn't we ketch merrily off the Boss for talking so sour about this perennial pain-in-the-neck known as the Film Golf Tournament..."Don't you know," sez he, "that you should say kind things about every human being, even golfers?"...so we raised the question as to whether golfers WERE human beings...especially film golfers...all film men start as dub golfers, and when they get good enough to turn in a score under 100 they spend all their time bragging about it and can no longer be classed as film men...the Boss hasn't reached the point where he can brag about his golf, so he still has time to run this paper and golf tournaments...being a reasonable man, he saw our point of view, and sez "Well, be governed in your golf comments by your conscience"...but if we had a conscience, we wouldn't be a columnist...so that puts you golf buzzards in a tough spot trying to get a break in this column...

Staging a tie-up with the "Saturday Evening Post" is what you might call a miracle, but it has happened...the cover of the current issue by Norman Rockwell shows Gary Cooper being made up on the set...they even struck a credit board in, showing the "take" to be "The Texan" with Director Cromwell mentioned...the only miscue is the use of red makeup instead of the usual studio white...does this make Sateve Post Paramount's house organ?...Max Cohen, old-time producer, is now operating the "theater above the clouds" in the Chanin building...

A NEWS item states that Robert Ripley, cartoonist, got his original idea for "Believe It Or Not" by accident...but his ideas for making film cartoons was no accident...he believe it or not, it is said to have been suggested by a prominent film advertising gent over a year ago...Jack Lewis has joined the Warner Riding Club whose members go horse-racing in Central Park, and he has now become a big turman...in fact he is on turf more often than on the horse...

CLAIM BIG CUT IN COST WITH NEW WIDE-FILM IDEA

M. H. Hoffman, Victor and Edward Halperin and Herman Gumbin, it is claimed by officials of the company, first announcement of this new venture was made yesterday exclusively in THE FILM DAILY.

In a demonstration here yesterday, Hoffman said that whereas all wide film processes so far call for a tremendous outlay for new equipment, double film, etc., the Giant Screen, as his system is called, is a combination of lens, camera and film process requiring merely a screen to suit the width of the stage or prosenium, thus making it practical in the smallest theatre.

License has been obtained for use of the Giant Screen system and work will be started immediately at the Metropolitan Studios, to the 20 features planned. Twelve of the pictures are to be based on Broadway stage plays, while eight will be even pretentious productions suitable for long runs and road-showing. Standard width prints are to be supplied on all pictures and the wide-screen version will be booked at a nominal increase over the rental for ordinary film.

Froehlich Plans 2 Bi-Linguals

Berlin—Two films in German and French are announced for production by Carl Froehlich.

with scenario by Forrest Halsey, the story of a good girl who throws conventions to the winds to capture the man of her heart. "Forrest Halsey's" story with dialogue by Clark Kemper, relating the adventure of an innocent maiden marring and divorcing millionaires; "Adam the Youngest," a film of the original "Collins" serial, which recently appeared in the Garden of Eden. "All the Way," a story of love and intrigue amid the whirl of high finance by Paul Schiebel and directed by Paul Stein.

Ann Harding will star in three productions and will appear in the all-star cast of two. Her starring vehicle will be "The Greater Love," New York life drama by Eugene Walter with scenario by Melvin Young. "Romance Harbor," a dramatic romance under the supervision of Max Marcin; "I'll Take This Woman," an up to date adaptation of "Jane Eyre," one of the most sensational literary hits of the year, directed by H. B. Bennett and directed by Rollo Lloyd.

William Boyd will star in three features—"North of the Yoke," based on Rollo Lloyd's novel of the West with scenario by Melvin Young. "North of the Yoke," a story of the north west mounted police written by Eugene Walter; "The Golden West," Westerner in the days of wagon trains, cowpokes and the open range, written by Rollo Lloyd.

Margaret Slocum, noted prima donna, will make her first appearance in the talking screen in "The Wife's Desire," a production to be directed by Lynn Riggs. She will portray an impudent peasant girl in the waltz-beating reprise of the devil's rejects preceding the French Revolution.

Froehlich will star in two—"Night Work," an original story by Walter DeLeon, depicting the rise of a spirited youth who is the professional fired man in a department store, with Sally Starr, Frances Upson, John T. Murray, George Duryea, Robert McWade, George Billings, Adele McPhail, Kit Guard, Georgia Dine, Tom Dugan, Arthur Hoyt, Robert Armstrong, Dorothy Coon, Lynn Riggs, Clara Beranger, Walter DeLeon, James Gleason, Joseph L. Gansler, James Green, Mauri Graslin, Courtney Ryley Cooper and Laura Hope Crews. Josiah Zoro is General Music Director.

Among the 20 specials for the new season there will be three productions with all-star casts—"Swing High," "Swing Low," which is already playing first runs, is a romance of the big top written by James Seymour and Joseph Santley and directed by the latter. Helen Morgan, Ava Gardner, David Huddleston, George Bancroft, John Howard, Kay Hammond, Charles Durning, Virginia Bruce, Victor Varconi, George Leveson, Yasmin, Tyrone Power, Barbara Stanwyck, and a host of other stars are featured in this attraction.

"Good Victory" is an original war picture, revealing woman's part in the stirring worldwide war story, directed by Edward Bennett and adapted by James Seymour, Lynn Riggs, Thomas Lennon, Mauri Graslin and Garret Fort. Direction will be by John Roberts. The cast includes William Boyd, Ann Harding, James Gleason, Robert Armstrong, Helen Twelvetrees, Zara Fitts, Wally Albright and Laura Hope Crews.

"Holiday," will offer Ann Harding, Mary Astor, Edward Everett Horton, Robert Ames and Hedda Hopper in one of the last season's outstanding stage successes produced by Arthur Hopkins from Philip Barry's gen. In this happy cast are Audrey Forrester, Malise Forrester, Crelton Hale, Halide Cooney, George Leveson; In the adaptation and E. H. Griffith will direct.

Constance Bennett will appear in four attractions—"In the Deep," by Eugene Walter.

Fox Announces Lineup of 48 Productions

Expect Uniform Board to Replace Diversity of Methods

Establishment of centralized territorial systems of arbitration throughout the country to eliminate the diversity of plans now in operation are in prospect for the near future. At present there are a variety of systems provided by approximately 20 distributors combined. The formation of a central arbitration system is due to the Thacher decree finding compulsory group arbitration illegal.

Systems now in use differ as to the number of persons comprising arbitration boards. Some contracts specify that in event of a dispute, two persons, one selected by the exhibitor and the other by the distributor, sit.

William P. Engel Heads Roanoke Theater Firm
Roanoke, Va.—William P. Engel, of Birmingham, Ala., will head the Theater Holding Corp. of this city, recently organized to operate local theaters and other places of amusement in Virginia. Capitalization consists of 2,550 shares of common, with a par value and 150 preferred shares.
A NEW RACKET has been uncovered by manager Charlie Griswold of the Roxy ...a dame picked up a gent in the lobby of the theater, and she held on to the check stubs after they got in their loge seats... she excused herself, went to the manager's office and asked for a refund on some phoney excuse. ...Charlie checked another femme racketeer who bought her ticket, went downstairs and got a free luncheon, and then tried to work the refund stunt.

JESSE CRAWFORD, organist at the Paramount, will give a recital over WPG at the Radio Manufacturers' Ass' convention in Atlantic City next week. We were engaged in one of those strained but polite arguments with the telephone operator who cut us off in the midst of an important conversation... she said: "Were you talking to somebody, sir?"... we said: "No, ma'am. We were just over the receiver to our case somebody might call us."...the Old Munchen restaurant, featuring Bavarian entertainers, adverstises: "Why go to Europe to see the boys in short pants?"... Why indeed? ...if you're married man, all you need to do is go home and be a Bavarian yourself.

ARTHUR LUCAS, special Southern representative for Educational, flew from Atlanta to Chi for the company's regional sales meeting... an ad for Philadelphia Jack O'Brien's muscle-mangling plant sex: "Girls! Do you feel that spare tire forming around the waistline? Don't you wish you were where you shouldn't?"... to if so, girls, don't you think it's time to retire?... Wayne Pierson, representative for Howard Hughes, expects Louis Wolheim will be signed for the part of the city editor in "The Front Page"... radio Harris, who broadcasts with stars over WPCH, is piling up votes in the Radio Popularity Contest being held by the "Daily Mirror".

THE COMMITTEE of gents who in a careless moment lent their names to this Film Golf Tournament have asked the boss to do something drastic to us for our alleged puckish remarks about the affair... so the chief told us confidentially that he had to make a grand-stand play so that he could go back to these gents and say: "I gave Phil the week," so he gave us our choice of punishment: to play 18 holes of golf at the Glen Oaks Club or review a projection room showing of short subjects... as much as we despise golf, we immediately elected to go to Glen Oaks... stand by for some inside dirt about this golf game... nobody can stop us for telling the truth about our personal reactions... and this Golf Committee is gonna get it plenty.

FRED HERENDEN has written a stage play, "Jungle," featuring Agnes Ayres and Herbert Rawlinson, which opens June 9 in Detroit and will later hit Broadway... Mary Pickford acted as "mixer" for Screen Snapshots sound track in recording the voice of the Chinese actor, Mei Lan Fang... now who would imagine a China's voice required mixing?... Talking Picture Publishing Co., out with announcement of a system for publishing plays written directly for the screen, states: "We revolutionize the Hollywood order of things... just like that... Hollywood, we're warning you to get set, and don't tell us after the crash comes that we didn't tip you off.

NATIONAL M.P. LEAGUE has switched its weekly broadcasts to Station WGBF at the Lincoln Tower... Anna Costa, at Warners, is undecided whether she will marry a doctor or a motorman, having just received those two bids for her ultimatum... grab the motorman, Anna, you can keep track of him better... Julius Petrovsky, the freckle-faced screen kid, has chosen the name of Mickey Finn... and that makes him a knockout or a sleep-producer.

AS WELCOME as a tonsilitis epidemic in Hollywood.

Help "What a Man!"

An effective exploitation and publicity campaign of a week's duration, engineered by the Roosevelt Chapter, Disabled American War Veterans, preceded the showing of "What a Man!" at the Orpheum, Trenton, N. J., for the benefit of the organization's charity chest. Novel teaser throwaway cards, bearing the words Wam!! What Am I and What a Man! were widely distributed on consecutive days by the theater management and by all types of retail stores. A single contest, the third line of which ended in the phrase What a Man! got a load of free publicity for the event.

NOW, with over 1500 installations completed throughout the world, Pacent presents an improved new line of reproducer systems for theatres of all sizes. These new Pacent Systems contain improvements and refinements in design and operation which mark a new era in sound reproduction.

Features found in no other sound systems are incorporated in the new Pacent line. First is PACENT TONE COLOR CONTROL, a feature which compensates for varying acoustical conditions and for differences in crowded and partially filled houses. Second is the new PACENT OIL DAMPED PICK-UP supplied as standard equipment with all Pacent Disc Reproducers. This wonderful new pick-up eliminates record jumping and adds a full octave to range of reproduction.

These are only two of a number of remarkable and valuable new features introduced by Pacent.

Highly important to exhibitors who own Pacent Systems now is the fact that:

All important new features and improvements found in the new Pacent Systems are available at low cost to present Pacent users. It has always been, and always will be, the policy of Pacent Reproducer Corp. to make improvements and refinements available to past purchasers. Information on the new features, as applied to equipments in service, will be furnished on request to interested exhibitors.

A Little from "Lots"

By RALPH WILK

Bobby Jackson, the Hollywood Blvd. philosopher, declares that in Hollywood two can starve as cheaply as one.

James Seymour, who collaborated with James Gleason on the dialogue for "What a Widow!" starring Gloria Swanson, is working on "Beyond Victory," which will be a Pathe special.

Simile—As inconspicuous as a beauty contest winner in a Ziegfeld chorus.

Mervyn LeRoy is directing his picture for First National. It is "Broken Dishes" and Mervyn will follow it with "Little Caesar." He also directed "Show Girl in Hollywood" and "Numbered Men.

A "big shot" from one-bitul town proved to be only a blank in Hollywood.

Geoffrey Shurlock, head of the Paramount studio foreign department, is supervising the Spanish sequence for "Paramount on Parade" and also supervised the French version of "Slightly Scarlet.

Monte Carter will direct "The Night Clerk," a pathé short, based on a musical comedy, written by Will R. Hough. Carter also wrote the adaptation for "The Night Clerk.

Glenn E. Rominger, who was the sound technician on "Hollywood," is handling the sound work on "Broken Dishes." He also worked on "The Bad Man" and "Xile Modiste.

Without a single public preview, "The Midnight Mystery" was shipped to RKO's home office, as indication of the studio staff's opinion that the picture is "sure-fire" in its originally edited form. It was made under the supervision of Bertram Millhauser, who also produced "Three Faces East" and "The Country Doctor.

By the way, Millhauser collaborated with Benah Marie Dix in making the talking picture scenario. The opening is high comedy, an unusual thing in the construction of a mystery melodrama. Despite this, the story is developed a murder problem that studio officials claim is the most fascinating yet projected on the screen.

Ernest Vilches, who is to do a sketch in the Spanish version of "Paramount on Parade" and play the lead in the Spanish version of "Grumpy" for Paramount, will have to work fast to finish these jobs in time to start work in July for M-G-M, who have signed him away in the Spanish version of "Mr. Wu," with an option for two more pictures. Paramount also has an option on Vilches for six months.

So impressed was Jack Romer, cartoonist, with the comedy in Columbia's "Around the Corner," starring Charlie Murray and George Sidney with Joan Peers and Larry Kent, that he created a series of six newspaper comic strips. These have been prepared by Columbia and are being used by theaters as a newspaper tie-up for the production.

Lucien Littlefield has completed his seventh characterization of Peg Potter for Vitaphone. The latest of these sketches is known as "His Big Audition.

Loretta Young has been given a new five-year contract by First National at a better salary, and at the same time she has been assigned to play opposite Otis Skinner in "Kiss Me." David Manners, juvenile actor, also will be in the cast, with John Dilllon directing.

Carl McBride has finished directing "A Russian Around," a Vitaphone one-reeler in which many novel film angles are employed. The cast includes Verna Floyd, Madeline King, Jud Griffith, Connie Carpenter, Vilma Bradley, Oreville Renne, the Spencer Singers and 24 dancers. Music and lyrics are by M. K. Jerome and Harold Berg.

Fifty-five elaborate gowns were designed by Sophie Wancher, fashion creator for Fox, for use in "On Your Back," directed by Guthrie McClintic and featuring Irene Rich. Miss Rich wears: 12 hats, six: Marion Shilling, 10, and Rose Dione, three, with 24 shapely girls displaying 24 creations in a fashion show sequence which is filmed in Fox Nature Color.

Addie McPhail, the popular screen comedienne who always seems to be given roles in which she portrays a girl in uniform, plays another part of such a type in the Pathe two-reel comedy, "Ritch Uncle," just released.

Shooting has started on "Beyond Victory," which, according to announcement by E. B. Derr, will be the most elaborate and expensive feature ever made. The advent of talkies. The cast includes: William Boyd, Ann Harding, Robert Armstrong, Helen Twelvetrees, James Gleason, Zasu Pitts, Irene Delroy, Frank Peabody, former member of the New York Police Department, is at Moviétown City acting as technical director on prison scenes for "Uly the River." The film is an adaptation of an original story by Marie Watkins and will be directed by John Ford for the Fox Film Corporation.

Warner Anniversary

Atlantic City—Highlighting the Warner-First National convention will be a banquet celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Warners' advent into the picture field. The banquet will be held Thursday evening and will be attended by over 400 representatives of the various subsidiary companies and agents, on the west, and many eastern cities.

-warner manager, and Sam E. Morris, making speeches.

About 50 affiliated companies will be represented at the convention, with the following departments that depart.

Definiting. Bost, who will conduct the F. N. meet, will be A. W. Smith, Jr., General Counsel of which is J. S. M. McPhail.

Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

THE spirit of the pioneer is clearly visible in the Eastern Vitaphone studio, which was the cradle of talky pictures as they are known today. Murray Roth, director-in-chief, authored the first all-talking feature, also the first talking picture in Germany. Sam Sax, production manager, was producer of the first independent color feature, Ed Duft, chief cameraman, besides turning the crank on the first Vitaphone features and shorts, was also the first to use incandescent lighting.

Victor Schertzing, who will present several original songs at the upcoming convention, is doing "Heads Up," which he will also direct.

The proper society atmosphere of Clark & McCullough's first KRO talking comedy was helped along by the various members of the cast, one of which is a Spanish Baroness, the other the son of a Mexican general. Another was the great-grandniece of President Benito, who was first bemused gent claimed to be descendant of the Romanoffs.

Writing lines for such famous hits as De Wolfe Hopper, Mark Hellinger, Damion Rupowyn and Jim Corder was the tough assignment handled by Walter Tandy, head of the Eastern Vitaphone studios.

Complete cast on "Heads Up," starring Buddy Rogers, which starts Monday at the Paramount New York studios, is as follows: Buddy Rogers, directed by Victor Moore, Margaret Green, Helen Carrington, Gene Gowing, Billy Taylor, C. Anthony Hughes, John Hamilton, Stars in "Man From Alaska." Stars scenes will be taken on location, sea.

Terry Carroll, sister of the famous Nancy, plays a bit in a Vitaphone short featuring Ruth Etting with two leading men, Don Cook and Frank Rowan.

The term "dialogue director" is synonymous in the opinion of David Reed, stage director-associate for "The Sap From Syracuse." According to Reed, the dialogue director should really be called "dialogue coach," since in most instances his function is to keep the players up in the line.

Reed believes that the "dialogue coach" will no longer be required when sound picture technique is developed. Most motion picture directors will be able to handle the situation themselves once they have mastered the mechanical end of recording talking pictures.

Sweeney Tracy and Kathery Alexander, prominent on the Broadway stage, appear in "The Ha Guy," written by Betty Rose, completed by Vitaphone.
THE PATHÉ BOOK OF 1930-1931

For twenty-six years Pathé has annually come before the American public and the amusement world with a significant array of screen productions. In this most important year of this great industry it is our honor to make a signal departure from all traditional practice. This year Pathé's announcement is made in a volume specially published for the purpose with a grace and dignity as remarkable and different as the extraordinary pictures it presents. Only such a volume so conceived and executed can present in the printed word the story of a new concept and new ideals of showmanship for the talking picture screen.

So today Pathé announces the publication of its announcement—a remarkable book of unparalleled pictures.

Television Little Feared by Legitimate Producers:

Possibilities of television in bringing entertainment into the theater as successfully demonstrated in Schenectady last week have caused little perturbation in theatrical producing circles. Most of the prominent men of the theater are of the opinion that television will not reduce the size of legitimate audiences. Among them are Frank Gilmore, Arthur Hopkins, and A. H. Woods. Among the pessimistic few is William A. Brady, who asserts that "mechanical devices have played a great part in destroying the theater."

Times Change
—or when is art art?

By JACK ALICOTE

MAYBE IT IS that old devil Hollywood. Or was it just coincidence? However, when lightning strikes us twice in approximately the same geographical location and on successive days it's time for us to again put on the old sailor suit, call it noontime and make an observation. The matter, quite frankly, has us mentally disturbed. Either we have become foggy to the extent of sensility in our views of what constitutes art, or else his all-too-fast-moving industry and its aesthetic aura has left us completely behind, picking daisies as it were, while it rides on in its golden chariot to bigger and bolde- r artistic accomplishments. The lot of an industry, obviously, is re-torted through the medium of those who go to make up its aesthetic personnel. Regarding genius and this industry, after years of intense appli-cation, close analysis and scientific re-examination we have our own personal mode of appraisal of these entities. In fact, this yardstick is not entirely our own but the conclusion reached by our paternal sire and only slapped us on our college graduation day. He opined that we would probably not go very far in life, any-way, but if we did it would be the result of—"Talking little, being our-selves always and being honest." Omi- nitioned but nevertheless, like all good things, easy to understand. We could not help but recall this advice at week while talking both to Mr. Rocks and Mr. Gold. We will call them that because those are not their names. Each will desire our scalps when they read this, but, it must be one.

When Is Art and Why?

On successive days we interviewed Mr. Rocks and Mr. Gold. Each, in his own way a complete success, as Times Change—or when is art art?

Hollywood goes, and each now high and intolerant. Although we make the picture rounds regularly it has been several years since we talked to either Mr. Rocks or Mr.

Gold. In the old days they talked sense. Now, both being wealthy, they talk art. Not art as this writer thinks it might be defined easily understood bounds, but a new, transparent, intangible, vague and fairy-like sort of art that to our slow-moving but used-to-anything brain was entirely incomprehensible.

They talked of beauty, gestures included, of the great up-and-and beyond and of the magnificently hard-to-understand ultra-artistic as we became so encompassed and confused with our ignorance that we asked for plain

White Rock. But, as we sat there, an unwilling prisoner being sacrificed upon the altar of old devil Hollywood and its new slant on art as translated by these two respectable gentlemen, we could not help but reflect that but a half-score years ago

Mr. Rocks could not tell the difference between Milton's "Paradise

Lost" and A. B. O. It can be said and Mr. Gold knew art only as the name of the boy who delivered the groceries.

We left, in each instance, sadder but wiser in the ways of human understanding.

Don't Go Hollywood

If we ever become like that, kindly direct us to the nearest, safest and deepest river that we might wade in and swim happily with the current forever after. All of which means that if all of Hollywood's new art addicts are so effeminate and esthetic cast as the two mugs we wasted four hours listening to, it might be well for them to take a page from Grandpa Alcott's book of naive philosophy and "Say little.

Be yourself. Be honest." And if they do, they will go a long way further, especially with those who knew them. Pardon us for taking up so much of your time with this matter, but the whole business got us so darn upset that we just had to opine about it, and if it bores you, why, stop read-

How to Overcome
B. O. Depression

The proper time to extend one's self 100 per cent is generally appreciated most at such a time that the country at large is in a state of depression. All morals are harder to please at such a time. Therefore, Mr. Exhibitor, if you expect to do your part in regard to changing the state of mind of your patrons, you must show some signs of progress yourself. Give your patrons a change of atmosphere. You would not expect a sick human to enjoy stumbling through a dark tunnel or cave unable to find a ray of light. The patrons you are missing are sick with fear. Show them a ray of light, cure them by letting them know that you are not sick.

The Future of Color Photography

The modern vein in both business and art is predominantly that of color. The dull and the gray have no place in our modern scheme of things. It is only natural, therefore, that motion pictures, the very furthest step forward is twentieth century entertainment, should be filmed in color. Motion pictures reflect the age more sensitively than most of the arts. ... The gift of color to the screen gives it a more powerful lever upon the emotions and instincts of the people. It can give the public more exhibition of beauty than any other art medium for it combines practically all arts now that it has a voice and color. Color, I am persuaded, is going to play a bigger and more important part in motion pictures than it does today. Color photography will be perfected until we can catch on film and reproduce on the screen the delicate color harmonies.

Roy Mack, Director

WARNERS have so many song numbers in their productions, that they are able to put out a weekly radio program to feature them. ... known as "Hollywood Songs," they will go on the air over 72 stations every Wednesday evening over the Columbia chain. ... Monta Bell, who left the Longisde studio of Paramount on account of his health, finds the Hollywood climate so invigorating that he has practically recovered ... and yet others who have left New York for Hollywood, such as Broadway stage actors, are suffering there from stomach trouble ... due to paralysis of the bankroll ... as a health resort, they can't see it at all.

The Ideal actor in Hollywood today, according to Howard Estabrook, scenario writer, must be able to ride, swim, sing, play the piano, and violin, speak several languages, play golf and tennis, drive a car expertly and pilot an airplane ... some directors also insist that he be able to act, but this seems to be more or less secondary. ... Sigmund Romberg, composer of the screen operetta "Viennese Nights," will be the honor guest at a dinner of the Municipal Opera Guarantors Association of St. Louis on Thursday. MELVILLE BROWN, directing Amos 'n Andy in their first screen offering, is credited with elevating to stardom such box-office names as Reginald Denny, Laura La Plante and Glenn Tryon ... Talking of new ideas in films, a studio is about to make a feature with college atmosphere with a surprise climax in which the hero wins the football game ... And an independent producer is all excited over a western with a cast of genuine old inhabitants from a deserted mining town ... it wouldn't surprise us now if somebody makes a comedy featuring genuine comedy dialogue.

Fox Geared High For 1930-31 Season

Enters New Sales Year Under Most Auspicious Circumstances in Organization’s History—Production and Distribution Forces Set to Go

With production and distribution organizations second to none, Fox enters the 1930-31 sales season under the most auspicious circumstances in its history. Every unit of this giant of the industry is geared to function efficiently under the calibre of executive supervision which has made box-office records. Headed by Harley L. Clarke, Fox is all set to go—with its biggest year looming as an objective—and prospect.

Technical Advantages

Technically, Fox is in an extremely advantageous position to make the 48 pictures on its schedule. Movietone City, its centralized point of production, is equipped with every commercial device for picture making. Its executives are seasoned, boxoffice individuals. Use of wide film via the Grandeur process has become an actuality, as evidenced by “Happy Days,” the pioneering wide film effort. Fox Tone Color has been developed to a commercial degree and will be more discriminately in the new year’s product. Sound recording is being expertly carried on.

Production Talent

Topnotch production talent is the roster of Movietone City, under supervision of Winfield R. Sheehan. Twenty-seven writers, including famous playwrights, novelists and short story creators, comprise the scenario staff. Included in it are such names as Owen Davis, Homer Croy, Tom Barry, Rube Goldberg, Ernest Pascal and Maurine Watkins.

Numerous writers of smash song hits are turning out melodies for Fox 1930-31 product. Heading this department are such Tin Pan Alley celebrities as DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, who are recognized everywhere as three of the greatest in the song business. Their contributions to “Sunny Side Up” are known to millions of motion picture fans. Other big name song writers include Dave Stamper, Charles Wakefield Cadman, Joseph McCarthy, William Kernell and James Monaco.

Introduced Stage Stars

No picture company has introduced more stage stars to the talking pictures than Fox. More than two score players from this form of entertainment are now on the stock company roster, which embraces 74 actors. Topping the list are Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, who have experienced tremendous success in such wows as “Seventh Heaven” and “Sunny Side Up.” In a poll conducted recently in New York and Chicago these two stars were chosen queen and king of the movies.

Associate Producers

Seven associate producers will supervise making of the new program. They will inject in their pictures virtually a world of production experience. Composing the list are: Albert Rockett, James K. McGuinness, Ned Marin, George Middleton, Ralph Block, Edward Butcher and Harold B. Lipsitz.

Butcher and Lipsitz are identified with the Outdoor Romance Department recently formed by Sol M. Wurtzel. The purpose of this department is to produce Westerns and other outdoor pictures on their natural locations throughout the world.

Established Directors

Plan Features Only

All of Fox’s production efforts will be concentrated on feature product. No provisions have been made for production of shorts. Fox Movietone News, however, will continue to provide twice-a-week issues under supervision of Truman Talley, general manager of the Fox-Hearst Corp.

Under the supervision of James R. Grainger, Fox distribution facilities are competently handled throughout the country. The year just passed showed a substantial increase in business and as the new season gets under way, all indications point to a further big increase.

Foreign Business

Foreign distribution is in charge of Clayton P. Sheehan, general foreign manager. During the first three months of the current calendar year this business increased more than 50 per cent. A most successful phase of foreign business is that concerning the Fox Movietone News which is played by approximately 99 per cent of the wired houses outside of the United States.

Music Subsidiary

Red Star Music Publishing Co., Fox subsidiary, covers the world with its activities. It operates under the supervision of Pat J. Phaherty, general manager, who was formerly sales manager for DeSylva, Brown & Henderson. Branch offices are maintained in seven cities of the United States. Established foreign music publishers hold the company’s franchises for foreign fields.

FOX FILM CORPORATION
New York, N.Y.

We are committed to a policy of supplying to the talking motion picture theatres of the world entertainment of the quality and character necessary for the enhancement of the prosperity of these enterprises.

We shall continue to add to our already vast production resources and facilities, the talent and the facilities which, guided by experienced and successful management, will make certain the accomplishment of this objective.

It shall be the aim of Fox Film Corporation to cooperate cordially in every movement directed toward the advancement of screen entertainment and toward insuring for the talking motion picture and for the industry their rightful share of prestige and prosperity.

Every factor and every branch in the industry may count upon this corporation's enthusiastic participation in all affairs aimed to heighten the industry's service to the public and to promote the business of talking motion pictures.

Exhibitors may be assured that Fox Film Corporation will at all times continue keenly mindful of their problems which will be met by this organization in a spirit of sincere good will and friendly cooperation.

In the vital matter of product for the new season, no effort has been spared to make available to the theatre owners attractions of a caliber that will insure success at the box-office, thus continuing to make the Fox Film emblem the identification, the world over, of successful entertainment.

President

[Signature]
Hollywood, California

We have reached our highest mark in entertainment quality and in box-office attraction values in our talking pictures to be offered to the public during the season of 1930-1931. Fox Studio activities are now at top speed and the efficiency of production is at the peak of Fox Film history.

Our principal artists—those popularly acclaimed by the public and whose names spell box-office success—are all under long-term contracts. So are our best known successful directors. Our staff of authors includes the best known stage dramatists, novelists, motion picture scenario writers, music composers and lyric writers. We have acquired rights to more than 100 new stories. We have the fullest confidence that our releases comprising 48 stories of widely different type and themes will return a fine commercial profit and good will to those theatres exhibiting Fox product during the next season.

We aim with our ambitious plans to present attractions that will compel the public to patronize talking picture theatres more regularly and to do so in larger numbers.

Our aim is to offer pictures that will amuse and entertain every person in your audiences. We are founding our production policy on intelligent and high standards yet with popular conception of human emotions. Our production plans are already made five years in advance. We thank our friends for their expressions of confidence and good will.

W. W. Neish
Vice President and General Manager

New York, N. Y.

The good will of theatre owners is the most valuable asset any corporation possesses. Fox Film Corporation during the season of 1930-31 will leave no effort untried to further exalt the good will its box office entertainments and service have merited.

This coming season more than ever before, exhibitors will find our organization embarked on a year that should be resplendent with maximum profit. Our course for the future is definite and secure.

With our incomparable production resources, Fox Film Corporation can be depended upon, at its inception of a new and greater era, for the delivery to exhibitors of a product that will be superior in entertainment quality and in box office magnetism.

Our sales policy is one that makes the product stand on its own, a policy that in itself is conclusive guarantee of the confidence we have in its drawing power. We are perfectly content to be judged by the product we will offer.

In planning and arranging for our 1930-31 program we have incorporated in each and every production those qualities so indispensable to both box office and entertainment success.

the other man's face
the other man's wife

His face the face of another by a scientific miracle. • Accepted as the other by the other man's bank, and even more significant, by the other man's wife. • His motive the looting of the bank. His purpose thwarted by love for the woman and her love for him. • Then the return of the husband, thought to be dead! • Situation after situation where exposure or the shame of the wife through the revelation of the truth, hangs trembling in the balance. • A story, a picture that will be the talk of the town.

Blondes make history—and "Blondie" will make history at your box office. Here is the gay and fast-stepping story of a blonde who crossed the Atlantic to captivate one man and accidentally captivated two. The fun begins when she discovers she has lost her heart to the one she wasn't supposed to snare. And when a blonde loses her heart on shipboard, things happen!

Adapted by MARION ORTH

Dialog by EDWIN BURKE Staged by MELVILLE BURKE
"Up the River" is from the same brilliant author who wrote the comedy smash "Chicago". This time Maurine Watkins turns her shafts of wit on prisoners and prison life. There's a laugh in every line of her sparkling dialog. Love interest, too, and heart appeal.

It tells the story of what happens when a new warden tries to clean up a prison where convicts keep right on living by their wits—"business as usual". And of what happens when a pair of decent young sweethearts, separated by the law, are thrown into this nest.

Prison conditions are the topic of the day—and "Up the River" tells the real, inside story in language that sells tickets.

The Hilarious Comedy of an International Six Day Bicycle Race — continuous laughter on the track and behind the scenes

What an idea for a movietone comedy! A six day bike race produced with all the trimmings — laughs and thrills, sprints and spills, and the big finish with teams of all nations pedalling for dear life and the prize money. Can't you hear the screams as El Brendel goes out to steal a lap for the fatherland and a pretty girl? And look at the rest of the cast — hand-picked for howls! The romantic musical comedy

OH, FOR A

No need to sell you the team of Gaynor and Farrell! "Sunny Side Up" and "High Society Blues" tell everything in terms of record grosses. If there ever was a "natural," it's Gaynor and Farrell talking, singing and loving under the direction of the dependable David Butler. That's "Oh, for a Man!"

- The story concerns the turbulent troubles of impoverished nobility living by their wits. Miss Gaynor plays the daughter of a penniless prince employed by Charles Farrell, a young millionaire, as social instructor.

- To save Farrell from being victimized by his friends and titled servants, she masquerades as a boy and becomes his chauffeur. Imagine the beautiful love story, the comedy complications, the love songs! "Oh, for a Man" can't help being one of the high spots of the new season!

The authors and playwrights whose works are the sources of the Fox Pictures of 1930-1931 comprise the most distinguished list ever presented in the industry.

Among them are the internationally known playwrights, Franz Molnar, Denison Clift, Cleves Kinkead, Edward Knoblock, Maurine Watkins, Gerald Du Maurier, Fulton Oursler, Lowell Brentano, Felix Gandera, Elmer Harris, Laurence Stallings, Maxwell Anderson and Owen Davis, Sr.

Included also are the novelists and short story writers, Paul Leicester Ford, Eleanor Mercein, Max Brand, Edward Childs Carpenter, Joseph Hilton Smyth, Porter Emerson Browne, Hal G. Evarts, Andre Armandy, Larry Evans, John Fleming Wilson, Jules Eckert Goodman, Mark Twain, Homer Croy, O. Henry, Stephen Morehouse Avery, Jack London, Ben Ames Williams, Alice Duer Miller and Zane Grey.
"Let me write the songs of a nation and I care not who makes its laws."

These composers of music and lyrics are creating melodies not only for the nation but for the world.

Their songs, under the control of Fox Film Corporation, are published by Red Star Music Company, 729 Seventh Avenue, New York, under the direction of Patrick J. Flaherty, general manager of Red Star.
These are the directors whose genius and long experience contribute so mightily to the excellence of FOX pictures. Their past successes are assurances of your future profits.
FOX FILMS are produced at these 2 huge modern studios in California.

Lower left is an airplane view of the Hollywood studios and laboratories on both sides of North-Western Avenue on Sunset Blvd.

It will be our endeavor during the season 1930-1931 to maintain the highest possible standard of quality in our productions consistent with the changing conditions in our industry and the taste of the motion picture audiences. Bearing in mind that in the production of motion pictures creative genius is the foundation of our efforts we are dealing with an element that occasionally calls for changes in story, plot or characters in order to obtain the perfection in production which is our goal.

With this end solely in mind we must naturally reserve the right to change story, plot, cast and director to furnish you with the product that will sell at your box office, and we therefore notify you that the list of cast, story and director is only tentative, and subject to change without notice except in such cases where definite book or play is designated, such designation will remain unchanged.

Fox Production Work at Full Speed

VE OF NEW SERIES

NOW BEFORE CAMERA

Production facilities have attained full speed on the Fox Film Corporation’s next season’s program of 48 stories. Five of the new series are in production, 10 more are to be started, and one, John C. McCormack’s “Song O’ My Heart,” has already completed. This is believed to constitute some-ing of a record among California studios. The current schedule has been completed, with one exception: some time.

Conspicuous among the productions in work is Richard Wallace’s epic of the pioneering west, “The Big rail,” which was started Easter Sun-

Shilling, Wheeler Oakman and Rose Done.

“The Last of the Dunans,” the Jane Grey story being directed by O’Brien, has been on location for some time at and near Flagstaff, Arizona. It was started April 28. Enough scenes have already been made to indicate that it will have an exceptionally dramatic story on a background of scenic beauty, and that it will make it long-remembered among outdoor pictures. Featured in the cast are Myrna Loy, G. B.ク Brown, Walter McGrail, Frank Cauenue, James

Bradbury, Jr., Mitchell Harris and Lloyd Ingraham.

“Devil With Women” is the fifth of the new group actually in work.

Frank Borzage is directing. This is a love story, and is being made by an exceptionally dramatic work, “Lilium.”

S. N. Behrman and Sonya Levien adapted the play to the screen. Incidental music has been contributed by Richard Fall. Charles Farrell heads the cast, with Estelle Taylor, Rose Hobart and Lee Tracy. Camera work began on this production on April 30. It is now well under way.

Three productions are scheduled to begin before the end of this month.

They are: “The Last of My Merry,” “Men On Call.” The first of these is an adventure story by

Clement Reynolds in which Victor Mc-

Alan Hale, Hal Elswit and Harry

Locke are featured. The second will be directed by Alfred L. Werker and Edmund Lowe, and is a musical.

It will be known as “The Gold of Noon.”

It will be directed by Arthur Poulsine.

“Men On Call” is a story of Coast

Guard and written by Tom Geraghty and George Stuart. The cast includes: John Blystone is to direct.

6 ON JUNE LIST

During June six productions will be started—“This Modern World,” with Warner Baxter, a romantic Basque peasant and landing in California. These two are opposite him under the direction of Alexander Korda; “The Red Sky,” a musical drama of the Northwest Mountains, directed by Harold Mau-ring under the direction of A. F.

Erickson; “Hot Numbers,” an Owen

Davis story with music to be directed by John Lanfield and with recasting by Dixie Lee, Joyce Compton, George

Corcoran, Richard Kouch, Margerie

White, Frank Albertson, Leslie Mac-

Goode Montgomery and Rex Bell

featured: “Soup to Nuts,” a Rube

Goldberg creation to be directed by

Benjamin Stoloff, with Ted Healy,

Charles Winninger, Lois Moran,

FrancesHelp, Marie Saxon and

Frank Richardson among those featured: “Just Imagine,” DeSylva,

Brown and Henderson’s follow-up on their big musical success, “Sunny Side Up;” “Up the River,” a John

Ford effort featuring the comic side of prison life as depicted by Marie

Watkins in her story. In the cast are

Louise Huntington, Claire Luce,

Stanley Scala, Spencer Tracy, Warren

Hyner, Elizabeth Patterson, Walter

McGrall, Tyrone Power, Lee Tracy,

Joe Brown, Black and Blue and Goodson Montgomery.

The 10th production of this early season will be “The Painted Woman,” which is to be directed by William K.

Howard and to go into production on July 1. This is a South Sea drama adapted by John Rus-sell from Larry

Evans’ story: Victor McLaglen and Fifi Dorsay are to play opposite each other.

Hollywood—Equipment for use in connection with the Fox color process known as Fox Nature Color is being installed in the new labaratory at the Coast studios by an engineering staff from New York. Installation work at the New York laboratory is already complete.

Fox Nature Color is a development of "Color" which was brought out some years ago by Eastman Kodak, largely through the exguipment of John Capstaff of the Eastman Research Laboratories. A camera adapted to the process has been invented by John F. Conhey, head of the Fox laboratories.

Color will be used in an unprecedented number of Fox pictures during the new year. Joseph Urban, long associated with Ziegfeld, will be designs many of the sets to be utilized.

“Among the points of superiority which we may fairly applaud for this process,” Conhey said recep-tively, “one is the ability to produce uniform and lifelike tints, which audiciences will instantly recognize as those of nature itself. Another is that we aim to produce cameras in qualities, both 35 and 70 millimeter, and train a corps of cameramen for color work, so that either color sequences or entire color productions may be made on demand, without being in any way dependent on outside talent.”

The camera for color photography is very special in its construction, taking pictures with special filters in the ordinary camera. It makes use of two lenses instead of one, and makes two frames simultaneously.

The two lenses are colored—one red and one green. The red and green images which appear in the two frames are projected and superimposed on the back of the film by the ordinary camera. It makes use of two lenses instead of one, and makes two frames simultaneously.

Colored News

Newscast scenes in color will be more nearly authentic, a feature of Fox, it is understood. Experiments with this objective in regard to motion pictures being conducted but no definite schedule yet been made for color treatment of the reel.

Outdoor Romance Department To Produce 10 of 48 Features

Pioneering
Credit for producing the first all-dialogue outdoor feature goes to Fox. The picture in mind is "In Old Arizona," which struck off the shackles of immobility imposed by sound during its infant days.

zel, general superintendent of the Fox studios in Hollywood and Beverly Hills. Edward W. Butcher and Harold Lipsitz, associate producers, are placed in charge of the department.

"Big Trail" Pretentious
Today the Outdoor Romance Department faces a busy season. Ten features of the 48 productions on the schedule for the 1930-31 program will be produced with the cooperation and supervision of this department.

The most pretentious production is "The Big Trail," an epic of the pioneers, now being directed by Raoul Walsh entirely in the out-of-doors with John Wayne, Marguerite Churchill, El Brendel and David Rohlins in the principal roles.

"The Cisco Kid" also is to be directed by Raoul Walsh, with Warner Baxter and Edmund Lowe in roles similar to the highly successful "In Old Arizona," and photographed in the identical locations.

"Lonesome," will be directed by Victor Fleming with Warner Baxter and J. M. Kerrigan in the principal roles, a story of the French Foreign Legion.

"The Sea Wolf," an adaptation of Jack London's greatest story to be directed by the distinguished Jack Conway, will be filmed on the San Francisco location.

Harold Murray Cast

"Men on Call" with Edmund Lowe is another story of the sea.

"Wyoiving Wonder," with John Wayne and Rex, the wild horse, is a story of the plains, and "No Favors Asked," which will also feature John Wayne is a railroad story.

George O'Brien will make two outdoor romances titled "The Last of the Dames" and "Fair Warning."

The good will of theater owners is the most valuable asset any corporation possesses. Fox Film Corporation during the season of 1930-31 will leave no effort untried to further exalt the good will box office entertainment has merited.

This coming season more than ever before, exhibitors will find our organization embarked on a year that should be restful with maximum profit. Our course for the future is so fine and secure.

James R. Grainger.

Branch offices of the Red Star Music Publishing Co., Fox subsidiary, are operating in seven cities throughout the United States. They are located as follows: New York, New York; Los Angeles, California; Chicago, Illinois; San Francisco, California; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Atlanta, Georgia; and Boston, Massachusetts. Coverage of the foreign market is handled through franchises held by various established organizations.

Working under supervision of W. J. Fielder, vice president and general manager of Fox Films, Paul J. Fiherty, former sales manager for DeSylva, Brown & Henderson, is in charge of the offices.

Prominent on the list of writers at the Coast are DeSylva, Brown & Henderson and others are Dave Stamer, Charles Wakefield Caro, William Kermel, James McDonal, Joseph McCarthy, Ray Kragles, Carl Elmin, Richard Schenauer, James Hanley, Harry Peave, Artho Kay, Chiff Friend, Dennis Murray, Doris Silver, John Burke, George Little, Byrnes, J. Gesser and Albert H. Malotte.

Build Music Hall
Included in the millions of dollars ordered spent during the past year by Mr. Sheehan on additions to the studios of the Fox Film Corporation at Beverly Hills, Cal., was the construction of a music hall. This is the new home of the Movietone symphony orchestra, which is directed by Arthur Kay.

The hall contains offices, cop's and arrangers' rooms and a large assembly hall and it is hoped that the many prominent song and lyric writers will write their work and music for the picture-song, which will later be published at desire by the Red Star Music Co. throughout the world, making complete organization within an organization.

Songs Sweep Country
Already many of the songs published by the music subsidiary are sweeping the country. Among them are songs from "High Society Blues," in which Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell co-starred, "Just Like a Story Book," "High Society Blue" and "Romance of the Flowers." John McCormack's picture, "See O' My Heart," have been in great demand throughout the country.

From D.W. Grady's "Feeling Free," "Pair of Blue Eyes" and "Song My Heart," "Can I Help It (I'm in Love with You)", "Tell Me Why, Tell Me Not," two more from "The Golden Girl," that have achieved great popularity with both glee clubs and lyric writers in the country a now writing for Fox pictures. G. DeSylva, Lew Brown and Ray He.
Big Popularity of Gaynor and Farrell Is Indicated by Poll

Hollywood—Seventy-four players are on the Fox Stock Co. roster in new season product. Among the names are Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, who were recently designated King and Queen of the Movies by the vote of fans in the two largest cities in the country, contests conducted by the "Chicago Tribune" and the "New York Daily News." In Chicago Miss Gaynor's votes numbered 8,202 and those of Mr. Farrell 8,240. Farrell's ballots totaled 8,295 and those of his nearest-runner-up, 4,025. In New York Miss Gaynor received 47,919 votes and Farrell 27,497 for her nearest competitor. Farrell captured 43,14 votes compared to 32,533 given nearest rival.

Warner Baxter Popular

Another player to whom tribute as paid is Warner Baxter. For his delineation of the romantic "Cisco Kid" in "Old Arizona," Mr. Baxter has been awarded the first prize for the characterization of the year by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. The character has been described as "thoroughly original." Baxter's performance has been described by his work in "Three Different Eyes," "Behind That Curtain," "Such Men Are Dangerous," "Romance of Rio Grande," and "The Arizona Kid."

Also versatile is Edmund Lowe, the player who has a devil with women and air in "The Cock Eyed World," a high gangster in "Good Intentions," a product of the environmental "Born Reckless," and a drawing room hero in "This Thing Called Love," with equal ease and realism.

McLaglen a Drape

Victor McLaglen proved himself a big box office attraction when "The Cock Eyed World" was released. He made "Hot for Paris," a tale of laughter, and in "Out of the Blue" showed himself capable of ramicacting. A player whose screen work is marked by virility and who is an all round outdoor hero is George O'Brien. It was his horsemanship and daring acting in "The Lone Star Ranger," one of the first 100% audible Westerns produced by Fox, which made it a hit. O'Brien will have ample opportunity to perform feats of daring and do dramatic acting in two pictures on the new year's schedule in which he will appear in "The Last Chance of the Duane" and "Fair Warning." "Rough Romance," in which he plays the lead, is a lumberjack has been completed.

Another of the important names on the new Movietone list of players is Milton Sills. On his return to the screen after a year's absence due to illness, Sills was signed by Fox to play in one picture, "Loving for Love." His second picture, "The Sea Wolf," adapted from the sensational novel by Jack London.

Marjorie White

What Sills is to the drama, Marjorie White is to comedy, a leader, then. The leading lady in "Old Arizona," Miss White stepped to comedy leads in the Movietone pictures, "The Golden Capitol" and "New Movietone Follies of 1930." DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, song writing trio who know Broadway and theatrical talent with unlimited authority, asked Miss White to be featured in their second musical comedy romance for Fox, "Just Imagine."

John McCormack's screen personality as well as his voice will become familiar to movie audiences through- out the world when the former's first picture, "Song O' My Heart," is generally released. The picture reveals a new McCormack. His voice tenor has been heard in future productions is Michael Bartlett, recently signed. He studied music in Italy for three years. Another voice whose is of operatic quality and has been heard in future productions is Beatrice Haring, a leading lady in "The Comedy of Rome."

More Singers

While the subject of voices the names of Frank Richardson, J. Harold Murray and Don Jose Mogja may well be included, Richardson's voice tenor has been heard in "Fox Movietone Follies of 1929," "Sunny Side Up," "Men Without Women," and will soon be heard in "New Movietone Follies of 1930." Murray, who sang the leading role in "Rio Rita" when it played Broadway, appeared in "Married in Hollywood," "Canoe Kirby" and "Women Everywhere." His rich baritone is one of the pleasures of taking pictures.

Formerly with the Chicago Civic Opera Company, Mogja has been the leading man of the picture "Hello With a Mad Kiss." At the head of the comedians on the roster is Will Rogers. His first appearance in a talking picture, "They Had to See Paris," established him as a talking picture drawing card of the first rank. The drawing voice, added to the Rogers' personality, drew everyone's attention and see him. His second Movietone film, "So This Is London," in every way surpassed his first sound picture effort and the role of film of Draper seemed made for him.

Beatrice Lillie is another of the great stage stars. Her "Oh, Please..." has been seen in every corner of the world where she has played and she has received the sincerest form of flattery by having numerous imitators. Miss Lillie is the outstanding woman comedienne in both the English and American theatres. Her first full length picture produced by Fox, was written to provide every possible opportunity for her unrivaled brand of comedy.

Marie Saxon Listed

Also from musical comedy, but of the romantic type, is Marie Saxon, listed among the great of Broadway, her beauty and talents will be utilized to the best possible advantage on the new schedule, the first of which will be "Healy's picture, "Soup to Nuts." Healy has a group of players who are trained as actors, so that their roles will be realistic and not just for laughs. As with "Soup to Nuts," Miss Saxon will be one of the leading players on the stage.

From the Ziegfeld banner to the Movietone banner was the step taken by Charles Wittington. For the past three years he has played one of the leading roles in "Show Boat." Wittington is probably the most prominent character ever brought from the stage to the screen.

Former Belasco Jucvenile

David Belasco entrusted the juvenile lead in "It's a Wise Child" to handsome young Humphrey Bogart. Then along came a Fox scout and signed Bogart to a long term contract. Some of the leading women with whom Bogart had appeared are Doris Kenyon, Mary Boland and Hazel Dawn.

The Lee Tracy personality won a tremendous following in "Broadway," and as both "Cowboy Face" and has been featured in "Big Time" and "Born Reckless." Tracy will be used in other Movietone pictures.

Another Fox Movietone player are: Marguerite Churchill, youthful dramatic actress seen in "The Valiant," "Seven Faces," "Harmony at Home," and featured in "Born Reckless."

A Travelin' Man

Clayton P. Sheehan, Fox general foreign manager, is a real conteder for world traveling honors. Twice during the past six years he has circled the globe and his trip this past year has covered more than 150,000 miles by railroad, ocean liner and airplane.

FOX FOREIGN BUSINESS

Up 50 P. C. in 3 MONTHS

Fox foreign business increased more than 50 per cent during the first three months of this year, states General Foreign Manager Clayton P. Sheehan. During the past five years the department has more than doubled its business.

There are 35 major sales territories abroad—England, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Germany, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Austria, Hungary, Poland, Latvia, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Romania, Italy, Spain, Greece, Turkey, Egypt, Australia, Singapore, Dutch Indies, Canada, Japan, China, Mexico, Porto Rico, Cuba, Brazil, Argentine, Uruguay, Chile and Africa.

900,000,000 Audience

Nine hundred million people comprise the world wide picture audience. Foreign branches of Fox Film Corporation are in more than thirty thousand theatres, of which more than four thousand are wired and are playing all the Fox sound pictures in their original world version form which is claimed to be the only successful solution of the non-English speaking country dialog problem. To cover this vast exhibition territory requires a field staff of more than two thousand and keeps three hundred salesmen traveling sixty to one hundred thousand miles each week.

Advertising Accessories

It would take the Majestic, the Leviathan and the Berengaria several trips each with no other cargo to transport the advertising accessories used in all the thousand Fox pictures. And the only way to describe the print footage needed to serve these accounts is to state that it would stretch around the equator a half dozen times.

Fox Movietone News is edited in 10 languages and served by hundreds of trucks in as many different overseas key points. Since the development of air mail it is possible to transact business and make shipments to every part of the world except Australia in less than 10 days.

"Good Intentions" and the Raoul Walsh epic, "The Big Trail." Lois Moran Assigned

Lois Moran, who recently played the lead opposite Al Jolson in "Mammy," and will soon be seen in "No Man of Her Own." Louise Huntington, seen on Broadway in "The Constant Nymph," She has appeared in "The Memphis Belle" and "So? The Marriage Bed," "The Nut Farm," and "City Haul." She appeared in the leading feminine role in the picture made in the North."

Rose Hobart, now playing opposite (Continued on Page 75)
We have reached our highest mark in entertainment quality and in box-office attraction values in our talking pictures to be offered to the public during the season of 1930-1931. Fox Studio activities are now at top speed and the efficiency of production is at the peak of Fox Movietone Glory.

Our aim is to offer pictures that will amuse and entertain every person in your audiences. We are founding our production policy on intelligent and high standards yet with popular conception of human emotions. Our production plans are all prove a five years in advance. We thank our friends for their expressions of confidence and good will.

Fox Nature Color to Be Used In At Least Four Productions

With the perfection of a new process of color photography for motion pictures and with Joseph Urban, noted architect and scenic artist, under contract to design and supervise color settings, Fox is all set to make an impressive contribution in that field.

The new process, known as Fox Nature Color, will appear in at least four of the forthcoming releases.

Joseph Urban Signed

When Joseph Urban signed with Fox last autumn, his conviction that the addition of sound, color, and grandeur to the range of motion picture entertainment had made it one of his most interest-fields in which the modern artist can work.

It is probable that no man in America is better equipped to supervise the application of Fox Nature Color to the screen than Urban, born in Vienna and graduated from the Royal Academy of Fine Arts in that city, he quickly made a place for himself in all the capitals of Europe. He designed settings for the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York and also for the Opéra in Paris, and finally came to America as art director for the Los Angeles Opera Company.

His scenic work for Ziegfeld drew wide attention both from artists and from the public, who applauded the vivudness and richness of his designs. Other commissions which Mr. Urban has carried out include redecorating of the Central Park Casino and the St. Regis Grill.

Urban Backgrounds

"On Your Back" and "Luxury" Fox Nature Color will afford opportunity to present clothes and fabrics with the rich and contrasting tones of their actual hues. In both these dramas, that women wear is a definite element in the plot, and the possibility of visualizing their gowns in their real colors will enhance the appeal of such pictures.

"On Your Back," the first of the color pictures to enter production, is an intimate drama of the career of a fashionable New York modiste. Three weeks were spent in preparing the Fashion Show sequence, which reproduces in natural color one of those smart openings at which exclusive models are first disclosed on pretty mannequins.

Striking Note in Colors

With the cooperation of Guthrie McClintic, the director and of Sophie Wachner, who created the gowns, color photographs children whereby apparel and background would harmonize.

The result is said to be a striking note of realism both in the accuracy with which color is recorded and in the fidelity with which the atmosphere of a fashionable gown-shop is reproduced.

When it comes to the screen version of "The Man Who Came Back," the scope which it offers to a colorist such as Urban will result in remarkable effects.

Those who recall the plot of this drama will remember its backgrounds in San Francisco, den in Shanghai, plantations in Hawaii. With such scenes as these as a basis for color, "The Man Who Came Back" should prove a criterion as to the range of the Fox Nature Color.

Excellent Subject

Similarly, the screening of a Contemporary novel offers a wide field. The richness of annal in the sixth century, the colorful panorama of tournaments and pitched battles, the day traumas of the Knights of the Round Table—so nothing of their ladies—suggest the opportunity for picturing-filling spectroct.

"Luxury" is based on Knoblock's play dealing with events woven into the making of a gown, and of the travels and encounters in the lives of those who had anything to do with its creation. On the stage it was known as "My Lady's Dress."
Four Editorial Offices Serve Movietone News

director, editors, engineers and a full force of field outfits.

“In Berlin, Rome, Madrid, Vienna, Budapest and Brussels, great centers of internationally important news, Fox Movietone News has American trained staff representatives operating sound recording companies.

“In the Scandinavian countries, Norway, Sweden and Denmark, we have a crack American, with a supervising editor, touring in search of the new and the entertaining. The most impenetrable part of Africa not before touched by any kind of sound camera, spreads before an advancing Fox camera, as another Movietone expedition pushes through the ruins of the most ancient empire, the Moslem.

Australasia Unit

“Still another unit in Australasia records hitherto unseen sights and unheard sounds for American consumption. This unit scored a very pertinent beat by getting the first sound pictures of Admiral Byrd on his return to civilization from his South Pole adventure. The pertinency of this lies in the fact that the explorer and his activities were supposed to be the exclusive property of a competitor. Incidentally, our Sydney office produces and distributes a successful Australian Movietone News.

Filming Recall

“Topping all these in importance at the moment, however, is the Fox Movietone News outfit in India, where Ghanidi is leading a revolt against British rule that is fraught with opportunities for several important news stories. The attention of the world is focused on India, as is a Fox sound camera.

“It was our Malayan expedition that was responsible for the recent sensational clip on tigers in the jungle. At the same time, as a matter of record, that these savage beasts were ever made in their native setting with sound accompaniment.

Diversity of Contents

“The enterprise becomes small on a newsreel. Study the makeup of each issue and note the diversity and distance between subject matter. Most of the stories in the history of newsreels have an organization that had such international representation. Lastly, the quality of significance and importance in every way, are our two aviation units with their easily imaginable nobility and diversified capabilities. With one located in New York and the other in Los Angeles, there are few places on the North American continent that are inaccessible to Fox Movietone News or more than eight hours away.”

B. O. History

The Fox program has offered some of the biggest boxoffice hits in film history since Winfield Sheehan has been in charge of production as vice-president and general manager. During the Sheehan regime, which began in October, 1925, Fox turned out such pictures as “What Price Glory,” “Seventh Heaven,” “The Cockeyed World” and “Sunshine Up.”

Great popularity. It was written by John Barrymore and his wife, Helen Menken. Jess Greer and Ray Klages wrote all the songs and music for “Cheer Up and Swing.” The titles of those songs are “The Shindig,” “Where Can You Be?” “The Scamp of the Campus,” “When You Look in My Eyes” and “You May Not Be Like It.”

The music for “Double Cross Roads” was written by Charles Wakefield Cadman and William Kendall. The songs are titled “Lonely Heart” and “Show Me the Way.” “The Happy Days” music required many writers. Hanley and Brockman wrote “We’ll Build a Little World of Our Own.” Conrad, Mitchell and Gottler contributed three, “Snake’s Hips,” “Crazy Feet” and “Mona.” Gilbert and Baer wrote “Minstrel Memories,” and “I’m on a Dilligaf Love.”

Eighteen of Fox Writers Are Playwrights, Three Novelists

Hollywood—Twenty-seven writers, including famous dramatists and novelists, comprise the Fox writing staff. Eighteen of them are playwrights and novelists.

Leading in number and quality of plays among the dramatists is Owen Davis, Sr. He does not remember how many plays he has written but they number almost 300. In 1923 he was awarded the Pulitzer prize for his play, “Icebound,” and among the better known of his stage works are “The Nervous Wreck,” “The World We Live In,” “Beggars On Horseback,” and “For Ever After.”

His understanding of the character and mannerism of Will Rogers was demonstrated by the dialogue he wrote for “They Had To See Paris,” adapted from Homer Croy’s success novel, and he was assigned to write the dialogue for Rogers’ second talking picture, “So This Is London.” Davis, in collaboration with Croy, will work on Rogers’ third picture for Fox, “See America First.”

As the author of 10 novels Croy has created some of the most human characters ever fictionalized. “They Had To See Paris,” “West of the Water Tower,” and “Caught” are outstanding among his books. He has another about to be published—“Coney Island.”

Important among the dramatists is S. N. Behrman. The Theatre Guild put its stamp of approval on his work with production of his play, “Meteor.” “Serena Blanish,” an earlier work, which appeared in book form and was dramatized by the author, was produced by Jed Harris. Behrman’s play, “The Second Man,” was a tremendous success on both the New York and London stage. To this writer was entrusted the task of writing the dialogue for “Devil With Women,” adapted from the stage play “Liliom” by Franz Molnar, and now in production.

Before Tom Barry wrote the story for the first John McCormack film, “Song O’ My Heart,” he had written a dialogue for “In Old Arizona,” “Thru Different Eyes” and “The Valiant.” His play “Course” was a Broadway success, as were “The Impractical Thief,” which was filmed by Walter Hampden, “Dawn” and “The Upstart.” Barry is also the author of many vaudeville and dancing songs for well-known stars. For seven years he was a comedian on the New York stage.

Before joining Fox Edwin Burke had written numerous vaudeville sketches for stage stars including (Continued on Page 76)

Only Wide

The only wide film feature to reach Broadway up to the present time is a Fox product. It is “Happy Days,” Grandeur production, which had its premiere at the Roxy last February.

Big Party in a comedy part. He plays the juvenile lead in "So This Is London."

William Harrigan, famous stage star who played on the screen in "Nix on Dames."

George Brent, who played on the New York stage where he was playing in "Love, Honor and Betrayal" and with Alice Brady.

Warren Hymer, the tough guy who created a new type of screen villain in "A Man Without a Woman," "Speak, Evil," and "Born Reckless."

Rex Bell, seen in "Pleasure Crazed," and "They Had to See Paris."

John Wayne, Raoul Walsh's discovery, directed in "The Big Trail." directed by Walsh.

Henry Victor, who played in Germany and England and speaks several languages. He has played in headline shows of Evelyn Laye and Fay Compton in London and has been starred in English pictures.

Muni on List

Paul Muni, dramatic actor seen in "The Valiant" and "Seven Faces."

Richard Keene, modern young man without town seen in "Why Leave Home?" "The Big Party" and "Happy Days."

Among the comedians are:

William Collier, noted wit, who played the part of Janet Gaynor's father in "High Society Blues," and was featured in "Happy Days." Collier was one of the funniest men on the stage of screen, who played in "Married in Hollywood," and "Happy Days."

George Corcoran, who was signed to a long term contract after playing in newer movietone picture "Not Damaged."

George Grossmith, known as the George M. Cohan of England. He is featured in "Women Everywhere."

Swedish Comedian

El Brendel, inimitable comedian carved a splendid niche for himself by his work in "Sunny Side Up," "The Big Party," and now "New Movietone Folies of 1930."

Tom Patricola's nimble feet speak for themselves in comic ways. El Brendel was featured in "Sweet Adeline" on Broadway and will be seen in future Movietone films.

M. Kerrigan's comedy performance in "Song O My Heart" is unforgettable and he will have many opportunities to be featured.

John Swor and Robert Burns, well known vaudeville blackface artists, have been organized into a team to be known as "Black & Blue."

Florence Gordon, a protégé of William Fawcet, and Robert Hilliard. After playing in "The White Man," which Durk wrote with William Fawcet, he directed on the sketch in parliam and it was one of his biggest successes. "This Thing Called Love" was his first full stage length play.

For Fox Burke has written the story and dialog for "Happy Days," in collaboration with Sidney Lanfield, and dialog for "Harmony at Home" and "Living For Love."

Rube Goldberg

Rube Goldberg, famous cartoonist, is making his stage debut for Ted Healy's first talking picture, "Soup to Nuts." For 10 years Goldberg's cartoons have been syndicated by the McNaught Syndicate to 150 papers. He has directed his talents along many channels and writes magazine cartoons, vaudeville sketches, acts, and reports sports for leading newspapers. Goldberg's book, "Is This the Life I'm In," is filled with humor and another book will soon be released by publishers.

Lynn Starling

The first play which Lynn Starling wrote, "Meet The Wife," was a success. Starling followed it with "In His Arms," "Weak Sisters," "Skin Deep," and then dramatized "Bass Queer" from the novel by Eleanor Merceen. His first assignment for Fox Films was writing the adaptation of "Happy Days." Since his association with Howard J. Green has written the dialog for "High Society Blues." His next is "The World of Garry." He prefers to write dialog which affords opportunities for the characters to improvise. He has been seen as a gag man for Johnny Hines and later acted in a similar capacity for Harold Lloyd. He has supervised the adaptation and dialog for "The Donovon Affair," "Flight," "The Melody Man" and others.

An air story written by Jewellyn Hughes and titled "Chap Called Bardell" was produced by Fox as "The Sky Hawk" with the author writing the adaptation and dialog. Hughes did so well he became a member of the Fox staff of writers. He has written the adaptation for "Temple Tower." He makes a hobby as well as a profession of writing and will make a larger assignment during the coming year.

Norman Hall

Adventurer, and writer, Norman Hall has used many of his own experiences in his stories. He is the author of "Lights of Mogambo," "Black Thunder," "The Balloon-Buster," etc. He has written a book of short stories and has an intimate knowledge of aviation, life in the tropics. South American warfare and varied forms of excitement and danger.

One of the youngest successful authors recently signed by Winfield Sheehan is Earle Crooker who has written sketches for Fanny Ward, Charlotte Greenwood and Gertrude Lawrence. His first play, "Family Affairs," was produced with Billie Burke in the lead.

Hazen Talbot studied for a mu-sician who has been writing proved more profitable. He has written several novels, including "It Is The Law," and also stage plays and screen stories.

Dudley Nichols

One of New York's best known newspapermen before he joined the staff of Fox writers was Dudley Nichols, featured writer for "The World." Nichols wrote the dialog for "Men Without Women," "Born Reckless" and "One Mad Kiss." He is well known for his fiction, stage or screen.

Ernest Pascal whose best sellers include "The Marriage Bed," "The Charlatan" and "The Dark Swan." "Women Everywhere," one of the few successful women scenarists.

Harlan Thompson, dialog writer for "Are You There?" starring Beatrice Taylor; "Woman of the World," "Women Everywhere" and "Big Party."

Worked on "Big Trail"

Hal G. Evarts, author of outdoor romances, who collaborated with Raoul Walsh on the story and dialog for "The Big Trail."

7 Associate Producers for 1930-31 Program

Charles Farrell; and "Such Men are Dangerous," with Warner Baxter. James C. McGuinness is herein the field of journalism. He was a reporter with many New York and Philadelphia newspapers as well as contributor to "Liberty," "Life," "Good Housekeeping," "Munsey's," "Collier's" and the "New Yorker." In the picture he signed a contract to write stories and titles exclusively for Fox. With the advent of sound he wrote the dialogue and supervised the adaptation of "Black Watch," with Victor McLaglen, and "Salute." Other productions he has supervised during the past year include "Men Without Women," "Born Reckless," "On the Level" and "The Lone Star Ranger."

Marin's Experience

Neil Marin studied at Columbia University under a grants-in-aid from New York University. After the war he joined Paramount, later becoming general manager of the studio. He became the production head of its studios in California.

George Middleton is the author of many books and has written after his graduation from Columbia University. Since becoming associate producer with the studio in 1923 he has produced "Seven Faces," "Crazy That Way," "Double Cross Roads," and others.

Ralph Block wrote the story and supervised the production of "The Arizona Kid," with Warner Baxter. Block followed the theme of his work on this picture he was made associate producer. Block entered the field of journalism after graduating from the University of Michigan. He was editor-in-chief with Paramount for five years and associate producer with Pathé for two years before joining the Fox Film Corporation.

Edwards Butcher

Edwards Butcher has been identified with motion pictures in executive capacities since 1917, as production manager for Clara Kimball Young and as an independent producer. Since 1925 he has served with the Fox Film Corporation studios in the capacity of unit manager, assistant studio manager and finally associate producer. Harold B. Lipsitz is a graduate of the University of Michigan and wrote while a student through his undergraduate days. In 1923 he became scenario editor with Collier's; then joined Fox in 1927, worked with Fox as first as a reader, then story editor, scenario editor and finally supervisory of westerns.
No Shorts Planned

The 1930-31 Fox program indicates that the company will not produce a shorts subject. However, the Movietone News, however, is being issued twice weekly under the guidance of T. Hal Everts, manager of the Fox-Hearth Corp.

ment building and a precision machine shop. Around forty acres and enclosing most of the buildings is a granite lead in “Jarrytan” with a wall of My Eyes,” “Ride on Vaquerino” and “When My Tarboradors Start to Snore” in “South Sea Rose” they included “If You Believe in Me” and “South Sea Rose.”

The words and music for “Song of Kentucky” were written by Conrad, Mitchell and Gottler. The titles were “Seeing By the Window” and “A Night of Happiness.” The same team also contributed the songs for “Why Leave Home?” They included “Looking Out the Window,” “My Love,” “Old Maid’s Never Die.”

Charles F. C. Wm. Williamson wrote “The Song of Courage” for “The Sky Hawk.” “Sunny Side Up” was undoubtedly the most musical picture of the year. The hits from this production, written by DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, require only the mention of titles. The tunes they are titled “I Ain’t We Al!” “If I Had a Talking Picture of You.” “Pickin’ Petals Off of Daisies,” “Sunny Side Up” and “Turn on the Heat.”

POPULARITY OF GAYNOR AND FARRELL INDICATED

Another team, consisting of Helen and Elizabeth Keating, twins featured in vaudeville dancing acts, will appear in future Movietone productions.

During the great raid staged on Broadway numerous very young players were cast in roles with a potential stardom. Among the players are: Frances McCoy, jazz singer; Goodee Montgomery, niece of Dave Montgomery; Nellie McFadden, actress; Althea Hently, dancer and singer formerly with Fred Stone in “Three Cheers”; Irene Day, vaudeville prima donna; Roxanne Curtis, the perfect figure girl; Rosalind Cassell, radio artist; Lucile Brown, formerly in “Jarrytan” with Maude May Bennett; Nancy Kelly, vaudeville dancer and singer.

Louise Dresser, noted character actress, and Ruth Warrick, both fresh away from the stage for character parts, are on the new list of players.

Mitchell Leisen, another active player, leads with Bertha Kalish, Olga Petrova and Eleanor Painter, and will be featured in future Fox films.

And of course—there is little Tommy Clifford, 11-year-old child signed in Ireland for a role in John McLaren’s “The Irish Jig.”

Maureen O’Sullivan, signed in Ireland at the time Tommy was given a contract, did so with the promise of My Heart” that she was given the ingenue lead in “So This Is London.”

A Popuar Reel

Fox Movietone News is a regular feature of the programs of more than 99 per cent of all the 4,000 wired houses outside of the United States. It is a feature of the Film Daily, and has achieved this distribution in two years and five months.

MUST REMOVE INFLAMMABLE MATERIAL IN TEN DAYS

Ordinances, which has to do with inflammable material in theaters.

A number of theater owners have already had their licenses temporarily revoked until the combustible material has been removed, it is learned by THE FILM DAILY, and at least 50 summonses are now on file against theater owners who have failed to comply with the 10 day notice. Several exhibitors in neighborhood districts have closed their houses and others are planning to follow suit, it is understood.

An important meeting on this fire ordinance is slated for tomorrow between the Board of Underwriters and committee of four representing the industry. Charles O’Reilly, president of the T.O.C., is understood to have been in conference yesterday with Commissioner John Dornan and Chief Kenyon discussing the matter. Efforts to reach O’Reilly yesterday were unavailing, but it is learned that a special meeting of organizing committee members is planned for tomorrow morning when the subject will be gone into thoroughly.

Universal to Produce "Resurrection" as Talker
Universal will make a talking film of Tolstoy's "Resurrection" by arrangement with Inspiration Pictures and Edwin Carewe, according to an announcement by Carl Laemmle. Carewe will direct the sound version as he did the silent production some years ago. Lupe Velez will play the leading part. Simultaneously comes word from Carl Laemmle, Jr., of the purchase of "Bulldog Drummond," a forthcoming novel by W. R. Burnett, with John Wray in mind for the chief role.

Warner Plans to Produce "Hold Everything" Sequel
Warner plans to produce a sequel to "Hold Everything" under the title "Set Right." Winnie Lightner and Joe E. Brown will repeat the roles they played in the earlier film.

Leading Role for Claudia Dell
Warner has signed Claudia Dell to play the leading feminine role in "River's End," which is scheduled for release next year. The company has borrowed Charles B. Seaton from M.G.M. to assume the former Ziegfeld beauty.

Screen Writer Opens Office
Joseph Franklin Poland has opened offices in Hollywood where he will devote himself to the writing of originals.

Long Contract for Jane Keath
Upon her selection to play the leading feminine role in Jack London's "The Sea Wolf," in which Milton Sills will be featured, Jane Keath has been signed to a long-term contract by Fox.

Columbia Plans "Flight" Sequel
"Dirigible" will be made by Columbia as a sequel to "Flight." Jack Holt and Ralph Graves will again be directed by Frank Capra.

Pidgeon in "Going Wild"
Walter Pidgeon has been given the juvenile lead in "Going Wild," which Warner is producing with Ona Munson in the feminine lead.

To Honor Dead Actor
Tribute will be paid to the memory of Edward J. Connolly in the film capital on Decoration Day. When a memorial clock, the gift of Annie Virginia Connelly, the actor's widow, will be unveiled in Hollywood Cemetery. Many noted screen figures will take part in the exercises.

Fox Signs Warden Lawes' Daughter
Joan Marie Lawes, 8 year old daughter of Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing-Sing, has been signed by Fox and will make her first appearance in "Up The River."

To the Holders of the 8% Preferred Stock of PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of Pathe Exchange, Inc., called for April 29th, 1930 (which meeting has been adjourned to June 9th, 1930) Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy the then president, described the condition and prospects of the company as highly unsatisfactory, and stated that unless the board of directors procured sufficient funds to carry out adequate production and distribution programs immediately, he would promptly resign as the president of the corporation. Shortly thereafter the resignation of Mr. Kennedy as president of the corporation, and of Mr. John J. Murdock, chairman of the board of directors, was announced.

It is of the utmost importance to the corporation and all its stockholders that immediate action be taken to provide new and able leadership of the corporation, and to obtain the management and financing necessary to the successful operation of the corporation, to reestablish its position as one of the leading producers and distributors of the motion picture industry.

Under the amended certificate of incorporation of the company, the holders of the 8% preferred stock are entitled to elect a majority (8) of the board of directors, in event that the corporation fails to pay eight successive quarterly dividends of 2% on such preferred stock. The corporation has defaulted in the payment of at least eight successive quarterly dividends on such stock. The holders of the 8% preferred stock are now, therefore, entitled, at the adjourned annual meeting above mentioned, on June 9th, 1930, to elect eight directors, constituting a majority of the entire board of directors of the company.

The undersigned have organized a "Preferred Stockholders Protective Committee" at the request of certain stockholders, with the object of obtaining united action of the holders of such 8% preferred stock, in order to elect a majority of the board of directors who may provide the required financing, management, and leadership.

The undersigned Committee, therefore, requests proxies of the holders of the 8% preferred stock in order that the above program may be carried out.

Further particulars, together with proxy forms will be furnished, upon request, by the secretary of the Committee, Frederick R. Ryan, Room 1046, 25 Broadway, New York City.

Paris—Jean Chataigner, who was recently dropped from the French Cinematography Exhibitors Ass'n, has been chosen president of the Assn Professionelle de la Press Cinematographique as successor to M. Fouquet.

Toronto—"Hello Sister" had a rough passage at the hands of Ontario censors and was quite toned down before receiving approval. "The Lady Lies" has been definitely turned down in Ontario but it has been passed by the Quebec censors. It is understood that "Evangeline" will not be seen in Eastern Canada although it has been passed in British Columbia.

Winnipeg—The National, one of the pioneer theaters of Western Canada, has passed out of the picture, the historic cinema being in the hands of wreckers. An office building is to be erected on the site.

New York

Buffalo—Larry Simmons has succeeded Lew Fisher as manager of the houses in Hoosick Falls and Ticonderoga. Fisher recently sold his interest in the theaters to stockholders and resigned.

Hawthorne, N. J.—What is believed an outburst of union difficulties was the recent bomb explosion at the Hawthorne which broke practically all the glass in the house.

Hornell, N. Y.—Floyd E. Peckham has been appointed manager of the Strand.

Canisteo, N. Y.—A petition has been circulated for Sunday shows here. Sentiment is highly in favor of the change.

Buffalo—Sidney Dannenberg has succeeded C. C. Perry as Publix district manager.

Syracuse, N. Y.—The Empire will be operated as a picture house during the summer by Morris Fitter.

Hornell, N. Y.—M. Hill has purchased three parcels for the erection of a $150,000 theater here.
700 'Junk' Theaters Displaced in New York Area

PATHE FIGHTS STOCKHOLDERS COMMITTEE

New Wide Screen Invention Declared Best Yet

The Mirror— a column of comment

CENTRALIZED zone arbitration systems are in prospect as a solution to exhibition contract muddles existing throughout the country. Under the present situation, brought about by the Thacher decree forbidding distributors to use one trunk line of arbitration, an exhibitor needs a Philadelphia lawyer in order to keep away from contact infractions. In the pre-Thacher-decree days he had only one form of arbitration to worry about. But now he's perplexed by nearly as many variations as Mr. Heinz. It he isn't an exceptionally cautious individual, he's apt to legally step off on the wrong foot. The Federal Government, as we get the matter, won't object to the establishment of regional arbitration systems by the theater-operating fraternity. This seems to be a logical routine out of this arbitration systems maze.

WINNING BACK of child attendance, reported to be on the wane, through playing of comedy shorts was discussed at the Educational convention. The Earl Hammons suggestion packs a common-sense punch. In many instances the talkers have acquired a certain sophistication which throws them out of the entertainment reach of juvenile customers. And in so doing, keeps them out of the box-office line. An inducement to revive their interest, however, is provided in the broad comedy, broad in both visual action and dialogue, which enters into their scope of understanding and enjoyment.

NAMES GALORE unfamiliar to picture-going audiences are included in the 1930-31 programs. As this is still a business in which the patrons buy "name" entertainment, they've got to be built to marquee proportions. It's a man-size job confronting the industry's ballyhoo artists.

Small, Dilapidated Houses Are Fast Being Eliminated

That the small and dilapidated theaters are rapidly being displaced in New York City by modern theaters, is indicated in the report of Charles L. O'Reilly, president of the T.O.C.C. to the Fire Underwriters Ass'n committee, in which he stated that "not more than 400 theaters are operating today where there used to be 1,100." Modern theaters are being built with all the latest conveniences and up-to-date mechanisms and appliances, which has reduced fire hazards in local houses to a minimum degree, O'Reilly said.

Lambs' Club Challenges for E. F. Albee Trophy

Formal acceptance by Arthur Stebbins, captain of the M. P. Club golf team, of the challenge of the Lambs' Club tendered through manager Thomas McGhan of the Lambs' Club golf team, for the possession of the E. F. Albee Cup, is the big development of the hour in the classic struggle of the filmers against the munition men to prove who knows the least about this Scotch importation known as golf. The challenge was tendered on behalf of Oscar Shaw, captain of the Lambs' Club team. Oscar couldn't tender it himself, as he is out practicing the game somewhere, and has not been heard of for the last week. He takes the matter seriously. This hand for the coveted trophy will be the main event of the tournament which you can witness if you can dig up a ten-spot that is serving no more useful purpose. You will also be permitted to knock a golf ball around the 18-hole layout provided with a score card which is a mere formality and doesn't really mean that you have to keep a correct score of your wild swings. The affair is the Spring Film Golf Tournament, which will be held on Tuesday, June 17th, at the Glen Oaks Golf and Country Club at Great Neck, L. I.

The E. F. Albee Cup, a massive silver trophy costing nearly $1,000, will henceforth be known as the Albee Memorial Cup, in tribute to the denim who died during the last year. From present indications, all tournament attendance records will be broken, over 100 entries having been received to date. You do not have to be a golf player to indulge. Borrow a friend's golf weapons and a pair of knickers, and join the merry club makers and come out to the wide open spaces where men are men and the 19th hole is what you care to make it.

Music Royalty Bill Rejected by Canada

Ganada—No further consideration will be given by the House of Commons to the Rinfret Bill proposing changes in the copyright act that would have enabled the Performing Rights Society and the American Society of Composers to impose royalty fees on all Canadian exhibitors, it is announced.

The Performing Rights Society, formerly all- British in makeup, has come under U. S. control through a reorganization just made whereby Gene Buck is the new president, Louis Bernstein, vice-president and E. Rosenthal also among the officials.

“BEFORE I TALK ABOUT NEXT SEASON—”

AS FAR as the public is concerned there's no such thing as “this season" or “next season.”

Our great showmen-producers in California aren't concerned with the seasonal arrangements for distribution but they are concerned with making each of their pictures a complete and splendid entertainment.

THAT accounts for the fact that while many other companies are concerned only with presenting an ambitious front for next year M-G-M goes merrily on giving you great product right now.

AT THE moment of going to press “Caught Short” is making America forget its troubles. And in gratitude America has proclaimed Marie Dressler-Polly Moran the greatest comedy team of many years. You'll hear more of those two gals. Meanwhile they've played three weeks in Detroit; two marvelous weeks in Los Angeles, breaking the all-time record of the State Theatre. In Chicago they played two first run houses in the loop—the Chicago and the Roosevelt—in succession, an unprecedented thing. Same story everywhere.

NORMA SHEARER in “The Divorcee” continues its amazing career, coming back to Frisco for a two-week stand after doing so marvelously in its initial first run there.

In Boston it took the house record held for a long time by “The Big Parade.” In Oklahoma City it broke all records and Midnight shows were added! In Los Angeles it's breaking all records at Criterion. Every engagement adds new laurels.

MISS SHEARER follows through with another winner “Let Us Be Gay” of which Motion Picture News says: From an audience standpoint it will be rated one of the best talker screen farces to date! It will enhance the popularity of Norma Shearer as a big name bet.

“THE BIG HOUSE” has set the West Coast on fire! M-G-M's thrilling romantic drama opens soon for an extended run at the Criterion, Los Angeles; the Warfield, San Francisco, and elsewhere. Backed by strong national campaign in the Hearst papers with a 30-day serial paving the way, “The Big House” comes opportunely as a real life-saver of the warmer days.

LON CHANEY Talks in “The Unholy Three.” That's something to look forward to just as you enjoyed the excitement of Greta Garbo's first Talkie! Chaney has made a magnificent, dramatic entertainment and will be a positive sensation in Talking pictures.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS describes “The Sea Bat” as a “corking adventure picture” comparing it to “White Shadows in the South Seas” and “The Pagan.” As in the case of those two, M-G-M sent a complete company and Talking equipment to a distant locale in Mazatlan, Mexico, to film the story. The result was worth it!

“OUR BLUSHING BRIDES” brings Joan Crawford in yet another peppy picture of youth aflame! “Our Dancing Daughters” great! “Our Modern Maidens” swell! “Blushing Brides” does it again!

THEN COMES GRETA GARBO! That's music to a showman's ears. Her second Talkie is “Romance” the famed stage love-drama.

MARION DAVIES sweeps in on a cyclone of national advertising and promotion with a grand comedy, “The Florodora Girl.”

Ruth Chatterton heads a distinguished cast in “The Lady of Scandal” based on that most successful Broadway hit, “The High Road.”

ALL of the foregoing—and more to be announced—means that between now and the new season M-G-M is crashing through with pictures of power!

AND THEN 1930-31 looms ahead with M-G-M geared for the most ambitious program of its entire history!

was followed by Claude C. Ezell, who was general chairman for the session. A. F. Waxman spoke of the advertising achievements of the company in the past year. He said $2,000,000 was spent in newspaper advertising, $500,000 in magazines, $250,000 for exploitation and $500,000 on billboards. Other speakers were J. Z. Allan, Joe Hebrew, Max Milder, George Baldson, Joe Hummel and Bert Lyons.

The First National meeting was started off by Ned E. Depinet. Others who addressed the gathering included Sam E. Morris, Lewis Warner, S. Charles Einfeld, A. W. Smith, Mr. Gradwell L. Sears, A. W. Schwalberg and Harry Cunnings. An exhibit of the new Warner and radio pamphlets mentioned earlier held 23 records, which may be repeated over a short or long period, attracted considerable interest.

A big banquet on Thursday evening will conclude the meetings.

Studio Opportunities for Young People

The field of motion pictures as a career is widening in its appeal to young people beyond the glamour of acting. Where a few years ago young people thought of pictures as a means of becoming actors, they now see the industry offering great rewards in many other departments. I regard it as a wholesome indication for the future of pictures to see the growing interest that young men and women are taking in the technical and executive departments of the studios. Once we were beseeched by young people wanting to become actors. Now there are as many of them with ambitions to succeed in writing, directing or in the mechanical field as there were formerly in search of careers as actors. The time is coming when it will be necessary to provide some means whereby these people can be trained. No profession offers greater reward for success than the motion picture industry with its great variety of activities. It is becoming more and more specialized in every way, requiring a preparation that can be acquired no place else than in the studio, or in a school designed solely for the purpose of training students for it. We are finding out now that skill in other methods of writing do not necessarily fulfill the requirements of the picture studio. There is a peculiar and unique specification for everything about the industry that must be learned in the studio. But the pace at which production is now being carried on leaves little time for the instruction of the novice.

Charles Farrell has been crowned King of Talkies by upstate New Yorkers in the "Syracuse Herald" ballot never held in New York and Chicago also gave the crown to Charlie, so it carries some weight....Norma Shearer was selected Queen by the upstate fans.....Chester Bahn, film critic of the Syracuse paper, notes that the pretty boys were supplanting in pop favor by real actors, and comments: "When the Messers. Chevalier, Boles and Barrymore lead the tiresome Arrow collar and rah-rah types, happier days are on the cinematic horizon".....looks as if the old order in Hollywood is changing for the better....

Clarence Brown arrives at Roosevelt Field Thursday morning, piloting his own plane from Hollywood.....he brings with him the first of the films he directed for Greta Garbo.....Exhibitors' Help: Dress your ushers in Esquimo furs to create that cool atmosphere.....Contests are being started to encourage poets in R-K-O's "June Joy Show Month", till as if poets needed any encouragement.....The new Hollywood alibi for the rainy weather is to blame it on the invasion of London actors who have brought their own atmosphere along.

The Latest in hotel service is reported by director Mel Brown who was marooned at a flag-stop point near Bakersfield, and put up at a hostelry with one extra room.....the proprietor woke him at six o'clock, and when Mel protested, the hostess said: "We never serve breakfast without a tablecloth, and without your bed sheet there is no tablecloth".....Kay Johnson is visiting with her mother in Mount Vernon.....What film theater employs three tailors?.....the Roxy.....they need that many to look after the 125 house staff uniforms.

The Committee for the Film Golf Tournament has received a wire (collect) from Harry Lauder, offering to donate a good slice off a golf ball, if the Committee will make him present of the golf ball after the slice is taken off.....the Committee wired back to Harry: "We are using pole balls for the Tournament, which will be played on horseback so the film golf players can be distinguished from the good players known as the caddies".....and after journeying out with the Committee for a practice game at Glen Oaks, and watching Bruce Gallup, Billy Brandt, Al Lichtman and Artie Stubbins in a four-handed game were convinced that if the Tournament players know as much golf as the Committee, it will be a swell golf game.

Hedda Hopper is proudly jaunting around town escorted by a six-footer weighing 175 pounds.....it's her son.....Folks we Cheer: the press agent who sends out illegible carbon copies and wonders why he never gets the breaks.....When an independent producer is showing a comedy in a projection room over at 729 Seventh Ave., he tries to persuade Tommy Culin of Boyer's drug store to sit in.....Tommy has the most contagious laugh along the Rialto.....The town council of a Scotch village decided to build a picture theater, so they passed the following resolution: (1) that the theater be constructed of the materials of the old town hall on the site of the old building; (2) that the town hall be left standing, and be occupied and used until the new theater is completed.

Ken Behr, manager of Loew's State, has gone and bought himself a beautiful launch.....And if you know John Coneybear, over at Fox, ask him about those unique "film samples" a thoughtful friend gave him.....Did you hear about the cross-eyed proofreader looking for missing letters in his alphabet soup?.....cheer up, it may be better tomorrow, but we won't make any rash promises.

RY HAS EVER SEEN!
NEW WIDE SCREEN DEVICE IS DECLARED BEST YET

ony, New York, before a small audicence which pronounced the results to be superior to anything of the kind shown thus far. One of the most important features of the new development is that the film of only standard width is required. Enlargement of the image on the screen is obtained through a special camera process, which is made possible with any regular camera by altering it about 30 per cent, it was stated.

With ordinary lenses, the WideScope film must be produced on a screen up to by 24 ft., and by changing lens the size of the projection can be reduced to fit a screen as small as 12 ft., by 12 ft.

Unusual clearness, less distortion, absence of grain and a fair illusion of third dimension are among the improvements cited in WideScope. Due to the exactness of the film, only 160 amperes of light are required in the projection, against about 200 amperes said to be needed by most other wide screen processes. This matter of light, and the intense heat created in order to obtain the sufficient amount to project a wide screen film fully, has been singled out as one of the major problems of the wide screen.

WideScope was invented some 10 years ago by an Englishman, Edwin Clark, who spent about $50,000 in developing its idea on wide screen. Later he hit upon the new process with standard size film. Stephen T. Tobin, who is in charge of WideScope production, was a representative of the wealthy Westerner who now controls the WideScope patent.

conviction. Enlarging of the plant has been found necessary to take care of an output at the rate of 48 pictures which will total an expenditure of $25,000,000. In addressing the conviction, Clarke said:

"This is my first visit since purchasing the Fox interests to the capit of the world's motion picture business. Naturally, I have come to observe and to learn rather than to talk and direct. But I have, through long and intimate association with motion pictures, firm convictions concerning some of the broader aspects of our business." He then told the men that the laboratories of both General Theaters Equipment and Fox are working full blast in cooperation with each other on many devices and processes for better projection, sound, lighting and color.

Today, the conventioners will see the first showing of "Coal Clays" and a party of them will have dinner at the Roos-velt Hotel in the evening with the entire force as guests of officials of the Fox company.

NEW WAGE AGREEMENT ENDS CLEVELAND FIGHT

Cleveland—Signing of a new wage agreement between the Exhibitors' Association and the operators' union, embracing a reduction of $10, with the theater men agreeing to employ several stagehands, has brought to an end the controversy started last September, when the exhibitors refused to accede to the demand that stage hands be maintained in all sound houses of 900 seats and over, regardless of policy.

Under the new scale, which runs to Aug.
31, 1931, and is retroactive to May 19, houses with 600 seats or under will pay operators $65 a week; 500-800 seats, $75; 500 seats and over $90.
This is for seven nights and one matine. Operators agree to work one hour a week overtime and another hour on Sunday without payment. These hours do not exceed 15 minutes at any one period. The stage hands' scale is $35 a week for seven nights and Sunday morntine, and $4 for an extra matine. Two of the stage hands will be chased at the Oriental and Broadvue, and the other five as the organization sees fit.

Tiffany Will Handle Gaumont in Canada

Arrangements have been made whereby Tiffany will sell the product of Gaumont British Co. of Canada, it is announced by Oscar R. Hanson, general sales manager of Tiffany, on his return from the Dominion. Canadian Universal has been handling the physical distribution of Gaumont, which has had its own sales force headed by James Foy, who joins Tiffany this week as Toronto branch manager.

Tiffany's contract for physical distribution through Canadian Educational expires June 30, and the Tilly and Tiffany offices will then be moved to the Canadian Universal quarters, contracts having been signed for Universal to handle the distribution of the combined Tiffany and Gaumont output.

Osserman Joins Columbia

St. Louis—Jack Osserman, former Universal branch manager in Cleveland, is now manager of the local Columbia exchange.

KNOCKER SQUELED

Ottawa—Because the Embassy, local home of dancetock, attacked the picture houses in its advertising, local newspapers, which at first app lied their own censorship to the ads, now have turned down the theater's advertising entirely.

FOREIGN TALKER HOUSES SHOW INCREASED PROFITS

Washington—Notwithstanding the difficulty of obtaining a regular supply of native language talkers, practically every European theater now equipped for sound is showing an increase in profits, according to reports received by the Department of Commerce. In Norway, cited as a typical example, there is an increase of 15 per cent, with prospects of an even higher profit at the end of this year.

minimum all the hazards connected with the handling of film in large quantities. Work already has been started on the plants, which will cover several acres of ground and will be equipped with the most up to date facilities for the processing and storing of film.

Experience in the filming industry has demonstrated that measures of fire prevention commonly regarded as adequate have not proven so when emergencies occur, declares H. I. Yates, of Consolidated, and as a consequence the engineers and architects engaged for these new buildings were instructed to make plans which would provide full protection.

The first unit of the new laboratories is expected to be completed and in operation by fall, and the work now done in the company’s other plants will be transferred as rapidly as possible.

Cleveland—W. N. and H. R. Skirboll have purchased “Ingagi” for Ohio distribution.

Arrangements Completed for Columbia Meetings

With arrangements completed for the three regional sales meetings, Columbia’s first conference gets under way Monday at the Park Central in New York where the entire eastern sales force and home office executives will gather for two days. Jack Cohn, treasurer, will welcome the men and turn the gavel over to Joe Goldberg, general sales manager. Joe Brandt, who returns from Europe today, will divulge European plans of the company.

First day’s session of the New York regional will be taken up with discussion of product while the last day will be devoted to advertising, exploitation, publicity and routine business. Among the officials who will be present are Rube Jacker, Louis Weinberg, Morris Saifer and Hal Rode.

Following this conflag, executive personnel of the home office will journey to Chicago where the sales forces of mid-western and southern exchanges will convene for the second meet at the Stevens Hotel on June 6 and the last regional will take place at the Roosevelt Hotel, Hollywood, on June 12 and 13, where Harry Cohn, vice-president in charge of production, and Sam Bratkin, assistant general manager, will take an active part in the meet.

Canadian Projectionists Must Take Examinations

Toronto—All projectionists, regardless of experience, must take written and oral examinations, including a demonstration of ability with sound equipment, and will be graded according to these tests, in accordance with the amendment to the Theaters and Kinematograph Act passed in the Ontario legislature. Notices regarding the new regulations have been sent to all operators, and examinations will begin at an early date.

APPELLATE ORDER UPHOLDS BEDFORD RECEIVER ACTION

The appellate division of the Supreme Court of New York has handed down a decision upholding the appointment of receiver for the Bedford Theater, Bronx. Original claim arose when Felder, who took Knobel in as a partner, demanded the same privileges as Knobel in operating the house aside from gleaning 90 per cent of the profits. The case has been heard by four judges and Ex-Judge Joseph’s appointment as receiver by Justice Ford becomes effective today.

The Talkers
—must keep on growing

By JACK ALCICOATE

AS ONE CUCKOO to another and strictly between ourselves we have been thinking that it's about time for this new conversational form of electrical entertainment to step out and show something in the way of originality. And in some other way than that of mechanical novelty, too. In its swaddling clothes it needed care, and understanding attitude and patience. In its rompers stage it still deserved tolerance. Now, in its know-it-all period of adolescence, it had better wake up to its possibilities and show something. The transplanting bodily of the stage to the screen will get by only for a while and, as we see, for not much longer. Putting new words to old silents won't make the grade and is simply postponing the inevitable. This new art is neither former pictures with sound and dialogue added nor legitimate attractions transferred in bulk to the silver sheet. It is and must remain the merging of the best from each school. There have been flashes of this greater, finer, new form of expression, but they have been few and far between. If the producing moguls of this business are too busy counting the receipts to think of the future, it is their own little party, but the day of reckoning is not a very great distance over the hill. Modestly we suggest that Mr. and Mrs. America, paying their good money at the box office, will soon be demanding considerably better in the way of picture fare than they have been served in the past few months.

Additional Acquisitions Under Way, Morris Says at Meet

Atlantic City—Approximately $28,000,000 was spent by Warner Bros. within the last week or so for theater acquisitions, Sam E. Morris said at yesterday's session of the First National sales convention being held here simultaneously with the Warner banquet. Additional theater properties are under negotiation in pursuance of the company's expansion program. The goal of 1,000 houses is expected to be reached within a short time.

FIRST NATIONAL TO SELL VITAPHONE VARIETIES

Atlantic City—First National, as well as Warners, will sell Vitaphone Varieties next season, it was announced by Fred E. Depinet at yesterday's meeting.

Poster Campaign

A billboard advertising campaign of national scope will be placed under way next month by Fox. Warner also is going in heavy for this type of exploitation.

25 Special Golf Prizes

Through the sportsmanship and generosity of film folk who either are golfers themselves or have sympathy for the knicker clad, there will be 25 special awards in addition to those given to foursome winners in the coming Film Golf Tournament, the committee announces. Entries have reached the halfway mark and indications point to an attendance and grand total surpassing all previous events.

Checkup of 10,000 Exhibs Shows Big Demand for Outdoor Films

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Atlantic City—Foreign revenue of Warner Bros. has doubled within a year, H. A. Bandt told the Warner convention crowd yesterday. The company now has 43 branches handling business for 70 countries abroad.

Jack L. Warner talked on the company's forthcoming schedule which includes an expenditure of $17,500,000 for features and $2,500,000 for shorts. Technicolor again will play an important part in the company's program, he said.

Other speakers were Max Milder, who talked about the ideal contract, and Claude E. Eells, who presented 10 new "commandments" for Warner salesmen.

Alfred Howson, scenario editor of Warner Bros., will address the delegates today and speak on the production schedule.

Lewis Warner Shifting To Theater Department

Lewis Warner is shifting from the production end of Warner Bros. to the theater department of the organization. He will work with Spyros P. Skouras.

Leon Schlesinger in Town

Leon Schlesinger arrived in town yesterday from Hollywood where he is staying at the Hotel Astor. He sailed for Europe June 11 on the Leviathan.

R-K-O is Dickering for Two Hecht Houses

New York, N. Y.—Deal for acquisition by R-K-O of the Rivoli, Rutherford and the Regent, in Kearny, N. J., has been reported under way with an option already signed good to June 1. Hecht also owns two houses in Passaic and another in Paterson but they are not included in the negotiations. R-K-O recently acquired the Bratter & Polfack chain, which has its home offices here and theaters mostly in this state.

Marx Succeeds Harris

As M-G-M Scenario Editor

Hollywood—Sam Marx has been made scenario editor at M-G-M, succeeding Robert Harris, who is joining Columbia.

Vacation for Lily Damita

Lily Damita, who has been appearing on the New York stage in "Sons o' Guns," will sail June 12 for a vacation in Southern France before re-turning to Hollywood late in August for a new musical picture to be made by Samuel Goldwyn.

De Mille Looks Like a Prophet

The movies take a lot of razzle-dazzle through the years for "exaggeration" in striving for novelty and dramatic effects. But sometimes the laugh comes a lot later than expected, and on the other side, at that.

Take the case, for example, of "The Godless Girl," which Cecil B. de Mille made about two years ago. The producer-director sat out at the time to flay prison methods and, after a lot of research, he painted a sordid picture. When the picture was released, therefore, there was great indignation throughout the country. Prison boards and other reformation associations were up in arms, protesting that no such conditions exist anywhere in American prisons.

But now that the Ohio Penitentiary fire is a matter of history, de Mille is having a little laugh all his own.

Influence of Code On the Talkies

"ONE hopes it will not 'Roll-oire' the talkies, just as much as one has regretted the lapses from good taste that have characterized several recent sound pictures. All the leading producing firms...have endorsed the move.

Now all that is needed is a sense of humor and of proportion—and a realization that the talkies are appealing to a mature audience in much greater degree than did the silent drama."

NOT to be outdone by Paramount publicity department's stunt of stealing this week's cover of Sateepost with a plug for "The Texan," the M-G-M bunch got to the article of "The New Yorker," evidently...the current issue has a drawing showing the lion in front of the Public Library on Fifth Ave., with one gent saying to his pal: "Let's go in here. Metro-Goldwyn pictures are always good."...whose lion now?...* * * * *

The book sales of "All Quiet on the Western Front" have just hit the 1,000,000 mark in Germany, but it is the author, Remarque, almost two years ago to find a publisher willing to take the publishing risk, etc. etc. etc. many, many of these publishers are!...and what about those producers who couldn't see it as a film when it was offered to them?...Handman, Kent & Goodman seem to have a hit in the song, "For You," which is getting some good spots on radio programs...and Lou Handon of this firm has just been assigned to write the score for John Boles' "Gypsy Love Song."...One of the biggest single acts right now in vaude is Aunt Jemima...she weighs 300 pounds.......

Bill Healy, exploiter for Columbia, tells one about a taxi driver who thought the coming Columbia convention featuring a showing of "Ladies of Leisure" was a different sort of a racket...but ask Bill to tell it...this is a trade paper, after all, and one must be discreet even though it hurts to pass up a pithy story...Mike Simmonds, another of these do-or-die publicity gents, while en route to Boston on a sound steamer, made 101 per cent use of his time by pulling several stunts, including a bridge party in the salon with free ducats to the Beantown showing of "What a Man!"...what a man is right...Alice Weaver, of "Glorifying the American Girl," is out of the hospital after an accident.

First Reader: Oh, see the pretty golfer......he is a film golfer, practicing for the Tournament on June 17......he has just sliced a ball into the rough......so he whistles......when a film golfer pulls a boner, he whistles......there will be a lot of whistling at the Film Golf Tournament......this is a very good composite picture of film golfers......a star supplied the pose, an executive the front, and a publicity man the diplay......the face has been left blank......each day the blank will be replaced by the mug of a film golfer with the record of his best score......the best scores average around 122, which is terrible......but these film golfers think that's good......and it IS good......for a film man......

Herbert F. Grau has arrived from Berlin to start a special publicity service here for Ufa......ten years after the flight of the Navy seaplane NC-4 across the Atlantic, the government has presented medals to the crew......funny how these congressmen hear about everything—eventually......

That M. P. baseball league is getting exciting, with Fox and RKO teams each having a perfect percentage of 1,000......Columbia and Warner scores are somewhat similar, only so far they just show the first 9......Pathe's current Audio Review shows the names of various trade paper editors and publishers on moustache cups in one of those odd-fashioned barber shop scenes.

Those AMPAS at their luncheon today will elect a nominating committee for the annual election Sept. 11......Exhibitors' Reminder: June 2 is Dragon Boat Day in China. Give free admissions to every Chink laundryman carrying a dragon boat visa......* * * * *

Promotes Swimming Pool for the Children

The children of Charleston, Ill., are going to have a safe swimming pool if Gerald F. Baker, manager of the Fox Lincoln, can make it possible. He is arranging a special morning matinee with an elaborate fun program to which the general admission will be ten cents. All employees will donate their services free and the Charleston Courier will give the show plenty of publicity. All receipts above the actual cost of staging the show will be turned over to the organization backing the construction of the pool.

Want-Ad Stunt Makes Good Tie-Up

Following is an interesting stunt put on by the Paramount theater with the co-operation of the Atlanta Georgian. (1) Read through the classified section of The Georgian-American today, Tuesday and Wednesday. (2) Each day cut out the ad which you think is the most attractively worded. (3) When you have what you believe the three prize ads, paste them on a sheet of paper.

PATH E STOCKHOLDERS

DEMAND ACCOUNTING

sists of Richard A. Rowland, chairing; Franklin L. Becker, Stanley C.
Robert W. Daniel and W. V. A.
Waterman, follows:

"The present management's letter states that none of the members of the undersigned committee is the holder of record preferred stock and that the total number of preferred shares held by these two directors did not exceed 1,000 shares. However, the committee states that with respect to stockholders, the facts relating to the preferred shareholders are entailed in an explanation from the president. The committee as to the purpose of the amounts held, and the stockholders' share the notices at the annual meeting were an indication of their inter-rest and confidence in the company.

"The management's letter gravely charges the Presidium with its irregularities, stating that Mr. Kennedy was president in 1929 and 1930. The Presidium with stating that Mr. Kennedy announced his resignation as president of the company's announced retirement from the executive management of the corporation, and with stating that Mr.
Kennedy was president in 1929 and 1930. No contradiction or explanation of these statements has been given. In the public press Kenneth Kennedy was quoted as 'I have quite the picture business and I am going to retire," and this statement has ever appeared in the press.

"The management's letter states that if the statements made by Mr. Kennedy at the annual management's meeting called for April 30, 1930, that the present condition and prospects of the company are highly unfa-factory; that the company encountered grave difficulties in obtaining an outlet for its pictures and in obtaining funds to carry out its program of producing and distributing pro-cinemas. These statements prompted the formation of the Protective Committee. The stockholders are advised that Mr. Kennedy's statements correctly reflect the position of the Present management.

"Because of Mr. Kennedy's position in the company and because of his intimate knowldge of its affairs, his statements to the stockholders have weight and authority wholly lacking in the present ex-post-facto explanations of the company's secretary in his letter of May 26, 1930.

"The present management's letter, dated May 1, 1930, states that the annual stat-ment for 1929 shows that for the first time in the three years the corporation operated at a profit. The annual report of the corporation for the year ended December 31, 1929, bears out the figures on the Boardwalk soon after checking into the Ambassador.

The convention got a whole front page break in "The Atlantic City Press" Tuesday. Arthur Brilliant, exploitation manager for the Atlantic City zone and his cohorts arrange the toup.

Bill Heenan, Philly manager for First Nash, broke the monotony of the convention train ride to A. C. by making the trip via auto.

Paul Krieger, Cincy manager for the First Nationalists, has won the label of the convention's Beau Brumnel.

Clade Ecel's address at the opening session convinced the Warners that he could sell parts in Florida if he wanted to try.

Sam Morris reiterated his battle stamp, "It can be done," at the initial meeting.

The Warner gang were impressed with the sincerity of Lewis Warner's talk in which he dealt with the future of the company.

Joe Hebrew of Philly, division manager for Warners, gave the conventioners a comprehensive picture of the situation in his territory.

Teddy Hammer and John Lac-well, home officials, took their meals on the run owing to the circumstances of the convention.

Joe Ashby of Denver holds the record convention for being the shortest man.

F. J. A. McCarthy, Buffalo-dian, has a schedule calling for a five-mile walk each day. And carries a speedometer along so he doesn't cheat himself.

Marty Solomon is now officiating in St. Louis and, to hear some of his "best" friends tell it, Kansas City.
